

SOCIETY

Pre-eminent in social events this week was the luncheon given by Senator Kearns in honor of President Roosevelt yesterday morning. In anticipation of the function, Florist Hudart made a trip to Chicago and gathered a notable variety of flowers and ferns, some of the choice specimens being named for the president. To Walker Bros. was assigned the drapings, and these with the floral garniture made a most beautiful and effective adornment. The American and Irish flags figured conspicuously, an immense national flag being hung across the wall above the foot of the staircase, while the green banners of Erin draped the doors. In the large entrance hall stood an immense vase, holding a giant bouquet of American Beauty roses, while the mantels and stairs were smothered in plumosa fern.

The dining room was a bower of ferns and flowers. On the sideboard and mantel were flags, done in red and white carnations and blue bocanilla, while all about were roses, with fairy-dance ferns and ribbon grass banking the mantel and overreaching the sideboard. The center of the table was a solid bed of American Beauty roses, eleven hundred magnificent specimens making a splendid oval parterre. A background of potted plants made a charming background for the room. The drawing room was done in Madame Chatney roses, and here was hung a flag-embroidered portrait of the honored guest. The library was done in pink and white carnations, mingled with plumosa, and the hall was a bower of feathery ferns and palms. The president sat at the upper end of the table, and Senator Kearns at the lower, and at either end of each sat the chief dignitaries among the guests. The menu and all appointments were most elaborate and the affair ranked with the most notable that have been given in Salt Lake.

Hawthorn and sweet peas were the flowers used in the decorations for Mrs. D. E. Cary's tea, given on Wednesday afternoon at her home. The dining room was especially charming with its pink, sweet peas and pink ribbons, and the bayberry throughout the rooms was as dainty and artistic as could be desired. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Russell Tracy, Mrs. T. B. Beatty, Mrs. Joseph Gulicher, Mrs. C. H. Post, Mrs. Bidwell, Miss Ireland and Miss Rookledge, and a large number of guests were present during the afternoon.

Another pretty luncheon of Wednesday was that given by Mrs. Mont. Ferry for her guest, Miss Perry of Michigan. Marguerites decorated the table and filled tiny baskets which were given as favors to the guests. These were, besides the guest of honor, Miss Addie Zane, Miss Maud Thorn, Miss Leta McMillan, Miss Eleanor Dooley, Miss Francis Elliott of Kentucky, Miss Burke, Miss Leonard, Miss Ora Harkness, Miss Sherman and Miss Laura Sherman.
