

tion that dispersed the largest funeral congregation that had ever assembled in the Juab Stake. Visitors and friends had come from all parts of the Stake and from surrounding Stakes to pay a last tribute of respect to one whom they had learned to honor and love in his life time. Seventy vehicles filled with mourners followed the remains to their last resting place in the city cemetery, where the choir sang a touching selection and where the grave was dedicated by Elder J. D. T. McAllister.

The First Presidency returned to the city last night. President Woodruff withstood the rigors of the trip remarkably well, and was in the best of health and spirits during the entire journey.

Last night the regular service in the Tabernacle was dispensed with, and a meeting held commemorative of the life and labors of President Faxon. Like the afternoon meeting, it was largely attended. The speakers were Elders T. C. Griggs, J. W. Summerhays, Geo. Goddard, J. D. T. McAllister, B. Goddard, Charles Kelly and Apostle Teasdale.

FROM TUESDAY'S DAILY, OCTOBER 19.

H. H. Sewell, of Lehi, Utah county, desires to know the whereabouts of Mr. Brewster, who came from Dudley Road, Wolverhampton, England, several years ago. About sixteen years since he baptized, in the public baths, Harvey H. Sewell, Esther Blunt, and a young man named Kendrick, who then lived at Darlaston, five miles from Wolverhampton. If Mr. Brewster will kindly communicate with Mr. Sewell, the latter wishes to make certain inquiries of him.

Ogden Evening Press: Early Monday morning Lewis Gebbard Reed died suddenly of heart disease at the Reed hotel. Mr. Reed and wife arrived in the city Sunday evening from the east on their way to San Bernardino, California, where they were going for Mr. Reed's health.

The deceased was 57 years old and according to Mrs. Reed's statement, was a United States consul to the West India Islands under President Cleveland. The body is being prepared for shipment by A. F. Richey and will be sent to Jersey City tomorrow evening.

The Supreme court gave its opinion today in the case of Oscar W. Moyle, as assignee of the Burton-Gardner company, respondent, vs the Congregational society of Salt Lake, appellant. The judgment of the lower court is reversed and the cause remanded with directions to grant a new trial.

Action in this case was brought to recover $11,012.85, alleged to be due the Burton-Gardner company for work done and material furnished in the construction of the defendant's church building on First South and Fifth East streets, this city. A trial was had and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff in the sum of $6,801.84 damages and $2,042.52 interest. Defendant appealed from this judgment.

All differences between the officials of the Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company, as to traffic arrangements, have been satisfactorily settled. This conclusion was reached at the conference of the officials of the three systems late yesterday afternoon and restores the Chicago-Portland service. President Mohler, Traffic Manager Campbell and General Superintendent O'Brien left for Portland last evening while General Manager Dickinson and party went to Omaha today. President Carr and party accompanied by General Manager Bancroft left for the north this morning to go east over the Northern Pacific.

Under the agreement concluded last evening all tariff relations between the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line are restored as they existed prior to Oct. 1st. This applies to all passenger and freight business. The Union Pacific cancelled on September 23 all of its tariffs to points on the Oregon Railway & Navigation company and Portland trains were withdrawn from service. This order was also countermanded and former conditions ordered restored. Another condition is that the Oregon Short Line will keep the gateways open and accept business at its terminals. This action, it is said, by no means abrogates or entrenches upon the friendly feeling existing between that road and the Rio Grande Western.

Ogden Standard: The largest meeting ever held by the Weber club took place last night at the club parlors. The leading business men of the city were present. The meeting was called to order by Judge Rolapp, president of the club. He stated that the meeting was called for the express purpose of considering the advisability of building a sugar factory in Ogden. Judge Rolapp called upon the gentlemen present to express their views.

David Eccles explained that it required about $400,000 to duplicate the Lehi sugar factory in Ogden, that he had studied the question and the advisability of building a factory in Ogden and he had concluded that it would be a good investment and a profitable enterprise, and therefore offered the sum of $50,000 in cash toward building the factory. Almost every business man present spoke on the question and expressed a willingness to subscribe to their utmost capacity for Ogden sugar factory stock.

Judge Thomas D. Dee stated that he would take $10,000 worth of stock. Mayor H. H. Spencer said he would give $10,000, and L. R. Rogers said he would give half as much as Mayor Spencer, or $5,000. The progress made was so satisfactory to the promoters of the cause that the meeting adjourned until Thursday evening, when the second meeting will be held. Every indication points to the fact that the money can be raised in Ogden and that the factory will be built.

The Supreme Court also handed down an opinion today in the case of Rice H. Jones, appellant, vs The New York Life Insurance company and B. H. Jones, administrator of the estate of Lewis H. Jones, deceased, respondents, affirming the judgment of the court below and taxing the costs to the appellant, including those respecting the additional abstract which was necessary for a correct presentation of the case.

Justice Bartch delivered the opinion and is concurred in by Chief Justice Zane and Justice Mlner.

Action in this case was first commenced by Rice H. Jones against the defendant Life Insurance company to recover the sum of $1,500 due on a policy issued to L. H. Jones. The defendant, answering said that B. H. Jones and L. H. Jones also claimed the insurance money as administrators of the estate of Lewis H. Jones, and further claimed to be ignorant of the state of affairs, and asked that it be permitted to pay the amount into court. Thereupon an order to that effect was made, the company discharged and B. H. and R. D. Jones substituted as defendants. Rice H. Jones claimed that the policy was assigned to him by Lewis H. Jones before his death as security of a debt, be "assigned back." The debt, it was alleged by Rice H. Jones, was never satisfied. This was denied by the defendants and at the trial, the court held that the assignment of the policy was properly made and accepted, by the deceased, as security for the debt, and judgment was entered awarding the plaintiff, Rice H. Jones, $542.57, out of the fund in the hands of the court. From this judgment plaintiff appealed.

The court in its opinion today holds that many of the errors cited were foreign to the controversy. The point to be decided was whether the assignment was made and intended by the deceased, Lewis H. Jones, and received and accepted by his brother, Rice H. Jones. The court holds that it was not an absolute transfer and that the payment of the debt out of the $1,500 was all the appellant was entitled to.

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

Princeton, N. C., Sept. 14, 1897.

The annual session of the North Carolina conference was held at the Meadow meeting house Aug. 28th and 29th, in a commodious bowery erected on the ground four miles north of Princeton, Johnston Co., N. C. The weather was favorable and the people turned out very liberally at all of the meetings and especially on Sunday, there being from 800 to 1,000 people present.

Saturday morning, Aug. 28th, conference began with forty Elders and about 300 people in attendance. The speakers were Elders Isa Baker and Walter M. Everton on the atonement and faith respectively. At the afternoon session Elders Lorenzo N. Stohl and Riley C. Savage treated the subjects of repentance and baptism.

Sunday morning, Aug. 29th, a veritable multitude thronged the grounds and hundreds stood up during the exercises. The speakers were Elders Byron Carter, Holy Ghost; Ezra C. Robinson, Church of Christ. In the afternoon Elder Albert Matheson representing, President Kimball, took up the time in an able discourse.

Saints came twenty and thirty miles to attend conference and all went home feeling well repaid for their trip. Our friends entertained us royally and treated us as kindly as they were able to.

In our council and testimony meetings on Monday we enjoyed a spirit-ural feast never to be forgotten. Elder Matheson, clothed upon with the power of the Holy Ghost, spoke at length upon our duties and then a testimony meeting was held at which all of the Elders spoke. Many faithful testimonies were borne and the gift of prophecy was enjoyed. Some Elders were heard to say that it was the best meeting they had attended in their lives. The room was overshadowed with the Holy Ghost and it seemed almost like a Pentecost to us.

A blind child was presented to us Sunday to whom we administered, and it is rapidly recovering its sight.

Yesterday we closed a series of twenty-five meetings, having baptized five and organized a Sunday school and branch of the Church. We took a lady from her sick bed and baptized her and she came from the waters much stronger. At 9 o'clock in the morning she was prostrate upon her bed with a fever. We administered to her and the Lord raised her up so that she was able to ride five or six miles, and was baptized shortly after 12 o'clock.

We have seen the sick healed, devils cast out and the eyes of the blind opened by the power of the Priesthood, restored in these latter days and we do know that these signs do follow them that believe and all honor be given to the God of Israel, the everlasting Father.

EZRA C. ROBINSON,
Pres. North Carolina Conference.
