SURVEYOR GENERAL FOR UTAH

A BILL to create the office of Surveyor General in the Territory of Utah, and establish a Land Office in said Territory, and extend the homestead and pre-emption laws over the same, was introduced some time ago into the House of Representatives at Washington. It was afterwards sent to the Senate and referred to the committee on Territories. In the first iustance that committee asked to be discharged from the further consideration of the Bill, and that it should be referred to the Committee on Public Lands; this was agreed to.

We have the announcement to-day, in the meagre language of the telegraphic dispatches, that"the Senate amendment to the House Bill to create the office of Surveyor General of Utah was concurred in."

It would seem from this, that the committee of the Senate, to whom the Bill referred, made an amendment was to it, which the House has concurred in -the nature of this amendment we have no means at present of knowing.

THE OSAGE LAND TREATY.

THE Leavenworth Bulletin of the 1st just, gives the particulars of the recent treaty effected between the Indian Peace Commissioners and the Great and Little Osages, by which 8,000,000 acres of their lands were purchased for and in behalf of the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Galveston Railroad Company. The version of the affair as given by the Bulletin would almost lead one to suspect that there had been something like corruption or rascality practiced in inducing "Lo" to part with these lands. But as corruption and malfeasance in office are altogether contrary to the principles of a good government, and so rarely practiced by its officers, and especially of a republican government like ours, we would be and twenty-five thousand dollars, and should the treaty be ratified their total profits will amount to over ten and a half millions.

The above are the main objections urged against the ratification of the treaty. But on the other hand the Com-mission under which the treaty was concluded recently sent the full particulars would not wonder at all at the ratification of the treaty, for where there are have almost got possession of these lands can afford to use money freely to retain possession of them.

I intend to cultivate the grape on a large scale, and I will pub-lish on that subject from time to time all the useful information in my power. The only aim of my present experi-ments, at Tooele, is to raise, by the slow but sure process of seedlings, a large "Mormon" collection of hardy French and American grapes, in order that Northern Utah may cultivate them in every county without any] protection whatever, and that every citizen may soon sit under his own vine. In so doing, a certain number of these new plants will certainly produce fine table grapes, some excellent light wines, and others luscious raisins.

According to the highest authority in the land, "the Concord still maintains its supremacy (all things considered) as the best native grape." (Report of the Commissioner of Agriculture for the year 1865, page 15.) But, according to the last paper written by a very competent judge on grape culture and published in the Daily Telegraph, the Concord grape is a perfect humbug. amongst the last to suspect our government officials of any such practices. We, however, condense the following matter.

The treaty was concluded on the 27th of last May, and its terms have excited the general indignation of the people of Kansas to such an extent 'bat they, through their Executive and State officers, and Hon. Sidney Clarke, one of their Congressional Representatives, have protested against it, and ask the Senate of the United States to negative the treaty.

The State Executive in their memorial to the Senate on the subject, set forth that the Osages were induced to conclude the treaty by representations being made to them that the State anthorities were about to make war upon them, and either kill or drive them from their reservation. They also state that in this treaty no provision has been made for schools, or in the interest of settlers who have gone upon the lands and made improvements; and that its ratification by the Senate of the United States will retard immigration spectors being left to inspect tobacco, and greatly impede the developement snuff, cigars, etc. This will reduce ing one-fifth of its entire area into the hands of a set of monopolists, who will pal business before the committee of of the resources of the State by throwbe able to dictate to settlers their own terms.

Sidney Clarke, states that this land runs from east to west about two hundred and fifty miles, and from north to south fifty miles, comprising an area nearly twice as large as the State of Massachusetts, and within a fraction of being as large as Massachus setts, Connecticut and Deleware combined; which if placed under the home; stead laws would furnish fifty thousand the count of votes, alleging that a reign homesteads of one hundred and sixty of terror existed in Mississippi. acres each, and if it had been sold at the ordinary government rate would have produced for the benefit of the indians the sum of twelve millions of dollars.
