Representing Himself at the Accepted Hall—Mr. Rawlins to Take Charge of the Pen.

Washington, July 15.—Private Secretary Thurston has in his custody at the White House a gold pen set in a silver holder.

The implant is, from the artist's standpoint, a fine piece of work, but if it fails in its mission it will never be dipped in ink more than once.

It will be on Monday, July 16, 1894, and it will furnish the name of the man who signed the enabling act.

An act to enable the people of Utah to form a constitution and state government, and to be admitted to the Union as an equal State with the original States.

Mr. Rawlins, of the Territory of Utah, whose efforts were largely instrumental in the enabling act, will carry it to the White House for the President's signature.

The ceremony will take place in the White House, and it is expected that Mr. Rawlins will be present.

The new train will run from Los Angeles to San Francisco, and will be in operation on Monday, July 16, 1894.

This means a discontinuance of the old train and a new section.

The reason for this is a general depression of business and the probability of a strike.

The railway officials, however, predict an enormous business next fall and winter.
