

JUDGE HENDERSON CALLED BY DEATH

Well Known and Beloved Citizen Succumbs After Brave Resistance.

FUNERAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Services Will be Conducted in First Presbyterian Church; Body Being Sent Later to Mason, Mich.

Judge Henry Perry Henderson died at 11:30 o'clock last night, after an illness of nearly a month, during which time he made a gallant struggle against an attack of pneumonia. For several weeks his condition was critical, and fears for his recovery were entertained. During the last few days, however, and especially on Wednesday, his condition seemed to be much better, and a feeling of hope pervaded the sickroom. A turn for the worse, however, set in yesterday afternoon, which was followed by sinking spells as the day wore on. His condition became alarming and Dr. A. C. Ewing, the attending physician, gave up all hope for his recovery. He gradually grew weaker, and at the hour named he passed peacefully away.

Judge Henderson was a highly respected citizen of Salt Lake City, he was not only esteemed for his intellectual abilities, which were of no mean order, but also for his integrity and force of character. In all his dealings, public and private, he evinced excellent judgment, coupled with an impartiality which won for him many friends among all classes.

Judge Henderson was born at Otisco, Onondago, New York, Sept. 22, 1843, and was in his sixty-sixth year at the time of his death. He was the son of Perry and Huldah Henderson. When only a few years old he was taken to Mason, Mich., in the public schools of which place he received a primary education. Later he attended the high school at Lansing, Mich., and also the Agricultural college at the same place, from which school he graduated at the age of 19 years. He married Miss Josephine Tanner, when he was 26 years old, who survives him. There are no children.

HELD MANY OFFICES.

Judge Henderson has filled many offices with ability. Among the first public positions he held was that of county clerk of Ingham county, Mich., in 1866. He served two years as clerk of the supreme court of Michigan and two years as county attorney of Ingham county. He was also mayor of Mason.

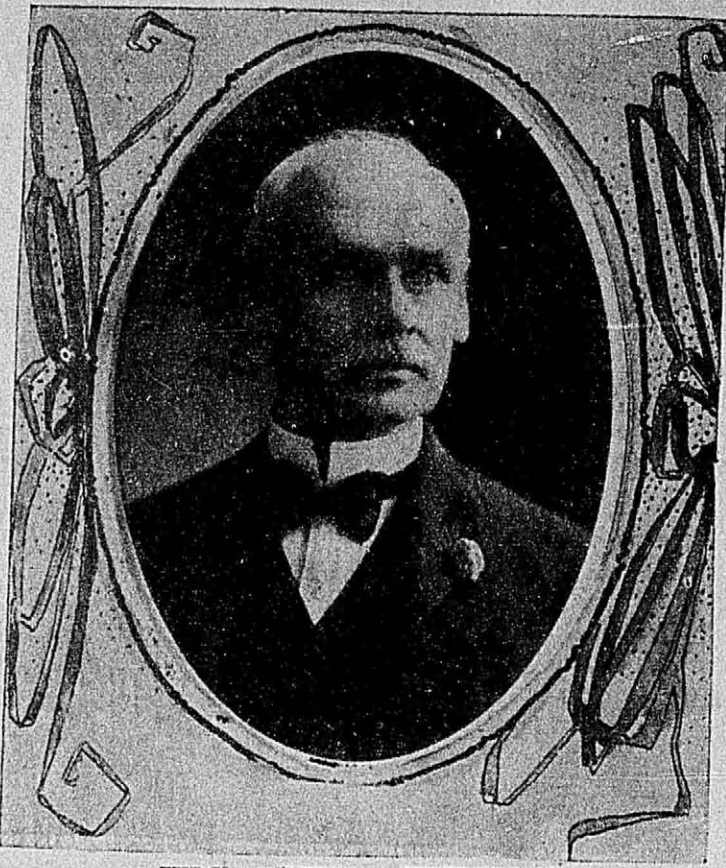

He came to Utah in 1886, being appointed one of the justices of the supreme court of the territory of Utah by President Cleveland. His first home in Utah was in Ogden, where he lived until about 15 years ago, when he came to this city. He then went into partnership with the late Senator Arthur Brown, which was dissolved in 1905, when he became a member of the firm of Henderson, Pierce, Critchlow and Barrett, with which firm he was associated up to the time of his death.

He was first elected a member of the board of education in 1898, and he has been a member of the board continuously since that time, with the exception of an intermission of two years. Judge Henderson was a thirty-second degree Mason and a Knight Templar.

His successor on the board of education from the Fifth ward will be chosen within 30 days as required by law. He will serve for two years, and may be chosen by Judge Henderson's colleague, Ledyard M. Bailey.

The remains of Judge Henderson are at the Evans undertaking establishment, where they will be embalmed and taken to Mason, Mich., for interment. Services will be held in this city in the First Presbyterian church Sunday.

The funeral of Judge H. P. Henderson will be held at the First Presbyterian church at 5 p. m. Sunday. The body will be taken east Monday for burial.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

Professor Levi Edgar Young, who has been principal of the preparatory school, was presented with a set of Stephens' works by the students of that department, before the close of school.

The officers for the medical society for next year are: Fred Worlton, president; Will Henderson, vice president; Claude Shields, secretary and treasurer; entertainment committee, Tyng, Roberts, and Groesbeck; credentials committee, Allyn Moser and N. J. Rice.

Dr. Fred J. Pack and seven of the geology students, who accompanied him to Pioche, returned to the city yesterday. Dr. Pack says the boys have received the best treatment and most royal hospitality ever extended to any aggregation of University people. They left Salt Lake in a special Pullman. At Pioche they were guests of the citizens. Special rates were given them at the hotels, and several times they were taken to visit mining properties at the expense of the people of Pioche. They were given a special train for a visit to the property of the Utah Nevada Mining company.

The junior mining students are still in Pioche and will be for two or three weeks longer. They are having the most enjoyable time of their lives as well as reaping fine results from their work. The geology work is completed and the rest of the time will be spent in underground and patent surveying.

Dr. Pack reports that A. A. Anderson, who was injured by the explosion of a gasoline pipe, is now back to work with the boys, and was not as badly hurt as was reported.

TO ENLARGE STATION A.

Supt. of Postoffice Department Division Confering With Gov. Thomas.

Superintendent Hall of the salary and allowance division of the post office department, with headquarters at San Francisco, came in from Idaho and the northwest this morning and immediately took up several matters with Postmaster A. L. Thomas, principal among which is the enlargement of Station A, at Eighth East and Second South streets. This will be remodelled and put in shape for the accommodation of three more carriers, making in all 15 carriers who will be connected with the station.

Mr. Hall in a short interview this morning, spoke of the great advance Salt Lake is making its volume of postoffice business. In this respect he says it is fully equal to the best cities on the coast.

The growing business demands improved facilities, said he, "which Mr. Thomas is very anxious to secure."

And I can say this, we are anxious to do all we can to help him." Mr. Hall came from St. Anthony here. An astonishing advance is recorded there in the growth of the postoffice business. Last year the total business done was $9,000, as against $7,000 the year before. The office at St. Anthony has now qualified for a second grade postoffice, and beginning July 1, the change will be made, and the same thing is true of Elko, Nevada.

From here Mr. Hall will go to Hawthorn, Nevada, where there is a fourth class postoffice doing a second class business, owing to the great rush of people to that district. Mr. Hall goes there to make the necessary adjustment in this condition.

YOUTH CONFESSES TO THE DECEPTION

Vernon Wilshire Admits That He Told Chief Barlow A Lie.

WAS TENDERLY CARED FOR

Matron Gifford Prepared Special Meals for Him and Police Surgeon Gave Him the Best Attention.

After having been cared for by the police for over a week, and given daily medical attention as well as the best food that could be procured for him, Vernon Wilshire this morning stood before Chief of Police Barlow, his benefactor, and almost without shame confessed himself to be, even with his childish years, one of the most plausible and deceptive impostors the police have had to deal with. The receipt of a letter this morning by Chief Barlow brought short shift for the boy, and despite his broken arm he will have to move on. If he is found in Salt Lake after dark tonight he will still have the police station as his abode but in a different manner to which he has occupied it for the past week.

Last Friday night Wilshire, a youth of about 16 years of age, appeared at the police station with a broken wrist. He told a story of how while sleeping in a car on a siding between Salt Lake and Murray he had been attacked by three men, whom he thought were officers or nightwatchmen. He asserted that without a word being spoken one of the men struck him over the head and another beat him over the wrist with a revolver until the bone was broken. The boy gave his father's name and address as Alex Wilshire, 35 Magnolia avenue, Jersey City, N. J., and that the father was employed as an engineer on the New York Central railroad. According to the boy he had left home "to see the country," and had been tramping his way.

CHIEF'S SYMPATHY AROUSED.

The boy's appearance and his straightforward manner of telling his story won the sympathy of Chief Barlow and the officers, and he was placed in the emergency hospital and attended by Dr. F. R. Steele. Since then he has had full liberty and has spent his days in sight-seeing, returning to the hospital for his meals, especially prepared for him by Matron Gifford, and for his bed at night.

When he was received into the hospital Chief Barlow sent a telegram to the address of the father, as given by the boy and as the day passed without a reply the chief began to wonder. Today a letter was received from Robert Crockett, No. 55 Magnolia avenue, Jersey City, which was a complete exposure of the lad.

The writer, who stated that he is the uncle of the boy, informed Chief Barlow that Wilshire's father and mother died several years ago, and that they had never lived in Jersey City. The family home had been at Covington, Ky., where the boy lived with his grandparents after the death of his father and mother. The letter concluded by saying "don't send the boy here, because I don't want him."

When Chief Barlow called the boy before him this morning and told him the information he had just received, the boy's only shame was shown in the hanging of the head and the barely audible reply of "I don't know," to the questioning of the chief.

When Chief Barlow put the blunt question, "Now you know you have been lying to us. Why did you do it?" the boy was silent, and the questions about his parents, if they were dead or not, brought only the mumbled "I don't know."

The little customer squirmed under the reference to what had been done for him here and the care given him, and when Chief Barlow ended the talk by telling him that he had to leave the city before dark or he would be arrested, the boy showed his relief by a hurried departure.
