Terrible Shooting Fatality in the Bear Lake Valley.

IS THERE MONEY IN PRUNES?

Accidents in a Family—Fatal Shooting Scrape—Indian Squaws and [illegible].

The Shasta, Cal., squaws who work in the [illegible] are reported to have [illegible]. At least they are [illegible] as a substitute for the [illegible] garments. It is said they get [illegible] from the city [illegible] at northern [illegible] resorts.

When a clerk of the post office at [illegible], A. T., emptied the mail box at the corner of Meyer and Congress streets recently, he found between two letters a large tarantula, about four inches [illegible] up in it.

One evening last week a supposed bat flew into the room of George Grass, at [illegible], Cal., and, after circling around a time or two, flew at Mrs. Grass and fastened itself upon her neck. It was knocked off and put in a box. Later it was examined while in the box, as it could not be taken out because of its savage disposition, and proved to be a large vampire.

Milton Wilson, a well-known farmer living near Haley, Oregon, was driving home from church with his family Sunday, when his team became frightened and, running away, threw the occupants of the carriage out. Mr. Wilson received injuries from which he died next morning. Mrs. Wilson is not expected to live, and the little daughter were also seriously injured.

Advices from Alaska state that six natives at Port Clarence engaged in an encounter and four were killed. One man, who had a dispute with another in relation to the division of a seal which both claimed to have killed, deliberately took an ax and chopped his adversary's head off as he was coming through an open door. The other three men were killed by shooting and stabbing.

Santa Clara Index: F. W. Burkholder, who owns a fifty-acre fruit farm on Saratoga avenue, adjoining the Quito ranch, is of the opinion that prune raising is a very fair industry. He has twenty-seven acres in prunes, and the yield this year is of such excellent quality and size that he has been offered $52.50 per ton for the entire crop. He refused the offer, however, as he dries all his own fruit, and expects to realize more from the dried product than he would from the green fruit at that figure. He estimates that there are 200 tons of fruit in the twenty-seven acres, which at the figure offered, $52.50 per ton, would amount to $8,700. This sum off of twenty-seven acres is doing quite well. The balance of his fifty acres is in apricots, of which he had forty-five tons this year. Last year his yield of apricots was 115 tons.

Montpelier (Idaho) Post: One of the most distressing fatalities we have ever been called upon to chronicle, occurred at Dingle, Bear Lake county, on Monday, in the family of F. M. Dayton. Mr. Dayton is on a mission to the states, and at the time of the accident his wife, Isabelle, was at Montpelier, doing some trading. George, the eldest boy, possibly eighteen years of age, was in the kitchen and took down a revolver with a view to getting it ready to go duck hunting, not having a shotgun. He had used the gun sometime before, and was under the impression that he had taken all of the cartridges out of it. He held the gun up towards the ceiling of the kitchen, however, when to his amazement it discharged, the bullet going through the roof. His twelve-year-old brother, Joseph, and a smaller member of the family, were in the room, and he told them to keep back while he looked to see if there were any more charges. He pointed the gun to the floor, and snapped it, at the same moment his brother Joseph ran around in front of him, receiving the bullet in his stomach, passing out at his back. He fell to the floor, saying, "Oh, George, you've shot me." Nearly all the men were in the hay fields, but fortunately Eli Bennett was home, and he dispatched George to Montpelier to convey the awful news to his mother. The poor boy lingered for twenty-four hours, suffering untold agony, when he kissed all in the room good bye, and passed away to his final rest. The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon, comforting remarks being made to the bereaved.... Joseph, the four-year-old son of Orson Pendrey, fell and broke his right arm on Friday night.....Will Casey met with a painful accident Monday evening. He was coming down Mill canyon with a load of wood, when the wagon tipped and in trying to save himself jumped from the load, and struck the binder as he jumped, bruising the bones in the upper part of his leg, and causing him to suffer considerable pain in getting around.....On Tuesday evening, Joseph Lewis, Jr., was stepping outside of his house, his walking cane slipped from under him, and he fell with considerable force to the ground, so that it is feared that he had broken several joints. Although no bones were broken, the accident was so severe that he has been confined to his bed ever since, suffering the most excruciating pain. On account of his extreme age, grave doubts are entertained as to his recovery.....John Tucker, who sprained his ankle one [illegible] week, is having quite a hard time of it. The injury has affected the whole of the lower limb, and it is with the greatest difficulty he is able to get around at all.....Nounan was visited with a disastrous fire Sunday night, by which Hyrum Manner is almost totally stripped of his earthly possessions. It is not known for certain how it originated, but it is thought it was caused by the carelessness of his two-year-old daughter. Among the property burned was his barn, several tons of hay, a valuable work team, harness, [illegible] and [illegible]. There was only a little of insurance on the property. Mr. Manner has a mortgage on his farm maturing this fall, and was [illegible] to sell the hay to pay off the same.

Twenty Years a Teacher.

CAMPBELLSVILLE, Ky.—"I have been a teacher for twenty years, and during that time have had repeated attacks of headache. Now I am entirely free from them after using Simmons Liver Regulator. It was so mild in its action that it never interfered with my school duties."—E. A. Clark.

FALL GOODS COMING NOW.

Woolen Goods a Trifle Higher Than Last Fall, Cotton Fabrics and Sewing Silks have Also Advanced in Price.

We have selected cloth this fall with the idea that we are to have an improvement in trade. And that are the buyers will want better suits than they have been buying for the past three years. [illegible] from the most reliable manufacturers, and have selected of the very latest patterns, without regard to the light weight or heavier goods of last year's designs. We have also made some notable changes in our manufacturing department. No also among these is [illegible] the services of one of the most reliable and best known cutters in the city, so our customers are trying the experiment by placing orders with us.

With regard to prices we still adhere to our motto of giving our customers the greatest value possible for their money, being satisfied with very small profits.

We have also looked after the interests of our less fortunate customers, who do not feel that they can afford to invest $25.00 or more in a suit, but still like to dress in well fitting, well made, tasteful appearing clothes, and for this trade have purchased a very carefully selected line of American made goods. These goods are equal in make-up of pattern and general appearance to those of foreign manufacture, and are of excellent wearing qualities and the top economy by many manufacturers that are so imported, and offered for sale by them at such a price much lower than the imported goods can be sold for, but a much higher price than we are offering the same goods for. From these goods we are ready to fill orders at from $15.00 to $25.00 and give the customer the benefit of having them cut and made by the best skilled workmen in the city, a privilege we trust will be appreciated.
