THE Territorial Enquirer, of Jan. 28th, has an editorial in relation to a subject on which the editor does not appear to be very well informed. We should not refer to it, hewever, if it were not for its insinuations against the Legislative Ascembly and the action of the House in a matter recently disposed of., The subject is the resolution introduced in the House, requiring the Ser geant at arms to keep an account of "all receipts and disbursements made by him on account of the legislative expenses of the present session, "etc.

The preamble to the Reselution as in former years; that is, the acshowed that this was intended to counts presented by the Sergeantapply to the money appropriated by Congress for legislative expenses, and which is not under the control of the sergeant-at-arms nor of the

And thus all this talk about "su-Legi-lative Assembly, but entirely pineness," and the accompanying disquisition upon the impotence of the Assembly to provide for nace-sary expenditures, amounts to nothing. The Enquirer had better enquire a little more closely next under the supervision, direction, disbursement and accounting of United States officials. For this reason the House, after passing the Resolution hastily, reconsidered its action and reversed it. The Entime, before finding fault with the quircr says the members troin Utah County "went solid" for the Resolution, and desires to show that "they were actuated solely by a regard for every principle of economy and sound legislation."
