

HAVE NOT ASKED FOR CLEMENCY
And Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison Declare That They Never Will Ask for It.
MAKE THEIR WORK USELESS

In Statement Say They Will Not Abate A Single Word or Take a Letter Back.

Washington, Jan. 21.—"We have not asked and will not ask for clemency, and we hope our friends will not urge us to pursue such a course. To ask pardon would render useless all the efforts which you men and our friends in all walks of life have endured that the rights and liberties of our people might be restored. Such a pardon would only be the whole case in confusion, and it would have to be fought over again from the beginning."

This was the language used in a statement signed by Messrs. Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, in the current number of the American Federationist, in formal protest against the action of Justice Wright in sentencing them to imprisonment for contempt of court in the Buck Stove & Range case. Dec. 23, Samuel Gompers heads his statement as follows:

"Justice Wright's denial of free speech and free press, and his decision, 'We will not abate a single word or take a letter back.'"
Mr. Gompers refers to the intemperance and vindictive spirit displayed by the justice, and to "this trade of judicial abuse and misrepresentation" in a separate statement, but he joins with Messrs. Mitchell and Morrison in declaring that they would not "enter into competition with the honorable court in the use of invective, rancor or scathing denunciation," and that they should protest "against the court's unprejudiced and unswerving flagellation of the cause and of the people we have the honor to represent."

"That the trio of labor leaders fully understand the responsibility they assume in making their statements is shown by their declaration that, even though they may be held in additional contempt, 'we are willing to accept the consequences.'"
THE PURE FOOD LAW.
Secretary Wilson says: "One of the objects of the law is to inform the consumer of the presence of certain harmful substances in medicines. The law requires that the amount of chloroform, opium, morphine and other habit-forming drugs be stated on the label of each bottle. The manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have always claimed that their remedy did not contain any of these drugs, and the truth of this claim is now fully proven, as no mention of them is made on the label. This remedy is not only one of the safest, but one of the best for use in all colds and coughs. Its value has been proven beyond question during the many years it has been in general use. For sale at all druggists."

MORE LIGHT ON MRS. GOULD'S DIVORCE CASE

New York, Jan. 21.—Another deposition in the case of Mrs. Katherine Gould, who is suing Howard Gould for a separation on the ground of cruelty and non-support, was filed today. It was that of May Hobson, the actress, and was taken before a referee appointed by the supreme court.

Miss Hobson deposed that she had known Mrs. Gould for five or six years and had been her guest at Castle Gould and at several luncheons. While in Philadelphia in October, 1906, she had attended a supper at the Bellevue Hotel, given by Mrs. Gould. She had not then, besides Mrs. Gould, Miss Sells, Miss Shackford and Dustin Farnum, the actor.

The witness was asked whether she had remained with Mrs. Gould that night, but she could not be positive, although she recollected occupying a twin bed with Mrs. Gould on one occasion.

The day after the supper, which was on Saturday, she said, she again saw Mrs. Gould, and that night had something to eat with her. She did not remember whether Farnum was there that night, but thought he was.

"Next day," she said, "four party, including Farnum, motored down to Atlantic City and went to a hotel. Mrs. Gould had a headache and stayed in the room, while we went out on the board walk. That night we all dined in Mrs. Gould's room. I don't remember whether I slept with Mrs. Gould that night or not."

"Did you witness any misconduct on the part of Mrs. Gould with Mr. Farnum on any of these occasions?"
"Why," replied Miss Hobson, "I saw absolutely nothing that was not lady-

Miss Hobson was asked if she had ever seen Mrs. Gould intoxicated, and replied in the negative. She never had heard any discussion about a ring said to have been given to Farnum by Mrs. Gould, she testified, by Delancey Nicol, counsel for Mr. Gould, asking about such a thing.

Government Dismisses With Services Of Those In Brownsville Case.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The services of Brownsville soldiers, the private detectives who were paid $1500 for their services in following up the members of the disbanded battalion of the Twenty-fifth infantry and secured a "confession" from Harry Sawyer, one of the number, have been dismissed. The war department has not abandoned its efforts to secure evidence as to the identity of the men who did the shooting, but has practically decided that private detectives have accomplished all that can be expected of them.

Denver, Jan. 22.—The opposition of a large portion of the Colorado Cattle and Horsegrowers' association, now in annual session, to the policy of the federal government as to forest reserves has failed to disrupt the entire organization.

The two factions looked horns yesterday over the preparation of a memorial which is to be presented to the legislature and which commends the action of Gov. Shafroth of his direction to the attorney-general to prepare a bill that will allow suits to be brought to determine the exact powers of the federal government in the state.

HOW HOMELESS MEN LIVE

Denver, Jan. 22.—Determined to learn at first hand where and how the homeless and shivering men whom he passed on the streets slept, Edwin A. Brown, cousin of President W. C. Brown of the New York Central and himself independently wealthy, has been living in the railroad and stockyards and the slums of Denver for weeks. Dressed in shabby and shabby clothes he has mingled with the unemployed and shared their experiences. Impressed with the hardships of the many workmen with no money and no home, he will use his experience to aid in securing the establishment of a municipal lodging-house which will shelter the homeless during the winter months.

FORTIFICATION OF SAN PEDRO HARBOR

Report by General Staff of Army, Sent to Congress by President, Gives Rise to Conjectures.

ONE OF TROUBLE WITH JAPAN

Report is Rather Alarmist and Points Out How Great Army of Invasion Could Land.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The fact that there was recently sent to Congress by President Roosevelt a report by the general staff of the army, which became public today, recommending fortifications for San Pedro harbor, California, was made the basis for suggestion that the decisions had just been reported because of a possibility of trouble with Japan.

At the war department this inference was given a most explicit denial. There it was said the general subject of improving San Pedro harbor had been under consideration more than two years, beginning before there was any thought of any dispute between the United States and Japan.

It was taken up as a natural military problem involving the necessary protection of the southern California coast, and without reference to any particular enemy.

A formal legislative authorization for an investigation and report as to the advisability and necessity for coast fortifications for protection of San Pedro harbor was taken May 27 last. From Navy circles, one of the number, have been disposed with. The war department has not abandoned its efforts to secure evidence as to the identity of the men who did the shooting, but has practically decided that private detectives have accomplished all that can be expected of them.

WHAT REPORT SHOWS.

The report shows that the general staff made a most comprehensive study of the whole question of adequate fortifications at San Pedro, analyzing in detail the possibilities of using the place as a naval base and the landing of a hostile army by an enemy, and at the same time pointing out the well-known impracticability of an enemy in the Los Angeles country, once he has taken possession.

Considering existing conditions and the chances for the development of the place, both in the immediate vicinity of San Pedro harbor and in the Los Angeles country generally, before the earliest date when proper fortifications, with their armament and accessories, can be installed the report says it believes the immediate fortification of the harbor is desirable. As a purely naval base, the general staff thinks San Pedro offers to an enemy considerable advantages, its use for this purpose being with a view to operations against other points on the Pacific coast.

The argument of the general staff assumes that an enemy is coming from the west, and the statement it made that so far as location is concerned San Pedro would be a good base for an enemy to operate against the American Pacific coast. The report speaks of the Los Angeles country, and says "the general staff strongly one thinks of the great extent of this country, its immense wealth, takes into consideration its climate, making it one of the most attractive dwelling places in the world, no effort from the imagination is needed to realize the temptation it offers to those oriental powers whose population is pressing hard on means of subsistence."

DANGER OF INVASION.
Under the head of "base of conquest" the report says that "assuming there were no effective naval opposition, an effective oriental navy could in a few months of time force its intentions upon the coast, and strongly suspected (formal declaration of war would not doubt cause a good deal of trouble) land on our Pacific coast an expedition of an estimated maximum of about 100,000 men, and such a force could be augmented by the end of two months more to a total of possibly 200,000."

"The ease with which San Pedro harbor, unfortified, and through it the entire Los Angeles country could be seized, is apparent," says the report.

From a defensive point of view, the report points out that the Pacific coast country is divided into three grand divisions. While complete each in itself for defensive purposes, they are so related to one another as to readily permit the occupation by an enemy, provided they act in harmony. At the same time the board points out the ease of retreating possession and the conclusion is reached that "sea, mountain and desert combine to make the position of the invader, once he has taken possession of the Los Angeles country in force, well nigh impregnable."

Reference is had to a report made by what is known as the Taft coast defense board of last year and in this connection the report says:

TAFT BOARD REPORT.

"The changed condition since the Taft board report that now renders the fortification of San Pedro harbor imperative may be summed up as follows:—
"First—The development of San Pedro harbor.
"Second—The great potential strength as an enemy which a certain oriental power has recently acquired."

"An additional argument in rounding out this report, it may be stated that the suggestive effect of public discussion of the subject.

JAPANESE BUDGET.
Tokyo, Jan. 22.—The budget committee of the lower house yesterday listened to statements from various members of the cabinet regarding the plans for economy of expenditures which the government has mapped out in accepting the suggestion that the premier had postponed expenditures according to the budget of 1909.

The committee was told that the department was endeavoring to decrease expenditures. Terachi, minister of finance, said: "We are doing this because it is desirable to discharge the burden of the state of the idea that Japan is persisting in war."

condition of war contingencies upon the Pacific coast has undoubtedly been to provoke international antagonism of the gravest character. Adequate fortifications at San Pedro would certainly remove one more conspicuous cause of that kind of agitation that leads to unfortunate discussion of our foreign relations, and it would thereby promote that appearance of friendliness which the United States desires to maintain towards its neighbors.

"The conclusion seems justified that the early fortification of San Pedro harbor is a requirement for the welfare of the nation."

Estimates of the cost of ship and fortifications include the purchase of about 113 acres of land, the construction of a 14-inch and four 8-inch rifles, the installation of a mine defense and the construction of a four-company casemate battery.

Key Wright transmitted the report of the general staff in the president's order of Jan. 13 last.

BO GRANDE WRECK VICTIM.

Denver, Jan. 22.—Death claimed the twenty-sixth victim of the Los Angeles bridge wreck at Botwin when W. O. Vinick died last night at St. Luke's hospital. Mr. Vinick's death while riding on the bridge, which developed only 24 hours before the end came. For many years Mr. Vinick has been a commercial traveler in the intermountain territory, representing the Los Angeles and Anaheim Hardware company of Omaha.

In the collision his right leg was crushed and his ribs and arm lodging in the wood developed the black poisoning.

FIGHTING NOISE NUISANCE.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The statement of the noise nuisance in Chicago and a night against dirty corporations involved in four suits filed in the municipal court by the city prosecutor.

The suits are against the Pennsylvania and the Illinois Central and the North-western and South Side elevators. They will come up for hearing Feb. 8.

The suit against the Pennsylvania railroad is based on an alleged violation of the municipal code prohibiting the blowing of locomotive whistles late at night.

In the three other suits the respective companies are charged with operating "dirty and uncleanly cars."

A BOYCOTT DECISION.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—An important decision in favor of the contention of a labor union was rendered today by Superior Judge Seawell, who sustained the demurrer of Bakers' union No. 24 against the application for an injunction sought by the Pomek Baking company of this city. The decision lays down the rule that in order to obtain an injunction against a boycott the defendant unionists must be named specifically in the complaint. The court further says that the term "unfair," as applied by labor unions to non-union firms, is not an injury in itself.

In cutting away the sides of the mountain the flood which accompanied the eruption carried immense boulders down the ravines. The government estimates the loss in damages to plantations, bridges, and other structures at $5000. The volcano is again quiescent.

A statement by the secretary of the United Hebrew Trades says, after issuing a call for the meeting: "The 36 trades represented have suffered great reduction in wages and the general revival of the industry.
