Talks to Signal Corps-Manager McNicol of the Postal Telegraph com-pany gave a lecture last evening, in the state armory, before the signal corps and invited friends. His theme corps and invited inends. His theme was telegraph construction, methods of detecting faulty construction, and kindred matters. Mr. McNicol will speak again next Thursday evening, on an extension of the general sub-text

New Sugar Ward House-New Sugar Ward House—The re-modelled Sugar House ward meeting-house will be ready for occupancy in three weeks, as the plasterers are now pushing their work as rapidly as pos-sible! The rebuilding might have been completed three months earlier but for an unfortunate delay in se-curing building stone. The new ar-rangement makes the chapel a great convenience. convenience

Returns from Los Angeles-Man-ager W. P. Cooper of the R. L. Polk company has returned from his ex-cursion to southern California with the Elks, as pressing business called he reports that all the tourlists were enjoying themselves, and that the re-ception given at Pomona was some-thing great. The trains ran through without accident of any kind and without special incident.

Anusement Company Articles—Ar-ticles of incorporation of the Summit Anusement company have been filed in the office of the secretary of state. The principal place of business is des-ignated as Kamas, though the con-ducting of places of amusement in various towns of Summit county are among the objects named in the doc-ument. The company is incorporated for $6,000, in shares of the par value of $25 each. Daniel Lambert is pres-ident, John H. Seymore, vice presi-dent, Leonidas Fisher, secretary and treasurer.

Coal Trade Good—Coal dealers re-port quife a falling off in the sale of industrial coals, owing to the clos-ing down to such an extent of the mines and smelters. But otherwise, the mblasele trade is good and the Chairman Ferry Threatens to Clear Room of Spectators-Redman's Vacation-Didn't See Stones.

The second session of the investigation of the official conduct of Street Supervisor Raleigh was on last night, nor is the end yet in sight. The hearing was held, as on Wednesday evening in the council chamber, and was as largely attended as the former meeting. Councilman Ferry was again in the chair, and at one time he threatened to clear the room of spectators, if more decorum were not maintained by enthusiasts outside the railing. The admonition of Chairman Ferry became necessary when Councilman Fernstrom took to task Councilman Fernstrom took to task Councilman Wood, the latter being accused by the member from the Third of casting as-persions upon ex-Councilman Carter, Wood's former colleague from the Third. Carter was on the stand and was called upon by Mr. Wood to ex-plain the incident of his going with Mr. Raleigh to the home of Orson Rudy and padding the payroll in Rudy's fav-or for entertainment while there. Mr. Fernstrom was of the opinion that Carter and Raleigh were there on business connected with the city and were entitled to have their expenses paid. How the bill was paid was im-material, and he then launched into a comparison between the relative worth of Wood and Carter to their constituents during the time they was at this point that the demonstra-tion occurred that came hearly exclud-ing the spectators.

WITNESSES CALLED.

The witnesses called by Councilman Wood last evening were Joe Redman, James Lawson, John Axton, E. E. Rich, Sr., George W. Jones, Jr., while Thomas Marnane, Thomas Hobday, James Phillips and A. S. Carter testi-ned in behalf of the accused. REDMAN HAD VACATION

The testimony of Redman was the most interesting. He was and is a foreman under Raleigh, and the two are fast friends. Redman acknowl-dged that he had enjoyed a vacation last summer at the city's expense, re-civing $24 for the eight days during which he was rustleating. He theurby ceiving $24 for the eight days during which he was rusticating. He thought some of the "small fry" were as much entitled to such distinction a were the "big bugs." Witness also admitted drawing overtime during the floods of last season, a privilege not accorded others. He worked one day, he said, at the fair grounds last fall, receiving his pay from the city. Other men worked under his supervision there, and they also were paid by the municipality.

DIDN'T KNOW STREETS.

DIDN'T KNOW STREETS. James Lawson was for a time a sort of under boss, in the northeast portion of the city, and his present opinion of his once superior is not flat-tering. He testified last night that Raleigh seldom if ever went near that district, in fact, "didn't know where the streets of the city are," Witness took his orders from "Tommy" At-kins, because he could never find "Jake" to get instructions. The tilts between Lawson and Raleigh's coun-sel were amusing.' sel were amusing.

JONES TELLS OF GRAFT.

ington as a committee representing the sheepmen of this state in the fight against the Burkett bill. Should Mr. Seely be held in this state by busi-ness, his place will be taken by C. B. Stewart of this city. This com-George R. Jones, Jr., told his story in answer to Mr. Wood, but when it came to cross-questions, he refused to have anything to do with Raleigh's attorney. So the accused had to han-dle the witness himself. The charges made by Jones were to the effect that the supervisor had given polltax re-ceipts to J. J. Domovan. George A. Kingdon and A. S. Gillespie, neither of whom had pald the tax nor worked out the same: that Raleigh had had sand hauled from north Main street to the Cutler building on Richards street, where his firm had contracted: that Raleigh had built crossings for the Lagoon road at Fifth North and Third West, which the city, not Bamberger, paid for; and that city employes worked at the fair grounds to prepare the track for the coursing meet, and that the men were paid by the city. attorney. So the accused had to han poses. track for the coursing meet, and that the men were paid by the city. A debate occurred at this point be-tween Jones and Raleigh as to who really had given the polltax receipts, and the witness admitted that he had given the one to Gillespie, but not for "service rendered." to Jones, as in-sinuated by Raleigh.

Where the Farmer of The the Farmer of Davis County Wins Out And the back of the back o

Times are good in Davis county. The fact is one having much more than local significance, and this is because for times to be good there means that a community has been created that is independent of smelters, miues, and money, and prospers on its own native soil-richness and full granaries. One of the big lessons of this present financial panic is the one that has come home so strongly to Utah-"a community shall not live by mines alone, or any one thing alone, but by a little of all the industries that go to providing life's necessities." In Davis county the flour mills still life's necessities." In Davis county the flour mills still run, the towns are growing, the spirit of the people is unabashed. In Kaysville they are talking of a Civie Improve-ment league, to make a modern town out of what but yesterday was a vil-lage. They are agitating for a hotel so that transfents may remain over-night and not be forced to journey on down to Salt Lake. A municipal elec-tric lighting plant is about to be con-tracted for, and then the towns to the north will enjoy electric lights at about 81 per month, burn all you please. The brick plant there has made a wage scale, and incidentally from Salt Lake come hundreds of Joaves of bread a week. They are beginning to see the need of starting a home bakery to make bread on a large scale Lagoon resort, near at hand, has made of Farm-ington a town ambitious to catch sum-mer residents from Salt Lake, and there will be prizes offered this spring for the best kept yards, and most invit-ing looking homes.

From the same district, however, comes a tale of tomatoes that were camed in vain. While the Sait Lake housewives this fail found tomatoes and all kinds of fruits so everlasting ex-pensive that they could not afford to put them up for winter, they had the exasperating experience of seeing them in Davis county by the wagonload, the price per ton being equalled by the price per very few bushels in the Sait Lake grocery store. While Sait Lake starved for fruit to preserve, Davis county canneries connered the market. More than that, they had orders at good profits for all they could put up.

More than that, they had orders at good profils for all they could put up. Before the crops were harvested they were sold from the cannerles. But the sales were future deliveries to mining camps. One by one thoy were ordered cancelled. Today the sur-plus of tomatees in Davis county is something appaling, and they are all canned ready for shipment. Whatever secret influence it is among the jobbers-the silent partners of the retailers-that keeps the break in to-mato prices from the Salt Lake con-sumer, is a matter on which neither newspaper probing or grand jury in-vestigation has thrown more than a very little light. The traveller through Utah finds a marked difference in the spirit north of Salt Lake and the spirit south, and the only explanation seems to be in that one section is independent of mines, and the other dependent on them, except in the case of canned to-matoes. Davis county is working to make itself the big truck garden and summer home for the Greater Salt Lake that is supposed to be coming along at a rapid rate.

Last year every time a merchant bought stock, he found in a few months that prices had gone up, and that if he had bought as much, he could have made an additional mar-gin of profit through selling on the ad-vance in retail schedules. So he borrowed the money from the bank, next time he bought, finding he could pay interest on borrowed capi-

HIGH PRESSURE TROUBLE.

Water in Northeast Part of City Ban Of Householders

The heavy pressure of the water in the northeast part of the city continues to give much trouble to householders. In one house the owner's wife was ironing alone in the kitchen the other day, when the water jacket in the range blew up and out on account of the con-tinued high pressure. The top of the range wask nocked clean off, and red range wask nocked clean off, and red hot coals were scattered over the kitch-en floor, while the water ran every-where in a flood. Fortunately the wa-ter extinguished the fire; but it could not be shut off, as the cock is under the front part of the house, where one must crawl eight or 10 feet from the cellar to reach it. So the water had to run at full head for an hour and a half before a plumber could be secured to run at full head for an hour and a half before a plumber could be secured to repair damages, and he got wet through in crawling along the ground to reach the cock governing the flow of water in-to the house. The lower part of the house was of courses flooded, and much damage done. The occupant of the premises immediately had a reducer put on the water pipe, and now there is no more trouble. These reducers cut down the pressure one half. down the pressure one half.

WAS FORMER FOREMAN.

James Phillips, formely a foreman under Raleigh, and who lost his job because he asked to be appointed to succeed his superior as supervisor, told of the loss of at least a dozen pairs of rubber boots, paid for by the city, during the high water of last summer, and bore out statements made by other witnesses that a tree had been removed by city employes from the excavation by city employes from the excavation made by Raleigh & Co., on West Tem-ple street, and that witness had sent men to shovel sand on Main street that went to Raleigh's excavation on Rich-ards street. Phillips dubbed Ben John-son, Raleigh's attorney, as "that thing," and, like Mr. Jones, refused to have anything to do with him. anything to do with him.

FOUND NO PAVING STONES.

Councilman O'Donnell, explained that the tree was removed from West Tem-ple by his orders. Thomas Murnane, answering Leonard's charges as to talks over the telephone between his store and the city stables as to "foot-ing." or assessment money, said he store and the city stables as to "foot-ing," or assessment money, said he was not in business when the conversa-tion is alleged to have taken place. En-gineer Keisey said the sand was hauled from Noth Mein street upon instruc-tions from ex-Mayor Ezra Thompson, while Harry S. Harper, formerly a re-porter on the "News," said he had found no paving stones at Raleigh's barn. A pile of stones near the house was given to Mr. Raleigh by Pat Mo-ran, according to statements made to witness by Mr. Moran's foreman.

CONTINUED TONIGHT.

The matter will again be threshed out this evening. Counciliman Wood closed his case last night, and the de-fense will introduce several more witnesses.
