SPRINGVILLE YOUNG FOLKS. Young Woman Baptist Says They Are Not Christians.

The session of the Baptist convertion this forenoon was occupied by the B. Y. P. U. Addresses were delivered by Pastor O. C. Wright of Ogden, Miss Maud Ditmars of Spangville, Miss Clara Mayhew of Provo, Miss E. F. Pursons of Salt Lake and Pastor Heary Clark of Salida, Colorado. Miss Bertha Moore of this city led the devotional services. During her remarks Miss Mayhew declared that her city was swarming with young people, yet a majority of them were not christians. Pastor Clark who preached an eloquent sermon, admitted in the course of his address that the Baptists, not of Utah. but of other states, were not as intelligent nor as familiar with the agencies of his church as he wished them to be and exhorted the people to gain a greater knowledge of things religious. The following officers of the B. Y. P. U. were elected. President, Miss Prepton, Murray; vice president, John A. Spotts, Salt Lake, second vice president, Dr. Hariand; third vice president, Miss Clara Mayhew, Prove secretary-treasurer, A. D. Parkhurst, Plovo; corresponding secretary, Miss E. F. WILL BE LIVELY. Republican County Convention Will

Be An Interesting Affair.

The Republican county convention, which meets in this city the latter part of the month, promises to be a most interesting affair. It is freely asserted by men in a position to know that there will be aggressive fighting from the very start, and that the proceedings will develop two factions, one strongly antagonistic to the other. The commissionership contest, it is said, will be a bitter one expectable with recent to the sionership contest, it is said, will be a bitter one, especially with regard to the long term, for which the present chairman of the county board, James H. Anderson, is a candidate. Mr. Anderson will be opposed by E. E. Rich, the chameleon politician from the Third, who, it is said, will make the fight of his life to land that which he is so earnestly striving for. For treasurer W. O. Carbis will be opposed, while Mont Fisher will have a big job on his hands to land the nomination for county auditor. It is hinted, also, that County Clerk James will suffer, as the clique clerk James will suffer, as the clique at work propose to do all it can to make matters warm for those not exactly in their side. The outcome time alone

POLITICAL POINTERS.

It is conceded that in the Republi-can state convention at Ogden the Salt Lake delegation will favor Daniel Har-rington and James Devine for Con-gress; but which will get the final vote, if either, is still a question.

State Senator Ferdinand Alder and State Senator regulard Alder and Judge Jacob Johnson, Republican can-didate for the supreme court bench, were in the city today. They seem to think all is well.

A rate of one fare for the round trip has been made for the Republican state convention, tickets selling Sept. 10. It is suggested that it would have been a concession much appreciated if the rail-roads would have made the selling date the 5th or 5th. This would have allowed the delegates to get together a day or so before the convention, so that they would have been better ready for busi-ness when they did need.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Heavy Frost in Higher Valleys During Past Week.

Section Director Murdoch of the weather bureau issues the following bulletin for the week ending Sept. 2: The week ended Sept. I opened with tem-perature above normal, but the latter part was cooler than usual. The av-erage temperature for the week was about normal. Heavy frost occurred in the elevated valleys of the north cen-tral part of the state on the morning of the 3ist, killing tender plants in places. Thunder showers were general over the state from the 26th to 28th. In the counties just east of the Wasatch range, the precipitation was heavy enough to be of considerable value to late crops and the ranges, but elsewhere the rainfall was too light to be of much service. Thrashing is now well under way. Wheat and oats from ir-rigated fields are making about the av-erage yield. Corn continues to do well and roasting ears are now plentiful.
Potatoes made good growth, but will not make an average yield. Sugar beets did well and will make a full crop. Tomatoes ripened very slowly. Fall plowing has begun in some localities.

Sarafoff, formerly president of the committee, was then accused of misappropriating funds and of being the chi f agent in the kidnapping of Miss Stone, the American missionary. A schism appeared in the congress and the adherents of M. Sarafoff held a separate congress and elected another committee.

New York, Sept. 3.—Edward Eggel-son, the author, died at Lake George today. GATES IN FARO GAME.

Edward Eggleston Dead.

John W. Gates, who came east from Chicago, is a source of endless entertainment to the sporting folks. Standing about five feet deep around him at one of the leading club houses at Saratoga they watched him play faro, Chiago style. Producing from his vest pocket a wad of bills wound into a light knot, which the dealer was more than a minute in disentangling, grunted, "Give me some checks."

They were given him—$2,000 worth.
"What's the limit?" he asked.
"The roof," replied the proprietor,
Richard Canfield. Gates then began playing, and some spreadeagle ventures reached almost to the roof. One of his achievements was in "calling the turn" at the end of a deal for $750 and placing money enough on the cards to win $5,750.

While he was engaged in this diver-whose family is one of the most famous whose family is one of the most famous in New York, pushed his way through and laid down a $5 note.

"Give me $5 worth of chips," he said. If the look of seorn that came into the faces of Mr. Gates and the dealer could be produced it would make the fortune of an artist. The dealer was two minutes in catching his breath. Picking up the $5 he brushed it into the drawer and selecting one white chip drawer and, selecting one white chip from a stack, tossed it contemptuously The young man's embarrassment caused the other players to smile. Gates, as if pitying the youngster, finally said:

"Say, son, put that check on the high card. The boy dld so with a shaking hand and won. "Now, son," said Gates, "you take that $10 and go off and buy ice cream and soda for your girl and keep out of places like this."—New York Ameri-

ONE-SIDED EDUCATION.

A few weeks ago, in a Pennsylvania college, the professor of botany requested each student to bring into his class on the morrow a complete dandeclass on the morrow a complete dande-lion plant—root, stem, leaves and flow-ers. In this class was a young man, a sophomore, considered above the aver-age as a student in languages and mathematical studies, who lives in one of the Atlantic seaboard cities, who did not know what plant was meant by dandelion!

This may be an extreme illustration of how many children are trained and how little they know of natural ob-iects, but many others of a similar character could be cited. Few college students from the cities know our com-mon trees by sight. Comparatively few country boys know the names of any grasses except timothy and orchard grass. The common mamals they may know by name, but few know the names of the birds about them.

Under the elective system now in vogue in our colleges a man may graduate from almost any institution, never having studied for an hour chemistry, uate from almost any institution, never having studied for an hour chemistry, botany, geology, zoology or any other relence which treats of nature. It is scarcely too much to say that such graduates are not fitted for any position as leaders in modern life.

In Porto Rico a year ago a ciergyman who had made a tour of the island was asked if he had seen the coffer plants. He replied that he had, and that they were annuals, about the size of tomota plants! And yet this man went to the island that he might be informed about it and its people. His early education had been defective, and he could not observe.

Without some knowledge of chemistry it is impossible for one to read any good modern book, journal or paper. Our civilization is built on chemical knowledge. So, also, because our age is so material, one needs some knowledge of plants, minerals, rocks and animals. If these subjects should be pursued by youth in general, how much more important are they for boys and sirls in the country! A present difficulty is that few teachers, comparatively speaking, know enough of botany, geology or zoology to give any intelligent instruction in the brancher. They have been trained in language and in mathematics, but science has icen slighted. If they attempt any instruction at all it is from a textbook, and science is not to be learned from books. Think of reading of a dandion in a textbook and not knowing it by sight!—Dr. George G. Groff in N. Y. Tribune Farmer.

THE GREAT BALT LAKE, PRESENT AND PAST." By James E. Talmage, PH. D. F. R. & E., F. G. S., protessor of geology, University of Utah, a book of 115 pages, beautifully illustrated. The first com-plete and authentic work on the re-nowned sains see. Price 35 cents, postage prepaid. For sale by the Can-

Ashe (Dem.), of San Bentto for Congress. The Second district nominated Theodore A. Bell, (Dem.), of Napa for Congress by acclamation.

Work on the handsomely illustrated historical and biographical review of this city and state, entitled Utah, the Inland Empire, which is Leing prepared by the Deseret News, is progres. sing in a gratifying manner. The series of articles which will appear in the book are the products of the pen of some of Utah's foremost writers. Bishop O. F. Whitney contributing an interesting article on "Founding An Empire," a narrative of the early struggles of Utah's ploneers. "The City of the Saints," is an entertaining article on Salt Lake City, up to date, one which cannot fail to be read with interest by everyone. "Nature's Treasure Houses, is a story of mining in this great commonwealth, from the time of the first discovery of precious metals, down to August, 1902. A portion of the work which will doubtless receive recognition is a breezy little article entitled "Life on the Range." A department which will be of more than passing interest will be that under the title of Empire Builders, in which will appear the biographies and many heretofore unpublished anecdotes of the men who have built up the "Inland Empire." Representatives of the Deseret News are now engaged in arranging subjects for this portion of the book. The book promises to be the most original production ever issued in this state, and will be issued in the highest form of art.
