CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, 5.—Promptly at noon President Hayes and Ex-President Grant, accompanied by Senators Morrill and Howe, of the committee of arrangements, entered the Senate Chamber by the main entrance, and were shown to seats provided for them in the area in front of the desk of the presiding officer.

The Senate was then called to order by Secretary Gorman, and Chaplain Sunderland offered a prayer.

Chief Clerk McDonald read the proclamation convening the Senate in extra session, and the Senate was then administered to, and upon taking the oath he said:

Senators—Accept my sincere acknowledgments for the renewal of your cordiality and confidence. I will at once enter upon the duties of the Chair.

He then directed the Secretary to call the roll, and the members were elected and requested them to present themselves in four to be sworn in.

The newly elected senators were then called to the desk of the presiding officer by their colleagues, when the oath was administered to them in the following order: Henry B. Anthony, James B. George, James G. Blaine, George F. Hoar, David Davis, Henry G. Davis, Samuel J. Kirkwood, John R. McPherson, Preston B. Plummer, Edward H. Rollins, George F. Hoar, Richard A. Teller, Wm. M. Wilson, Richard A. Cate, A. H. Garland, J. G. Harris, Benj. H. Hill, John W. Johnston, and Matt. W. Ransom.

When the name of Wm. Pitt Kellogg was called, he declined to be sworn in, as he was not a senator from that State, and he was escorted to the desk of the presiding officer.

Boggy objected to the oath being administered to Kellogg, and he was objected to him being sworn in because the Senate knew there were two legislatures in Louisiana, and the case should be referred to the committee on privileges and elections for report, to which of these legislatures had the right to elect a senator.

Anthony submitted a resolution that the credentials of the senators elected in all the disputed or contested States lie upon the table until to-morrow.

Thurman said this was a rather dangerous experiment, to adopt a general resolution, and under any captions objection could prevent a senator being sworn in. He thought each case had better stand on its own merits, and therefore moved to amend the resolution, so as to provide that the credentials of the P. Kellogg lie upon the table until to-morrow.

Conkling said, while he concurred in the amendment, the senator from Ohio (Thurman) suggested the Senate was sitting now more for ceremonial purposes than for purpose of business, and it was not desirable to be detained by repeated divisions.

Thurman then withdrew his amendment, and the resolution of Anthony was agreed to.

Speaker Kellogg called the oath being administered the Senators elect from Alabama and Mississippi, John T. Morgan and L. Q. C. Lamar on account of evidence now before the committee on privileges and elections.

Their credentials were therefore laid on the table until to-morrow, and the oath was not administered to them.

President Grant's proclamation convening a special session was read.

The President pro tem here announced that there were two sets of credentials from North Carolina, and there was but one vacancy.

Gordon objected to the oath being administered to any one claiming a seat from that State, and he was escorted to the desk of the presiding officer, and he was not sworn in until to-morrow.

Lafayette Grover, the Senator elect from Oregon, did not respond to the call for his name.

The senator not elected to having been sworn in, Ferry asked if the Vice-President of the United States elect was ready to take the oath of office.

After a few minutes Wheeler entered the chamber leaning on the arm of McCrory, of the committee of arrangements, and was escorted to the desk of the presiding officer, when Mr. Ferry made the presentation in presenting the Vice-President of the United States.

His appearance was greeted with applause.

Proceeding at once to the chair on the right of the presiding officer, he began his address as follows:

Senators: Official station ever brings me to the center of the duty and responsibility. Service in analogous parliamentary spheres has taught me how delicate and at times difficult and complex are the duties which lie upon me as President of the Senate. It is my purpose to lift myself entirely above the elements of partisanship, to administer its rules, to hear and decide with impartial firmness, and by all means in my power to facilitate and expedite its deliberations. In doing this I shall need your aid, your generous forbearance, and at times your patient judgment, upon all of which I know you will be satisfied that the relation about to be established is for the mutual benefit and productive of good to the best interests of our national commonwealth. Mr. President, I am now ready to take the oath of office.

President pro tem. Ferry then administered the oath, and retired from the chair saying: With great pleasure, Mr. Vice President, I hand the chair to you.

Hamlin submitted a resolution that a committee of three senators be appointed by the Vice-President to wait upon the President of the United States to inform him that the Senate will be pleased to receive any communication he may be pleased to make, agreed to.

Hamlin, Morton and Ransom were appointed, and the committee was then called to order.

Morton moved that when the Senate adjourns to-day it be to meet on Wednesday at 12 o'clock.

Hamlin opposed the motion, and

EASTERN.

9,000 Fire-Loss of Life.

KANSAS CITY, Penna., 5.—A fire broke out at 10 o'clock, and the flames spread so rapidly as to cut off the escape of several inmates, and Mrs. Baleman and her daughter, Miss Baleman, Belle, Lou, and Winifred, perished. N. Brown, of New York, six boarders were injured by jumping.

Meeting of Democratic Senators—A Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, 5.—The Democrats of the Senate held a meeting, today, and elected, unanimously, President Hayes requested the present heads of the Executive Departments to attend a cabinet meeting to-morrow at the usual time.

In the Senate—Terrible Procession—Reception at the White House and Willard's—The Cabinet.

Among the prominent persons occupying seats on the floor of the Senate chamber during the inaugural procession were General Grant, of Massachusetts, Hartranft of Pennsylvania, Young of Ohio, Governor Morgan of New York, Wm. M. Everts, Stanley Matthews, S. S. Shulzberger, Hon. Benjamin H. Brewster, Hon. John W. Johnston, Hon. Truman Clark of New York, General B. F. Butler, ex-Governor Dennison of Ohio, Hon. L. Q. C. Lamar, Hon. John W. Johnston, Hon. Richard A. Teller, Hon. Richard A. Cate, Hon. A. H. Garland, Hon. J. G. Harris, Hon. Benj. H. Hill, Hon. John W. Johnston, and Hon. Matt. W. Ransom.

The Supreme Court has adjourned until Monday next.

The President's procession to-night in honor of the inauguration of President Hayes was a great success. There must have been fully five thousand in line. The Avenue and Broadway were lined with one end to the other, while the archways held Chinese lanterns. Red lights, blue lights and calcium lights at intervals made the scene one of great brilliancy. Red, white and Roman candles were fired at intervals along the route, and cheers greeted the display almost incessantly. The participants in the parade were mostly citizens of this district, many being colored people.

President Hayes received a large number of friends at the Executive mansion this afternoon. Many congressmen were among the callers.

A grand reception was given the President at Willard's hotel to-night, under the auspices of the National Association of Manufacturers. A large crowd of friends gathered there.

Although cabinet probabilities are still being discussed with considerable differences of opinion and the President is not yet naming his candidates, it is believed that they will be fixed upon by the President, the best informed on the subject are confident that the President will name Mr. Sherman as Secretary of State, Sherman for the Treasury, Schurz for the Interior, McCrory for Attorney General, and David M. Key for Postmaster.

The Inaugural—Southerners Present.

President Hayes' inaugural gives prominently general satisfaction. Southerners are especially gratified by its conservative tone and its unimpeachable integrity. It is a favorable consideration from the new administration. They are also greatly pleased with Hayes' declaration that the material development of the south now deserves considerable care of the national government within the just limits presented by the constitution and wise public economy. This is construed as a prognostication of executive support for federal aid to the reconstruction of the South, and the construction of the Mississippi levees as assured.

The appointment of Key to be Postmaster General is very highly commended as a wise recognition of the republicanism of the large and influential old line whig element of the south, which coalesced with democrats as the only available means of preventing the permanent establishment of negro rule and carpet-bag government. The appointment of southern men like Key to the cabinet, together with the new administration, they are also greatly pleased with Hayes' declaration that the material development of the south now deserves considerable care of the national government within the just limits presented by the constitution and wise public economy. This is construed as a prognostication of executive support for federal aid to the reconstruction of the South, and the construction of the Mississippi levees as assured.

Philadelphia, 5.—The third annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad shows the gross earnings of the road, including all branches, to be $2,300,000, and the net earnings, after deducting all expenses, to be $1,111,189 over 1876.

Chicago, 5.—The Journal says of President Hayes' inaugural, the document is entirely unimpeachable in its every feature. It will be men that the President proposes to carry out the policies of constitution in accordance with justice, and of civil service reform, to which he was pledged at the opening of the campaign. Every citizen must be satisfied with the country expected an open, honest declaration of a man who unquestionably intends to do his duty, told in a plain, straightforward manner. If he fulfills his promises, the country will be a great deal better off than it is now. The President is a man of high character, and his administration will be a success.

St. Louis, 5.—The total insurance on the stock of Simon & Gregory, which was destroyed by fire last night, was $200,000. Clifton, Allen & Co. had a total of $100,000 on stock and building, and $200,000. The loss by the fire was upwards of $500,000, the heaviest that has occurred here for many years. The body was taken from the ruins this afternoon.

The Reading, Pa., Times says that Nathan Reed, of Earl Township, 35 years old, is the youngest grandfather in Berks county.

A man named Waters, a witness in an assault case in a neighboring town, was taken to the county jail, and a constable was asked him by that functionary.

A Boston letter-writer says Moody and Sankey do not dwell much on the terrors of hell. Their gospel is addressed to men of business, to capitalists, to men of power, and to men of influence.

John B. Grier, of Philadelphia, 70 years old, went to a fair at the neighboring town of Bensalem, near Philadelphia, and was struck at once, and carried to the hospital, where he died.
