

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

Our beloved and honored President, John Taylor, to-day attains his 75th year.

The trial of Dick Roche, for attempted robbery, was still in progress in the Police Court, up to the hour of going to press.

A concert will be given in the City Hall, on Friday evening, Nov. 2, to assist in raising funds to purchase instruments for a brass band to be organized in the ward. An attractive program is anticipated.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

High Council.—The members of the High Council are requested to meet in the Social Hall, on Monday evening, November 5, at 7 o'clock.

William W. Taylor, Clerk.

Priesthood Meeting.—The regular meeting of the Priesthood of the Salt Lake Stake will be held on Saturday, Nov. 3, at 11 a.m.

W. W. Taylor, Clerk of the Stake.

G. G. North.—President John Taylor, accompanied by Apostle Wilford Woodruff and a party, intended taking the 7 o'clock north-bound train to-morrow morning for Logan, whether they go to attend the Cache State Conference on Saturday and Sunday.

Hence to Haber.—Elder C. W. Parson left this afternoon for Provo, at which point he expected to join Apostle F. M. Lyman, and the two would from there proceed to Heber City, to be present at the Wasatch Stake Conference, which will take place on the 31 and 4th instants.

Arrived at Queens-town.—A telegram from Williams & Gulon, at New York, to President John Taylor, stated that the S. S. Oregon, which sailed from New York on the 23rd ult., reached Queens-town at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, October 31st. Among the passengers were a company of Elders for the European mission, and Elders Smith, Cannon and Reeves.

Legislative Furniture.—Secretary A. L. Thomas has contracted with a New York house for a complete set of furniture, comprising desks and chairs to replace the old outfit hitherto used by the Territorial Legislative Assembly. The new desks are to be of exactly the same pattern as those provided for the House of Representatives at Washington. The terms of the contract make it incumbent upon the New York establishment to deliver the goods to Salt Lake City on or before the first day of January 1924, so as to allow time for refitting the Legislative Hall by the 14th of that month, on which date the Legislature convenes.

Another Happy Union.—Harry Harrow, an employee in the department of this office, this morning became the husband of Miss Lucille Turnbull, like himself a resident of the Fifth Ward. The young bridegroom is the son of Martin Harrow, and the bride the daughter of R. F. Turnbull, First Counselor to Bishop Brainerd, of the same named Ward. They are a bright and interesting couple, have been for a number of years active members of the Sunday School and Mutual Improvement Association, and have every prospect before them for a long life of wedded bliss and usefulness. We wish them every joy that their hearts can desire in righteousness.

Artistic Work.—A very fine specimen of artistic work on plush was shown at this office yesterday by Miss A. Adams, proprietor of the Artistic, in the Ryman Block, Second South Street. It was a piano cover handsomely adorned with blue and flowers, affording a pleasing and brilliant contrast to the red plush background. This handsome piece of work, which is the production of Mrs. Sampson, of the above establishment, will be on exhibition in F. Auerbach & Bro.'s show window during the rest of the week. Also a sample of lustre painting just received by Miss Adams from the east. Mrs. Lovejoy, late of San Francisco, has her dress-making parlors in the same building with Miss Adams. Electric pads are a feature of the establishment.

Miss Field's Musical Monologue.—The monologue entitled "Eyes and Ears in London" to be presented at the Salt Lake Theatre on Monday evening next, will be found interesting in another column. The entertainment includes original and characteristic songs, imitations of London society, etc., and a burlesque of Italian opera. General McCook has kindly given permission for the Sixth Infantry band from Fort Douglas to appear and perform selections between the first and second parts. The usual prices of admission will prevail, and the box office will open on Monday at 10 a.m. The Boston Express says that the monologue is "unique, interesting, diversified and most decidedly a series of remarks, songs, anecdotes, characterizations, etc., in a manner that not only does not permit the interest and enjoyment to flag, but to increase, so that the two hours seem as but one, and less." Another press notice is to the effect that "the dialogue is just what one might expect from a brilliant woman who has instantaneously photographed the peculiarities of our British cousin, and to the power of compelling her auditors to see and hear through her eyes and ears."

Alarming Accident.—What might have been a serious mishap, in which human beings were very nearly maimed or wholly sacrificed, occurred about 10 o'clock this morning at Z. C. M. I. A young man named George H. Ramsey, a salesman about the place, had taken a truckful of boots and shoes and boot boxes from the cellar, and ascended with them by the elevator to the packing room on the topmost floor, for the purpose of having them marked to be sent away. As he wheeled the loaded truck off the cage platform on to the packing room floor, he asked George Smith, the conductor, to wait a few moments and he would go down with him. But the latter, it appears, did not hear the request and so returned on some other errand, leaving the hatchway open and unoccupied. Mr. Ramsey, after the marking was done, not thinking but that the cage was still where he had left it, not looking far, turned towards it, not looking far enough ahead to ascertain the truth, wheeled the heavy truck, made still more weighty by the burden it carried, over the brink of the hatchway, from whence it was precipitated with frightful force upon the top of the cage, then resting opposite the ground floor below. Mr. Smith, the conductor, hearing some noise above and instinctively guessing the cause, quickly leaped outside the cage, away from his accustomed position, just as the descending truck with its contents burst through the wire network forming the ceiling of the cage, and one of the huge iron axles, becoming detached, glanced along his back and fell with a loud thump at his feet. The next moment he found himself knee-deep in boots, shoes and broken boxes, and beheld young Oscar Bourne, another salesman who was standing on the platform at the time of the accident, prostrate from a blow inflicted by one of the falling objects, which had struck him on the side of the head, cut through his coat on the shoulder and hit him also in the small of the back and on the calf of the leg. The injuries he received, while no bones were broken, were such as to disable him and necessitate his removal to his home in the 14th Ward. It was the most alarming accident that has ever occurred on the elevator of the institution, and its comparatively fortunate termination is a matter of surprise and earnest congratulation.

A Decided Mistake.—Under the head of "Decidedly Dangerous," our contemporary this morning heralds details the particulars of a discovery in the Eighteenth Ward, of a family afflicted with diphtheria, who are charged with permitting some of their children, while others are lying sick at home, to attend school and otherwise display a spirit of indifference to the welfare of those around them. We are not inclined to be captious, nor any too positive in the midst of a life of uncertainties, but we have every reason to believe that our friend the Herald man has made a mistake. As was the case when Doctor Johnson, while compiling his dictionary, was a ked to include in his lexicon the definition of a crab as "a small red fish that walks backward," when the sturdy old critic replied that the definition was correct with three slight exceptions, viz: that the crab was not a fish, was not red and did not walk backward;—so it now appears that with the following alterations, to wit: that the children of the family referred to do not attend school, that they do not live in the Eighteenth Ward, and that the "discovery" mentioned "came to light" in the columns of the News several days ago, in reference to a family residing in the Twentieth Ward—there is some possibility that the Herald's item may be correct.

Northern Notes.—Our newsworthy correspondent, H. W. N., now making a tour through the northern settlements, sends a few more facts in relation to the town of Park. Bear Lake Valley, which he says is improving in the character of its dwellings. Frame, lime and brick are taking the place of the log cabin, and mixed school and meeting houses are giving way to the erection of separate buildings for each. A stake meeting-house is very much needed, and will soon be built, the public square when the requirements of the Logan Temple are satisfied. A County Court House is also on paper, and will, in the near future, boom up as one of the very much called for public improvements. Bear Lake Valley, he says, "long deprecated as the region of lung and severe winters, is being better understood. It is being accepted as the poor man's ground; as the place where a home and land can be easily procured; as possessing in almost inexhaustible quantities, fuel, and that close by; to say nothing of coal which is obtainable, if considered desirable. Add to this the fact that new-comers are welcome, and that the people have thorough and devoted leaders, and there is inevitable progress assured, and even a present realization of a prominent future."

Another Brief Blaze.—Following fast upon the heels of the recent robbery at the Metropolitan Hotel, came another unwelcome visitation this morning in the shape of a fire, which broke out between nine and ten o'clock, in the new addition on the north end of that building. It was caused by a workman, who was engaged with others in covering the roof with asbestos or fire-proof material. It is said that he was smoking a pipe, which he put into his coat pocket and left it lying on the roof, and the coat catching fire from the pipe, communicated the flames to the roof. The paint and tar were consumed, but before the fire could get much headway, the firemen were upon the scene and extinguished it.

Upa's Territorial School and County taxes become delinquent today, and unless paid immediately will be collected with costs. See the Collector's notice in another column.

The Silver Reef Fatality.—We are indebted to Mr. G. H. Crosby, of Leeds, for further particulars relating to the fatal mishap at Silver Reef, the first published announcement of which appeared in our columns last Monday evening. Henry Mangum, one of the men who was killed by falling into a 40 foot mining shaft, was about 31 years of age, and was raised in Washington County from a small boy. He had the reputation of being quiet and industrious, and leaves a wife and six children, the oldest one 12 years of age, who were dependent upon his labor for support. He also has relatives in different parts of Utah, and his father, it is thought, lives in Arizona. Our correspondent states that at the time of the accident, Mr. Mangum and the two Mexicans were under the influence of liquor, and were walking around arm in arm, at the upper end of town, when one of the Mexicans stepped into the shaft and went down feet first, the other two following him head downward. The latter two had their necks broken, but the other, though knocked senseless by the fall and the descent of the two bodies upon him, escaped with the breaking of several of his ribs, and will probably recover. He lay insensible for eight or ten hours and about 5 o'clock on the evening of the 23rd ult., some twenty-four hours after the accident occurred, was discovered from his moaning by a passer by and delivered from his awful place of imprisonment.
