

MORE CHURCH OFFICIALS CHOSEN.

It is officially announced at the office of the First Presidency that Bathsheba W. Smith has been chosen as president of the Relief Society of the Church to succeed the late Zina D. H. Young, whose second counselor she has been for many years. This appointment makes Mrs. Smith the fourth vice-president of the National Council of Women of the United States. There are seventeen such vice-presidents.

Elder Ephraim H. Nye who recently returned from the California mission, of which he was president, has been chosen and sustained as president of the Eastern States mission to succeed President J. G. McQuarrie, who is now serving in that capacity with headquarters at Brooklyn.

Elder Asahel H. Woodruff has been chosen and sustained as president of the Northern States mission with headquarters in Chicago to succeed President Walter C. Lyman.

BATHSHEBA W. SMITH.

The New President of the Relief Society of the Church.

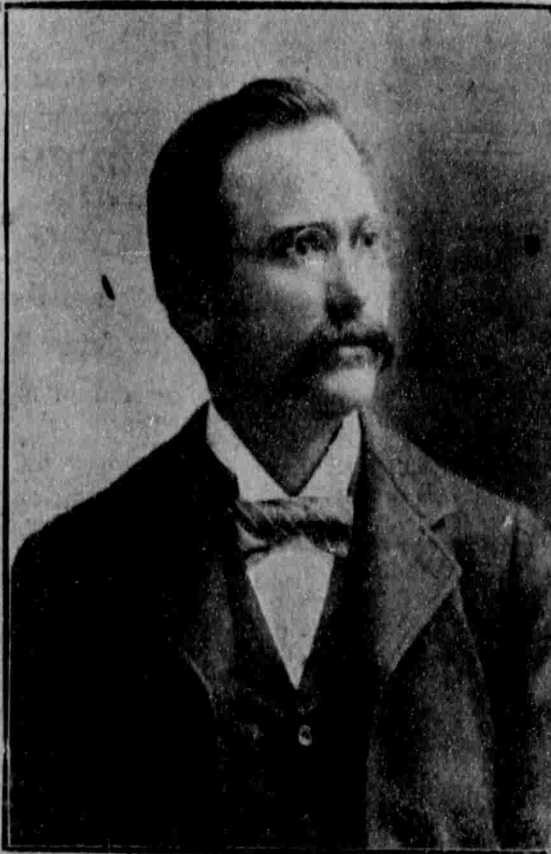

Bathsheba W. Smith was the daughter of Mark and Susannah Ogden Bigler and was born near Shiloh, Harrison county, Virginia, May 3, 1822. Mrs. Smith became identified with "Mormonism" when only fifteen years of age and went with her parents to Missouri in 1838. The family moved to Nauvoo where, in 1841, the subject of this sketch was married to the late President George A. Smith.

In 1842 the first Relief Society was organized in Nauvoo with Emma Smith, the wife of the Prophet Joseph Smith, as president, and at this inaugural meeting Sister Bathsheba became a member of the society. Mrs. Smith came to Utah with the memorable exodus that brought the "Mormon" Pioneers from Nauvoo to Salt Lake City, arriving here in 1849. From that day until the present she has been closely identified with the interests of her sex and people in Utah and throughout the world. Like the true woman that she is she has passed uncomplainingly and successfully through almost every phase of experience that has fallen to the true and noble womanhood which assisted so materially in blazing the way for civilization in the Great West. Probably no other woman in Utah is more widely known or more generally beloved than she.

EPHRAIM H. NYE.
Becomes President of Eastern States Mission to Succeed J. G. McQuarrie.

Ephraim H. Nye was born in Ashford, Kent, England on August 6th, 1845. In 1862 he went to Australia with his parents. The family joined the Church in 1866 and on New Year's day, 1869, sailed for America, arriving in Utah in the autumn of 1869. They settled in Ogden where Mr. Nye has spent the major part of his life. He has spent an ox team to the Missouri river in 1864, in a company directed by Bishop W. B. Preston. In April, 1882, he was set apart for a mission to Great Britain and labored in the London conference over which he presided until June, 1884, when he returned home. He was a successful missionary having baptized 97 people. He acted as a home missionary in Weber county for about 12 years and in October, 1896, was called to preside over the California mission. He held that position successfully until June, 1901, when he was released. Since that time his home has been in Salt Lake. He has served here as a home missionary since his release.

ASAHHEL H. WOODRUFF.
Chosen President of Northern States To Succeed President W. C. Lyman.

Asahel H. Woodruff was born in Salt Lake City on February 3, 1863, and is the son of the late President Woodruff. He attended the district schools and in 1878 entered the employ of the Z. C. M. I. as an errand boy. He was called to perform a mission to Great Britain in 1884 and labored in the Manchester and London conferences. On his return home he re-entered the Z. C. M. I. and was made manager of the wholesale dry goods department in 1891, the position he still holds. Since that time he has made two trips to the East every year, to purchase goods for his department. While active in business affairs he has not neglected his ecclesiastical duties. He was superintendent of the Farmers ward Sunday school for nine years. When the Granite Stake was organized in 1898, he was called to preside over it to George M. Cannon, and still holds the position. He is the senior president of the 137th quorum of Seventy and resides in Farmers ward.

AGED PIONEER GONE.

Gideon H. C. Gibbs Succumbs to Injuries at Age of 80 Years.

Gideon H. C. Gibbs, one of the men who helped to found this city and who watched with ever increasing pleasure its growth and development for over fifty years, died at his home, 123 north Fourth West street, yesterday afternoon. The cause of his death was the shock caused by a fractured hip sustained in an accident that befell him about five weeks ago. He had, however, attained the ripe age of 80 years. His years were full of usefulness and integrity and he goes down into his grave borne tenderly upon the love and esteem of all who knew him. He came to Utah with the second company of pioneers, under Pres. John Taylor, arriving in this city September 23, 1847. Settling in the old fort, he re-maintained there a year or two, when he established his home on the very spot where he died. In the days of the minute men, who were under General Burton, he was one of that intrepid band of defenders whose names were a terror to the hostile Indians. In whatever capacity he was called to serve his people he responded readily, and served cheerfully and faithfully.

He was a native of Vermont, and was born on July 21, 1821. In his early youth he became a member of the Mormon Church and moved to Ohio. The dark and bloody events of Missouri and Illinois found him in the thickest of them. He served as a body guard to the Prophet Joseph Smith before the latter's imprisonment in Carthage jail. In the expulsion from Nauvoo Mr. Gibbs rendered great assistance to the distressed Saints. He started across the plains with his mother and four sisters, his father having died some time previous. Before the journey was over his mother succumbed and she was buried alongside of that immortal trail. He leaves two widows, two sons and two daughters.

The funeral will be held from the Sixteenth ward meeting house at 12 noon, Sunday. The remains may be viewed from the family home from 10:30 to 11:30 on day of funeral.

Fox from whom he has not heard for nearly three years and who is supposed to be somewhere in Utah.

IN THE COURTS.

SUIT OVER CIGAR DEAL.
Ten Thousand Smokes Contracted For but Payment Declined.

The proprietors of the Apex saloon on East Temple street, F. J. Kelleher and Robert White, were this morning made defendants in a suit brought by the Nelson-Judson drug company to recover $500 and costs. The plaintiff company alleges that on Aug. 23, it entered into a contract with E. Rockman, at that time the proprietor of the Apex saloon and cigar stand, by the terms of which Rockman agreed to buy 10,000 cigars which were to be delivered and branded the "Apex" cigar, and for which Rockman agreed to pay $20 a thousand, less a cash discount of four per cent.

The complaint goes on to state that on Aug. 13th Rockman sold out the Apex saloon and cigar stand to Kelleher & White, at which time the new proprietors agreed with Rockman and the Nelson-Judson company, in writing, to take and pay for the 10,000 cigars, and the plaintiff company then released Rockman. The proprietors of the Apex were notified on October 1st that the cigars were ready for delivery, but the plaintiff company says that they refused to accept or pay for them.

Court Notes.

The Fekner-Dugly case was today continued indefinitely by Judge Morse.

Trial of the case of Carl Erickson vs. Allen T. Dorsey was today resumed before Judge Morse. This is the case of the Dorsey who gave a tailor a check for $27 for a suit of clothes, but finding that the suit was a misfit he stopped payment of the check. In the meantime Erickson had cashed it.

P. T. Ethwell has commenced suit in the district court against W. E. Hubbard, Addison Cain, trustee; Carrie Cain, D. M. Griffin and Mrs. D. A. Griffin to recover $1,000 interest and attorney fees, claimed to be due on a note executed by Hubbard on September 15, 1899. The note it is said, was secured by two lots in East Waterloo addition, conveyed to Addison Cain, as trustee, and that the conveyance was by mutual understanding, to operate as a mortgage. Since then Mr. Cain and Mr. Griffin and their wives have set up a claim to the property and Mr. Ethwell asks that his claim be adjudged a prior lien, and that the property be sold by the sheriff.

His ballads "On the Banks of the Wabash, Far Away," "The Blue and the Gray," "The Little Boat," "The Bird," "The Campfire," "Just Tell Them That You Love Me," "Here Lies an Actor," "The Volunteer," and others have been sung in all parts of the world and have delighted thousands of people of all classes and conditions. Mr. Dresser will make a stay of several days in this city.

George Y. Wallace, president of the Bell Telephone company, returned from a three-weeks' business trip to Boston, St. Louis, and Buffalo. Mr. Adelbert Roudy and daughter, Miss Florence Roudy, leave tomorrow for San Francisco, and on November 15 they will sail for Sydney, Australia. Later Mrs. Roudy will join them in Australia where they will make their home.

Another surprise was added to Salt Lake's long list of sudden nuptial events, in the marriage of Miss Laura Crocker and J. R. Hawley, which took place in Ogden yesterday, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. E. L. Goshen. Both parties announced their intention the day previously, and no known effort was made to prevent the marriage, but both gave wrong addresses, and the occurrence somewhat tinged with mystery. The bride is one of the heirs of the Crocker estate, and a stepdaughter of James Pitts of 130 south Seventh East street, and the groom is an employe at Schramm's drug store.

The wedding of Miss Maud H. Read and Frederick C. Looftburrow took place at Helena, Mont., yesterday at the bride's home, at 4 p. m. the newly married couple leaving at 6:15 for Salt Lake, where they will make their home. They were the recipients of many congratulations from friends in Salt Lake and Helena.

Francis G. Luke, manager of the Merchants' Protective association, did not have a hearing before Justice Dana yesterday morning on the charge of forging the name of Justice Peter Lochrie to an alleged bogus summons. The case was first taken before Judge Diehl, but was transferred to Justice Smith and set for the morning of 10 o'clock. On motion of County attorney Christensen it was continued until tomorrow morning and will be heard by Justice C. M. Nielson.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Manager Thomas R. Cutler of the Utah Sugar company expressed his opinion late yesterday that the only action really detrimental to the beet sugar interests of the country would be the opening of American ports to Cuban sugar. However, if the sugar trust attempts to do this, Mr. Cutler believes that a deputation of men representing the beet sugar interests should be sent to Washington to block such an action by Congress.

Plans have been nearly completed by Architect N. Newman for a 23x40 foot brick barn to cost $5,000. The building will be erected for A. H. Tarbet in the rear of his first street residence.

It is announced by President Wallace of the Bell Telephone company that the new building in this city, to cost $40,000, will be ready to receive a $75,000 switchboard will be installed within another year. The work on the Beaver line will be completed within ten days and the Frisco and Milford branches will be immediately commenced and completed as soon as possible thereafter.

The Salt Lake bank clearings for the first day of November amounted to $796,581.38 as compared with $469,957.59 for the corresponding day of last year. The increase of $326,623.79 on the first day of the month is without doubt a pretty reliable indication of greatly increased business activity and general prosperity throughout this city and state.

There are a number of country merchants in the city who supply the local wholesale houses and there is considerable activity in wholesale circles. Among today's visitors to this city are Manager Racker, of the People's Store, and Lehi and Manager Taff of the Provo branch of the Z.C.M.I. Each has a number of orders to place with Salt Lake wholesale merchants.

"I had long suffered from indigestion," writes G. A. Ledies, Cedar City, Mo. "Like others I tried many preparations but never found anything that did me good until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. One bottle cured me. A friend who had suffered similarly I put on the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. He is gaining weight and will soon be able to work. Before he used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure indigestion had made him a total wreck.—Globe-Pitts Drug Co., corner First South and Main streets.

JERUSALEM WATER SUPPLY.

To be Drawn From a Source of Which Solomon Sang.

The Holy Land has its railways, electric lights and American windmills, and now Jerusalem is about to get a supply of good drinking water. In ancient times the City of David was well supplied. The remains of aqueducts and reservoirs show this. But since the Turkish days the people of Jerusalem have been dependent on the scanty water in the rock-hewn cisterns beneath their feet. Even this supply has recently failed owing to want or rain. Distress and sickness have become so general that the Turkish governor has at length been induced to sanction the purchase of iron pipe to bring water from Ain Salah, or the "Sealed Fountain," at Solomon's Pool, about nine miles south of Jerusalem. A pipe six inches in diameter will bring 8,000 "skins" of water a day for distribution at "fountains" supplied with faucets. Solomon in his famous song speaks of this special spring, now turned to use. "My beloved," he says, as quoted by the Times correspondent, "is like a spring shut up, a fountain sealed." It is a deep down subterranean spring, which has, from the time of Solomon, flowed through the arched tunnel built by him to the distributing chamber or reservoir near the northwest corner of the highest of Solomon's Pools.

Half a century ago the location of this "hidden" spring, which was still, as in Solomon's time, flowing into the reservoir mentioned, was unknown. The tunnel is roofed by stones, leading against each other like an inverted V, the primitive form of the arch, which is also seen in the roof of the Queen's Chamber of the Great Pyramid. The entrance to this tunnel from the spring is one of the oldest structures in existence. The piping is to be laid along the old aqueduct which formerly, from the time of Solomon, brought this same water to the Temple area. There are eleven or twelve ancient fountains here and there in the city, long unused, but now to be utilized, and from which the water may be drawn free to all, several taps being attached to each fountain.—London Times.

known the poor vivid with and even out-did the rich in showing tokens of their grief. But a walk through Mulberry Bend showed that the Italians easily won in the sad rivalry. From fully one-third of the tenement houses there fluttered an emblem of sorrow—a cheap little American flag with a bow of drooping black at the tip. Five cents would buy the flag and an old dress yielded the strip of mourning, but it means a good deal when every house shows the same tokens.

The black draped flags now fluttering in Mulberry street for they would flutter if they were long enough are hardly fewer than when the king of Italy met a fate similar to the present tragedy. Italian flags hang side by side with the national colors in many cases. No foreign nation has in this city children so devoted to its flag as Italy. Every tenement house that shelters Italians can show proof of it in green, white and red. In their national holiday processions flags are used as an American flag borne alongside each Italian standard.

Germans, although doubtless as fond of their fatherland as are the Italians, do not make nearly so great a display of bunting on any occasion. The Austrian flag is rarely visible, although there are many ex-subjects of Francis Joseph in the city. Flags of any kind on any occasion are few in the ghetto, fond of display as are the dwellers therein. A few American flags, and here and there the blue and white emblem of Zionism, with the star of David in the center to recall Israel's past, are what one sees. Just now the draperies of black go to prove that it is not lack of loyalty, but want of practice, which makes flags few among ex-subjects of the czar. "Twenty years I used the R-o-sinoli," explained one, "and I never saw the flag wunst but twice, and then wunst it was covered up."—New York Tribune.

THE "SEA LADY."

The name, at any rate, has at last been discovered of the mysterious and beautiful lady who, as recorded in the Express a week or so ago, has lately been making her home on the seashore in a lonely spot on the Argyleshire coast. She is a Miss Margaret MacDougal. But at this point information ceases. Young and singularly attractive, with great masses of brown hair worn loose over her shoulders, or lightly tied with a piece of ribbon, she has been residing on the Ardmaddy beach at high-water mark without shelter or without food of any kind save shellfish. She sleeps on the grass, and declines all offers of food, clothing or money. The most extraordinary stories are current about the fair unknown, of which the following—supplied by a local correspondent—are a fair sample: "When at leisure," the correspondent says, "she knits and knits; and the ball of worsted never seems to decrease in size. She talks English and Gaelic fluently, and even converses in several other languages, to suit the person talking to her. She has been photographed several times, but none of the photographs seem alike, and she does not appear to everybody the same. "To some she appears to be about 24 years of age and to others about double that age. She gives her name as Margaret MacDougal, but nothing is known as to where she comes from. Ardmaddy, where she resides, has been always famous as the rendezvous of fairies. Near by is Dun-na-teine and re-ag-an-Pharadh—places famous as the haunts of those spirits that induce men for good or ill. To this place it is believed, adds the correspondent, she retires at night. There she gets news of all that will transpire the following day. She has a thorough knowledge of the Scriptures, and has great hatred of the clergy.—London Express.
