IMPORTANT LETTER

From a Distinguished Physician.

NO single disease has entailed more suffering of hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of hearing, the human voice, the mind, one or more and sometimes all yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and wrecks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored because but little understood by most physicians, specifically assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popularizement of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won my hearty approval. I believe it likely to succeed when all the usual remedies fail, because it strikes at the root of the disease, viz., the acidified blood, which breaks down the mucous membrane or cell application to the nasal passages. Its action is based on certain fixed rules, and unless the vital forces are too far exhausted, must, in the great majority of cases, effect a cure.

GEO. BEARD, M. D.
NORCOTT BLOCK, So. FRAMINGHAM, Oct. 1, 1874.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

MAY safely claim to be one of the few popular remedies receiving the approval of medical gentlemen, who, if unprivate, not only by word, but mean it but use it in their families in preference to any of the preparations usually prescribed by physicians.

"You are aware," said a distinguished city physician, "that my obligations to the Massachusetts Medical Society are such that I cannot recommend or prescribe the Radical Cure; but since I received so much relief from the use of it myself, after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have yet lately advised its use in families I have sent to your store no less than one hundred of my patients for it."

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

GENTLEMEN.—We have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year, and can say candidly that we never sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have to learn the first complaint yet.

We are not in the habit of recommending patent medicines, but your preparation meets the wants of thousands, and we think those afflicted should be convinced of its great merits, as that their suffering will be relieved. We have been in the drug business for the past twelve years constantly, and sold everything for Catarrh, but yours leads all the rest. If you see proper you can use this letter or any part of it that you wish.

Very truly yours, S. D. BALDWIN & CO.
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Drugs, Books and Stationery, Washington, Ind., Feb. 28, 1876.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

An Electro-Galvanic Battery combined with a highly Medicated Strengthening Plaster, forming the best Plaster for pains and aches in the World of Medicine.

ELECTRICITY

As a grand curative and restorative agent is not equalled by any element or medicine in the history of the healing art. Duties of vital energy to the body, restoration by means of electricity is possible. It baffles last resort of all physicians and surgeons, and has rescued thousands apparently dead, from an untimely grave, when no other human agency could have succeeded. This is the leading curative element in this Plaster.

BALSAM AND PINE.

The healing properties of our own fragrant balsam and pine and the gums of the East are too well known to require description. Their grateful, healing, soothing, and strengthening properties are known to thousands. When combined in accordance with late and important discoveries in pharmacy, their healing virtues are greatly augmented and are increased tenfold. To the public this Plaster is the best in use without the aid of electricity.

TWO IN ONE.

Thus combined we have two grand medical agents in one, each of which performs its function and unitedly produce more cures than any liniment, lotion, wash, or plaster ever before compounded in the history of medicine. Try one. PRICE, 25 CENTS.

Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

BUTLER ON THE JEWS.

THE GENERAL'S SPEECH AT THE HEBREW FAIR IN BOSTON, THURSDAY EVENING.

I am very much obliged to you, fellow-citizens, for your kind, cordial and courteous greeting, and it is my first bounden duty to pay my respects in grateful recognition of it. I am bound to believe that the reason why I have been so greeted by you is because you have found, in my public career, whether for good or ill, that it has ever been for the good of all people without distinction of race or condition of life (prolonged applause); but for you and your people, and your race, there is no higher history among all the nations of the earth. No devout, sincere Christian can doubt for a moment the wonderful character of the Hebrew race. Sprung from the loins of Abraham, they were as we are to-night, by our Bible and yours, God's chosen people, and to them he became legislator, guide and friend. He brought them into and out of Egypt by a series of miracles, showing that of them he expected much in the economy of his universe; and when he thundered from Mount Sinia—amid the lightnings of that dreadful and terrible yet glorious occasion to mankind—the best and highest code of laws ever promulgated to man, they evinced their divine origin, because in them were found two subjects treated of that have never been incorporated in any ancient code of laws. He gave to Moses the great command: "Thou shalt love thy brother." He gave to Moses that oversight and that knowledge that enabled him to embody, in his code of laws, better sanitary regulations than have been embodied in any code of laws since; and in all that remarkable career of the Jewish nation we see that he proposed that from that nation, his chosen people, should come the emanation of his plan of salvation to mankind; and from that nation has come the religion which has covered the earth with civilization. (Prolonged applause.) His people have remained together in a most remarkable manner, not as a nation—for they for 1,000 years have not existed as a nation—but there has been a solidarity of people in the economy of the Jewish race that has kept them to themselves, although scattered all over the world, amid the greatest and most terrible persecutions for many years, almost ages, that would have destroyed any other nation.

The Hebrew nation is a nation distinguished for three characteristics—the integrity, the thrift and the industry of her men and the purity, chastity and domestic virtues of her women. (Loud and prolonged applause.) I need pay no compliment where none is needed. I speak from knowledge on the subject. For forty years, save one, I have been conversant with the criminal courts of Massachusetts and many other states, and I have never yet had a Hebrew client as a criminal (storms of applause); but, you may say, that was because the Hebrews did not choose you for their lawyer (prolonged laughter and applause); but that is not the true answer, for I never yet saw a veritable Israelite in the prisoner's box for crime in my life (renewed applause); and thinking of this matter as I was coming here, I met a learned Judge of one of the highest courts of the commonwealth, of more than forty years' experience at the bar and bench, and I put the same question to him, and he said he bore witness with me to the same effect; he neither at the bar nor the bench had ever seen any Hebrew arraigned for crime. (Thunders of applause.) Another fact is that the Jewish race, having remained intact for so many years, must come from some preordination of the Almighty, that they should keep themselves to themselves to return again and possess the promised land after more than forty years, and perhaps centuries of wandering away from it, and that time, which has been the dream of the Hebrew philosopher, the topic and prophecy of the Hebrew prophet, the hope of the Hebrew statesman, seems about to be fulfilled; for under the lead of the man who, to-day, is the most powerful on earth—a single man standing out the central figure of all Europe—the man whose fame has pervaded even the school-boys' mind, so that it is said that when a question was put to one of them, "How is the map of Europe divided?" he replied, "By Beaconsfield." (Shouts of laughter, "cries of Good! good!" and applause.) Under the lead of him, the greatest man now living, and of your race, a protectorate over Jerusalem was established, with him at the head of it. Would it not seem the dream, the thought, the hope of the Hebrew statesman, poet, philosopher and prophet are about to be realized? And supremely over all, other nobles and kings and emperors, stand the family whose leave is required by kings and emperors before they can go to war or before they can make peace. Their assent must be asked to the terms proposed. No great route for commerce between Europe and Asia can be opened without the consent of that family who have amassed money, not for the sake of money alone—for their accumulations are past all dreams of avarice—but they are the accumulations of power which has made them greater than all. Need I call the name of the family of the Rothschilds to show the most powerful family on earth belonging to the race of people I see before me? (Prolonged applause.)

What, then, is the destiny for you and yours, wherever you may roam? For what you are reserved belongs to the future. It is in the womb of time and can be known only to your great Law-giver, he who, in his providence, has preserved your people for some wise purpose, unknown to mankind, and is only to be guessed from the great results that have already come from his chosen people. These thoughts crowd upon me, and I have to give them utterance. They may well present themselves to your mind, and I cannot see how any man of your race can feel otherwise than that he is the equal of the princes and the nobles of the earth (great applause); and here in America you have that equality with all other men and the opportunity of making yourselves what you are—a leading power in the State and in the country—for the power of your people is felt and known here, and the highest offices in the United States Senate and House of Representatives have been filled by representatives of your people, few in comparison with the others though you may be; and when I remember, what may be in store for you, do I not do well to call these matters of the past to your minds, so that every one of these young men here may feel that he has a place to fill in the world—which requires all the industry, all the intelligence and all the good conduct possible, to make himself the equal of these of his people who have gone before him? (Prolonged applause.) And I have not failed if I have inspired that proper and high ambition that should make any one of your children look upon the great efforts of his people, and endeavor to follow their good example whether in the charity of a Montefiore, in the statesmanship of a Beaconsfield, or in the acquired wealth and power of a Rothschilds, their excellence so great and so illustrious, that while each may hope in some degree to equal, none can hope to excel. (Immense applause.)

Mr. Chairman and fellow-citizens, allow me then with high respect for your people, with strong feelings of good will to each personally for your kindness and attention, to bid you each and all a fair good-night.
