BREVITIES.

An English tailor dresses Eugenie.

Faith is the best elbow for a heavy-soul to lean upon.

Rome has but one Italian daily newspaper.

Many who possess much, enjoy but little.

A fashionable party is now called a daughtercultural show.

Fifty dollars will buy quite a pretty bouquet in New York.

Rumor is a spark at fust, then a fire, then a conflagrashun, then ashes.

The annual trade of Boston is $900,000,000—second only to New York.

At a recent ball in Paris several ladies appeared with their hair electro-plated.

A person who is considered landless sometimes has two or three achers in his mouth.

Napoleon's cuirassiers are to have new breast-plates that will defy the needle gun.

A young woman out west has been fined ten dollars for kissing a young man against his will.

A young Pittsburg merchant has raised himself to distinction and position by forging $120,000.

The best condishun in life is not tew be so ritch az tew be envyed, nor so poor az tew be damned.

Seth Green, the shad-hatcher, says: "Every acre of water is worth two of land, and it can be 'tilled' at one-thousandth part of the expense."

Newburne, North Carolina, has turned out fifteen bran-new murderers within a year, and not one of them has been hanged yet.

An old lady in Central New York has made a portrait of General Washington in needlework that contains over a million stitches.

The saloon of "The wickedest man in New York," has been crowded nightly since he was written up. It was an advertising dodge.—Ex.

During the past five years a sewing machine establishment in Philadelphia has taught 10,000 women the use of the sewing machine free of expense.

A sentimental lad who had been directed to saw up some old railroad ties became very tired, and declared dramatically that he found "it hard, very hard, to sever old ties."

The clergy of Lyons, France, lately appointed an earlier hour than usual for the Sunday service, in order to allow the people who wished to attend the races, which were to occur on that day.

As smokers, the Germans beat the world. While the average consumption of tobacco in England is 1.37 pounds to each person, in Germany it is 3.19 pounds to each man, woman and child.

A man in Harlem, New York, is said to have in his possession a coin of the reign of King Solomon. It has been pronounced genuine by a Rabbi, and the professor has been offered $250 for it.

During a series of wet days, a gentleman ventured to congratulate his umbrella-maker. "Yes, that's all very well, sir," she replied; "but then there's nothing whatever doing in parasols."

The Arabians have a very pretty poetic method of soliciting a female to marriage, and their arguments, though simple ,are irresistible. Having brought ablush to the maiden's cheek by the earnestness of his gaze, the lover says to her: "My looks have planted roses in your cheeks; why forbid me to gather them? The law permits him who sows to reap the harvest."

Mr. Fuller, a Methodist preacher, found it necessary to eke out a scanty living by selling sermons. He called on a lady in a parish where he once labored. As he announced his errand, the lady expressed her horror and suprise. "What! Mr. Fuller, I thought you labored for souls, and not for money." Fuller replied: "A minister can't live on souls; and if he could, he'd soon depopulate such a region as this!"

An English paper says that an old pump near Dorset having become decayed the handle was taken from it. After remaining thus for some time the authorities concluded to repair the pump, and setting to work, not fewer than twenty letters were found inside, which had been dropped into the slit from which the handle had been removed, by the intelligent neighbors, who mistook the old pump for a letter-box.

The habits of children prove that occupation is a necessity with most of them. They love to be busy, even about nothing, still more to be usefully employed. "Idleness is the mother of mischief." Children should be taught to be as independent of the services of others as possible, fitting them alike, to make a good use of prosperity, and to meet with any fortune that may befall them.

An English Admiral has published a "Sailor's Word book," which explains the origin of some sea phrases in extensive use on land. It seems the phrase "till all's blue" means until the ship gets into blue water. "The devil to pay and no pitch hot,, is a caulker's term. To "pay" a seam in a ship's side is meant to pour hot pitch into it after the oakum had been driven in. The "devil" is the seam next the water, which was most difficult to put tar into. Thus, the "devil to pay and no pitch hot" meant the worst of the work to do, and no material in a proper state of preparation.

"Son of a gun" was first applied to the children born at sea, of gunner's wives, who were sometimes allowed to accompany their husbands, and whose sleeping bunks were under the lower deck guns.
