Indians and Emigrants.—The present season of emigration from the Atlantic to the Pacific seems to be regarded by the Indians as a general good time for replenishing their stock and adding to their chattels. The emigration for the past 15 years has hardly ever been freed from their attentions; but the last few months the red skins, especially the Snakes and Bannocks, appear to have unreservedly seceded from "the rest of mankind" and made themselves particularly disagreeable and dangerous. Like all other human beings, they are subjects of influence, are creatures of circumstances, have motives for their actions, and, if interrogated, could probably exhibit as clear why, wherefore and how as their fairer faced kindred. We think that we understand the leading circumstances that have contributed to their present ugliness, and though we are as far from tolerating their mischief as any who have suffered from their violence, and would be as ready to mete out to them "justice" as the most rigid disciplinarian, yet we cannot shake from our minds that they have been led into it, and are, in a great measure, the victims of others.

We have much to say on the subject, but will have to defer it to another time, yet, as the natives are disposed to be troublesome to the immigration, we think a word of caution needed now. There is no necessity for being excited—the less of that the better; but the passing immigrants west, as well as east, had better be very careful in traveling together, and be exceedingly certain in their night guards. Unless their information is at fault, difficulties on the western route can only be prevented by particular care.

We have been so long free from their annoyances that our boys, we fear, have got perfectly indifferent about Indians. Let us, therefore, say to those now going to the canyons, do not trust the Indians overmuch. Treat the wanderers properly, keep your eyes open, say your prayers, but keep your powder dry.

Military order, Headquarters District of Utah, Fort Church, June 6, 1862.
Order No. 1. The military district of Utah, hereby issues the following order: That all persons residing in the Territory of Nevada and Utah, In assuming command of the district I especially enjoin upon all disbursing officers the necessity of being particularly attentive, careful and economical in their disbursements of the public funds; that they in no instance purchase from persons who have at any time, by word or act, manifested disloyalty to the federal government.

Being credibly informed that there are in this district persons who, while claiming and receiving protection to life and property, are endeavoring to destroy and defame the principles and institutions of our government under whose benign influence they have been so long protected, it is therefore most rigidly enjoined upon all commanders of posts, camps and detachments, to cause to be promptly arrested and closely confined until they have taken the oath of allegiance to the government of the United States, all persons who from this date shall be guilty of uttering treasonable sentiments against the government; and upon a repetition of the offense to be again arrested and confined until the facts shall be communicated to these headquarters.

Traitors shall not utter treasonable sentiments in this district with impunity, but must seek some more genial soil, or receive the punishment they so richly merit. By order of
P. EDWARD CONNER,
Col. Third Infantry, C. V. Com. District of Utah.
JAMES W. STILLMAN,
A. A. General.

Indian Murders.—Some weeks back we gave warning to immigrants passing through the territory to put them on their guard against the Indians. It was then evident to us that the natives here, and on all the routes of emigration, were evil disposed and bent on mischief. If favored with the opportunity, the season of emigration has always been their harvest, and when they have not added murder to theft, it has only been when the emigrants have been prepared to receive them, and been ready to protect their lives as well as their property. Year upon year we have urged upon passersby this carefulness, but it would seem that nothing but painful experience will teach some folks the first lesson of prudence.

We regret to be obliged to add to the number of fatalities, the murder of five emigrants, and the wounding of several others, in the vicinity of Fort Hall, on the 8th and 9th of the present month. Twelve packers, with 25 horses, on their way to the eastern states, were attacked on Friday morning, the 8th, when they lost their 12 pack animals, and five of the men were seriously wounded. The packers fought bravely, but ultimately had to make tracks as well as they could with their wounded—the Indians pursuing them for several miles. They soon met a train for Salmon river, and returned with them to Snake river. Three of the wounded were brought into this city on Monday.

On the next day, at the same place, another company from Denver, for Salmon river, was attacked, and five men killed and scalped, and two men were wounded. The Indians got two wagons well stocked with groceries and retired to their solitudes. Cattle and horses lying around, perforated with balls, indicated that other depredations had been committed.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL SAYS ORRINE CURES THE LIQUOR HABIT.

Superintendent of Public Printing Tells of Remarkable Cure in His Office.

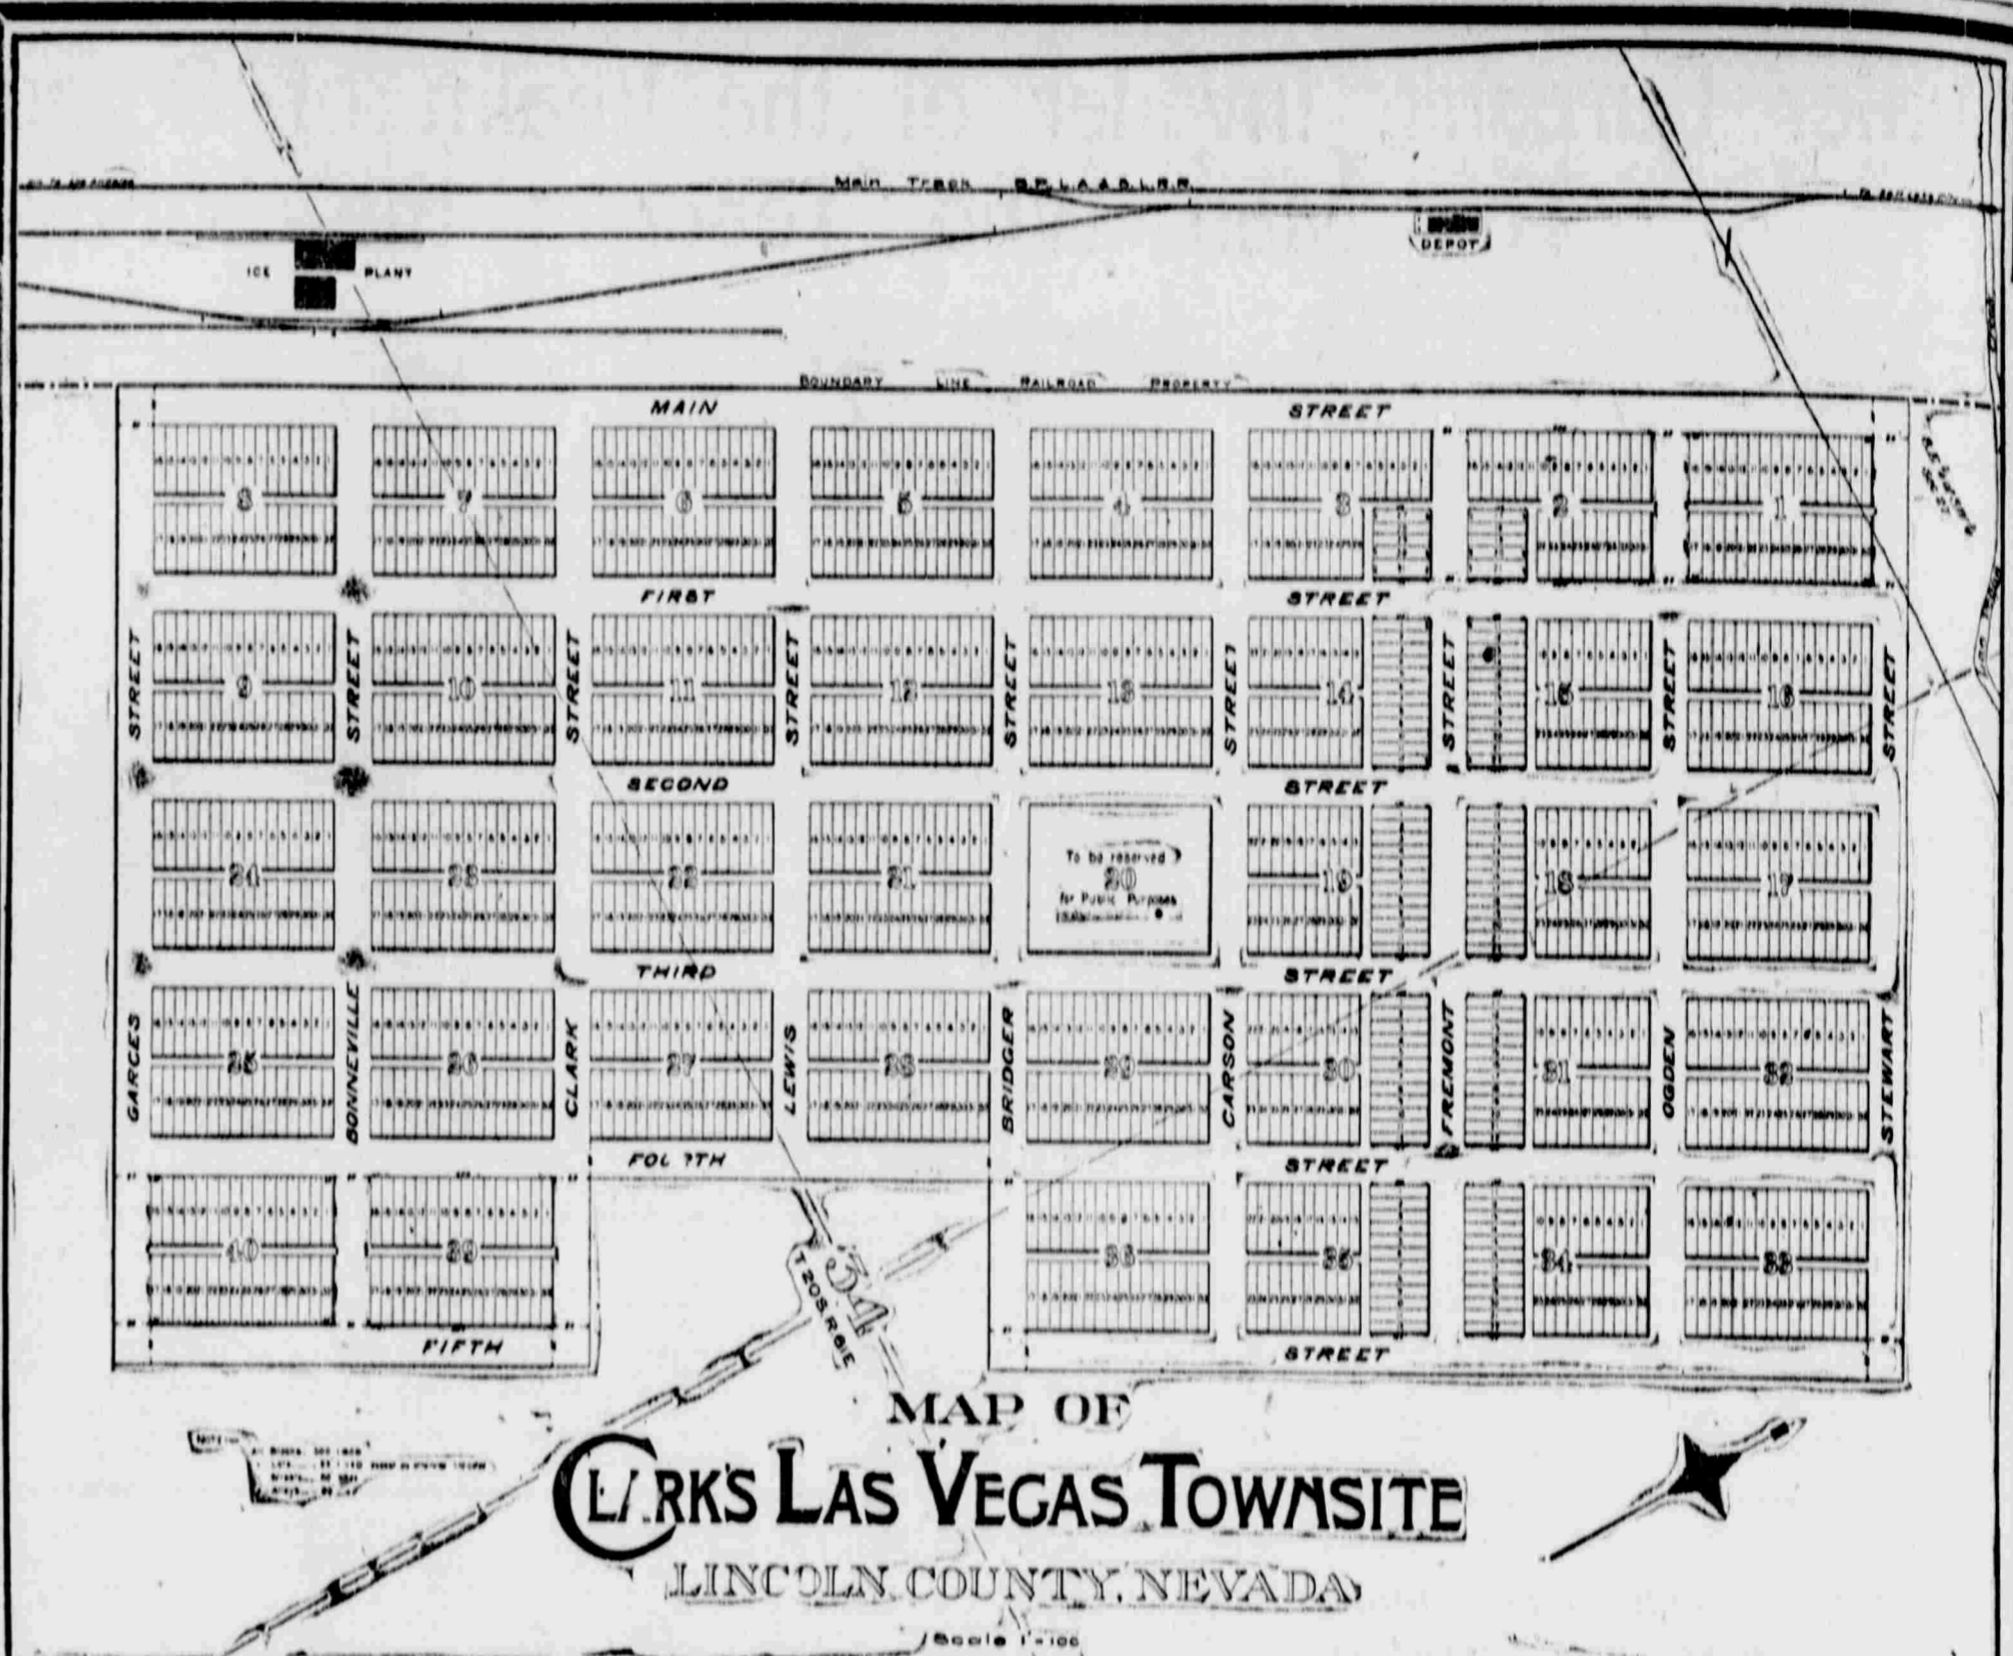

The following statement from F. W. Palmer, Public Printer of the United States government in Washington, will bring hope of relief to thousands who suffer from the most horrible curse that afflicts humanity. He writes:
"My attention was recently called to one of the employees of this office who had, through the habit of intoxicating drink, become so inefficient as to be on his verge of dismissal.
"Six weeks' treatment with Orrine not only cured the appetite, but practically all the signs of dissipation disappeared. It is a pleasure to me to acknowledge the value of a remedy which brings results so beneficial."
Orrine is a guaranteed cure for the liquor habit. Take or give it without publicity or loss of time. It can be administered secretly in tea, coffee or food, for which purpose No. 1 should be bought. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, is for patients who wish to be cured of the terrible habit. The price is $1 per box. A map showing the lots with scale of prices can be seen at Room 507 Pacific Electric Building, Los Angeles, Cal., at Houston Real Estate & Investment Co.'s office in Salt Lake City, and at the office of the Las Vegas Land & Water Company at Las Vegas.
