Havana, June 10.—Correspondence of the Associated Press from a Spanish newspaper, El Porvenir, June 10, says that the Associated Press had been publishing something about the new administration by the United States against Spain in the name of humanity, and that it had been doing so for some time. It says that the United States had been doing so for some time, and that it had been doing so for some time.

The same paper in an editorial says that the United States had been doing so for some time, and that it had been doing so for some time. It says that the United States had been doing so for some time, and that it had been doing so for some time.
