BREAKS DIVORCE RECORD.

The divorce suit of Bertha L. Critchlow vs. Charles R. Critchlow came on for trial in the Second district court; Joseph Chez appearing for the plaintiff, and the defendant, the attorney to appear for plaintiff's complaint or to appear in the case as a witness. Judge Howell heard the testimony of plaintiff and Mrs. Flora Jewell as to defendant's failure to provide his wife with the necessities of life since January, 1905. They were married at Ogden, April 23, 1905. Decree of divorce was granted and plaintiff restored to her maiden name Bertha L. Peterson. This is the second time Mr. Critchlow has been divorced, though he is only about 29 years old.

DARING ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY.

A most daring attempt at theft was made here yesterday, when a man made an endeavor to get off with a suit case and a team of horses attached to a hayrack. The fellow took a suit case from in front of Wecker's second hand store on lower Twenty-fifth street. He then went to the City Hall square, almost in front of the police station, and loaded the stolen case on a hayrack which was standing there, then mounted the wagon and drove off. The police were called and the Farness discovered his team being driven by the stranger. Farness overpowered the thief and after securing the team to a post he marched the fellow to the police station. When in front of the jail the prisoner bolted and ran off. The matter was reported to the police, but the man had disappeared before the officers could run out and capture him.

Provo, Utah, Oct. 12.—John Hosmer, who pleaded guilty to burglary in the fourth district court Tuesday, and was sentenced to 18 months in the state prison, probably told the truth when he stated in court that Hosmer was not his name, at any rate he has done business in this state before under the name of George Kipp, and he is one of the men who escaped from the state prison one night in June, 1904.

The crime for which he was sentenced Tuesday was the burglary of Kelly's drug store in Springville, which took place on Aug. 17. At that time he was shot in both legs by his watchman Johnson and is still very lame from the effects of his wounds. Sheriff Harmon and his deputies have traced six burglaries to Kipp, four in Spanish Fork and two in Springville—that is, they believe the burglaries were all committed by the same person.

They have been puzzled to account for certain unusual features connected with them, and had concluded that the burglar was either drunk or crazy. Kipp has not acted like an insane man since his arrest, except that he would at times laugh immoderately without any apparent cause, and at other times be very morose. But one of the other men confined in jail told the officers yesterday that Hosmer (Kipp) had told him that if he (Kipp) did not want to go to jail he had better escape from the asylum there in Ogden. (He appeared to think he was in Colorado.) Upon hearing this Sheriff Harmon telephoned to Medical Superintendent Calder last evening, and the doctor sent Mr. Olson, one of the attendants down to identify Kipp. This he readily did; Kipp is suffering from an attack of the blues and did not want to talk to Mr. Olson. He, however, said to the sheriff that he wanted to go to the pen in the morning.

Kipp was sent from the state prison, where he was serving a term for burglary, to the mental hospital, as insane, about a year before he escaped. He had been in the mental hospital once before, also sent from the state prison, where he was serving a term for burglary previous to the one he was serving when sent to the hospital the last time, and which expires next month.

He has always been a troublesome patient at the hospital, and while there, was always trying to get away. He is a German about 40 years of age, and it is believed, he came to Utah from Iowa.

The three men who escaped in June were John Marion, a half-breed Indian, John M. Chatterly and Kipp. By a strange coincidence Chatterly was brought back a few days ago by the sheriff of Davis county. He is from Cedar City and since he left the hospital he has been working in the Bear River country and has been doing well raising some money. He was on his way home to Cedar City when arrested in Davis county. There was great doubt

The divorce suit of Bertha L. Critchlow came on for trial in the Second district court; Joseph Chez appearing for the plaintiff, and the defendant, the attorney to appear for plaintiff's complaint or to appear in the case as a witness.
