

A MONUMENT TO WM. MCKINLEY

Pres. Roosevelt Pays a Tribute to His Memory.

DID HIS DUTY HEROICALLY.

Present Chief Executive Was an Expansionist, He Says, Before Ever He Saw the Pacific.

San Francisco, May 12.—President Roosevelt arose early today and at 9 o'clock left the Palace hotel escorted by a squadron of cavalry. The streets were lined with people who cheered as the president's carriage passed on the way to the Native Sons hall, where a reception in the president's honor was held. Mayor Schmitz and Secy. Loeb were seated with the chief executive, and British Admiral Blockford and staff came directly behind, members of the executive committee following in carriages.

The party halted at the Baker street entrance, where a large crowd was in waiting to watch the president turn the first shovel of earth for the McKinley monument. Many representatives of the Spanish-American war veterans, the Grand Army of the Republic and the pioneers were in attendance, and they were referred to in eulogistic terms by the president in his remarks. The ceremonies were opened by Chairman A. A. Watkins, who made reference to the visit of President McKinley to this city two years ago, paid tribute to his character, and said it was fitting that the one succeeding him should turn the first shovel of earth preparatory to the laying of the cornerstone of the enduring monument. Mr. Watkins then presented Mr. Roosevelt with a souvenir shovel made from the material of which the monument will be built.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

President Roosevelt said it was appropriate that the first soil should be turned in the presence of the old commander of President McKinley in the time of 1891-95. He then continued: "It is not too much to say that no man since Lincoln was as widely, universally loved in this country as was President McKinley, for it was given to him not only to rise to the most exalted station but to typify in his character and conduct those virtues which each American citizen worthy of the name likes to regard his, typically American; to typify the virtues of cleanly and upright living, in all relations, public and private, as in the most intimate family relations, in the relations of business, in the relations with his neighbors and finally in his conduct of the great affairs of state. And exactly as it was given to him to do his part in setting aright the greatest problem which has ever befallen this nation to settle since it became a nation, the problem of the preservation of the union and the abolition of slavery, exactly as it was his good fortune to do his part as a man should in his life in settling that great problem, so it was his good fortune, when he came in fact and in name the nation's chief, to settle the problems springing out of the Spanish war, problems less easily solved than those which were dealt with by the men who, under the lead of Washington, founded our government, and the men who, upholding the statesmanship of Lincoln, followed the sword of Grant or Sherman or Thomas or Sheridan, saved and perpetuated the republic.

"When 1898 came and the war which President McKinley in all honesty and with all sincerity sought to avoid, came inevitable and was pressed upon him, he met it as he would and he met it with the courage of a man and he met it with the wisdom of a statesman. He followed the sword of Grant or Sherman or Thomas or Sheridan, saved and perpetuated the republic. "When 1898 came and the war which President McKinley in all honesty and with all sincerity sought to avoid, came inevitable and was pressed upon him, he met it as he would and he met it with the courage of a man and he met it with the wisdom of a statesman. He followed the sword of Grant or Sherman or Thomas or Sheridan, saved and perpetuated the republic.

On behalf of soldiers of the Spanish war, Mr. King, who was a cavalry rider, presented the president with a beautiful canteen, and Mr. Roosevelt made a happy response.

From the park the president was driven to the Palace hotel, where he rested until evening.

IN MECHANICS' PAVILION.

San Francisco, May 12.—Tonight at Mechanics' pavilion, the great assemblage hall of San Francisco, President Roosevelt made the most important speech he has delivered since he left St. Louis. His subject was "Expansion and Trade Development and Protection of the Country's Newly-Acquired Possessions in the Pacific," together with his advocacy of a greater navy, was one that made his discourse of particular interest to Californians, and he aroused his auditors to a high pitch of enthusiasm. It was a mighty gathering that listened to the president, and the doors of the pavilion were thrown open to the public at an early hour, and thousands of citizens thronged the building long before the time scheduled for the arrival of the presidential party.

M. H. DeYoung, president of the citizens' reception committee, opened the meeting, and Mayor Schmitz formally introduced the president to the people of San Francisco. It was some minutes before the cheering subsided and the president was able to make himself heard. He said:

ROOSEVELT'S ADDRESS.

"Before I saw the Pacific slope I was an expansionist, and after having seen it I fail to understand how any man could be anything but an expansionist. It is the century just opened, the commerce and progress of the Pacific will be vectors of insalubrious moment in the history of the world.

"Now in our day the greatest of all the oceans, of all the seas, and the last to be used on a large scale by civilized man, bids fair to become in its turn the first point of importance. The Pacific, the Pacific and now, in California, Oregon and Washington, in Alaska and Hawaii and the Philippines, holds an extent of coast line which makes it of necessity a power of the first class on the Pacific. The extension in the area of our domain has been immense, the extension in the area of our influence even greater. The American geographical position on the Pacific is such as to insure our peaceful domination of its waters in the future if only we grasp with sufficient resolution the advantages of this position. We are taking long strides in this direction; witness the cables we are laying down and the great steamship lines we are starting. Steamship lines some of whose vessels are larger than any freight carrier the world has yet seen. We have taken the first steps toward digging an isthmian canal, to be under our control, a canal which will make our Atlantic and Pacific coast lines, to all intents and purposes, continuous, and will add immensely also to our commercial and our military and naval strength.

"The inevitable march of events gave us the control of the Philippine Islands at a time so opportune that it may be called the greatest of our modern achievements. Unless we show ourselves weak, unless we show ourselves degenerating sons of the sire from whose loins we sprang, we must go on with the work that we have begun. I earnestly hope that this work will always be peaceful in character. We infinitely desire peace, and the surest way to obtain it is to show that we are not afraid of war. We should deal in a spirit of fairness and justice with all weaker nations, and we should show to the strongest that we are able to maintain our rights. Such showing can not be made by bluster, for bluster merely incites contempt. Let us speak courteously, let us fairly and keep ourselves armed and ready. If we do these things we can count on the peace that comes only to the just man armed, to the just man who neither fears nor inflicts unprovoked violence, to the man who must keep on building and maintaining a thoroughly efficient navy with plenty of the best and most formidable ships, with an ample supply of officers and of men, and with these officers and men trained in the most thorough way to the best possible performance of their duty. Only thus can we assure our position in the world at large, and in particular our position here on the Pacific.

"It behooves all men of lofty soul who are proud to belong to a mighty nation, to see to it that we fit ourselves to take our proper place in the world, for our proper place is with the expanding nations and the nations that dare to be great, that accept with confidence a place of leadership in the world. All our people should be in a position, but especially you of California, for much of our expansion must go through the Golden Gate, and the state of California is the most favorable to those who wish to be not merely to take the lead in the growth of American influence along the coast and islands of that mighty ocean, but to lead the world in the growth of one, my countrymen, I believe in you with all my heart, and I am proud that it has been granted to me to be a citizen of a nation of free men, of free citizens, and with the wisdom, the high ideal and the courage to rise level to its opportunities."

MASSACRE OF JEWS.

Additional Details of Outrage at Kishineff Still Coming.

St. Petersburg, May 12. (Tuesday).—Additional details of the Kishineff massacre of Jews are printed here daily. The reports give the number of victims thus far buried in the Jewish cemetery at 44 and say that a person seriously wounded are still in the Jewish hospital.

The horrors reported scarcely bear repetition. In one instance a woman driven through a woman's head into the floor and cases of bodily mutilation have been authenticated. About 800,000 persons were sent from Odessa to deal with the situation. The spathy of the local authorities during the two days of rapine and murder appears to have been fully established.

FURTHER MASSACRES DENIED.

St. Petersburg, May 12.—The report published in the United States that a massacre of Jews similar to the one which took place recently at Kishineff, capital of Bessarabia, has occurred at Pincopol, seven miles from Kishineff, is officially denied and is universally discredited.

Will Build Floating Vessels.

Tacoma, Wash., May 12.—The Pacific coast company has decided to construct two 1,500 ton vessels designed especially for freight carrying purposes, though each will have limited passenger accommodations. The vessels will cost approximately $200,000. Just where the new boats will be built has not been decided. They are intended for Pacific coast trade.

GEN. MILES TO SECY. ROOT.

Wants to Know by Whom His Report Was Made Public.

Washington, May 12.—Secy. Root today received a letter from Lieut. Gen. Miles asking what portions of his report were given to the public by whom made public and to whom furnished. The secretary called in the officer who furnished the reports and gave directions to him to prepare a statement showing what had been done. The reply to Gen. Miles will be sent tomorrow, and will show that the adjutant-general's office furnished copies of that portion of Gen. Miles' report bearing on the military operations in the islands, together with replies of the heads of bureaus to whom the report had been referred for remarks, concerning the matters under their direction.

PHYSICIANS DISCUSS DR. LORENZ'S METHODS

Washington, May 12.—Fifteen of the components societies of the Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons held meetings today, and some of them concluded their work by discussing the methods of Prof. Adolph Lorenz, the Austrian surgeon, in the treatment of congenital hip disease and club foot, furnished the feature of general interest at the meetings of the American Surgical and Orthopedic association. To the surgical association the case of Charles Willet, operated upon last November by Dr. Lorenz for club foot, was presented. Although one of excessive difficulty, the operation was pronounced a perfect success. No discussion, especially condemnatory of Lorenz's methods, was elicited, but some of the more conservative members of the association were adverse in their criticisms. The statement was made that the daughter of J. Ogden Armour, of Chicago, to perform, which the Austrian surgeon had come to the United States, had not proved entirely successful. It was evident from the tone of the discussion that a majority of surgeons in attendance were supporters of the Lorenz methods. No action, however, was taken.

A LAST RESORT.

Pure Food Should Be the First.

When the human machine goes wrong it is ten to one that the trouble began with the stomach and can therefore be removed by the use of proper food. A lady well known in Bristol, Ontario, County, N. Y., tells of the experience she had curing her only child by the use of scientific food. "My little daughter, the only child and for that reason doubly dear, inherited nervous dyspepsia. We tried all kinds of remedies and soft foods. At last, when patience was about exhausted and the child's condition had grown so bad the whole family was aroused, we tried Grape-Nuts.

A friend recommended the food as one which her own delicate children had grown strong upon so I purchased a box—as a last resort. In a very short time a marked change in both health and disposition was seen. What made our case easy was that she liked it at once and its crisp, nutty flavor has made it an immediate favorite with the most fastidious in our family.

"It seems to be thoroughly established in western New York where many friends use it regularly. I have noticed its fine effects upon the intellects as well as the bodies of those who use it. We owe it much." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

judge advocate-general furnished a complete copy of the report on cruelties and atrocities, together with a copy of the letter of the judge advocate-general to the secretary of war which told what the department had done concerning the subjects treated on in Gen. Miles' report. It has been charged that all of Gen. Miles' report was not furnished to the press by the war department.

A DEADLY DRINK.

One Man Dead, Others Dying from Too Much Curiosity.

Cincinnati, May 12.—One man is dead and four others are in a critical condition as a result of tampering with an express package that arrived tonight at the Cincinnati warehouse of the Adams Express company.

At 9 o'clock a bottle was received from Memphis addressed to Kate Nobbe, 307 Harris street, Cincinnati. In the bottle was a small glass vial containing a tin of all took a drink. They became violently ill in a few moments and were rushed to the city hospital. Fickles died on arriving there and William Stevens, George Eberle, Louis Burbank and William Daily are reported in a serious condition. On examination it was found that the bottle contained arsenic and whiskey.

Mrs. Kate Nobbe tonight said that she could not say what the bottle contained, but that it was undoubtedly sent by a woman named Lorenz, a relative who lives in Memphis. The relative, she said, visited her three weeks ago, and since that time she had been feeling ill. She said she was sure that the bottle contained arsenic and whiskey.

Monitor Arkansas Must Stay.

St. Genevieve, Mo., May 14.—The monitor Arkansas apparently will remain here for a long time. Another slight fall in the river stage has prevented all hope of her returning to St. Louis as sailing arrangements for a little over nine feet of water and the monitor draws 11. Barges laden with coal have replenished her bunkers. E. O. Johnson, chief boatswain of the monitor, has been discharged, and the Jackies envy him his liberty.

She Saved Her Honor.

Chicago, May 12.—Miss Laura Stickler, a newspaper, was found unconscious upon the stone pavement of an alley in the rear of the Hotel Newport on Monroe street this morning. She was taken to the county hospital and her condition is serious. According to her story, told to the police, she was taken to the hotel by a broker, who threatened her with a revolver. Whereupon she jumped out of the third-story window. The broker has been arrested and claims he does not know why the young woman made the leap.

Want Piece Work Abolished.

Milwaukee, May 12.—The International Association of Machinists today took decisive action leading to a straight nine-hour day in place of a 54 or 55-hour week, which rule applies in many of the shops throughout the city. The new rule is based on a 16-hour day for five days and the additional four or five hours on Saturday. The convention voted to discontinue the plan of piece work, and to obtain, and all new agreements or contracts must conform to the straight nine-hour day.

JOHNSON VS. S. P. RY.

Involves Question of Use of Automatic Couplers.

Washington, May 12.—A petition for a writ of certiorari in the case of W. O. Johnson vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad company was filed today in the United States supreme court today. The case involves the construction of the act of 1893, requiring railroads engaged in interstate commerce to equip their cars with automatic couplers. Johnson, while coupling a locomotive to a dining car, neither of which carried an automatic coupler, at Promontory, Utah, in 1902, was injured and sued for damages. The lower courts decided in favor of the railroads, holding that dining cars standing on a switch were not in constant use by the engine, and "cars engaged in interstate commerce."

CURES CATARRH.

"Hymel the Most Wonderful Cure for Catarrh Ever Discovered," Says Mayor Yard.

Do not try to cure catarrh by taking drugs into the stomach; it cannot be cured in that manner. The only way in which this too common disease can be cured is through a direct application that will kill the bacilli of catarrh and prevent their growth. Hymel is the only known method of treatment that accomplishes this. It is the simplest, most pleasant, and the only absolute cure for catarrh that has ever been discovered. Thousands of unsolicited testimonials have been received from the most prominent men and women in the country who have been cured by this remarkable remedy. Ministers, bankers, lawyers, even eminent physicians have sent strong testimonials as to the remarkable powers of Hymel to cure catarrh.
