POLITICS AND PARTIES.

THE decided gains of the Democrats and consequent losses of the Republicans, in the recent elections in the East, have surprised many people. The financial crisis appears to have set many to thinking seriously and some of them recollect that one of the arguments used against the election of Greeley was this, that a crushing financial crisis would be the result if he were elected, and that it was necessary to re-elect Grant to stave off this crisis. Well, Grant was re-elected, and the crisis came notwithstanding. Now the country, instead of having Greeley and the crisis, has Grant and the crisis. A good many of the people are anxious to know how it is that things have come to this pass, seeing that they "went for" Grant with one express purpose of preventing the crisis, and now they are a little doubtful whether the party in power is really so great and so good as it has been represented. They waver in their allegiance to it, and thus the Democrats gain. Even Harper's Weekly, that staunch advocate of the Republican party, has begun to faulter in its fidelity, and hardly knows what to make of things, but seems to have a pretty good idea that there is something rotten in Denmark. In a late number of that paper occurs the following—

"Corruption wins more than honesty." It is true in politics as in every other department of human activity. When corruption begins in a party, when those who are unworthy representatives of the party principle become its leaders, and its measures betray the recklessness and insolence of power, the party begins to decline. If to-day there are many Republicans who look gravely upon their party prospects, it is because they see it apparently identified with certain unworthy men and measures. It is no answer to such Republicans to say that there are bad men in all parties, and especially in one so supreme. That is freely admitted. No party ought to be judged by its worst members; but when those who are not the best control a party, and when the best cannot honestly defend its measures, it is idle to suppose that it will not be judged by those men and those measures. We do not say that such is the present condition of the Republican party; but there is no sincere Republican who reads these words who does not see much in the party tendency that makes him restless and apprehensive.

But are the Democrats going to become the dominant party again? One can hardly think so, for they have been so long and so hopelessly divided against themselves, and a house divided against itself can not stand. The Democrats may have been gaining largely, lately, but it will take a vast deal of gaining to make them the dominant party again. Besides, the question arises, would there be less corruption in the government if the Democrats were to come into office again than there is now that the Republicans are in? Much might be said on both sides, but one thing would still be sure—that men are more important than measures, and that patriotism is more important than party. Give us really good men, and either party would be more satisfactory than either is now. Another thing may also be considered certain—that the Republican party will not go to pieces until there is another party ready to take its place.

What is wanted is a party comprising the best men in the nation, and to institute this party there must be an important issue around which it can rally, an issue which the party will consider vital, that it may be earnestly, resolutely, and uncompromisingly advanced. The Grange movement is based on this idea, and the issue in that is against corruption, and specially against monopoly. The grangers have also hold of another good idea — that of sending the mere politicians adrift and putting good, solid, substantial, building-up citizens in office. But the Grange movement is very partial, very one-sided, so that it might almost be termed clannish, embracing only the farmer class. Consequently that will not be the coming party, unless it shall become liberalized so as to be no longer sectional, but embrace all classes of the population. Any issue, to be of absorbing interest in the Union, must be a national issue, and any party, to become the dominant party, must be a national party, working along with the current of the national issue. Until something of this kind is seen, the Republican party will be safe, only in the contingency of one possible condition—a general crumbling of all parties, the natural result of which would be anarchy.

OUR COUNTRY CONTEMPORARIES.

The Corinne Reporter, Nov. 6—

The Grand Jury at Malad City, Oneida Co., Idaho, has been empannelled under the Common Law system, as the Court holds that part of our Jury law reducing the number of the Grand Jury to seven, as unconstitutional.

U. S. Grand Jury found true bills against: William Martin—selling liquor to Indians. Stonan & Anderson—stealing from Ft. Hall some sacks of oats or barley.

Territorial Grand Jury found true bills against:

Jas. Waters—for murder (of A. Davis) in 1st degree.

A. Sherman—grand larceny.

In the case of W. Schoonover, charged with stealing cattle—no evidence produced, and it is believed the bill will be ignored.

To-day work continued on sinking the artesian well. That we have the gas, and that in sufficient quantity to light the city, is a dead certainty. By the way, an old Missourian didn't think so. He carelessly approached the well, struck a match, applied it, fell on his back about ten feet off, and, hairless and beardless, arose, exclaiming: "Why, Lor' a mighty, thar's 'nuff gas thar to supply a thousand miles 'round."

To demonstrate that the gas was a continual and incessant jet, a three-inch pipe was connected with the main pipe, which ran out about thirty feet from the house, and about four feet upward. This pipe, it must be remembered, only caught part of the gas which rose outside of the tubing, and fired but about a tenth part of the whole jet. At dark a match was placed at the end of the tube, and a brilliant light, which illuminated a large area of ground, shot buoyantly forth, and for hours continued in a steady, bright, unabating blaze. The occasion was an auspicious one, the Corinne brass band was called forth and discoursed music "under the gas light." Numbers of our citizens flocked to North Side to witness the novel spectacle. Conjectures as to how the city was to be lighted by gas, machinery run, etc., were freely indulged in, and every one seemed delighted over the successful experiment. There is every reason to rejoice, in sooth, for it is not every city in the wide domain that can, at a trifling cost, be lit with native-made gas.

The chief thing demonstrated was, that the gas was so pure that it was sufficient as it was for all practical purposes, and required no purifying to render it fit for use.

This morning, though the weather was unusually inclement, the peace talk was held and goods distributed. The gentlemen, Major J. Powell and Major Ingalls, Special Indian Commissioners, and Levi Gheen, who has charge of the western Shoshones, are thoroughly versed in Indian character, and never let weather cause a contract to be broken or faith destroyed. The talk was held across the Bear, about a mile and a half from the city.

Ogden Junction, Nov. 7—

A personal rencontre took place this afternoon between two ticket agents who were trying to dispose of a ticket to a passenger on his way east. They became excited and indulged in criminations and recriminations which resulted in blows. They are both plucky and spirited, and each one gave as much as he received. Officer Parry, however, interfered, and introduced them to Alderman Thomson, who let them off with a fine of $5 and costs.

Provo Times, Nov. 6th—

PROVO CITY, Nov. 4th, 1873.

Editors Provo Times:

Gentlemen.—I do hereby certify that I have invented perpetual motion, which I will demonstrate beyond a doubt before the citizens of Provo. The ground work of this machine is four feet by eighteen inches. I am prepared to prove that it will propel five sewing machines at once. I also testify that this machine is under perfect control and the power can be increased or diminished with perfect ease. The said machine is at my residence, 4th Ward.

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT EDWARDS.

Last Night's Dispatches.

CANADA.

The New Ministry.

OTTAWA, 7.—The following is the new ministry, so far as known: McKenzie premier and minister of public works; Blake, without a portfolio; Senator Christie, secretary of State; Cartwright, finance; D. A. McDonald, post-master general; Dorion, minister of justice; Letellier De Saint Just, senator and minister of agriculture and immigration; Fournier, inland revenue; J. Smith, marine and fisheries; Isaac Burpee, customs and receiver general; Ross, president of council and pro tem minister of militia; Laird, minister of the interior. One seat is vacant. It is announced that the late government, shortly before its resignation, made the following appointments—R. L. Tilley, M. P., lieut. governor of New Brunswick; John Crawford, M. P., governor of Ontario; Hugh McDonald, M. P., judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia.

Parliament Prorogued.

Parliament assembled at three o'clock to-day. Hon. L. P. Holton announced the names of the members of the new cabinet, after which the Governor General delivered the following speech from the throne: "In consequence of the resignation of my late ministers during the debate on the address, I have called a fresh administration to duty. The council and a large number of seats in the house have thus become vacant. I have decided, with due regard to the circumstances of the case, that it will be most convenient in the interests of public business to prorogue this parliament." The prorogation was entirely unexpected. Lord Dufferin came to the parliament house in his own carriage, without an escort or guard of honor. Very few people were present outside the house and the proceedings only lasted a few moments.

Burning of the "Bavarian."

TORONTO, 7.—Captain Howard, general superintendent of the Canadian navigation steamers, reports that the burning of the Bavarian was caused by the breaking of the walking beam, the forepart of which fell on several barrels of spirits stored on the deck, bursting them and causing a fire. It is the intention of the company to prosecute the pilot and men of the first boat that left the burning steamer, for leaving contrary to orders.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Great Depression.

LONDON, 7.—There is great depression in all stocks on the list.

Specie for America.

The amount of specie withdrawn from the bank yesterday, for the U. S. and Canada, was $370,000, most of which goes to Canada.

New Chief Justice.

Sir John Duke Coleridge has been appointed Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, vice Sir W. Boville, deceased.

Liverpool Races.

LIVERPOOL, 7.—At the autumn meeting to-day the Liverpool cup was won by Sterling, beating Louise, second, King Lud, third, and twelve others; the betting at the start was 16 to 1 against Sterling and Louise, and 14 against Lud.

PRUSSIA.

Sale of Silver to the U. S.

BERLIN, 7.—The German minister of finance has decided to sell twenty million thalers of disused silver to the United States government, which is the highest bidder.

FRANCE.

Convicted and Sentenced.

PARIS, 7.—Two of the men arrested for being engaged in a conspiracy to abduct the niece of President MacMahon, and hold her as a hostage, have been convicted and sentenced to terms of imprisonment.

Republicans in the Ascendant.

The bureaux of the assembly met to-day, to nominate a committee on the prolongation of President McMahon's power. Three bureaux, in which the left have a majority, postponed action until Saturday. In the twelve remaining bureaux, seven members of the right and five of the left were elected. The republicans are consequently certain of a majority on the committee.

Retribution.

George Rosenbaum, the butcher, who was killed last week at Watsonville, California, by Frank Callahan, was a well-known character in Montana, and a meaner thief than he never escaped unhung from our Territory. In 1862 this same Rosenbaum, in Portland, Oregon, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for entering ing his wife down and robbing her. Whether he was pardoned out or broke out of the Oregon penitentiary we are not informed; but his next operations were in Salt Lake city, where he kept a butcher shop in the winter of 1864-65, and furnished his customers with beef at his shop from cattle stolen from the farmers and stock-dealers in the vicinity of Salt Lake city. He made his escape to Montana early in the spring of '65, after being found out in his cattle stealing business in Utah. Upon arriving in Virginia city, upon cheek and impudence he fitted up a magnificent meat market, and then commenced furnishing his stalls by stealing. His first operation was the purchase of two head of fat cattle from a trader whom he induce to drive them to his slaughter-house, and upon arriving there gave the owner an order on a store for the price of the cattle. The cattle-dealer returned to the slaughter house and informed Rosenbaum that there was no money in the designated store to his credit, and demanded the cattle; but they were butchered, and the man was put off without a dollar. His next exploit was to drive several of his neighbor's hogs into his slaughter pen and butcher them. The attention of the Vigilance committee, then in full blast in Virginia city, was called to this wholesale thieving business, whereupon Rosenbaum was arrested by the regulators and tried by them, and on account of having a wife and children his sentence was commuted from hanging to banishment and fifty lashes on the bare back, which was carried out to the letter. Mr. Schwab, of the Cosmopolitan hotel, was then doing business in Virginia city, and to him Rosenbaum came with his sore back and woeful tale of banishment, and related his account of the flogging received. Rosenbaum grinned and said the Regulators cheated themselves, "for," said he, "they seutenced me to fifty lashes, but they only laid on forty-nine, as I counted them myself." After his banishment we never heard anything of his career until the story of his murder came to us through the San Francisco Chronicle, and the account would seem to show that Rosenbaum was an innocent and unoffending citizen, who was ruthlessly murdered by Callahan. We venture to say that there are two sides to the question, and that Rosenbaum, when the truth is known, deserved to be shot, and has met retributive justice in this bloody manner.—Helena Gazette, Nov. 1.

PIOCHE NOTES.

From the Record of Nov. 4—

Owen Ferguson, convicted of murder and sentenced to be hung, has been granted a new trial.

Joseph Thomas was shot by William Rosamurgy at Pioche, Nov. 2, supposed mortally.

Matthew, a four year old son of John Cahill, was shot in the right side, by careless accident, by Dennis O'Neil, at Pioche, Nov. 3. Says the Record, "The child is very low, and it is very uncertain whether he can recover. As soon as O'Neal found out what he had done, he disappeared, and up to a late hour last night had not been seen. It is seldom that any accident causes so much sympathy in so many people as this has done. 'Little Matt' is a favorite with every one who knows him, and many were the inquiries as to his condition on the street last night. His parents are almost heart-broken. He was sensible last night, and said to his infant sister who was about to be put to bed, 'Baby, did you know I was shot to-day?' The fortitude with which he bears his suffering is remarkable. Complaints have often been made about those who discharge firearms in or near the town; but all complaints have been of no avail. Will not this example deter others from target practice in dangerous places? No, fools will continue to say, 'Oh there's no danger! Why, how can there be any danger?' and people will be killed now and then; but the marksman doesn't consider that."

WESTERN NOTES.

They are successfully using double lines of hose from a single fire engine at Sacramento.

The White Pine News claims the existence of large quantities of copper ore in that vicinity, and attention is being directed to them.

The Truckeeites are feasting on jackass rabbits. These animals are very plentiful in and around Sierra valley, and a good shot can kill from 50 to 100 of them in a day.

Sheriff Adams, of San Francisco, is charged with not paying over into the treasury certain fees embraced in $8,000 received by him. Other irregularities also are reported.

The British bark Powhattan, while off Corrientes, July 30, encountered a hailstorm. The Captain picked up one stone four and three-quarter inches in length.

Granville Millsap, who killed Vincent Corates, at Mayfield, Sep. 12, 1872, was sentenced, Nov. 3, at San Jose, Cal., to 15 years in the State prison. Motion for new trial overruled.

Mrs. Clarke indignantly denies that Captain Clarke, of the Sunrise, treated her and her children cruelly, but that he always treated her with the greatest kindness and was most deeply attached to his family.

In Scott's saloon, San Francisco, Nov. 3, William Smith received a three inch gash in his face. He first accused Lillian Howard a waiter girl, and then George Mayfield, with cutting him.

In five years, after the expenditure of much money and energy, the Chinese Sunday School attached to the church of the Advent, San Francisco, boasts of converting one Chinaman.

"Ned Allen," killed it is said by Bartlett T. J. Freel, in Ned's Bull Run saloon, in San Francisco, is called "the wickedest man in San Francisco," and his saloon the "most notorious den on the Barbary coast."

Referring to the panic in the East, the Oakland, Cal., News says: "In this State there is no trouble. In almost every county there is an unprecedented demand for labor, for, be it known, building railroads and issuing bonds are not the only business pursuits known on the Pacific Coast."

Jacob Hohn, 19, and Ardell B. Graham, 14, ran away from Lodi, Cal., accompanied by Roscoe Coon, the two former anxious to become one, but they were all arrested at Sacramento, Nov. 3. The girl was sent back home and the two men are to be tried for abduction. Ardell declares she will marry Jacob yet.

Referring to the late disastrous fire in Reno, the Journal of that place remarks: "We thank the Virginia City papers for their kindly feeling toward Reno, but beg leave to inform them that Reno is still alive, and asks not aid from any one. There is no danger of our starving, and we will be all the better off for the little fire we have had."

DIED.

At Brigham City, Nov. 4, of gravel and old age, CHESTER SOUTHWORTH, aged 81 years.

Deceased was born at Mansfield, Tolando county, Connecticut. He embraced the everlasting gospel in Canada, Feb. 25th, 1836; was baptised by James Blakeslee and confirmed by John E. Page; subsequently he lived in Far West, Caldwell Co., Mo., whence he moved to Warsaw, Ill., in 1839; afterward went to Nauvoo, where he was driven by the mob in the general exodus of the Saints; came to Kanesville in 1846, and afterward presided over the Olney branch; came to Utah in 1852, where he remained to the date of his decease. He lived and died a true-hearted man and a faithful Saint, leaving a great number of children and children's children. His funeral was largely attended, Nov. 5.—COM.

In this city, this morning, Nov. 8th, at half-past 11 o'clock, at the residence of David R. Lewis, 17th Ward bench, of general debility, WM. JENKINS, aged 25 years. Funeral services to-morrow morning at 12 o'clock. Friends are invited to attend.

WHY A PATENT SHOULD NOT BE ISSUED.

THIS more fully appears from the following allegation, which occurs in his "protest" in the "Planatat" case, and is urged as another reason why the patent should not issue to the applicants:

"And this affiant further deposes upon information and belief that the said Mormon Church, a corporation, the said Salt Lake Mining Company, the within named applicants for patent of the said Flagstaff lode, to wit: M. R. Grossbeck, N. Grossbeck, William Grossbeck, Joeann Schneider, John A. Grossbeck, Stephen Grossbeck, J. Albert Grossbeck and Joseph S. Wing, are each and every of them Mormons, members of the Mormon Church, Territory of Utah; and each and every of them, as this affiant is informed, and believes to be true, practising and living in polygamy; each and every of them having more than one living wife; and as this affiant says that said named persons comprising said corporation are not law-abiding citizens of the United States. * * * * *
