THE MISSION

OF "MORMONISM"

Such the Theme Discussed at the Tabernacle on Sunday.

ELDER KING THE SPEAKER.

Says the Plan of Salvation is Unchangeable—All Should Come to a Unity of the Faith.

The services at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon were presided over by President Angus M. Cannon and the congregation was addressed by Elder William H. King who spoke interestingly on the mission of "Mormonism."

The choir and congregation sang:

Our God we raise to Thee,
Thanks for Thy blessings free,
We here enjoy.

Prayer was offered by Bishop William B. Preston.

The choir sang the hymn:
O my Father, Thou that dwellest,
In the high and glorious place.

Elder William H. King was the speaker. He began by explaining the custom among the Latter-day Saints of calling from the congregations those who were desired to speak. This brought before the people men engaged in different avocations of life and who during the week, by reason of a pressure of business, had had very little time to devote to the study of theological subjects. The Lord had provided, however, for such emergencies, for He had introduced among men ways and means whereby His word could be revealed even unto babes and sucklings.

Elder King said "Mormonism" was a new, yet old religion. Its restoration or introduction unto man in this age was a new thing, yet the principles of which it was made up were exactly those revealed unto humankind in ancient times. The Latter-day Saints believed and declared that the lapse of time did not change truth into error, nor did it convert error into truth. The Gospel law was a philosophical one. It was one of evolution, bringing order out of chaos and causing the human mind to grasp and comprehend those things calculated to ultimately bring about true perfection.

The speaker defined "Mormonism"—what it was and of what it was made up. He expressed the fact that it was the same system of religion as taught by Christ and His Apostles, and the one that was designed to bring peace and happiness to all mankind. It was an evolutionary system of religion, growing out of the groveling conditions of earth to spheres celestial in the kingdom of Almighty God. It taught a gradual comprehension of things divine, and would eventually lead to a unity of the faith, by which all men would worship and adore the same God.

Elder King alluded to upon conditions prevalent in the earth today. He spoke of the schisms and divisions among men and the bickerings and strife found on every hand. Such a condition called for a speedy and active remedy. Such a remedy had been provided and could be found only in the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

The speaker pleaded for a return to this faith—the faith of the ancient Saints. It had in it all the elements of greatness and greatness itself and would make great in the eyes of God all who would adhere to its precepts and teachings. It was a system of religion calculated to unify all mankind. It taught love, charity and all the virtues characteristic of the work of God. It was designed to save and exalt and would bring back to the Father all who would subscribe to its holy principles.

Concluding Elder King testified that the Latter-day Saints were engaged in the work of God. This was the universal testimony among them. They had subscribed to the same laws and were possessed of the same knowledge in consequence. They had no war with their neighbors, but rested content that all should come unto the Father.

The choir sang the anthem:
Praise the Lord all ye nations.

Benediction was pronounced by Patriarch John Smith.

Pains in the Stomach.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD.

William Albrand a Victim of Heart Failure—Burial This Afternoon.

William F. J. Albrand, a Salt Lake pioneer, died suddenly Saturday afternoon, at his Fifth West street residence, of heart failure. He had returned home with his produce wagon, and had hardly taken off his overcoat before being seized with illness, and presently expired. The deceased was born at Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Germany, in 1828, and came to Salt Lake in 1853. He leaves a wife and married daughter. The funeral was held this afternoon from the Twenty-eighth ward meeting house.

STATE PRISON SERVICES.

Salvation Army Officers Sing and Deliver Interesting Addresses.

Nearly 50 inmates of the state prison attended yesterday morning's meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of the institution, when they were addressed by Adjutant and Mrs. Plumstead and Adjutant Lyra of the Salvation army, and President Stinson of the Christian Union of this city. Then there was a pretty singing due by the little Plumstead girls, also very pleasing singing by Adjutant and Mrs. Plumstead, with guitar accompaniment, and a very sweet song due by Miss Pearl and Miss Flora Drechner with organ accompaniment. A raising of hands in response to a query from Adjutant Plumstead showed that 11 men had been converted to prison, and over a dozen more in response to the question as to how many would like to become Christian men.

The new hymn books recently purchased by the Warden were used yesterday for the first time. They are excellently adapted to the requirements, and are the compilation of E. O. Excell, the noted singing evangelist.

MURRAY MERCHANTS COMPLAIN

Say That Smelting Company is Supplanting American Workmen With Greeks, Italians and Hungarians Who

Work for Lower Wages.

Complaints are being made by the business men of Murray against the importation of Greeks, Italians and Hungarians by the American Smelting & Refining company to work in the smelters. Merchants declare that their old customers have been supplanted and can no longer patronize them, and that their places have been filled by the foreigners who live cheaply and buy cheaply. When the old plant closed down the Americans were laid off and when the new works started up they were not re-employed, but their places were filled first by Greeks and then the others named followed.

Not only are the merchants complaining but the American workmen as well, and it is said the managers of the smelting company will be petitioned for relief. The charge is made that the foreigners are supplied by a labor agency, which contracts to pay them a given sum per year and keep them employed in return for their percentage of their wages. A citizens' mass meeting has been talked of and the appointment of a committee to petition the smelter people to give work to their old employees instead of to foreigners.

It is charged that when the American Smelting & Refining company proposed to build the new plant the owners of the site wanted $40,000 for it. They were willing to pay $30,000, and rather than lose the smelters the business men got together and succeeded in having the price reduced to $35,000, and then they raised the $5,000 which they gave to the company and naturally enough they criticize the present action of the smelter company. The receipts at the stores have fallen off noticeably and there is a very general complaint at the condition of things now existing.

Dr. Butler addresses himself more immediately to his professional brethren, but it often happens in cases of frost-bite, with many other accidents, that other people have the first chance to offer help, and a physician or surgeon cannot be secured for an hour or more. These suggestions, therefore, are of general interest, as is also his further advice concerning proper treatment.

Dr. Butler continues:
"Ordinarily we can begin treatment upon the patient immediately after he is found or while transporting him to some place for further treatment, by friction, either with the bare hand or with any rubber vigorously upon the part. The patient should be placed first in a cold room and the friction continued. When he begins to experience tingling in the member we should take care lest we elevate the temperature too suddenly, thus causing the most excruciating pain. The amount of pain he experiences is a fair gauge to our success, for it should not be great. This can be controlled by placing the part in ice or cold water from time to time or by elevation. When sensation begins to return we can build a small fire in a room or begin otherwise to elevate the temperature, gradually bringing it up to 70 or 75 degrees F.

When the patient begins to feel comfortable it is wise to put a flannel roller upon the limb with a small amount of pressure, and elevate. This will obviate any further tendency toward engorgement. For more extensive frostbite the after treatment may necessitate continuous immersion in warm water, as in the case of extensive burns.

Erythema and ulceration following frostbite should be treated as in case of burns, with pueric acid and other soothing and antiseptic applications, of course always waiting for a line of demarcation.

Croup.
The peculiar cough which indicates croup, is usually well known to the mothers of croupy children. No time should be lost in the treatment of it, and for this purpose no medicine has received more universal approval than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Do not waste valuable time in experimenting with untried remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended, but give this medicine as directed and all symptoms of croup will quickly disappear. For sale by all druggists.

OAKLEY, IDAHO.

BIG COAL PROPOSITION.
S. P. Coal Expert Offers $30,000 for Lease of Oakley Coal Beds.

Special Correspondence.
Oakley, Cassia Co., Ida., Jan. 14.—A birth and a death were recorded in our community last night, or rather this morning. To the wife of Bishop Hector C. Haight was born a fine baby girl. At noon, Mrs. J. E. Kane, the 17-year-old son of Thomas Dayle passed to the great beyond. The young man was taken with typhoid fever some time ago, while residing at the Basin, and was brought to Oakley about a week since, and was thought to be progressing favorably, when suddenly he was taken off.

The funeral, which occurred today, was attended by the faculty and students of the State academy, of which institution the deceased was a highly respected student, and his illness. Funeral services were held in the Oakley ward meetinghouse, but were presided over by the bishopric of the Basin ward.

Brother and Sister Dayle have two other sons, one with typhoid, and Roy Dayle, the victim in a cutting accident at Marion on New Year's night, is improving rapidly and will probably be out in the course of two weeks.

The strike committee on Old Folks' entertainment have made arrangements with the Oakley Dramatic company to give the Old Folks, widows, orphans and wives of missionaries a matinee on the afternoon of Friday, the 23rd inst.

OAKLEY COAL FIELDS.

Prospects are promising for the speedy development of our extensive coalbeds, by Huntington people. A coal expert, representing the S. P. company, is now in Oakley, having just returned from a coal region, where he has been making examinations as to quantity and quality of our coal deposits. The impression was more than favorable is evident from the fact that he has already made an offer to the Oakley Coal company of $30,000 for a lease on their property, and it is believed that an effort will be made to secure all the leading locations in the district, with a view of running in a branch line and extracting the dusky diamonds. The Oakley people have never lacked the value of the immense bodies of coal that lie within a few miles of our very doors. To the S. P. company these coal fields will be a bonanza, as it will give them fuel in abundance, saving a long haul over other lines.

TREATMENT OF FROST BITE

In a $25 prize essay which Dr. Charles S. Butler, surgeon in the United States navy, recently wrote for The New York Medical Journal, he points out that there are two evils against which one must guard. If the affected region remains partially or wholly bloodless for too long a time, the tissues will be damaged. If the blood vessels are too suddenly dilated, their cells become paralyzed, and the vessels themselves too much engorged. In either case there is danger of gangrene. For these reasons pains examinations as to the temperature of the part, and the utmost caution used in giving stimulants. Dr. Butler would not tolerate them at all except in the direct emergency—as, for instance, when the
