

WOOLMEN TALK OF RAISE IN TARIFF

Cost of Production Has Increased Since Dingley
Act Was Passed.

PREPARE BRIEF IN PROTEST

Committee Appointed to Submit Issues to Ways and Means Committee in Washington.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the wool growers at the Commercial club, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The cost of the production of wool in the west has materially increased since the passage of the Dingley tariff bill; now therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Utah Woolgrowers' association in mass meeting assembled, That we request a raise in the tariff on wool, and ask our representatives in Congress to labor for a raise of tariff in the wool schedule; and, be it further

Resolved, That the chairman appoint a committee to formulate resolutions and petitions and decide on other means of bringing this matter to the attention of those representatives.

This resolution was presented by J. C. Mackey, of Granger, and passed without a dissenting vote. After Chairman Callister had read a letter from National Secretary Walker urging this action, a committee was appointed, consisting of E. H. Callister, J. C. Mackey, C. B. Stewart, and Dr. H. M. Rowe, of Ogden, who are meeting today in Secretary Stewart's office, to prepare a brief for presentation before the ways and means committee of the house of representatives at Washington.

Speeches were made by various sheep men present, who brought out the fact that the Australian sheepmen will appear before the ways and means committee to argue for a reduction in the wool tariff so that they may ship more wool into this country, to the detriment of western interests.

MUST FIGHT.
Secretary Stewart of the Utah Woolgrowers' association said:

"We have got to fight for our existence. We demand nothing and only want what is right, the protection of a western industry that has prospered in late years and grown to immense proportions against outsiders in foreign countries. The cost of production in the west has increased 25 per cent since the passage of the Dingley tariff. We have to pay more for our sheep, and have to pay for the ranges for the sheep to graze on, whereas the ranges previously were free. The cost in the production of eastern wool has not increased at all. Eastern sheepmen don't understand the conditions in the west. They have taken no decided stand against the tariff reduction or for a higher tariff, for they will not be affected very much either way. It is different in the west, for the big wool industry will be broken if the tariff rate is lowered and foreign wool is allowed to come in and flood the market. The cost of the production of wool in Australia and big South American sheep countries is not compared to that of the west. They pay lower wages to herders, and it is lower for them all around. The wool industry is a mighty fact in the life of the west, and if destroyed, will affect all lines of business here."

A WESTERN BUSINESS.

Thomas E. Austin said: "The eastern sheepmen are not troubled very much over this proposed reduction, because wool growing is only a side issue with them. The wool industry is a western business mainly, and the big bulk of it has steadily been traveling west for the past dozen years. Whereas, the middle west was the big wool raising region 15 years ago, the clip in that section does not begin to compare with that of the far west, the mountain section, now. They keep sheep on their farms back there along with cattle, hogs and other farm animals. They use the sheep to keep their farms in good condition, whereas it is an industry in itself with us men who have big flocks, and we depend on it for our livelihood. We want a higher tariff. As it is, there are 200,000,000 pounds of foreign wool shipped in this country now under the present wool tariff, and the production of this country only amounts to 300,000,000 pounds. If the foreign sheepmen can compete with us to such an enormous extent now, what will they do if the tariff is lowered?"

MEETINGS BEING HELD.

President J. E. Cosgriff of the Commercial National bank explained the national wool storehouse scheme, and said:

"Idaho pledged 300,000 pounds of wool in the meeting in Boise a few days ago, and that was only 600,000 pounds less than the amount that was allotted to that state by the company. The sheepmen subscribed their money for stock in the company very freely. Another meeting is to be held in Rexburg, Ida., next Saturday to interest the sheepmen in that section of the state, and I have received assurances that 1,000,000 pounds of wool will be pledged there. The Idaho sheepmen all see in the establishment of a great central market in Chicago their relief from the grip of the commission men who have wrenched their profits from them for the past years. Wyoming has not yet been invaded by representatives of this project, but as my home and mine are there, I know that the same wave of enthusiasm will sweep through the sheepmen. Cheyenne is the geographical center of the wool raising industry of the United States, and they are all in favor of this project as the most effective method of getting rid of the commission men. There was to have been a meeting in Sheridan, Wyo., tomorrow, but it has been postponed until Saturday. Other meetings will be held in Laramie next Monday, Rawlins on Tuesday and Rock Springs on Wednesday. Meetings will also be held in Helena and Billings, Mont., to give the sheepmen there the opportunity to join the movement. Not a single sheepman in Idaho opposed the project. We expect to have a hundred buildings erected early next year, and then the 25,000,000 pounds of western wool will commence to come in. I am a sheepman and have studied into this proposition, and am confident that it will be a great thing for the western wool-growers in the future."

MONEY FOR STATE CAPITOL.

Secretary of State Land Board Informs S. B. Tuttle of Real Estate Ass'n.

To just what extent the movement to build a state capitol building for Utah can depend upon the public building fund, has been set forth by T. C. Callister, secretary of the state land board, in a letter to S. B. Tuttle, of the Real Estate association.

According to this letter, there is now

Dyspeptics

They are composed of the best digestives, carminatives and correctives, and are agreeable and economical. Put up in three sizes, 10c, 25c and $1. Sold by all druggists, and sent promptly by mail on receipt of price by C. I. Hood Co., Mfg. Chemists, Lowell, Mass.

$51,999.75 in the fund and in another 19 years there probably will be $100,000 through the natural growth of the fund. The latter from Seely, Callister is as follows:

"The state of Utah received, by virtue of the enabling act, a grant for public building purposes, 100 sections of land, aggregating practically 64,000 acres.

"Practically all of the 64,000 acres have been applied for by the purchasers selected. On Nov. 31, 1907, there had been 34,166 acres of the above grant sold, and the remaining 29,834 acres at that time had been selected.

"Practically the entire 64,000 acres of public building lands has been sold at $1.50 per acre. This would give us an approximate total of $96,243. Of that amount we have collected $38,659.29; the balance is either outstanding, covered by agreements to purchase, or certificates of sale, and will be paid in to this office one-tenth each year until the entire amount is collected, or remains still pending at Washington, certificates of sale not yet having been issued or contracts drawn for the sale. However, it is quite certain that within the next 10 years the entire amount will have been collected by this office.

"Besides the $96,243, which will have been collected as principal upon these lands, there is an interest fund accumulating, the same being paid over to the state treasurer to the credit of public buildings fund interest each month. This interest fund consists of amounts collected as interest on outstanding certificates of sale and as interest on moneys loaned, secured by bonds or mortgages. The interest fund on Nov. 1 contained $16,339.44, which amount, as we understand it, can be used together with the principal for public buildings purposes in the State of Utah.

"We have, therefore, at the present time in the public buildings fund $51,999.75. The interest fund, consisting of $16,339.44, remains in the state treasury and cannot, under the present law, be put out at interest and can be used only by an act of the legislature for the purpose the enabling act defines."

RATE OF NO EFFECT HERE.

A Washington dispatch states there will be lower rates on lumber, through special permission granted the Southern Pacific by the Interstate commerce commission to reduce rates. However, Salt Lake wholesale dealers say Utah is not affected, as the proposed schedule refers only to shipments originating west of the Cascade range, and destined for points east of the Missouri river.

MORTALITY RECORD LOW.

The state board of health has issued a statement supplementary to the October Bulletin published yesterday, in which attention is called to the fact that the mortality record for that month is lower than that of any previous October, and a marked reduction is noted in typhoid. Health officers are urged to enforce the law relative to reporting consumption cases, and the report says:

"It will be noted that it is the duty of those in attendance to report the disease directly to the state board of health, but in some cases there is no physician in charge, and in many others physicians fail to make a report. It is for this reason that health officers are called upon to co-operate and assist. They will be greatly appreciated if they will immediately report to the board of health the names and addresses of all persons known or believed by them to be affected with tuberculosis, giving the name of the physician, if known, in attendance. Health officers will be furnished with postal card report blanks upon request, and a circular of instructions will be sent to all cases reported describing measures to be observed for the prevention of the spread of the disease."

FOR BETTER PUBLIC HEALTH.

League to be Formed Here to Prevent Spread of Disease.

At last night's meeting of the executive committee of the National Health League, the aims and purposes were set forth by Dr. W. B. Tyndale, who referred to the need of a campaign of education along the line of preventable diseases. The government is expending $16,000,000 in the department of agriculture alone, while not a dollar is being expended for preservation of the public health. He also claimed that the Salt Lake water supply would become contaminated unless proper steps could be taken to insure more complete protection, and advocated a supervised dairy for supplying milk to infants alone.

Judge King reviewed the work of the league, complimenting Dr. Beatty for the work he had accomplished. Prof. Talmage spoke of the work of the league in foreign cities. Mayor Bransford told what is being done by the city food inspector in watching the dairies, and what is being done toward establishing an isolation hospital. Dr. Beatty, John Dorn and other prominent citizens made short addresses. Judge King, the temporary chairman, will appoint a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws for a Salt Lake branch of the national organization.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

That chronic Bright's disease is now being cured by treatment that removes inflammation in the kidneys is beginning to be generally known.

We copy the following from the San Francisco Bulletin, June 22d, 1908:

"The recovery is reported of Mr. Z. Lawton, of 264 Fifth Avenue, San Francisco. The case is especially interesting, due to the fact that books declare chronic Bright's Disease incurable and five city physicians had passed on and diagnosed the case. The usual symptoms found in extreme cases were reported—excessive dropsy, enlarged heart and towards the last the patient could only sleep sitting up, and for six weeks he slept in a chair. Lawton had a cousin, Mrs. W. E. Hoover of Auburn, who also had an advanced case of Bright's Disease. She had been tapped three times when she heard of Fulton's Renal Compound and made a fine recovery. This interested Lawton in the treatment and it resulted in his recovery also. He is a married man, member of Excelsior Lodge, and many members will recollect his serious predicament and that they thought they would be called on to pass him over."

Parties desiring to know more of this treatment can get full literature by addressing the John J. Fulton Company, 5610 San Pablo Avenue, Oakland, Cal. Fulton's Renal Compound can be had in your city of our agent, F. J. Hill Drug Co.

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week.

CAR ROUTE CHANGED.

Jordan Bridge Line Now Traverses Rio Grande Street.

Property owners on the west side, and particularly real estate men, were jubilant this morning when the first car to run over the new tracks in the vicinity of the new Rio Grande depot made their appearance on the new route of the Jordan Bridge line.

Mention of construction work in this section of the city was made some time ago, including the extension of light and power wires and traction lines. Since the beginning of actual work in this district, it has been a matter of early completion and today shows all the work finished.

The new track is a change in route of the Jordan Bridge line, which formerly turned north at Fifth West street. Now it makes the turn north on Fourth West into Rio Grande street, which is one-half block east of Fourth West running north and south from Third to Second South streets. At the Second South end of the street, the car turns west and continues over the old route to the bridge.

SPEEDWAY MAY BE BUILT SOON

Inspection of Road to Saltair
Made by Automobile Club.

IS TO BE MAINTAINED BY TOLL

Private Ownership Added to This Will Give Those Desiring Speed Every Opportunity.

From Salt Lake City to Saltair a boulevard for automobiles exclusively, 25 feet in width, and private in ownership, may be constructed next spring.

Agitation for such a boulevard has been carried on constantly for five years, and yesterday afternoon a trip of inspection was made over the route by officials of the Saltair beach company and of the Salt Lake Automobile club. In the party were O. H. Hewlett, Mayor John S. Bransford, James E. Jennings, J. B. Swenson, and County Surveyor J. B. Swenson. They took the 2 o'clock Saltair train, and made frequent stops along the route to examine the right of way along which the automobile road will run.

The plan developed was to organize a company, sell stock in it, and with the proceeds construct the road, depending on tolls to keep it up and ultimately repay the first cost to the stock subscribers. The Salt Lake Automobile club will take charge of the stock and its marketing, depending on the sentiment for such a private speedway to result in the selling of enough stock to build it.

"The proposition looked fine when we started to the lake, and better when we came back," said Mr. Hewlett this morning. "There are level stretches there—miles of them, together with a firm, hard ground underneath, and nothing to obstruct the free going of machines. The bad places are a long stretch of slough—the Dry Lake country—and a few short chuck holes where a little filling would have to be done."

"The fact that the fill will have to be made right alongside of the railroad track is fortunate, as great headway at a small cost could be made with gravel cars on the railroad, while team haulage would be impracticable."

"At the end of this long level stretch of fifteen miles, we intend to erect a grand stand to end the coursing park. If the road is built, it will give an automobile exercising ground unparalleled in the west. And the ownership of the road by automobile men will prevent any interference with the rights and pleasures of others that might lead to friction of the policing of the roadway by county authorities."
