FRAGMENTS.

JUDGE JUDD was in attendance i the Third District Court today.

THE Police Court was without business today, as not an arrest was made last night

MRS.W. C. CARPENTER died suddenly at Ogden yesterday. She leaves a child 18 months old.

This afternoon, after the usual opening exercises, the Conference was addressed by President A. O. Smoot, of Utah Stake, and Elder Seymour B Young.

VISITORS to the Fair are accommodated with refreshments at the lunch stand owned by the Orphan's Home and Day Nursery. It is on the grounds, and supplied plentifully with good things.

It has become a custom in this city, when there is a gathering of people from the surrounding places, for itinerant vendors of medicines and other articles to station themselves on the principal streets and attract such crowds as to completely obstruct the are little it any inferior to the best sidewalk. It is time that measures | Utah has yet produced. were taken to at least keep the sidewalks open for travel, and the crowd should be instructed by officers to manufactured by Geo. Goddard & Co. ## A Tough Case.

Alvaro D. Childs was brought before the Third District Court yesterday afternoon for trial on a charge of adultery. The trial ended today, the jury being out but eight minutes agreeing on a verdict of guilty. The evidence showed the offense to have been a most aggravated one. He seduced a young woman, Anna Mason, under promise of marriage, he being represented as a single man. Under this representation he accomplished his base purpose. Later he told her he was married, but was going to be di-vorced and would make reparation to her. Her child was born September 1st, 1888. Childs was married ten years ago, but for three years his wife has ago, but for three years his wife has not lived with him. The reason for this can be understood from the fact that his aged father has to support his wife and two children. Mr. Childs, senior, stated that he had protested against his son acting as he had and asked him to provide for his wife and little ones, but the reply of the defendant was that he would do as he pleased. In this case the wife eff the defendant, the girl he had seduced, and his father were all witnesses against him. He will be sentenced to-morrow.

That "Democratic" Convention.
The appearance of the democracy exclusive early this morning put the Republicans in high glee. With about the number sufficient to form a corporal's guard, with a tag displaying a rooster trying to break his back crowing, and a dreary looking band, the "procession" was so ridiculous that Ben Bachman could hardly stand it. The forenoon meeting had to be postponed and the watchmen sent out to bring in the stragglers.
Assembling at 1:20 o'clock, Ransford H. Smith was called to the chair, and atterwards to make a speech.
