Shortage of Coal-Local coal deal-Shortage of Coal—Local coal deal-ers claim that the experiences of last winter in regard to coal supplies are pretty sure to be repeated, as many citizens have not profited by the shortages that then occurred, and have neglected to lay in a stock ahead for the coming cold weather. Dealers are still accepting orders subject to 10 days' delay. However, the Utah fuel people report a steadily increas-ing output of coal from their south-ern mines, and a decrease in the ern mines, and a decrease in the shortage of cars. This will help the city situation.

Choirmaster Assaulted-Karl Scheid, the choirmaster of St. Mark's cathe-dral, was the victim of an assault last evening, by Land and Water Com-missioner Matthews and was badly cut on the lips. Matthews had been drowning his political sorrows in co-culus indicus at the Second South street chemical factories, and taking umbrage at something Mr. Scheid said, shied a left hander at him, damaging the vocalist's exterior or-gan of song to the extent indicated. The chorister called on Police Sergt. der arrest on a charge of having robbed

A. Van Patten, an Ogden mining man of a valuable gold watch and chain. Hicks implicated a young man named Paul Falkner, and the latter has been rain rainer, and the latter has been arrested at his home in Pueblo, Colo., and will be brought here for trial. Police Officer Carlson leaves for the Colorado city today for the purpose of bringing Falkner back.

Mr. Van Patten lost his timepiece on Oct. 29, and for a time it looked as though the owner would not recover it. Some time later the boy Hicks was arrested by Officer Carlson, while the former was carrying a suspicious looking bundle. The parcel contained tow els which had been stolen from the Cul-ben, and following up a clue Carlson soon connected the purloining of the dry goods with the theft of the watch. Hick took Falkner into his confidence after the robbery, and the two hid the watch, but subsequently Falkner re-moved it from the hiding place and de-parted with it to Colorado.
