Prof. F. W. Kelsey of the University of Michigan, present secretary of the Archaeological Institute of America, will visit this city on the 17th inst., and lecture in Barratt hall on recent discoveries in Fompell. The professor s anxious to further the interest start-d two months ago in this city by Prof. D'Oge in archaeological research organize here a branch society of the Institute.

There has been a delay of nearly three months in croting the front of the Presbyterian church, because of the difficulty in finding a single stone lintel of the size desired by the build-ing committee, for the main front foorway. The size wanted is 11½ feet long and 18 inches thick. Stone of this dimention had not been found in the Park City outers as volcance action Park City quarry as volcanic action has badly broken the quarry deposits. out Contractor Campbell is confide but contractor Campbell is confident that he has finally found what the committee want. He says he could have made a neat job of it with a lin-tel in three pieces, but the building committee preferred a single piece of stone.

The concert given at the First Congregational church last night was a felightful affair. Mrs. Melvin had al-ready won scores of admirsts by her singing, and her rendition of her se-ections last night added to the num-er and strengthened the impression of the others. University Students Organize a Society

So as to Gain Experience.

Some of the university students have organized a debating society, and at a meeting held yesterday elected Karl Hopkins temporary chairman. The organization is to have a president, a different member presiding at each meeting. The reason for this being to give all the members experience in conducting a meeting, one members of the faculty will be present to make criti-cisms and offer suggestions. A commit-tee consisting of T. J. Howells, O. Carl-son and F. Jacobsen was appointed to draft a constitution and select a sub-ject for discussion at the next meeting. About 20 students have thus far been accepted as members, mostly from the arts course. These debates will prepare the members for the coming intercollegiate debates.

SENTENCE TOMORROW.

Alleged Illegal Voter in Judge Diehl's Court This Morning.

E. M. Johnson, the negro waiter employed at the Knutsford hotel who was arrested on the charge of perjury, the allegation being that he registered illegally at district No. 5, was given a hearing before Judge Diehl this morning. Mrs. Eardley, the registrar, John Halvorson and Sheriff Emery tes-tified that the defendant registered, and tilied that the defendant registered, and that he had not been in the state long enough to qualify. According to the testimony, the defendant told the sheriff that he did not know it was wrong to take the oath, and he ad-mitted that he had not been in the state long enough to register. After hearing the testimony, Judge Dichl took the matter under advisement untook the matter under advisement til tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

SIXTY WIVES MAKE HIM TIRED.

The shah of Persia, who received some months ago from his English friend the Order of the Garter, is said A Dangerous Month. This is the month of coughs, colds to have the most tired appearance of any of the reigning sovereigns. His even are wearled by the sight of every luxury. During his visit to England all the statuary was removed from Mari-borough House out of regard for his borough House out of regard for his susceptibilities, but he showed small in-terest in bis surroundings. One toy did excite his interest, however, and this was a tiny jeweled bird, which sang delightfully. The shah shoots ex-cellently, and has only 60 odd wives, as compared with the 1.720 of his prede-cessor.—Leslie's Weekly,

THE ORIGIN OF GROG. Captain Charles Barr of the Reliance told the other day the carlous story of the origin of the word grog. "In the oiden times," said Captain Barr. "the sailors in the royal navy of Great Britain got their daily allowance of rum or brandy neat-they got it, that is to say, undiluted, and they drank it undiluted. oughing and gasping as they downed the ery stuff.

coughing and gasping as they downed the fiery stuff. "But when Admiral Vernon took com-mand, he changed all that. He issued an order to the effect that every ship in the navy must serve out the seaman's daily drink in a weakened condition-one-third rum and two-thirds water. I think it was -and thereafter there was no more coughing and gasping, but there was, you can bet, a lot of cursing and swearing in-stead. "Admiral Vernon always used to wear a

"Admiral Verion always used to wear a coat of that peculiar rough, stiff cloth alled grogram. The sailors on that ac-count called him 'Old Grogram,' and this ickname, in course of time, they short-med down to 'Old Grog.' "Next they began to call Admiral Ver-ion's weak drink after him: they called t 'old grog,' and finally dropping the 'old,' hey just called it 'grog.' Contemptuously 'ou know. they just caned it have you know. "Bo now, when you hear saliors talking about their grog, you'll know that they are referring-perhaps unconsciously-to the old British sea dog. Admiral Vernon."
