The manager that Major G. S. Erb is about to retire from the hotel business and be succeeded by J. H. Redborne, was verified yesterday by a transfer to the latter of the leases and personal property in both the Walker and the Continental.

A Special to the Galveston (Texas) News states that the Brownwood stage, robbed on the 18th of the mail by a single highwayman, was attacked again yesterday afternoon, when a passenger shot at the robber, who retreated as fast as his horse could run.

Mr. William Wood one of the oldest and best known butchers in this city has a new advertisement in this issue of our paper. His stock, always good, has been greatly increased and improved for the Holiday trade. Call and see him if you want the finest meats at lowest market prices.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Thrown and Killed.—At a little party at the house of Mrs. M. A. Birch, of Mill Creek, on the night of the 20th inst., between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, a fatal accident occurred to her son Edmund M. He got on a horse to go an errand, but had not proceeded more than 75 yards before he was thrown and instantly killed. He was the son of the late Francis Birch, and was aged 14 years and one month. Herald Star please copy.

Portable Railroad.—The portable railroad recently purchased by the city is being operated. The rails are laid from the east bench down as far as Eighth East street, and the track is being used to run coal cars. Yesterday, as three loaded cars were proceeding down the hill, there being but one brake to control them, they acquired too much speed and became unmanageable. Two of them were thrown in the accident which ensued.

Back From Minnesota.—Elder Jacob Fisher, of Orderville, returned last Saturday from a mission to Minnesota. He had been absent from home since May, 1882. He, in connection with his companion Elders, held a good many meetings, and a few were added to the Church. He traveled all the time on foot. He was a general thing kindly received by the people, but the work made rather slow progress. He and other brethren visited a colony of Mennonites, and held several meetings among them. A number of that sect seemed quite interested in the doctrines of the Gospel. Their settlement is named Mountain Lake.

Third District Court.—Proceedings before Chief Justice Hunter on Friday, December 21, 1883.

James Hogle vs Geo. Y. Wallace et al; motion of plaintiff for new trial, submitted without argument and taken under advisement.

Mat. Kaighn vs L. B. Leverich et al; by consent of respective parties, ordered that the judgment and verdict in the cause be set aside and a new trial had.

Wm. Roach vs John T. Gilmer et al; motion for a new trial argued.

People, etc., vs Alex. S. Hill; prosecution appeal from the decision of the court sustaining demurrer to the indictment.

This Morning's Fire.—About 3 o'clock this morning the alarm of fire was given at the Hall, and in less time than it takes to describe it, the Brigade was out and hurrying to the scene. Mark McKimmins' stable was the location, where it was found a fire had started in the loft among the hay, straw and feed. It was some time before the firemen could work to advantage, but as soon as they could get the water on, they operated very effectively. The fire was out by 5 o'clock. The building was uninjured, but the loss in feed, etc, consumed, was about $2,500. The cause of the fire is uncertain but it is supposed to have been started by a tramp.

IN MEXICO.

SIGHTS AND SCENES OF INTEREST.

Elder Frank R. Snow, who left here in company with Elder Heleman Pratt on a mission to Mexico in the latter part of September, writes to his father, Apostle Erastus Snow, and family, an interesting account of his journey to the City of Mexico, where he dates his letter on the 16th of November. We have been permitted to make a few extracts, which will be found of interest to our readers. Having already published particulars of their trip as far as New Orleans, and also an announcement of their safe arrival on Mexican soil, we will let Elder Snow speak for himself concerning some of the sights he has seen in that land.

"At Vera Cruz I felt as though I was indeed a stranger in a strange land, everything had such a novel appearance, the people, buildings, mode of transportation, articles for sale, etc., all were new to me, and I discovered that my knowledge of the Spanish language was very limited, as I was scarcely able to understand a word.

We remained only one day. Here I saw for the first time a Mexican "Plaza" and "Pesco," also many buildings over 300 years old. We left Vera Cruz on the morning of the 10th, and arrived here the same evening, passing through some fine country on the way, and saw the bananna, orange, coffee and many other kinds of trees, all bearing fruit.

Brother Ivins and Pratt met us at the depot, and you may rest assured it was a joyous greeting. We held meeting on Sunday, the 11th and had an excellent time. Since then we have been seeing the sights in and around the city, of which there are many truly wonderful. Here you can see all grades of society, from the very highest to the very lowest: silks and satins alongside of tatters and rags, particularly in their churches.

We visited the Cathedral yesterday, and I will endeavor to describe the interior, although it is far beyond description or even conception. It is the largest cathedral in Mexico, and if I am rightly informed, the second largest in the world. It was commenced in 1573 and completed in 1660. It occupies the site of the great idol temple of Montesuma and is 500 feet long by 420 wide. I am unable to give the height of its domes, of which there are quite a number. Upon entering, the first object that presents itself is the altar, erected on a platform near the centre of the building, which is completely covered with crosses and ornaments of gold.

Behind the altar is a collosal monument or dome about 60 or 70 feet high,, with life-size images representing the Apostles surrounding it, together with many other images around and upon it, all ornamented in the costliest style. Immediately on top, surrounded by hosts of angels, is seated the image of the Virgin Mary, life size. The petticoat cost $3,000,000.

On each side of the altar runs a balustrade, enclosing a space about eight feet wide, and a hundred feet long. The balustrades are about four feet high, the hand-rail six inches wide. Upon the rail, about eight feet apart, are human images holding candles. The balustrades, images, etc., are all made of a compound more precious than silver. It is said that an offer was once made to replace the balustrade with another of exactly the same size and workmanship, of pure silver, and give half a million dollars in addition, for the present balustrade. There are about 300 feet of it in all.

There are different apartments on either side all filled from floor to ceiling with statues, vases, paintings and a thousand other things of gold and silver. This is only the everyday display of articles of least value, the most costly ones being stored away in chests and closets. The wealth of this Cathedral alone can hardly be estimated, and it is but one of perhaps a thousand owned in this country by the Catholic Church.

Another Suicide.—William Rolle, of South Morgan, committed suicide on Wednesday the 19th inst., by taking strychnine. It was about noon when he took the poison and he died about half past one o'clock p. m. He told those around him that he had taken it, but they did not believe him till nearly an hour afterwards when he showed signs of sickness. Doctors were then called, but to no avail.

His father had spoken crossly to him in the morning and he afterwards remarked that he had no friends. His brother asked him after it was found out what he had done, why he had taken such a rash step. He replied that it was because he was too wicked to live. When he realized he was indeed dying, he asked those around to do all they could to save him. He requested to be administered to, saying he knew God had power to save him, and if the Lord would forgive him he would never do the like again. He is said to have been a promising young man, the youngest in a family of great respectibility. The night before, he attended the birthday party of a friend in North Morgan. He leaves a host of friends who are terror-stricken at the dreadful event.

Christmas Theatricals.—It is a long time since we have had so strong an array of local talent together as that which appears at the Theatre on Christmas—matinee and night: Miss Adams, Carrie Cogswell, Lizzie Platt, and Messrs. D. McKenzie, P. Margetts, J. S. Lindsey, Mark Wilton, J. E. Evans, J. M. Young and others. The piece selected is the "Lancashire Lass," made famous here by John McCullough.

As it is one which calls for romantic scenery, and is full of stirring and thrilling incidents, the new scenery comes in admirable play, and the characters afford the very best scope for the well known talents of our local favorites. No better piece than the "Lancashire Lass" ever issued from the pen of H. J. Byron. It is a romantic melodrama in a prologue and four acts, just suited to the present taste, although in point of merit far superior to pieces of a similar order to "Romany Rye." As there are two performances on Christmas, all will be afforded an opportunity of seeing it.

White and Sons.—Messrs. White & Sons, of the Pembroke Meat Market, well known first-class butchers, will open their holiday display at 10 o'clock to-night. It will be one of the finest ever seen in Utah. These gentlemen make it a point to carry nothing but the choicest meats. Call round and take a look at their exhibit. See their advt.

PERSONAL.

Hon. John W. Young has returned from the East.

T. W. Ellerbeck, Esq., has gone to San Francisco.

Mr. J. B. Glass, of the Standard establishment left for the East last night.

Fred Turner Esq., is down from Logan.

Bishop G. L. Farrell, of Smithfield, is in town.

Mr. Webster Norcross, the fine baritone of the Chicago Church Choir Company, accompanied by Manager Howe, was in to see us yester-day.

The Opera.—The repetition of "Iolanthe" last evening drew out an audience of good dimensions, which seemed to appreciate thoroughly the performance. This opera, while not the company's strongest card, is a big attraction nevertheless, not only for its novelty and intrinsic merit, but for the excellent manner in which it is rendered. Besides it improves, like all things genuine, with acquaintance. To-night the company appears in the aesthetic opera of "Patience, or Bunthorne's Bride." Mr. Howe, manager of the troope, assumes the character of the love-sick "Bunthorne," author of "Heart-foam" and other poems. This piece has not been played here for several years. To-morrow afternoon and night, "Pinafore."

Lorenzo M. Richards Dead.—It is with deep regret that we chronicle the death of Brother Lorenzo M. Richards, son of Apostle Franklin D. and Sister Jane S. Richards. The sad event occurred at 1 o'clock this morning at the residence of his father in Ogden.

Brother Richards had been ill for several months, his original trouble being sciatica, but afterwards he met with an accident while reining in his buggy-horse to avoid a collision with another team, when his thigh-bone was broken.

This occurred at Ogden, but the true character of the accident was not known until some time afterwards, when an operation was performed in this city on the limb, which necessitated there breaking and setting of the fractured bone which it seems had become partially knit together by an abnormal growth.

Since then he has at times been very low, but being very hopeful and full of faith, he repeatddly revived, and it was thought he would eventually recover. Last night, however, he was taken suddenly worse and steadily declined till the hour of his death. He was a young man highly and widely respected, and his loss will be severely felt in the community.

A GENUINE AFFAIR.

Our readers can rely upon it that if they have any rheumatism in the system, they can by using Britannia become entirely cured. This is no fiction. A great many persons have tried it in Salt Lake City and Ogden, and other parts of Utah whose testimony can be privately obtained, and who say that no remedy ever reached the disease before. It removes pain at once. It conquers the cause of the pain, and removes, It builds up the general health. It acts mildly on the bowels, and strengthens the kidneys. It gives an appetite and a relish for food, and prevents its souring on the stomach. Just try a bottle, and you will never want to be without it in the house as a family medicine. Sold at Z. C. M. I.
