

You Must Vote If Salt Lake Gets The Capitol

LIGHT VOTE ON CAPITOL

Lack of Campaign Fund is Held To Be Largely Accountable.

Evidence of Apathy Shown.

Comment at Polls in Joint Building Indicates View of The Voters.

Visitor in Outlying Parts of the State Reports a Sentiment Against The Issue.

Unless the voters of Salt Lake City turn out in force this afternoon, to vote in favor of the State Capitol building proposition, those who are best informed on the question state that the proposition is lost. This is indicated from later reports from the north and south, where the vote is said to be heavily against the State Capitol.

Throughout the city voting districts the voting has been extremely light and it was estimated at headquarters at 2 o'clock this afternoon that the voting will average about 25 or possibly 30 to the district and the sentiment generally is in favor of the capitol. In one district there were 16 votes for and one against.

The voting at 2 o'clock, at a few districts in various parts of the city, indicates the amount of interest taken in the matter in Salt Lake City. In district No. 8 there were 27 votes cast and it was reported that the sentiment was about equally divided, while in district 44 there were 49 votes, about 1 to 1 in favor of the capitol. In district 10 there were just 11 votes, all supposed to be "yes," and in district 20 there were 15 with the same sentiment. District 13 registered 15 "yes" and none in the negative and in the 34th there were nine for and none against. Probably the biggest vote was cast in district 46 and it was reported that all were "yes." At this place 11 votes had been cast at the hour mentioned. At the Y.M.C.A. polling place but 10 votes had been cast and in district No. 54 only 6. And so it goes all over the city and the workers began to do things late this afternoon to get out the favorable vote.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, reports from over the state indicate that the early vote on the state capitol question has been very light. And while it is claimed that a great many of the country districts are casting the majority of their votes against the tax for the erection of the building, yet it is not anticipated that this vote will become the heavier vote of the large cities, which it is expected will be largely in favor of the capitol proposition.

The light vote is largely accounted for, it is claimed, by the fact that there is no money available with which to hire vehicles to convey the voters to the polls. As it is not a party question, no campaign funds have been collected by the different political factions for the purpose of getting out their partisans, and although all parties are interested in the matter of the state capitol, yet an apathy is being shown which looks ill for the voters.

The condition in the various precincts is fairly illustrated by the report from the precinct of which the voting center is at the joint city and county building. Up to 1 o'clock this afternoon there had been only 14 votes cast; and from comments heard among those who had voted, it is judged that even some of these votes were cast against the capitol.

VIEW ON THE ISSUE.

County Commissioner Clinton, who has just returned from a wool buying trip through the south, states that there is not only an apathy shown toward the building in the southern portion of the state, but that decisions on the question has been aroused. If statements made by residents of Cache valley and Weber are to be credited, both those counties will roll up a vote against the capitol.

There has been some misunderstanding as to the qualifications for voting at this state capitol election. For the information of voters it may be stated that:

It is not necessary to take your tax receipt in order to vote. All that is necessary is to show that you are a registered voter, and that your name was on the official voting list at last election, and you are entitled to cast your ballot.

The polls close at 7 o'clock p. m. Your vote must be registered before that time.

Any further information desired on the matter may be had by calling up headquarters, at the Windsor hotel, telephone No. 1535, or No. 4034 on the Independent.

While there are no funds available for procuring rigs in which to haul voters to and from the polls, there are many workers in all parts of the city, and it is hoped before the day is done that a substantial majority for the capitol will have been achieved.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ACTION.

The board of governors of the Commercial club adopted the following resolution at a meeting held at noon today:

Whereas, The legislature of Utah

(Continued on page two.)

SENATE CONSIDERS WOOLEN SCHEDULE

Dolliver Opposed Committee Amendments Restoring Dingley Rates on Top Waste.

SMOOT DEFENDED INCREASE.

Admission of Top Waste and Kindred Wools Supplies That Amount Of American Wools.

Washington, June 8.—The senate today began consideration of the woolen schedule. Taking up the first amendment proposed by the committee on finance, Senator Dolliver opposed the increase over the house rates. This amendment proposed a return to the Dingley rates on top waste, trying waste, etc., or an increase of from 20 to 30 cents per pound. This increase was in accordance with the finance committee's action upon the woolen schedule, restoring the Dingley rates throughout the woolen schedule.

In defense of the higher rates Senator Warren, who is considered an expert in the matter of wools, explained the propriety of maintaining the Dingley duties. Referring to the fact that the Wyoming senator is generally reputed to be the owner of a great many sheep, Senator Dolliver declared that he was the "greatest shepherd since Abraham."

Disavowing the personal ownership of a single sheep, cow or horse except a horse kept for his personal use, Mr. Warren added that he was a stockholder in companies engaged in such industries as he was in railroad companies.

Mr. Dolliver had read several memorials of carded wool manufacturers asking for an ad valorem duty as the just method for protecting all parties interested in the woolen business.

Sensors Warren and Smoot maintained that the admission into this country of top waste and kindred wools kept for his personal use, Mr. Warren added that he was a stockholder in companies engaged in such industries as he was in railroad companies.

Mr. Dolliver had read several memorials of carded wool manufacturers asking for an ad valorem duty as the just method for protecting all parties interested in the woolen business.

EMMA GOLDMAN CAUSE OF ANXIETY

East Orange, N. J., Police Expect Trouble When She Attempts To Speak Tonight.

SHE DEFIES MAYOR'S MANDATE

Alden Freeman, Descendant of Mayflower Pilgrim and Wealthy, Champions Her Cause.

New York, June 8.—Trouble is expected tonight in East Orange, N. J., when Emma Goldman, the anarchist, will attempt to speak publicly in defiance of the mandate of the mayor and police.

Alden Freeman, descendant of a Mayflower pilgrim, and one of the wealthy residents of East Orange, who caused a sensation a few weeks ago by introducing Emma Goldman at a society banquet, is sponsor for her and declared last night that if the police interfered heavy damages would be sought through the courts.

Learning that the lease of the hall where the meeting was to have been held tonight had been cancelled, because of police interference, Mr. Freeman announced that, if necessary, Miss Goldman would speak in his barn and that if the authorities interfered there, an attempt would be made to hold a street meeting.

It was understood that a number of prominent anarchists of New York would go to East Orange tonight to assist in the effort to spread the doctrine of anarchy in this suburb, which is largely populated by wealthy and prosperous New York business men.

ENGLAND MUST COMMAND THE SEA

So Say First Lord of Admiralty McKenna and Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Gray.

FOREIGN POLICY SUMMED UP.

To Keep What She Has—To Uphold British Ideals—Maintenance of Navy First View.

London, June 8.—The second meeting of the imperial press conference was held here today under the presidency of Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty. Foreign Secy. Sir Edward Gray was also present and both ministers spoke on the navy. "If the navy fails," declared the foreign secretary, "it will be useless to discuss any other subject." He called attention to the serious tone taken by Lord Rosebery in his recent speech to the press-men and said he endorsed every word of this address. Continuing Sir Edward summed up the policy of the foreign office as follows: "To keep what we have, to consolidate and develop; to quarrel as little as possible with peoples and to uphold in the councils of the world the ideals of Great Britain, with so much at stake the maintenance of the navy must be the first view, not only for the home government but for all the self-governing dominions of the empire."

In conclusion, the foreign secretary said the present excessive expenditures for armaments made the political weather sultry.

Mr. McKenna also spoke in a serious strain. He said he foresaw the possibility of the empire being called upon to undertake its whole strength in the common defense of the home country. He declared he would assist the development of the navy in any way in his power, as the maintenance of supremacy on any sea meant the maintenance of supremacy on all seas.

ACCEPTS AUSTRALIA'S OFFER.

Melbourne, June 8.—A cablegram has been received from the imperial government accepting the offer of the Australian navy to join the British navy.

AUTO WENT INTO SACRAMENTO RIVER

Chauffeur Lost Control of Machine While Attempting to Turn on Levee Road.

FOUR WOMEN WERE DROWNED

All Thrown Free of Car but Victims Dragged Down by Their Clothing.

Knights Landing, Cal., June 8.—Four women were drowned last night in the Sacramento river when an automobile in which they were riding toppled into the water after the driver lost control of the machine.

The chauffeur was rescued.

THE DEAD ARE:

Mrs. W. F. Nixon, wife of the editor of the Woodland Mail.

Mrs. J. H. Dungan, wife of the postmaster at Woodland.

Miss Meryl Dungan, daughter of Mrs. Dungan.

Miss Julia Dungan, her sister-in-law.

Joseph Armstrong, the driver, also of Woodland, was thrown into the water, but escaped.

The party started from Woodland last night on a pleasure trip and arrived here at 9:30 o'clock.

While attempting to turn his car on the levee road, Armstrong lost control of his steering apparatus and the machine tipped over and rolled over the edge into the water. All five passengers were flung free of the machine into the water.

The women were dragged down by their clothing, but Armstrong seized a boat moored nearby and crawled aboard. Miss Julia Dungan's body was recovered at 11:30 last night.

BLACK HAND PARAPHERNALIA

Counsel Table in West Virginia Court Loaded With Knives, Revolvers and the Like.

MEMBER TELLS OF DOINGS.

Under Penalty of Death Orazio Parabelli Was Compelled to Join Society.

Fairmont, W. Va., June 8.—With the counsel table piled with knives, revolvers, and other paraphernalia of an alleged black hand society, 19 Italians who were arrested two months ago in a raid, were placed on trial today in the circuit court. Orazio Parabelli, 19 years old, whose initiation into the society caused the arrests, said he was forced to join the organization under penalty of death and compelled to pay $25.

Parabelli, carefully guarded, said he was approached many times by countrymen who threatened to kill him unless he did become a member. He told of informing the district attorney, who marked off $5 bills and advised him to join the organization. After having been taken into the society Parabelli says he was told that in three months he would receive an equal share of all money collected.

Parabelli says he was told by the society members that it was the custom to make demand for money on rich men. If the intended victim refused to give the money demanded, members of the society drew marked cards from the deck and the one drawing a certain number killed the man who refused to pay tribute. He identified nine of the 19 prisoners as those who initiated him into the black hand organization, and said he knew the others as members of the society.

FLOOD IS NOW WELL IN HAND

Cooler Weather is Saving the City From Threatened Damage.

HEALTH IS NOW IN DANGER.

Material Used for Levees is Causing Ill Smelling and Germ Laden Lakes To Form About Homes.

Flood conditions on North Temple street are much improved today owing to the low temperature prevailing during the last 24 hours, but it will be some time before conditions will become normal among the residences west of Eighth West street. At that point a number of homes are surrounded by water which stands in some places on manure and refuse caused a discoloration that looks threatening to the health of the children of the city. Jordan river, through all this district the low lots are covered with water, and those who have built their homes high are very fortunate in the present condition.

The water is surging out of the conduit at Sixth West with great force and carrying with it a great deposit of rocks, gravel and silt, which is being deposited over the street, and from time to time covering the street car tracks. Two men were engaged in clearing the way for the cars this morning. The big ditch is also nearly full of silt, causing the water to run over into the sides of the street, where it has also deposited a great amount of mud and gravel. This fact will make the situation much worse. If the recurring warm weather should restore anything like the volume of water which has been running for several days past.

Several men are now engaged in clearing out the ditch about Seventh West, but their numbers are small compared with the gigantic task of removing the silt, which has been deposited in the channels.

The manure that has been used for the embankments is very disagreeable to the residents, but it has served a good purpose in holding back the stream of water, which is carrying the great deposits of silt over the street, appears to be almost as high as it has been at any time.

Tom Davis who has just come from Brighton, Big Cottonwood canyon, reports the roads down the canyon in an almost impassable condition. He says 75 men are wanted in the canyon at once in order to prevent further damage. The water is so high that it is feared that the canyon will be filled with thousands of dollars.

The River Jordan as seen from the top of the Newhouse building resembles the Mississippi river, and the water which is now in the canyon is reported the snow practically gone west of the north fork, but that there are accumulated snowslides 36 feet high in the canyon. The water there is a lake as deep as a city block and 10 feet deep seeping through the ground into the creek further down the canyon.

Edwin Volstenholme of Marion, Summit county, is in the city today, and says there is more snow back in the mountains now than in 40 years at this time of the year, so there will not be any scarcity of water this season.

The Utah Light & Railway company has 75 men protecting the Big Cottonwood plant from flood disaster. So far, the plant has been able to operate, though under great difficulties.

MILK RIVER PROJECT

First Unit May Be Completed During Present Year.

Helena, Mont., June 8.—The first unit of the Milk river project, for which the people of that part of Montana have striven for many years, will be completed this year, if the plans of the reclamation service are carried out.

The department at Washington has concurred in the plan for the immediate completion of the Dodson south canal and distribution system, which will cover 10,000 acres of land and which may be extended to cover all the irrigable land lying between the Dodson dam and the Nelson reservoir, extending upwards to the headwaters of the Milk river.

It is the best news which northern Montana has received in many years. The beginning of actual construction work on the great Milk river project, which is a new era in the history of the northern part of the state noted from one side of the country to the other, as the most fertile garden spot in America.

MYSTIC SHRINERS CAPTURE LOUISVILLE

Louisville, Ky., June 8.—Thousands of the Orientals of the Occident—known to the world as the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine—having captured the city of Louisville, Ky., today, a new Bagdad, got down to business today after "an electrical tour of the city."

All the interesting points of the city were passed by the many street cars and their gaily decorated occupants by the time the imperial divan, chief of the order of the city, had reached the city. The imperial divan, chief of the order of the city, had reached the city. The imperial divan, chief of the order of the city, had reached the city.

SENTENCED TO DEATH

Twelve Moslems and Five Armenians For Complicity in Massacres.

Constantinople, June 8.—An imperial decree issued today confirms the sentences of death imposed by court martial on 12 Moslems and five Armenians for complicity in the massacres at Adana last April.

POLITICAL POT IN MEXICO BEGINNING TO BOIL

City of Mexico, June 8.—The political pot in Mexico is beginning to boil in earnest. The office of vice president is the bone of contention. Ramon Corral, the incumbent, has been renominated for the place but friends of Gen. Bernardo Reyes, governor of the state of Nuevo Leon, are becoming very active in his behalf. It is probable that during the latter part of this year will be many great political gatherings.

AMERICAN RIFLEMAN REACH GERMANY

Bremerhaven, June 8.—The steamer Main arrived here today from New York, bringing 200 members of the National Schutzenbund, who will take part in the international shooting competition to be held at Hamburg beginning July 10.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD GATHER IN DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., June 8.—Reports read by Sovereign Clerk John T. Yates, at the opening of the biennial convention of sovereigns, Woodmen of the World, today, showed that during 1908 the net increase of the membership was 50,116, representing a gain of $2,152,106 in insurance certificates. The total assets of the order were given as $5,326,258, of which $1,235,913 comprises the emergency fund. The liabilities were given as $24,344.

The principal business is a revision of the constitution and by-laws and the consideration of the erection of a building in Omaha, Neb.

The report of Supreme Guardian Emma B. Manchester of the Supreme forest, Woodmen circle, the women's auxiliary of the Woodmen of the World, which is also in session here, showed even more growth and prosperity.

SAVING CROKER'S DESK FROM RELIC HUNTERS

New York, June 8.—Fearing the souvenir hunters, the old desk shrouded in many mysteries, which was used by Richard Croker when at the head of Tammany Hall in the old court house, has been moved to a locked chamber in the basement of the city hall.

Several secret compartments in the ornate affair and although several searches failed to discover them, others efforts will now be made. It is considered likely that Tammany Hall will formally ask the city to sell the desk to it, and that the leader's old work table, over which many famous interviews passed, will find a place in the wigwag.

THE STATE'S FINANCES

Auditor Submits His Annual Report to Governor Spry.

State Auditor Jesse B. Jackson has submitted to the governor the annual report of the state finances for the year ending May 31, 1909, showing balances on hand in the various funds, the outstanding warrants and net balances over and above the amount required for the redemption of the outstanding warrants.

The report shows that the state has balances of $601,123.23 over and above the outstanding warrants. The amount of money in each fund, after deducting the sum of the outstanding warrants, is as follows:

General fund	$73,670.50
State district school	6,572.99
Redemption fund	$6,491.35
Sheep inspection fund	1,470.74
Trust fund	1,522.48
Forest reserve fund	34,710.27
Extinction wild animals	1,289.29
Fish and game fund	16,322.46
State institutions	$74,842.44

The total amount of warrants outstanding is $18,444.17, which indicates that the state is in an exceptionally prosperous condition, as fully half the amounts appropriated by the legislature for the various institutions have been drawn.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

UNIVERSITY CITY

St. Louis, June 8.—Albert B. Lambert and H. E. Honeywell, pilots of the balloon St. Louis III, in the race from Indianapolis, returned here today and declared that the University City, manned by John Berry and Paul McCullough, had not landed at Blanche, Tenn., as previously reported. Mr. Honeywell declared it to be his belief that the University City is still flying.

Mr. Honeywell said that there had been a confusion of names which led to the false report that the University City had come to earth.

"It was our balloon, the St. Louis III, that landed near Blanche on Sunday," said Mr. Honeywell. "We dropped to earth at the railroad station at Taft, Tenn., two and a half miles from Blanche. We sent our telegrams from Kelson, Tenn. It was Lambert and I who stopped with a farmer of the name of Saunders, not Berry and McCullough, as the reports had it."

HARRIMAN IN PARIS

Paris, June 8.—E. H. Harriman arrived here today from London.

SAINTA FE GOES WEST

Santa Fe, N. M., June 8.—Santa Fe has gone "west," but by a very small margin. Complete returns from the local option election held yesterday show a majority of 45 votes in favor of continuing the saloon. Two of the four wards of the city gave a majority for the "drys."

ED CALLAHAN PARALYZED MAY DIE ANY TIME

Lexington, Ky., June 8.—Ed Callahan, the feud leader who was shot yesterday when enemies attempted to assassinate his entire family in Breathitt county, was still alive early today, but he is paralyzed from the waist down and likely to die at any time.

No captures have been made, although bloodhounds have been trailing the men from the place of ambush all night. Members of the Callahan clan are said to be gathering at his house and a reopening of feud troubles is expected.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH

Pittsburg, June 8.—While returning home from a picnic early today at Oakland park, near Uniontown, Pa., in company with Mrs. Fanny Rogers, Charles Frohman was shot from ambush and killed. Mrs. Rogers was arrested today on a charge of being an accessory to the murder. It is said the authorities are seeking a man with whom Frohman quarreled a few hours before he was killed.

ROWDYISH BOYS SPANKED IN COURT BY PARENTS

New York, June 8.—Four boys charged with rowdyism on a subway train on Sunday were whipped by their parents in the children's court as a choice between fines and the rod. Three parents at once accepted the whipping proposal and the fourth hesitated, presenting a certificate alleged to have been given by a physician testifying to the boy's physical condition and prohibiting corporal punishment. The judge, the father, "to Morris Dublin, aged 15. Justice O'neal looked at the boy and noted that he was robust and apparently healthy, and said to the father that able-bodied boy or pay a fine of $25 for him."

The father asked for a little time to consider the matter and presently returned with a new attitude. "I am a father," he said, "and I will not let my son be a lawbreaker. I will pay the fine."

Soon after the father's approval of the father's ability with the rod, which in this instance was a leather strap.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.

STOLE TO DRESS FINE TO KEEP HUSBAND'S LOVE

New York, June 8.—The man who was sent to Sing Sing prison last week because he loved his wife so much that he stole her husband's clothes to prevent other men from admiring her, has an equal in Mrs. Mary E. Gill of Brooklyn, who said after her arrest yesterday, that she had been stealing her husband's clothes to keep his love.

"I have been afraid that my husband might be attracted by the fine clothes of other women," said Mrs. Gill, "and therefore I decided that I must wear rich dresses, although we could not afford them."

Many silks and laces and other fineries were found on Mrs. Gill when she was arrested, and in her room. Her husband said, following the arrest, that he would love her just as much if she were dressed in rags.