CITY COUNCIL SESSION.

The session of the council last night ground out the usual grist of bills, and disposed of a batch of petitions for water service and street improvements, Atty. W. W. Maughan reported that for some time past malicious persons had been in the habit of removing flowers and decorations from graves at the cemetery, and asked that some action be taken to prevent it. The mayor has a standing offer of $10 reward for the apprehension of the offenders, but it does not stop the practise. The matter was referred to the cemetery committee with authority to employ a detective to catch the offenders.

The recorder was instructed not to issue any more warrants until the finance committee could arrange to have them taken care of by the bank, as the delay in getting returns of bonds sold had left the city treasury bare. Returns from the $12,000 bonds sold are expected every day.

There was a pretty warm discussion ver the action of the superintendent of the light plant in raising the salary of his powerhouse men to $70 per month, and reducing the force to three men. Councilman Hatch opposed the raise in salary quite strenuously, but the council approved of the action of the superintendent.

B. F. Riter and the board of education petitioned for a paved walk on the west and south sides of the Wood-ruff school building to Main and Center streets, and the residents of the Seventh ward for a walk on the canal
