

Young, from Shady Grove, Heckman County, Tenn., Sept. 29th, concerning the death of Elder Haden W. Church, at that place, Sept. 27th, as previously published in the News.

Elder Boyle says—

"He was interred by the side of his father and mother, near the house where he was born and raised. I was with him to the last."

"There are five brothers and three sisters of the deceased, all living near here, all members of the Church, and who did all in their power to bestow upon him all the care and attention that his case required."

"His disease was typhoid fever. Bro. Church had not been really well since our arrival here. But as far as his health permitted, he was faithful in the discharge of every duty, and died in the harness and at his post. I have written to his family at St. George, giving them all the particulars of his sickness and death."

"We arrived in this part of Tennessee on the 10th of May last, and have been laboring here and around about here since then, having preached in nine or ten different towns and settlements. Some of these places have never been visited by one of our Elders before. We have baptized four persons, but have a prospect of more coming into the Church, and of some gathering to Utah."

"A part of our time here we have been able to hold four or five meetings per week. But the greater part of the summer the people have been so busy with their crops that we could only have attendance on the Sabbath day. The people are not so humble as directly after the close of the war, and, as a natural consequence, are not as ready to listen to and receive the truth. However, I feel that we have done the best we could. One thing I do know, I have enjoyed much of the Spirit of the Lord when talking to the people, and have been able to talk with more satisfaction to myself than when on any former mission, for which I feel very thankful."

A Fatal Shooting Affray.

PINE VALLEY, Utah,
Oct. 12th, 1875.

Editor Deseret News:

The shooting affair that took place in Pinto Canyon on the 10th was caused by R. W. Allphin seducing the daughter of S. J. Burgess, near two years ago. Allphin went to Pioche. Burgess concealed himself when Allphin was coming home, and shot him with a double barrel shot gun, loaded with navy balls, which took effect in the bowels. Allphin shot at Burgess with a revolver, and missed him; Burgess jumped into the road and presented his gun, but Allphin got the first shot, and shot Burgess through the heart, Burgess' gun going off at the same time, striking the end of the wagon box that Allphin was in. The verdict of the jury was that Samuel J. Burgess came to his death by a pistol shot held in the hand of R. W. Allphin, in self-defense. Allphin is alive, but is not expected to live.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Beaver Enterprise, Oct. 7—

Our quiet town is again made the temporary abiding place of the pestiferous Navajoes. We understand that the Chief got sick and the party had to make a halt here while on the return.

Yesterday Mr. C. M. Slaughter arrived from "Dixie," bringing the first sweet potatoes of the season and the finest we have ever seen in the Territory. He also had apples, grapes, &c., the former as large and choice as any Utah has ever produced.

Uncle Sam's mail service throughout Southern Utah is getting gradually worse. There is no "certainty" whatever; "celerity," if it is ever resorted to at all, is at very long intervals, and then by accident; the "safety" part of the programme is probably all right, as by all means it ought to be, under the circumstances.

The potato crop of Beaver County seems to have been unusually large; and even if the grain crops

In Lynne, Weber county, at half past 8 a. m., Oct. 9th, 1875, of old age, FRANCIS HOMBRIK; born Aug. 13th, 1779, in the Island of Jersey, Great Britain. Deceased emigrated to Utah in 1856, and lived and died in full faith in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.—Ogden Junction, Oct. 11th.

At the residence of his son, O. C. Ormsby, M.D., Logan, Oct. 1, at 6 p.m., Dr. ORMSBY, Sen.

John S. Ormsby was born in the State of Pennsylvania, August 25, 1808. His parents died when he was about ten years of age, leaving him penniless; but being of an energetic disposition he pushed his way alone, upon his own resources, and being studiously inclined, he worked himself to a student of the Philadelphia University and graduated in the same, and was also a graduate of Bellevue University, after which he practiced medicine in his native State.

In 1849 he went to California, and eventually stood at the head of the medical profession in that State for some time, was elected three times in succession a member of the California Legislature from Sonoma county, by the Democrats of that region, he, being a Democrat of the first water, received the support of that party in a marked degree. In 1866 he came to Utah, and began the practice of medicine, and was favorably known as a physician of experience. In the spring of 1869 he joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, in Salt Lake City. Some two years since he removed to Logan, in connection with his son, O. C. Ormsby, M.D., whose preceptor in medicine he had been for many years, and who is now reaping the advantages of his excellent tutelage and extended experience, which is daily manifest in his wide practice and success in the same.

Bro. Ormsby leaves a wife, who is in California, together with several sons and daughters, who are all well situated and respectfully connected.

The history of the deceased is well known to hundreds of individuals in Utah, who can bear testimony of his many good qualities, and, like all benefactors of mankind, the virtues of such shine brightest from the grave, from which they will have a glorious resurrection.

JAMES A. LEISHMAN.
