

EDITORIAL NOTES.

—It is the fashion for fond Hartford (Conn.) mothers to have photographic and stereoscopic views taken of their little children in a state of nudity.

—Apropos of the war on the 'hoppers the St. Louis Journal says: "There are several ways of killing grasshoppers, but none more reliable than that of tying their tails together, and permitting them to jump themselves in two."

—The Washington Star says, "There seems to be some mystery about the attempt to assassinate the New York Herald correspondent, Mr. J. B. Stilson, in Salt Lake City." Yes, no thing but mystery. That is all there is of it.

—Mr. Dodge, statistician for the Agricultural Department, reports that within the last year four million hogs have fallen victims to disease in this country. Four millions and one Mr. Dodge, you have forgotten Utah's jim jammed N. Y. Herald "commissioner."

—All Chinamen are honest once a year—at New Year. Then every Chinaman is particular to pay his debts, if he steals the money to do it. He differs from many "Christians" in this, that they will steal at New Year, but will not pay their debts.

—The Methodists of Hinsdale, Illinois, held a meeting. Brother Coulter said Pastor Crow forged a note. Pastor Crow said Brother Coulter had abstracted five dollars from a contribution box. The other brethren began to quarrel, and the meeting dissolved in disorder.

—It is said that of the men not one in a thousand who attempts to become an efficient short hand reporter succeeds, and that the great mental concentration and quickness absolutely requisite, with the late hours of work necessary, in the profession, produce deleterious effects physically upon women.

—The following is from the Carson Appeal—"There are two persons for whom we have very little respect. One is the correspondent of the New York Herald, and the other is the blackguard who agreed for a mere paltry sum to pretend to try and kill him. The advertisement is very gauzy. It must always be remembered that it takes two asses to fulfil the spelling of assassin."

—A business man writes thus to the Trenton Gazette—"Business men, be careful whom you trust, for apparently one-half of the real estate of the country belongs to women, having husbands who will buy and consume your goods, and after having had the benefit of them will rush to the courts and contrive to cheat you of your dues. There is scarcely a term of court in which this does not occur."

—The Washington Star says, "The air of old England must have loosened the lingual member of our only living ex-President, for his speech at Manchester on Wednesday is pat to the purpose, as Sancho Panza would say, and no fault can be found with his well-turned sentences. Possibly by the time he gets back to the United States he may blossom into a first-class orator and astonish his countrymen with column speeches. Stranger things have happened."

—The Omaha Bee of June 5 says, "The New York Herald's Utah correspondent, like its African explorer, Stanley, has the rare faculty of discovering what no one else has been able to do. Although the Nebraska newspaper men were in Brigham's domains for some time, they fail to report discovering any alarming symptoms, excepting such as pointed to the conclusion that the Herald reporter is a fast friend of King Alcohol, and a fair manipulator of fast, showy teams—in other words, he is a 'fast young man,' in the liberal American construction of the phrase."

—An exchange says, "After all the talk about 'frivolous and immoral' France, it appears that there are more illegitimate births in Germany. In France the illegitimate births are but 70 in the 1,000, while in Prussia, out of 1,000 births, 120 are illegitimate; and in Southern Germany 200 out of 1,000 are illegitimate. In Lower Austria this proportion runs up to 305 out of 1,000, and in Carinthia nearly every other child is illegitimate." Well, that is worse and worse. Those few children who are legitimate, where nearly every other is illegitimate, are certainly worthy of favorable notice.

Schuyler Colfax says that on the whole he was never so agreeably situated in his life. Nor was the country, so far as Schuyler is concerned. He says he made $30,000 by lecturing in three winters, has nothing but easy work and good pay, and nobody to obey but his wife.

Fletcher Harper, the last of the founders of the publishing house, of Harper & Brothers, of New York, died May 29th, of gastric fever complicated with a disease of the kidneys. He had been sick two weeks. He was born Jan. 31, 1806. The three elder brothers died in 1869, 1870, and 1875 respectively.

Mrs. P. D. Browne, of San Francisco, in the course of a letter to the Woman's Journal, has the following concerning the "Mormons": "Whatever others may sneeringly say of them, I fully believe that they are humbly taking up what they really think to be their cross. There are thousands of young men, to day, as good out of Utah as in Utah, who would gladly marry, if the women were as willing to work and live plainly as the women of Utah are. It is but so recent a thing since they settled a new country, where one necessarily endures many hardships, they do not demand or expect luxuries like those who have lived lives of ease. Our young ladies will have, I fear, to learn this lesson yet, if they wish for happy homes, that economy is one of the Christian graces. No doubt the women of Utah are many of them, doing what they believe to be their Christian duty."

Omaha is troubled over the educational question. An enormous amount of public money has been expended and the result has been to convert the common schools into classical colleges. The Herald says: "The cost of these schools is an outrage upon the willing men whose money pays for their support, as we have frequently declared, but the still greater outrage is found in diverting these great agencies for educating the children of the State from their true office and functions. This office is, and these functions are, to give the future manhood and womanhood that is to come out of the great mass of the children education in the elementary branches of knowledge, and in no other." There are many "gilded educational swindlers" in the country outside of Omaha and Utah is watching them while biding her time till she can have a system of schools which will be guarded from the common corruption.

An exchange says that a Montgomery man is so stingy that he splits his matches. Nothing very wonderful about that. An irate father only last Saturday came down into the dimly lighted parlor at 4 o'clock in the morning to do that very thing and the young man next day said it was the sickest performance that he ever saw.—Derrick

A Sure Cure for the Piles.

A sure cure for the Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Indian remedy), called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst old chronic cases of 25 and 30 years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. Williams' ointment supports the tumors, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared exclusively for Piles, and nothing else. Over 20,000 cured Patients attest its virtues and physicians of all schools pronounce it the greatest contribution to medicine of the age.

WENT TO THE NOTED HOT SPRINGS.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 27, 1876.

DEAR SIR:—I suffered more or less for years with the itching and ulcerated Piles. I tried remedy after remedy advertised in the newspapers, and consulted physicians in Philadelphia, Louisville, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, and this city, and spent hundreds of dollars, but found no relief and comfort until I obtained a box of Williams' Indian Ointment some four months ago, and it has cured me completely. I had a part of the box left which I gave to a friend of mine who had doctored with many physicians without relief, and as a last resort went to the noted Hot Springs, of Arkansas, for treatment. He informs me that the Indian Ointment has also cured him of the piles. It is certainly a wonderful discovery and should be used by the many thousands who are now suffering with that dread disease.

JOSEPH M. RYDER.

For more certificates of cures see large circular around each box of ointment.
