LOCAL BRIEFS.

The sides of the Salt Lake State Mutual Improvement Association will meet at the Lion House this evening.

Rabbi Louis Reynolds has accepted the position of pastor for the Hebrew Reformed congregation in this city, at a salary of $2,000.

The entire complement of Ephraim teachers, together with Principal Jensen, of the Mt. Pleasant schools, visited the Lincoln school yesterday.

George Bowles, a store keeper, was thrown from his cart yesterday afternoon through his vehicle suddenly dropping into one of the many holes that perforate the pavement on East Temple street. His wrist was badly sprained.

The State board of medical examiners yesterday awarded a license to practice medicine and surgery to A. J. Holquist, Ruth B. Fox and Emma Hobbs, of Salt Lake; Anna Sommer and Ann Morton, of Davis county; Mary J. Lewis, of Smithfield, and Esther Sessions, of Rich county, also successfully passed their examination in obstetrics.

Henry A. Gebhardt and Mabel Burton were married at their future home, 225 South Second West last evening. Judge Morris Sommer officiated. The groom is the son of Andrew Gebhardt, of the Idaho bakery, and the bride is the daughter of Jonas Burton, the Bingham mining man. A delectable supper supplemented the wedding.

Salt Lake has turned out many seasonable products. The latest is Mike Hamilton, a colored carpet layer employed by the Freed Furman company. This gentleman has distinguished himself by sleeping a sleep that knew no waking for sixty-one consecutive hours. But this was when he was off duty. The assurance is positively made that he was a hustler when at work.

An incipient blaze broke out in the Frith rooming house, 138 East Second South street last evening about 6:30 o'clock, but it was killed before any damage was done further than destroying a lace curtain and burning a window sill. The fire was started by a match that was aimed to be thrown out of the window but fell in the curtain. The timely use of a pitcher of water put the flame out.

Joe Pundelbach, the little 6-year-old son of Lawrence Pundelbach, of 223 West First South street, was run over by a Z. C. M. I. delivery wagon last evening, but strangely enough was not badly hurt. The young man was riding on the wagon, and was possibly avoided running over the boy, according to some who witnessed the accident, but after he did so, instead of stopping to express his sympathy or to see what assistance he could render the child, he drove rapidly away.

Dun's Review says of Salt Lake business conditions during the past week: "Trade is stimulated by colder weather. Hardware orders are light, but numerous, and there is an increase in the movement of lumber, building material and drugs. Groceries are also active, and dairy products freely shipped, with prices ruling high. The fruit and produce trade is satisfactory with much inquiry for seasonable commodities.

Woolen factories are running on orders ahead for eastern shipment, but the local demand is late. City jobbing trade and collections show a marked improvement, and money continues easy, with fair demand."

NO SCHOOLS HELD TODAY.

Educational Boards Show Respect to Memory of Dr. Park.

The public schools of the city were closed today as a mark of respect to the late Dr. John R. Park. At the meeting of the school board last night Mr. Moyle introduced the following resolution which passed unanimously:

"Whereas, By the decease of the Hon. John R. Park, superintendent of public instruction, the educational interests of the State have lost a devoted friend, and one whose services to education have been marked by both fidelity and merit during a long period of years. Therefore, be it Resolved, That out of respect to the memory of Dr. Park, and as an expression of our regret and in accordance with the proclamation of the Governor of the State of Utah, the public schools of Salt Lake City be closed October 3rd, and this resolution be spread upon the minutes."

ACTION OF UNIVERSITY.

A special meeting of the University faculty was held yesterday afternoon and the following resolutions of respect were adopted:

"Whereas, In the death of Dr. John R. Park, the State of Utah has been deprived of a benevolent and useful citizen and a highly competent public servant; and

Whereas, The incomparable service which the deceased has rendered to this University, as a founder, president and benefactor, has fixed his name indelibly in its history, and made his life sacred in the memory of the students and teachers with whom he has mingled.

Resolved, That we, the members of the University faculty, appreciating this sudden affliction, are moved to unite in this formal expression of our bereavement.

"Resolved, That we mourn with the people of our State in the irreparable loss which they have sustained, and while humbly paying tribute in the sad and solemn occasion, that we extend our profound condolence to the distant relatives of our departed friend, and especially to those near members of his family who devotedly soothed his last moments. And we do so with all righteousness, surrounded them with abundant sympathy—they who have mingled closely with the modest life of the one that is gone, and who above all will feel the loss of that patient wisdom which was in the memory of all who came under his influence, and which, through many periods of adversity, has been the saving hope of the institutions over which he presided so long.

"May the excellencies of his noble character, which have made him an object of pride and reverence to the thousands of young men and women who have attended this school during his administration, become a perpetual legacy to those who may succeed him as guardian of its honor and progress."

MORE FREE MAIL ROUTES.

Two Additional Ones May be Established in Salt Lake County.

It is quite likely that there will be two more routes established in the rural mail delivery in Salt Lake county, from Murray and from Sandy. This action has been recommended by Postmaster Arthur L. Thomas, and was favorably considered by W. E. Annin, special agent in charge of the western division of the free delivery, who passed through the city last evening on his way to headquarters at Denver. Mr. Annin has been in Idaho investigating rural free delivery petitions and will recommend the establishment of either new or additional routes at Boise, Caldwell, Weiser, Moscow, Payette, and Lewiston.

Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. C. Pierce, Mrs. Laurie, Miss Clara C. Pierce, Mr. S. E. Benedict, Dr. C. M. Benedict, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Pierson and Mr. Bert Morris.

SOLONS DISCUSS CLOSING FINANCES.

Councilman Fernstrom Declares Municipality Will Soon be Bankrupt.

OTHER MEMBERS DENY IT.

Lively Discussion in Which Politics and the Approaching Election Are Referred To.

During the early part of last evening's meeting of the city fathers, Councilman Fernstrom threw out an intimation that the report of Auditor Reiser, showing the financial condition of the municipality, was being withheld. After the reports of city officers had been read President Buckle instructed Deputy Recorder Nystrom to proceed with the next order of business, when Mr. Fernstrom arose and asked what had become of the city auditor's communication. Mr. Nystrom assured the members from the Third that he had received nothing from that official. Fernstrom resumed his seat and remarked that he thought it strange.

Later in the evening Mr. Fernstrom made a motion that the Council meet at 8 o'clock Friday evening as a committee of the whole for the purpose of discussing the present financial condition of the city. Speaking to the motion he declared that "for the past few months the finances have been drifting as they please." As a member of the committee he wanted the subject discussed. At present the city was running behind at the rate of about $500 a week, and he thought that if this continued, the city would be bankrupt. The speaker by inquiring how he voted on the last bid of Rollins & Sons for the water bonds, Fernstrom replied by stating that he voted to reject all bids for the reason that the city attorney had informed the members that a new ordinance would have to be drawn up. Proceeding, Fernstrom said he wanted his colleagues to understand that unless funds were taken to secure funds the city would soon be bankrupt. The general expense account was already at low ebb. He favored inviting the city auditor and the heads of departments to be present at the meeting and suggested the advisability of selling some of the city's property to bring in over till the beginning of next year.

"If work is so slack in the treasury department of the city, how is it that a Democratic city treasurer wants additional help?" inquired President Buckle.

Mr. Fernstrom replied by stating that Buckle's interrogation was foreign to the question. He then proceeded to upbraid the finance committee for not wanting to attend to discuss the financial situation, and declared that he had never yet attended a meeting where the subject was up for discussion.

NEARING ELECTION.

Robertson, as chairman of the finance committee, rose to a question of personal privilege, and in a vigorous speech denounced as untrue Fernstrom's statement that the finance committee had ignored him. He had been expecting a speech from the Third precinct gentleman on the subject of finance, for he realized that an election was approaching. He was not going to allow the city's finances to be run as a joke, and he would see that the laborer decent wages. He challenged anyone to dispute the statement that the increased expenditure, referred to by Fernstrom, was not traceable to the advanced wages paid the members of the finance committee. He gave a brief history of what the present administration had done and what the last administration had left undone, and closed by declaring that no one need be alarmed about the city's finances.

BUCKLE TAKES THE FLOOR.

After Robertson had concluded Buckle called Thomas to the chair and taking the floor the president proceeded to pay his respects to "my friend, Mr. Fernstrom." The statement made by that gentleman that he had been ignored by the finance committee was false. The speaker then went on to say that a week or two ago the finance committee met up town to discuss the bond question. Mr. Fernstrom was invited to that meeting, but did not show up. He may have had a reason for staying away, and perhaps had a reason for voting against the committee report. Fernstrom broke in and said the reason he did not show up was because he had attended the meeting of the Democratic convention. Buckle replied by stating that he thought politics had something to do with the gentleman's absence and he believed politics had something to do with the present financial situation, but Friday night was committee night and if Mr. Fernstrom wanted the matter discussed he should select some other night. The city was not bankrupt. There would be more money in the treasury next January than there was last January. In conclusion, Thomas said: "Common fairness demands that before the gentleman from the Third says any more about the increased expenditure he should consult the department payrolls."

Beatty said he was somewhat hazy about the city's finances and was loath to believe that Fernstrom was actuated by political motives.

A vote was then taken and the motion was declared lost. Later Hartenstein offered a resolution providing that the finance committee get up a report for presentation at the next meeting. The resolution carried.

FRANCHISE GOES THROUGH.

The ordinance granting the Salt Lake City Railroad company a franchise to operate its road on Thirteenth East Street was adopted, upon motion of Hartenstein. The ordinance gave the railroad company permission to run a

Came Near Dying.

"For three days and nights I suffered agonies which I shall never forget. I was nearly brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines, but all to no avail. I then took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely. I went to sleep and did not awake for eight hours. On awakening a few hours ago I felt so gratified that the first work I do on going to the office is to write to the manufacturers of this remedy and offer them my grateful thanks and say, 'God bless you and the splendid medicine you make.'"
