

The crowd gathered silently but quickly around the jail at midnight, overpowered the guards, and a little while later broke into the prison. Purvis was at once set at liberty and he lost no time in speeding away.

Purvis was one of the whitecaps who committed so many outrages a few years ago and was tried for the murder of one of the men connected with the overthrow of whitecapism. He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

U. lodge 150, embracing the territory west to Leeds and east to Michigan City from this point, met and declared the strike off "unconditionally." The discharged men will go to other points and seek situations. The instigators of the strike refuse to state openly why they have so completely surrendered.

BOISE, Nov. 11.—The President's proclamation opening the Nez Perce reservation to settlement on the 18th has aroused great interest among those who are camped in the vicinity, waiting the hour when they can go into the promised land. While there will be no such rush as has characterized the opening of some other reservations, there are a great many settlers ready to make the run for choice location, and the event will be one of the most interesting ever known in Idaho.

People who are familiar with the reservation declare that the land is the best in the country. It will not need irrigation, and the climate is very mild. There are also valuable mineral deposits that will attract many prospectors.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Captain Frank L. Miller of the American brig Hattie G., which, on leaving the Cuban port of Nuevitas on October 2, was searched by Spanish officers, who claimed to be looking for arms, said today: "It has been incorrectly stated that I was not flying the Stars and Stripes when the search was made. This was not the case. The search was made by nine men, under the leadership of a Spanish officer. My protests were unavailing. The American consul witnessed part of the search, and joined in the protest. It was useless, however. The Spaniards did not care a continental for American rights, and would insult our flag whenever opportunity offered. Had my vessel flown the British flag not a Spaniard would have dared to attempt a search."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—The American ship Bohemia arrived from Philadelphia this morning with stories of mutiny and disaster. The crew, headed by Second Mate Egan, mutinied after the ship had been through a storm off Rio Janeiro, and, against his will, the captain had to make for port. With the exception of the chief officer there was not a man on the vessel who aided with the skipper.

The second officer who led the mutineers, deserted at Rio de Janeiro but the remainder of the crew are aboard. They will probably be arrested on complaint of the captain, and on their part say that they will have the captain taken into custody for cruelty on the high seas and do not scruple to state that he was responsible for the loss of one of the starboard watch overboard.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Mme. Nina Moreau, wife of M. George Moreau, and formerly a popular society woman of Chicago, was burned to death at her residence in Paris early yesterday morning. The sad news was received last night by cable by her brother, Paul V. Warren. The announcement came as a cruel blow to Mr. Warren and to the intimate friends of the unfortunate young woman who had known her as Miss Nina Warren, the accomplished pianist, who was a welcome figure at many of the social functions of Chicago during her residence here. A pathetic incident of the terrible occurrence was the fact that M. Moreau was on his way home from New York at the time and arrived at Havre on the steamer La Bourgogne only a few hours after her death.

The details of the frightful accident received here are meager. It seems that Mme. Moreau had fallen asleep while reading just before retiring and had tipped over a lamp and set fire to her clothing. She was alone at the time. When help arrived in response to her screams, she had been fatally burned.

Mme. Moreau was in her thirty-ninth year and had been married about six years. She was noted in the social circles in Chicago for her beauty and her exceptional musical talent. She was born in St. Paul, Minn.

M. Moreau is a civil engineer with large mining interests in Mexico.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—John Baramiski was burned to death, his wife and 20-year-old son, Martin, fatally injured and three other people badly hurt in a fire which destroyed two buildings at 890 and 892 Noble street this morning.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The Times Herald today prints the following:

Senator William B. Allison, candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency of the United States, will start his boom in Chicago today. He enters the field aggressively, asking the support of Western men, while his friend and fellow statesman, James S. Clarkson, is working for his interests in the East.

Mr. Allison comes to Chicago in company with General Henderson of Duquesne, a leader in the House of Representatives and one of the foremost Republicans in the country. General Henderson's appearance in Chicago with Allison is significant. It may be taken to mean that the distinguished Iowans are here to receive callers.

Senator Allison's lieutenants, according to information received by the Times-Herald, are endeavoring to perfect a combination of which the details are all planned and which may meet the favorable attention of Republican leaders in the Eastern States now supposedly committed to the candidacy of Thomas B. Reed, in the event that Reed fails to get the nomination. This plan, which it is said upon good authority Clarkson is engineering, has for its object the nomination of Allison for President and of General McAlpin, of New York, for second place on the ticket. Inner circles have for some time been aware that a move of this kind was on foot and last month, when General McAlpin was in Chicago to attend the meeting of the executive committee of the National League of Republican clubs, of which he was elected president at Cleveland last summer, he was questioned about it. To this questioning he made no reply, either to affirm or deny, and left the curiosity seekers more convinced than before that there was a good deal in it.

The Welsh residents of San Francisco have made arrangements for the holding of an Eisteddfod or bardic congress, in Union Square Hall, Post Street, on New Year's day. The affair is in charge of a committee. Twenty-seven competitive topics have been announced, embracing literature, art, music, elocution, and bandicraft.

On Saturday night burglars gained an entrance into a store at Nevada City, Cal., by blowing out a rock wall with dynamite. Although the explosion was heard a mile away, the first news of the crime received by two watchmen who patrol the neighborhood was when the storekeeper told them in the morning after he had entered the store for business.
