TWO VICTORIES FOR HOME TEAMS

U. of U. Beats the B. Y. A., After a Hard Ball Game.

SALT LAKE VERSUS OGDEN.

Pavilion City Defeated on Their Own Ground—Good Ball Playing by the Boys.

Yesterday two baseball games were pulled off that resulted in victory for the locals on the banners of both home teams.

At Cullen the Salt Lakers demonstrated the fact that four of the original nine, including Pitcher Hulbert, did not play, and added the distinction on their own ground to the wide margin of 9-3; while on the University campus the U. of U. boys trounced the stalwarts from the high benches, after a hard contest, to the tune of 13-11.

SALT LAKE VS OGDEN.

The game at Ogden was characterized by base hitting on the part of the Ogden boys. The fact that the pavilion aggregation were not accustomed to such work, together with the effort to hold the Ogden batsmen have of which to be supported by the errorless work of Hulbert, is largely responsible for their defeat. Neither pitcher was hit hard during the game, Hulbert striking out seven and Bruce four. In the seventh inning Salt Lake scored one run and in the fifth was increased to four. The pavilion men were productive of nine runs and again another in the eighth. Thus Ogden took a hard earned game by just two more runs.

The summary of the game is as follows:

U. OF U. VERSUS B. Y. A.

The game at the University campus yesterday afternoon was played under favorable skying by a large crowd of spectators after the grounds, however, were somewhat soft as considerable fine work was accomplished. Hutchinson, the Provo battery man, was replaced in the fourth inning by Farnsworth, and Hatch by Hendricks, the latter battery combination doing good work. Hendricks caught in the fourth inning by Farnsworth, and Hatch by Hendricks, the latter battery combination doing good work.

The Provoites have all good work in the field and hardly a fly escaped them. In the early innings of the game the ball was batted out with abandon, but after the fifth became scarcer or riddled with the speedy men from the Provo team. In the seventh inning, however, they were mostly thinned, then Taylor grounded the ball to retook at the first ball and retired it. His second batter to the same place and just when everyone thought the game was about over Farnsworth made a two-bagger. McKay then took the ball and promptly made a mighty swipe for which Taylor made a beautiful running catch over the plate. Then for the score of fifteen innings the red and white whipped their opponents by a score of thirteen. Pleasure was not limited to young shoulders and the atmosphere was thick with the enthusiasm that embraced hats, coats, hankies and tie boxes.

Mr. May then was given the honor of exclaiming the freedom of the city.

INDIVIDUAL AND COMBINED EFFORT NEEDED.

Citizenship in the United States implies serious duty in return for the protection and privileges of the finest country that the sun shines upon. Has the enterprise and rush of modern life so benumbed the sense of patriotic duty that was the legacy of our forefathers? No, for heroism has never yet failed when men have been called to sacrifice life or fortune for their country. But we do miss the keen eye for evil doings, and the moral courage of our ancestors in the daily discharge of measures not yet difficult of solution. The seeds of such virtues must be sown in the home and by the fireside, and must be persistently cultivated by individual and combined effort.

Men, women and children are alike citizens of the United States; but one especial duty remains for the men and women of the West. It is their part to express the will of the people through the ballot. This is a right conferred and not an inalienable right. In the early days of the Massachusetts colony, church membership was the essential condition for becoming a voter. Gradually the privilege was extended to men of twenty-one years who could read and write and who held a certain amount of property. Until recent years the payment of a poll tax was requisite. A foreigner can be naturalized at the end of at least time of residence.—M. L. — in Sat Lippincott's.

There were delays in the contest that prolonged the meet until the shadows were falling.

Prof. Cummings was master of ceremonies and he had his work cut out to keep track of things in general. The bleachers were crowded with spectators but apparently the events were pulled off in "any old place." There was no roped off track and the crowd took possession of everything, so much so, that some of the track events developed into flying wedges, and the easier rush for the finish over-ran the course ahead.

The fifty-yard dash was scored by the University. Joseph Anderson coming in first in 6¼ seconds with Gregg Reiser second, both were of the U. of U. The half mile race which fells red, the academy carried off both first and second places. On the home stretch the necessity of the spectators fell in at the rear of the runners and here rough on the home turf, the contestants found small encouragement from the crowds and shouts, some cheering student for the dark and his opponent in the race placed "inside on the sly." At the time the the lasses, muslins and ginghams danced and "sweethearts" of Ellsworth and Johnson for the U. of U. stepped gingerly being in $22.50 while Hatch fell exhausted just on reaching the tape, and had to be hauled off the field to the nearest hydrant.

The pole vault was productive of another human pole in which Easter honors were scored largely for Leonidas Ellsworth, the U. of U. representative. The University was the victor, showing the list of 5 feet 1 inch. A tie ensued for second place between the two athletes. The other contestants were C. Smith of the University, Clarence King and Reginald Roberts of the B. Y. Academy.

In the high jump Standing like Joseph Anderson and Gregg Reiser of the University, and H. J. Brown and W. Bullock of the B. Y. Academy. Anderson was to be reminded that, with H. J. Brown second. The boys came in with a tie.

The standing high kick put Snider and the Fly girls in the shade. C. F. Gladwell of the U. of U. made the 10 inches to no avail. Ladies that understand by the term "standing high kick" a foot at a push. Burt King of Provo scored a jumbo second; while C. W. Thomas of the U. of U. and Allen of the B. Y. A. were content with a low exercise display.

The running high jump went to the Academy in toto, with the contestants H. E. Christensen, 8 feet 7½ inches and John Reuben Hall 8 feet 6 inches.

The University then scored on the shot putting contest, with Hector Gabriel Thomas of the U. of U. and Hall of the B. Y. A. tied for first place, with 30 feet 10 inches. Brown of the U. of U. took second.

The running broad jump was captured by the home team, Gladwell of the U. of U. and Hall of the B. Y. A. were second and Manfred 18 feet 10½ inches.

Anderson and Gladwell saw their opportunity in the 100-yard dash, scoring for the University, with 0 and 10 feet respectively.

Prof. Cummings handled the track from start to finish in a manner that left nothing to be desired, and the results of the meet will be known by the wealth lost for second place.

GREAT STONE ARCHES OF THE WORLD.

General Meigs built the Potomac John aqueduct and highway bridge near Washington forty years ago. It is the largest masonry arch in the world, having a span of 220 feet. The bridge at the Adda near Lecco, Italy, built by order of Visconti in 1336, and destroyed by Carmagnola in 1416, had a span of 240 feet, and the total thickness of ring of only 4 feet. The Rialto bridge at Venice has a span of 149 feet and a rise of nearly two-thirds the span. American contractors have offered to build and guarantee a concrete arch of 500 feet span, but in one case a solid arch of masonry of 300 feet span.

That an arch of 400 feet span is no more difficult today than the spans just mentioned were in their day can be demonstrated by the construction of an arch of 200 feet span is lacking in all the elements of daring that attended the first spectacular spans. A Fancy of Measles.—In many instances a persistent cough follows an attack of measles. In speaking of this Mr. Walter B. Bell, editor of the Joplin (Mo.) Times, says: "Three weeks ago I had an attack of measles which left me with a bad cough. I took several bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the cough has entirely disappeared. I consider Chamberlain's medicines the best on the market."
