LIGHTNING STRIKING.

The Way the Consolidation was Carried Through.

NEW YORK, 5.—The Herald says: In business and commercial circles yesterday the principal topic of discussion was the coup de etat of Thursday, by which the conspirators in the Western Union deal carried out their scheme and perfected the monopoly before legislation could interfere, which it unquestionably would have done had there been sufficient time.

Of the legality of the consolidation, as it is called, although in point of fact the transaction is a sale of the property of the American Union and Atlantic and Pacific companies to the Western Union.

It is claimed that there may be some doubt the twenty day's notice which the law requires shall be given before the stockholders can be called together to vote upon such contracts would not have expired until to day, which was the date named in the advertisement. They called the meeting by anticipating the time 48 hours.

It is said that the legality of the procedure becomes questionable as the stockholder's meetings said to have taken place on Thursday were only meetings in form. Gould, Page, Vanderbilt and one or two other directors met in a private parlor up town with the stockholder's proxies and went through the form of voting in approval of the contract.

The proceedings by which $40,000,000 of watered stock is thrown upon the community was born in a few minutes. It is not generally understood that all were present.

Western Union stock as well as that of the other companies is to be withdrawn and expunged, and that there will be an entire new batch of $80,000,000 in actual certificates put on the market. It is believed that Wm. H. Vanderbilt resigned his position as a member of the Western Union Board of Directors at the meeting of the executive committee last Wednesday. It will be acted upon and will probably be accepted. At a new meeting of the Board in a day or two there will also retire with Vanderbilt, it is thought, all those who form what is recognized as the Vanderbilt interest in the Western Union management as opposed to the Gould faction. E. D. Morgan will remain.

The Directors accepted the resignations of the Vice-President and C. W. Chapin, Director. Jay Gould was elected Director, vice David Jones, deceased, and takes Twomley's place on the executive committee. Russell Sage was elected in place of Chapin and Gen. Eckart was elected Director and General Manager.

The new company has been incorporated under the laws of New Jersey. A special committee of the Produce Exchange met yesterday with the members of the special committee of the Chicago Produce Exchange, the latter submitting a plan for the new telegraph line between this city and the West, with a capital of $1,000,000, half of which is already subscribed in Chicago. No person can subscribe to more than $5,000 of stock and only men engaged in actual commercial pursuits will be allowed to come in as shareholders. It is contemplated to charge twenty cents for ten words between New York and Chicago against fifty cents, the present price. Plans were very forcibly received, and the two committees met the committee on exchange to-day, to consummate the scheme.

Ex-Judge Fullerton said, including himself, there were seven genuine stockholders and 17 ex-judges in attendance. August Sbell presided, and Norvin Green had a pile of proxies before him three feet high. Ex-Judge Fullerton handed in the following document, which was placed on file:

To the President and Directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company:

Gentlemen:—On behalf of the stockholders of the Western Union Telegraph Company, I appear here to say I protest against the consummation of the proposed agreement between said company and the American Union Telegraph Company, and Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company, on the ground that the same is illegal and against the interests of the stockholders, whom I represent. I am also instructed to say that the directors of this corporation and each of them who vote for such consummation and for all they have hitherto done to bring about the same will be held responsible for the consequences of such action. I am also instructed to, and protest against the increase of the capital stock of the Western Union Company [illegible] purpose expressed in the agreements between said companies. The directors will be held personally and severally liable to pay to the company the full amount of the capital stocks issued by the company, for which it shall not receive the full amount of the value thereof in its fair market value in cash.

A ballot was then taken on the question of ratifying the consolidation with other companies. It was carried by 307,228 to 600; Hatch casting 500 of the latter. Hatch then withdrew. The second ballot was cast on the question of increasing the capital stock to $80,000,000, the result being 307,189 in favor and 100 against. The meeting then adjourned.

Another Big Railroad.

The publication is made here today that that the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company has been organized, with a capital of $16,000,000, of which $12,000,000 has been taken by a syndicate which has deposited 10 per cent. of the subscription in cash. It is proposed to build a line from Cleveland to Chicago; also to extend a line from Fort Wayne to St. Louis. The company purchased 56 miles of the Wabash canal, which gives it the right of way in Fort Wayne 250 feet broad. The line from Cleveland to Chicago will be completed this year and to St. Louis by July, 1882. Regarding the Eastern extension nothing has been decided upon. Capitalists interested in this new project are prominently identified with Lake Erie & Western, Ohio, Central & Peoria, Decatur & Evansville Companies.

Mr. French, auditor of the railroad accounts, maintains that the Northern Pacific has a right to forfeit to the Imagined lands; that according to the decision of the Attorney General all lands granted are Congress should by a special act declare them forfeited.

California Debris.

The Sun, speaking of California's claim for a federal appropriation to remove the mining debris from the rivers of that State, says: That the effort ought to succeed hardly needs demonstration. There is not a natural obstruction to navigation in this case, the removal of which Congress cannot properly be called upon to undertake at the expense of the nation. It is needlessly caused by a corporation that ought to be prohibited from operating unless they are willing to do so without injuries to the water highways of the State. If the State is not enough to effect this it ought to be willing to bear the expense of remedying the damage that results.

Plenty of Gold.

The arrivals of gold at the assay office from Europe for the month ending Friday was $539,800, all foreign coin and bars. The total arrivals from August 2, 1880, to February 4, 1881, was $89,025,200, of which $5,887,000 was American coin and $83,139,200 was foreign coin and bars. The arrivals for the same period in 1879-80 were $73,415,150.

WASHINGTON.

News of the Capital in Brief.

WASHINGTON, 5.—Henry Cousins, of Wisconsin, was nominated register of the land office at Florence, A. T.

During the past week 104,499 standard silver dollars was distributed from the mints.

The civil appropriation bill will be reported to the House early next week.

Representative Page has gone to Albion, N. Y., on receipt of telegram yesterday, announcing the serious and perhaps fatal illness of his aged father.

It is understood on good authority that in the expected event of the organization of the next Senate the chairmanship of the judiciary committee will be given Judge Davis, of Illinois, whose vote on the question of organization has generally been considered somewhat doubtful. Three democrats, who will be in the next Senate, are above Judge Davis in the present list of membership.

The House committee on commerce will report the river and harbor appropriation bill on Monday. Among the items interesting to the people of the Pacific Coast are the following: For improving Oakland harbor, $50,000; for Wilmington, Cal., $12,000; for a canal around the Cascade of the Columbia River, Oregon, $100,000; for improving the Upper Columbia River, including Snake River, $15,000; the Lower Williamette and Columbia Rivers from Portland to the sea, including the bar at the mouth of the Columbia River, $45,000; Upper Williamette and Yam Hill Rivers, $15,000; Petaluma Creek, Cal., $50,000; San Joaquin River, Cal., $20,000; entrance to Yognine Bay, Oregon, $10,000; Cowlitz River, $1,000

The select committee of the two houses on the inter-oceanic canal today agreed to report favorably on Mills' bill to operate the inter-oceanic transit company, after amending it to provide that the government shall guarantee the payment of interest on the $50,000,000 bonds of the company for 15 years at the rate of 6 per cent. The vote was as follows: Yeas—Conger, Haskell, King, Singleton and Martin; Nash, Oscar Turner, Hutchins, Nichols, Withrow, Price and Page not voting.

In the House Bicknell called up the electoral resolution to avoid any difficulty regarding Georgia, although its vote would not affect the result.

In the House debate on the Morgan resolution to-day, Speer made a most stirring speech, which was alternately applauded by the republicans and democrats. He maintained that Georgia was as devoted to the Union as any State, and had no fondness for old natters, which had caused so much trouble. Three democratic representatives had already proven this by their votes, (himself, Felton and Stephens,) but he could not consent to sit idly by as a spectator at the counting of the presidential vote, when the law required that he should participate; that was a farce. The republicans, as a rule, voted in the negative, and the democrats in the affirmative.

The board of supervising inspectors to-day adopted a resolution calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish local inspectors with standard colored and white glasses, and provididing that hereafter all new lights required for steam vessels shall be of a standard furnished by the department.

Carlyle Dead.

A London dispatch says: Thomas Carlyle died at half past five o'clock last evening, until death Carlyle ly easy, and the heart action was visibly perceptible. He suffered none, at least 36 hours before he died. His niece was with him to the last. It is understood that he will be buried in the churchyard of his birthplace, which is Ecclafecan Dumfries.

Lynched.

SAN FRANCISCO, 5.—At Grantsville, Nevada, January 28th, Matthew Salman, a bad character, killed S. Masseles, a miner. Salman was arrested and hidden by the officials to preserve him from lynching. Saturday Salman's hiding place was discovered, and he was taken out and hanged to the framework of a windmill.

The California Flood.

It has been a fair day throughout the portion of the State under water and the rivers and creeks are falling everywhere. About thirty-five hundred square miles of the Sacramento Valley is under water. The losses cannot be even guessed at at present, but the total aggregate will be a stupendous sum.

Another Flood.

OMAHA, 5.—A Fort Benton dispatch of the 30th ult. says: The river broke at 7 o'clock this morning and the water rose over the banks. Women and children were conveyed to places of safety on the hill. The river has fallen eight or ten feet since daylight. Hopes are entertained that the worst is over. No damage reported.

Sunday Services. — The usual services of the Latterday Saints were held yesterday afternoon in the Assembly Hall, The choir sang as opening hymn: "Great God attend while Zion sings." Prayer was offered by Elder Claudius V. Spencer. The choir sang: "How dark and gloomy was the night." The Bishopric of the 20th ward assisted in dispensing the sacrament.

Elder John Nicholson was called from the congregation and addressed the assembly. He desired to be aided by the spirit of God that he might faithfully present some of the principles of the religion which the Latter-day Saints have embraced. He took for his main subject the Book of Mormon. Said it was known for good or evil throughout the world, the great majority of whose people denied its claim to divine authenticity; but in his experience, he had never found any who could successfully dispute the validity of that claim. Referred to the nature of the book, to the internal evidences it bore of its own divinity and of external or collateral proofs furnished in the discovery of ancient ruins, inscriptions and other archaeological relics brought to light in modern times, all of which give testimony of the ancient existence of the people of whom the Book of Mormon is an inspired record. Alluded to the commission given by the Savior to his ancient apostles in Jerusalem, to go and preach the gospel to all the world, and showed that that commission had to be fulfilled either by those apostles or by others who represented the same gospel. It was a historical fact that these apostles did not even know of the existence of this continent, which at that time was peopled by their fellow-men, nor did they ever know of its existence. Hence, in order that the dwellers on this continent might have the gospel and its advantages, as well as those of the old world, some one had to visit them. Jesus said to his disciples in Jerusalem, on a certain occasion, "Other sheep have I which are not of this fold, they also must hear my voice," etc. The Book of Mormon contains the account of the fulfilment of this declaration, in the personal visit to the Nephites of the Redeemer Jesus Christ, after his death and resurrection. He came and established his Church upon this continent, and called his "other sheep" into the fold. The speaker here launched forth in an argumentative dissertation on the "fold" or Church of Christ, showing what it was in ancient times, and what it must always consist of in order to be perfect. The speaker then resumed the subject of the Book of Mormon, and read therein from the prophecy of Nephi, foretelling the coming forth of the Book, its going forth to the Gentiles, the Lamanites, the Jews and the other descendants of Israel, in the latter days. Showed how this was being fulfilled at the present time, even the fallen and degraded Lamanites, commonly called Indians, having begun to be converted. Contemporary with this work among the Lamanites, according to the prophecy of Nephi, the work of God was to commence among all the nations of the earth The speaker said that in the Berlin Treaty, which closed the war between Turkey and Russia, were clauses favorable to the fulfilment of the prophecy in relation to the gathering of the Jews to the [illegible] tions were being effected in various parts of Europe, whose object was the purchase of the Holy Land and the settlement thereon of the Jews. These circumstances taken with the fact that the spirit of persecution was awakening against the Jews, indicate the probability of the early founding of a Jewish commonwealth in the ancient lands of their inheritance. Thus gradually are the prophecies, ancient and modern, from the mouths of inspired men, being fulfilled. The speaker further showed how exactly the condition of the world, politically, religiously and socially, was depicted in the Book of Mormon—the divisions in the churches, the secret associations and general wickedness therein described actually existing upon the earth to-day. He read the words of the Prophet Moroni in relation to these things, and illustrated their bearing upon the times. He then exhorted his hearers to heed well these sacred writings and not estimate them lightly. He denounced hypocrisy, idolatry, the worship of Mammon and other sins which exist among the people, proclaimed against vice in general and exhorted all to be pure, sincere, upright, charitable and God-fearing, to practice what they preach, and live in accordance with the laws of the Church, the spirit and genius of the gospel. The speaker discoursed powerfully upon topics relating to his chief subject and closed with a fervent prayer for the welfare of Israel.

The choir sang the grand anthem, "O praise the Lord."

A lady who owns an amiable husband was asked how she had ever brought him to such perfection, whereupon she answered that she did it chiefly with a croquet mal-

Correspondence.

BETHEL, Pitt Co., N. C., Jan. 30, 1881.

Editor Deseret News:

Bishop H. B. M. Jolly, of Mt. Carmel, Kane County, Bro. Riley G. Clark, of Panguitch, Iron County, and myself, of Kanab, Kane County, arrived at Tarboro, Edgecombe Co., N. C., Nov. 21, 1880, and put up at what is known as the Bryan House. As Bro. Jolly had relatives living near Tarboro, we concluded to take a room and board for a few days, that he might visit them. Brother Clark and myself were treated with seeming respect by all with whom we met. It was soon noised about that there were some "Mormon" preachers in town, and everyone seemed very anxious to see us, expecting no doubt to see something very peculiar, or in some way different from the common run of humanity. And the landlord said he was asked a great many very curious questions concerning his "Mormon" boarders.

On the 25th we came into Pitt County, and since that time have been visiting the people in both counties, holding but very few meetings on account of cold weather, but endeavoring to teach by the fireside as much as possible. We have seen the sun but very little since coming into this State, and he people say it is the worst winter they have known for some years. The weather is very changeable and damp, first cold and then very warm, etc. We being the first elders that have visited this vicinity, seem to be objects of curiosity, and some of the people even view us with suspicion. But generally speaking the people are kind and hospitable, and when we hold meetings we generally have large congregations. We have the chance of answering a great many questions, but mostly in regard to our country, etc., they seeming to care very little about religion other than that they already have. Some few seem favorable toward our doctrines. They are generally of a very hard-working class, being so from necessity, on account of the sterility of the land, wages being very low. It takes continual labor from January to December to prepare for, raise and harvest their cotton crop. Most of the people are so crowded with work that they do not take much time to investigate religious matters, but I trust the Lord will enlighten the minds of the people and open up the way for the spread of His work in this land.

Anyone having friends or relatives in this land that I could help in any way, may write me. I should be pleased to hear from any of my friends. More anon. May God bless all His faithful Saints, is the prayer of your brother in the gospel of peace,

ELMER W. JOHNSON.
