

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

NOTABLE UTAH WOMEN.

The week has been a very busy one in social events, a large number of delightful affairs having taken place. Christensen's blossomed out with a batch of pleasant affairs and the rest of the season promises to be a busy one in the line of dancing parties, to say nothing of home affairs.

One of the most original and unique gatherings of the week was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jolly, Monday evening.

The invitations requested the guests to represent the name of a song, and the gathering presented the productions of most of the popular composers. Each guest received a hand painted embossed paper musical instrument, the ladies receiving lutes, mandolins and guitars, and the gentlemen banjos and violins; on the back of the instruments leaves were attached on which to write the designating number of the guest and the song represented when guessed. On the walls of the several rooms were "Musical Mysteries" to be guessed also, the mysteries being objects indicative of well known musical terms, each object having a designating number. The guests entered into the spirit of the entertainment with alacrity and the novel features caused no end of amusement.

The guests present represented the songs following their names: Mrs. S. Haxie Clark of St. Louis, "Fluddeldee"; Mr. Clark, "Just as I Am"; Miss Cora Clark, "An Old Sweetheart of Mine"; Mrs. F. A. Dight, "The Stray My Mother Used"; Mr. Dight, "Two Hearts that Beat as One"; Mrs. J. B. Evans, "Ben Bolt"; Mrs. E. V. Fritz, "My Little Sweetheart"; Mrs. A. J. Gorham, "Sweet Violets"; Mr. Gorham, "Old Black Joe" (in costume); Mrs. J. Judson, "My Rosary"; Mrs. Judson, "After the Ball"; Mrs. Norman McDonald, "Sombro"; Mr. McDonald, "Comrades"; Mrs. L. C. Miller, "The Rosary"; Mrs. C. L. Rood, "Nothing But Leaves"; Mr. Rood, "The Girl I Left Behind Me"; Mrs. E. G. Tuttle, "The Silver Ring"; Mr. Tuttle, "The Three Bells"; Prof. and Mrs. Wetzel, "The Scotch Plaidie"; Mrs. Thom. Weir, "Alabama Coon"; Mrs. Weir, "Silver Threads Among the Gold"; Mrs. Caskey, "The Vacant Chair"; Miss Edna Miller, "The Two Grondlers"; Miss May Miller, "Crossing the Bar"; Miss Scheid, "Last Night"; Dr. Padden, "A plain hymn"; Mr. Block, "A Broken Chord"; Mr. T. H. Gilbert, "Wearing of the Green"; Mr. Julius Young, "The Lost Chord"; Mr. Anderson, "The Last Rose of Summer." Other invited guests were Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown, Mrs. Whittemore of Denver, Miss Evans, Mrs. J. B. Evans, Mr. L. C. Miller, Mrs. Kate Bridwell Anderson, Prof. Caskey.

During the evening Mrs. Jolly, Miss Stewart and Mr. T. H. Gilbert rendered a number of vocal selections, and piano duets.

The decorations were red and green, the stairs and chandeliers being covered with a mass of the California red berries, and potted palms, chrysanthemums and smilax made the various rooms beautiful to the eyes of the assembled friends.

The prizes winners were Mrs. S. Haxie Clark and Mr. Dight, who represented songs, and Miss Edna Miller and Prof. Wetzel for musical mysteries. The refreshments were exceptionally delicious, being served by one of the popular caterers of the city.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Jolly and her sister, Miss Stewart, entertained at a Kensington, introducing during the afternoon a guessing card-board. Each lady received a large walnut leaf of fancy cardboard, decorated and lettered in gold. "Nuts to crack." A disk of walnuts was passed the nuts on being opened were found to contain another leaf folded on which was printed in sentences and jumbled letters, the names of twenty kinds of nuts; when guessed the nuts were written on the backs of the leaves on a paper leaf attached, the lady first presenting the list complete receiving a prize which was won by Mrs. F. B. Choate. The guests of the afternoon were S. D. Evans, Mesdames Louise Cohn, Druehl, Richards, Jones, Terhune, Niles, Choate, Brink, B. B. Beatty, Boman, Moon, Lipman, G. Forbes, Dickert, J. F. Evans, D. C. Roberts, Morris Hunt, Caskey, McMahon, Colburn, J. H. Bennett, McCaughy, P. B. Cooper, Lyons, Wouff, Nelden, M. B. Whitney, McCullough, Bransford, J. T. Donnellan, B. A. Lewis, Mrs. Webb, and the Mesdames Dickert, Cohn, Kimball, Wisard.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jolly again entertained at a card party, the game being "62." A score card consisted of leaf pictures of noted California, Utah, Montana, Colorado and New Mexico scenes, the tallies being small pictures to correspond—those for the ladies being heart-shaped, and for the gentlemen square pictures, all having a black hawk ground; all of the pictures were from negatives taken by Mr. Jolly who designed and finished the photographs. After the score cards had been out for and won by the lady at each table, each of the other ladies present was presented with a like souvenir. The guests of the evening were Mesdames Judson, Rood, Brink, B. A. McMillan, Donnellan, S. D. Evans, J. Evans, J. H. Johnson, John Reed, Bogue, Dr. and Mrs. Whitney, Dr. and Mrs. Griswold, Dr. and Mrs. Hooper, Dr. and Mrs. J. Miller, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Shelby, Miss Kirkpatrick and Mr. Miller.

Miss Keith entertained at an elaborate card-party on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Allen. The rooms were beautifully decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums, all vases filled with the large fluffy blooms, every available space. The tallies were in yellow for the gentlemen and blue for the ladies. The score-cards were beautiful illustrations in black and white of scenes from famous modern plays and were cut at the end of the contest. The winners of the first ladies prize was Mesdames Williams, second, Mrs. Watkins; gentlemen's prize, Mr. Thompson. The first consolation, Mrs. Thompson. The first consolation, Dr. White. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Allen, Mr. and MRS. ISABELLA E. ROBINSON.

Mrs. Isabella E. Robinson the daughter of Parley P. and Belinda Pratt, was born in Salt Lake City in 1854, and passed through many trying scenes during childhood and youth. Her father having been killed when she was between two and three years of age, and her mother left with the care of raising a family of five children in a newly settled country, they necessarily endured many privations.

Opportunities for her education were limited, the schools of that period being very imperfect. At twelve years old she earned her first wages, as primary teacher, having charge of twenty small children, and at the age of fifteen taught the primary department of the University of Deseret, held in the building opposite the South Temple gate, which was, perhaps, the first store building in Salt Lake, and was afterward occupied by the lower grades of the University, and still later as the Deseret museum. In the spring of 1870, she was chosen as secretary of the Ladies' Co-operative Retrenchment association of the Fourteenth ward and filled the duties of that office until her removal to Fillmore in October of the same year. She taught school in Fillmore two winters, and in the spring of 1872 was married to F. A. Robinson.

Mrs. Robinson is the mother of twelve children, eleven of whom are living, and despite her many material and household cares has found some time to devote to public work. She assisted in the first Primary association organized in Fillmore, and held the position of State president of Y. L. M. I. A. for eight years, traveling by team, with other officers of the Relief Society, and Primary, visiting the associations throughout the State, often with a baby in her arms. She has been a teacher in the Fillmore Sunday schools whenever circumstances would permit, and was chosen secretary of the Fillmore ward Relief Society in November, 1894, a position which she still holds.

Miss Veda Thatcher was the hostess at a delightful evening party on Monday, given in honor of Miss Hazel Bond. A novel feature of the evening was a guessing contest—the printed advertisements of several of the large local firms being numbered and the guests required to guess the firms from the advertisements. Miss Josephine Wells took the girl's prize and Harvey Harty won the boy's. The guests were: Hazel Beattie, Clint Young, Afton Kimball, Ray Campbell, Jack McCune, Laura Bunting, Emma Groesbeck, Myrtle Banks, Margie Elberbeck, Josephine Wells, Dorothy Dwyer, Lulu Keyting, Edith Miller, Emma Dougall, Claire Dougall, Sell, Harvey, Frank Young, Walter Pike, Harvey, Hardy, Otis McKnight, Syd Beattie, Lawrence Beck, Adrian Pembroke, Serge Campbell, Jean Clayton, Earl Clayton, Ed Kimball, Scott Groesbeck.

On Monday evening Miss Minerva Jensen was the impromptu hostess at a surprise party, a number of her friends gathering at her home in a body without previous announcement. The evening was spent with games and a delightful time passed by all present. The guests were: Claire Dougall, Ella Jensen, Ina Smith, Sarah Williams, Bessie Feld, Mary Ridges, Jennie Nordvall, Judith Anderson, Melissa Smith, Messrs. Joe Everett, Robert Alfred, Clifford Johnson, George Smith, Val Snow, Willard Smith, Francis Parry, Will White.

A score or more of the little friends of Miss Laura Silver assembled at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Silver, No. 276 Center street, on Monday, in celebration of the ninth birthday of their little hostess. The time was most enjoyably spent with games, singing, and dancing, and the delightful affair ended with a dainty feast, the details of the entire successful affair being under the supervision of Miss Carrie Silver, who aided in making the occasion a red letter one in the memories of the little ones. The faculty of the Salt Lake Business College entertained the present and former students of that institution at a social hop and banquet at Christensen's Hall last Tuesday night. The hall was prettily decorated in drapings of the school colors, orange and black. The first part of the evening was spent in dancing with an intermission at about 10:30 for a musical program and refreshments, after which dancing was again indulged in. There were 400 guests present, and all were unanimous in the expression of having enjoyed a delightful time.

On Monday the marriage of Mr. Adolph Simon, of this city, and Miss Stella Furchgott, of St. Louis, took place at the bride's home in St. Louis, the bride and groom leaving after the ceremony for a tour of the east. They will be at home to their friends in this city after December 15.

A pleasant social took place at St. Mark's school house on Wednesday evening being given for the benefit of the chapel mission under the auspices of St. Peter's guild. An admission price was charged at the rate of a penny for each birthday of the individual admitted, and a candy booth, fishing pond, and fortune telling helped to add to the fund provided by the entertainment. A ring was concealed in a cake and Miss Alice Kidwell was the lucky winner. The event was a success in all details.

On Wednesday night the marriage of Miss Annie K. Nelson and Walter N. Russell was consummated, the ceremony being performed at the residence of Mrs. Russell, 156 G street, by Elder E. R. Sloan. The rooms were prettily decorated, and an elaborate wedding supper followed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Harry Finch and Mr. Finch acted as best man. The bride wore a becoming gown of gray crepon with trimmings of white silk and lace, and carried bride roses. Mrs. Finch was gowned in black silk. Mr. and Mrs. Russell are well known and have a large circle of friends.

The marriage of Miss Eva Bees and Samuel Jones of Toano, Nev., took place at the home of Edward Bailey on Wednesday evening. Rev. Joel A. Smith performed the ceremony. Miss Essie Bailey, with whom the bride has been visiting for the past six months, was bridesmaid, and Mr. E. J. Bees acted as best man. The ceremony was followed by a wedding supper, the intimate friends of the couple being present.

Miss Maud Patrick entertained informally at cards last Wednesday, Miss Tillie Barton and Messrs. Joseph Tomtroff and Preston Cannon were awarded first prizes. Among the guests were Mesdames Ethel and Winnie Saville, Tillie Barton, Margaret Glade, Margie Young, Rachel Patrick, Louis Sloan and Belle Barton. Messrs. James Tomtroff, Lenoville Simmons, Tyler Young, Preston Cannon, Walter Alder and Frank Derrick.

Amongst the musical stars who will visit Salt Lake with the Grau Opera company early in December, is Miss Carrie Bridwell, a sister of Mrs. Kate Anderson, of this city. Miss Bridwell has exceptional musical gifts and has met with a wonderfully fortunate reception in her public career. The press accounts of her talent and beauty are flattering to the highest degree, and Salt Lake may well expect a treat in listening to her singing.

The pupils of the first intermediate class of the Twentieth ward Sunday school were given an enjoyable party last Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sharp at their home on E street. During the evening many amusing games were played and refreshments were also served. The following won prizes that were awarded to successful players in the games: Charles Hines, Archie Hunter, Robert Oswald and George Armstrong.

The teachers of the class, Mesdames Alice Evans and Angeline Holbrook, together with the Bishop and the Sunday school superintendency assisted Mr. and Mrs. Sharp.

Among the very successful dancing parties during the week was that given by the Latter-day Saints college. A large crowd of the present and former students assembled at Christensen's hall Thursday, November 15th, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of that institution. In place of hall decorations, each student wore the college colors, gold and blue. A large and good natured crowd was in evidence and all enjoyed a delightful time. The faculty pronounced it one of the most successful balls ever given by the college.

A very pretty home party was given by Miss Ollie Myers at her home in this city last Monday evening, in honor of Miss Bertha Chivarel. Both young ladies are members of the Opal club. The house decorations were in the club colors, purple and green, and were also the table settings and refreshments. Miss Chivarel has gone to make her home in Denver.

On Thursday, Miss Florence Simons of Center ward, and Richard McAllister of the Tenth ward, were united in mar-

YOUTH'S LONG PANTS.

The average youth is very particular about the style of his suit. More so than his father or older brother in many cases. It's a fact that many dealers fail to grasp—and the stocks they show prove that either they don't realize what the boys want or can't provide it at the prices they are willing to pay.

Our Youths' Suits are modeled after our young men's and have just as much style about them. We show a great variety of the newest patterns, made up in the noblest fashions.

YOUR BOY

Will undoubtedly enjoy being dressed in style, especially when to be well dressed costs no more than to be poorly clad. We point with pride to our Children and Youths' departments and request every parent to carefully inspect our lines of these goods.
