was much the same as Langton's. In answer to Attorney Rogers' question Carr said that he had read the newspaper accounts of the tragedy, and that that part which referred to him as a hoodlum fit him and hit pretty hard. He denied that he and his companions made up a story to tell in court. He was positive that Holmes only threw one rock and that he did not enter the Chinaman's lot. He had been to Poy's place once before to get a watermelon. Carr said that when the rock was thrown by Holmes he (Carr) ran be WAS would come out. He said that Holmes would come out. He said that Holmes was out of the direction of his home when at the Chinaman's,

Leo Jones testified that he and his ompanions, Holmes, Langton and Carr, were together near the Chinaman's place. He said that after the rock was thrown he heard a shot and ran all the way home. He said that Holmes was cursion manager for the Union Pacific and the Chicago & Northwestern, is in After he got home Langton and Carr came to his home and told him that Holmes had been shot and they all went to St. Mark's hospital for the ambul-ance. On cross-examination he said that they were out of the way of Holmes' residence when on the way to Poy's place. He said that he did not the defendant and had never seen

It Happened in a Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Oncario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bo tle of the remedy and after giving it fair trial if she did not find it wor the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her t buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very goo recommendation for the remedy." Th remedy owes its great popularity an extensive sale in a large measure to the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by its use. We have seen the frail infant when
