The Willing Workers—The First Baptist Willing Workers gave an en-tertainment last night, in the church that drew a large audience, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The program included two vocal solos by Mrs. Fred B. Jones, and two violin solos by Miss Alice Davies. Miss Alice Wolfgang was down on the program for two contraito solos, but unexpect-ed detention at choir rehearsal in the Muster Day Today—It is muster day today, at Fort Douglas, the first of the kind this year. The light is sidetracked somewhere this side of Omaha, the management says, and it is doubtful if it can be got here in time. An ef-fort was made to secure the ice plant searchlight, but was unsuccessful. Had the light been sent by express it would have come through without delay, but it weighs 500 pounds, and express charges on 500 pounds are rather high.

Funeral Tomorrow-Local stenog-raphers contributed enough money to bury Gertrude Lake, who suicided in the McCornick block Tuesday, and the funeral was set for tomorrow, with lo cal interment. But this morning, her relatives back east were located, and telegraphic communication is going on which may result in the body being shipped east for burial.

Beauchamp's Lecture—The lecture last night in the Y. M. C. A. by L. J. Ecauchamp was full of advice to take the sunny side through life; laugh away your troubles, pray away your cares. He remarked: "I know of one woman who is never happy unless she is unhappy. She has taken so many pills in her life time that all her joints are ball-bearing."

When the policies ran out, however, they were not renewed, all the insurance being placed with local agents in the town of Moscow, Idaho.

Out of The Hospital-The many friends of John W. Rigdon will be pleased to learn that that gentleman has recovered from his recent serious illness, and is fast gaining strength. The nature of his ailment was bronchitis, and the attack became so se-vere that it necessitated his going to a hospital to be taken care of. He speaks in the highest terms of the kind treatment received at the hands of the attending physicians, nurses and officials of the L. D. S. hospital, at which institution he spent several weeks.
