How to Scare Snakes.
A gentleman who recently returned from the western coast of Africa, tells two natives provide against the dangers of venomous snakes, which abound in those regions. "The Africans on the coast," he said, "are far more intelligent than those in the interior. Just south of the republic of Liberia there is a large and fertile region which extends for hundreds of miles into the interior and for many miles along the coast. Whenever it is deemed necessary to penetrate this vast morass, which abounds in snakes, the natives simply run the soles of their feet with garlic and oil. The scent of the garlic is too strong for the delicate stomachs of the reptiles, and they crawl away as fast as they are able. This insures almost absolute safety. The boystricter even hesitates to attack a man smelling of this odoriferous vegetable.
Another method is to smear the face with the same. Whenever I assure natives when they wish to sit to rest in the air with rods. The peculiar noise of the rod serves to inspire the serpents with terror, for they hasten away out of hearing of the sound."

LIFE'S JOURNEY.

As we speed out of youth's sunny station The track seems to shine in the light; But it suddenly shifts to a gloomy Or sinks into tunnels of night.
And the hearts that were brave in the morning Are filled with repining and fears As they pause at the portals of sorrow.
Or pass through the Valley of Tears.
But the road of this perilous journey The hand of the Master has made;
With all its discomforts and dangers,
We need not be sad or afraid.
Fathoms long from light into darkness, When plunging from gloom to despair, Wind out through the tunnels of midnight To fields that are blooming and fair.
Though the rocks and the shadows surround us, Though we catch not one glance of the day, Above us, fair cities are laughing And dipping white feet in some bay.
And always, eternal, forever, Down over the hills in the west,
The last and end of our journey, There lies the great station of rest.

'Tis the great central point of all railwaying All roads center here when they end; 'Tis the final resort of all tourists.
All rival lines meet here and blend.
All the roads, all mile books, all passes, If stolen or begged for or bought,
On whatever road or division, Will bring you at last to the spot.
If you pause at the City of Trouble Or wait in the Valley of Tears, Be patient, the train will move onward
All the roads, all mile books, all passes, Whatever the place is you seek for, Whatever your aim or your quest, You shall come at the last with rejoicing To the beautiful City of Rest.
You shall store all your baggage of worries,
You shall feel perfect peace in this realm.
You shall sail with old friends on fair waters,
With joy and delight at the helm.
You shall wander in cool, fragrant gardens,
With these who have loved you the best,
And the hopes that were lost in life's journey.
You will find in the City of Rest, ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

White Africans.
The statement contained in Rider Haggard's new novel, "Allan Quartermain," concerning the existence of white races in the interior of Africa, has received a most remarkable confirmation from the man who above all others is qualified to speak on the subject, says the New York World. Zebbi Pasha, the grand slave-king of central Africa, who the German traveler, Dr.
Schweinfurth, describes in 1871 as living in a place "where visitors were conducted through halls of state by richly-dressed attentive slaves, and where chained lions guarded the doors, and soldiers in mail armor waited for the entrance of the ruler," is now a prisoner in the British fortress of Gibraltar, whither he was deported from Egypt some years ago in consequence of his suspected complicity in the Sudan rebellion. Talking the other day to a correspondent about the slave con-tries on the White Nile, which are entirely savage, he remarked: "At Sakara and Bengheli, in the very heart of the slave country, there are tribes as white as Europeans, with long silky hair. The beards of the old men sometimes reach down to their feet.
Zebbi, in describing others of the black tribes, asserts that cannibals still prevail, and that many of the eat none but human flesh. "Men and women are sold in the markets by the pound, exactly as one sells mutton and beef. The old and fat are preferred.
Sometimes they are sold dead and cut up."

Tubes Made from Steel Rods.
At a recent meeting of the Physical Society, Berlin, the president, Prof.
Du Bois-Reymond, gave an account of a communication which had been made by Siemens at the last meeting of the Akademie der Wissenschaft. A steel tube 10 cm. long, with perfectly smooth external and internal surfaces and extremely uniform bore, whose walls are apparently of perfectly equal thickness at all points, was prepared by the following method, patented by Manner-mann in Bismarck. Two rollers, slightly conical toward their lower ends, are made to rotate in the same direction near each other; a red-hot cylinder of steel is then brought between these cylinders and is at once seized by the rotating cones and is driven upward. But the mass of steel does not emerge at the top as a solid, but in the form of the hollow steel tube which Siemens laid before the meeting. Prof.
Neesen gave the following explanation of this result: The rollers are heated to the properties of the glowing steel, the rotating rollers seize upon only the outer layer of the steel cylinder and force this upward, while at the same time the central parts of the cylinder remain behind. The result is thus exactly the same as is observed in the process of making glass tubes out of glass rods.

Is Life
Worth Living?

That depends upon the Liver, for if the Liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirits are depressed, a heavy weight exists all day long, with general despondency and the blues. The Liver is the housekeeper of the body; and a harmless,
simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not constipate afterwards or require constant taking,
does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Probing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. Have tried forty times before, but never found a better remedy, and none of them gave more than temporary relief, but the Regulator not only relieved but cured.

stockholders of the Utah and Salt Lake Canal Company, will be held at the office and place of its general business, 132 W. North Temple Street, Salt Lake City, on Saturday, October 1st, 1887, at 11 a. m.

There are several matters that should be considered by the stockholders, but the most important question is how shall what water of right belonging to the company be obtained and used for the purposes for which the canal was constructed for homes and for business and stock.

Worth Living?

That depends upon the
inactive the whole sys-
poor, head dull or aching,
gone, the spirits are depressed, a heavy weight
general despondency and
the housekeeper of the
body; and a harmless,
simple remedy that acts
like Nature, does not
require constant taking,
does not interfere with
business or pleasure during its use, makes Sim-
medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and
know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Probing Headache, it is the best medi-
remedy, and none of them gave more
than temporary relief, but the Regulator
not only relieved but cured.
