

SENATORS AND THE COMMITTEES

For Two Hours the Senate Discussed Question of Their Assignment.

NO DECISION ARRIVED AT.

Senator Teller Defended Mitchell of Oregon and Senator Lodge Defended Action of Senate in His Case.

Washington, Dec. 18.—Whether the senate is warranted in ignoring a senator convicted in the courts on a charge of misconduct and in not assigning him to places on standing committees, yet leaving his name on the senate roll, was discussed for two hours today by the senate and then dropped without a ruling on the question. Several senate leaders took up the subject. On account of the delicacy of the question the debate naturally was not as open as would be necessary for final determination of the matter.

Mr. Bailey raised the point by inquiring of Mr. Hale, when the latter presented the new list of standing committees, whether every senator had been provided with a place. Mr. Hale responded that every senator except Mr. Burton of Kansas had been given assignments, and that he had been left off the committees at his own request until the charges against him had been disposed of by the courts.

Mr. Bailey protested against any senator's name being kept on the roll unless he was given work to do, and argued that it was the duty of the senate to itself, and to the country to investigate the charges against Mr. Burton and determine whether he is entitled to a seat in the senate.

In response several senators called attention to the fact that Congress is following the precedent established by the English parliament in not taking cognizance of charges against a member until the charges had been determined in the courts. Messrs. Hale, Spooner, Lodge and Daniel were of this opinion.

Mr. Bailey, calling attention to the fact that there had been five senators indicted in the last ten years, all on charges involving that crimes had been committed for money, said the time had arrived when the senate should testify that this is "no place to come to make money dishonestly." He complained that senators who behave themselves were compelled to suffer for those who did not, through being subjected to ridicule and jest.

Counseling the philosophy of the attacks against attacks on the senate as a body, Mr. Daniel said that any person who would originate a plan to protect the senate against a rival test would be hailed as the greatest inventor of the age. He did not think the senate suffered by unjustifiable attacks by irresponsible persons.

Mr. Teller defended the late Senator Mitchell, saying that it would take more than the word of "a self-convicted thief, perjurer and forger" to convince him that Mr. Mitchell had committed a crime.

When the senate convened today Mr. Cullum was in his seat for the first time this session.

Mr. Allison reported a house joint resolution providing for adjournment of the senate from Dec. 21 to Jan. 4, which was adopted.

Senator Teller, protesting against the absence of Senator Burton's name from the committee lists, alluded to the late Senator Mitchell. He declared that Senator Mitchell, during his long service, had had many opportunities to enrich himself, but had gone to the grave penniless. Concluding, he declared vehemently:

"It will take more than the word of a self-convicted thief, perjurer and forger to convince me that the late senator from Oregon was guilty of the charge of which he was convicted."

Mr. Spooner said that Senator Burton had all the rights of a senator and was entitled to places on committees and that he had the right to be heard in great embarrassment my asking to be left off the committees. He thought Mr. Burton had acted very properly in absconding himself from the senate under the circumstances.

Mr. Spooner said Mr. Fulton was advised by senators not to announce the death of Senator Mitchell as there would be opposition to resolutions for eulogy.

Mr. Bailey said he was one of the senators who advised the Oregon senator. When a senator felt it was a delicacy which prevented him from appearing in the senate, he ought to resign. If vindicated of the charges against him, his constituents would give him a vindication also.

Mr. Lodge declared that there was no rule of the senate declaring that notice shall be taken of the death of a senator, and defended the action of the senate in its treatment of Senator Mitchell's death and of the committee on committees in its treatment of Senator Burton.

Senator Spooner agreed with many of the criticisms of the senate's procedure, and said that one man could relieve the senate of its embarrassing situation, and that man was Senator Burton himself. Mr. Spooner, therefore, defended the course of the committee. The case of Senator Dietrich of Nebraska had been referred to, and Mr. Spooner reviewed the case, saying that Senator Dietrich had not asked for vindication by the senate until after he had been cleared in the court.

He agreed that there was every reason for the senate to follow the English rule in relation to vacating the seat of a member charged with some offense, the conviction of which would disqualify him from membership. Mr. Hastings suggested to the mayor that the matter be called to the attention of the committee of Congress, which has charge of the erection of the statue. The mayor promised to look into the subject.

In reference to the McMonnies model, William Kilmord, adjutant of Gen. William Post, G. A. R. of Hoboken, declares that he has a picture of Gen. McClellan, taken during the Civil war, in which he is shown wearing a slouch hat, in a group with the general are Allen Pinkerton and President Lincoln. The picture, he says, was taken in front of Gen. McClellan's headquarters.

Spencer said that Senator Fulton conspired senators in regard to the procedure in the case of the death of his colleague and received advice which moved him not to make the usual announcement.

"If he had made the announcement," said Mr. Spooner, "it would have served to intensify tragedy and bring additional sorrow to those who loved John H. Mitchell, for it was known that there would be an opposition to the usual resolutions calling for eulogies."

The vice president interrupted the debate to lay before the senate the message from the house districting committee with the amendments of the senate on the canal appropriation bill. Mr. Allison moved that the senate insist upon the amendments and agree to the conference asked for. His motion was adopted, and Messrs. Allison, Hale and Teller were named as conferees.

Mr. Bailey complained against the senate having to wait for the tedious process of the courts to determine who shall sit in the senate. He referred to the relations of senators, saying: "You on that side may sometimes look upon us on this side (Democrats) as demagogues, and I know that we sometimes look upon you on that side as mere creatures of corporate greed, yet we all, in our sober moments, look upon one another as upright, honest men."

"In the last ten years there have been 10 indictments of senators, and all of the indictments implying that crimes have been committed for money. It is time the senate is testifying to the world that this is no place to come to make money dishonestly."

The resolution naming the committee was then adopted.

On motion of Mr. Gallinger the ship subsidy bill was taken up, which makes it the unfinished business before the senate. The senator said he did not propose to take up the bill until after the holidays.

The senate at 2:55 p. m. went into executive session and at 3:15 adjourned.

MOVEMENT FOR CHURCH FEDERATION IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Five hundred Chicago ministers have held a meeting to consider the first steps toward church federation in the city. No definite action was taken looking toward the exclusion of the Unitarian denomination which was barred on doctrinal grounds from the recent conference on church federation held in New York City, but the sentiment of the meeting was strongly in favor of exclusion.

Each of the speakers had been a delegate to the New York conference and each referred to the action of that conference in terms of utmost approbation. The conference was called by a joint committee representing the ministerial associations of the various denominations and the central department of the Young Men's Christian association.

Referring to the action of the conference Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal church said: "The conference has asserted its faith in our Lord and Savior. After the declaration had been made it was amended so as to declare a belief in the divine nature of Christ. This is an assertion of a great faith, however, is not in itself. It is our part now to work for the kind of a revelation in society that naturally follows the declaration of that faith. We have to bring a universal principle to a particular application and find out what that principle will do in a town like Chicago."

STATUE OF GEN McCLELLAN.
Representing Him as Wearing a Slouch Hat Said to be a Blunder.

New York, Dec. 18.—State Historian Hugh Hastings called on Mayor McClellan yesterday to talk over with him the alleged blunder in the design of the statue of the mayor's father, "Little Mac," which is to be erected in Washington. Gen. McClellan, in the model made by Frederick MacMonnies, wears a slouch hat. Members of the Loyal Legion assert that he never wore any such headgear while in the federal army. They want the model changed so that the general shall wear a fatigue cap.

Mr. Hastings suggested to the mayor that the matter be called to the attention of the committee of Congress, which has charge of the erection of the statue. The mayor promised to look into the subject.

In reference to the McMonnies model, William Kilmord, adjutant of Gen. William Post, G. A. R. of Hoboken, declares that he has a picture of Gen. McClellan, taken during the Civil war, in which he is shown wearing a slouch hat, in a group with the general are Allen Pinkerton and President Lincoln. The picture, he says, was taken in front of Gen. McClellan's headquarters.

JOYS OF MATERNITY

A WOMAN'S BEST HOPES REALIZED
Mrs. Potts Tells How Women Should Prepare for Motherhood

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to childless and lonely old age. Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to a displacement of the womb or lack of strength in the generative organs.

Mrs. Anna Potts

Frequent backache and distressing pains, accompanied by offensive discharges and generally by irregular and scanty menstruation indicate a displacement or nerve degeneration of the womb and surrounding organs.

The question that troubles women is how can a woman who has some female trouble bear healthy children? Mrs. Anna Potts, of 510 Park Avenue, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"My dear Mrs. Pinkham—During the early part of my married life I was delicate in health; both my husband and I were very anxious for a child to bless our home, but I had two miscarriages, and could not carry a child to maturity. A neighbor who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so and soon felt that I was growing stronger, my headaches and backaches left me. I had no more bearing-down pains, and felt like a new woman. Within a year I became the mother of a strong, healthy child, the joy of our home. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a splendid remedy, and I wish every woman who wants to become a mother would try it."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free to expectant or would-be mothers.
