

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, JULY 20, 1888.

Logan Temple.

The Logan Temple will close for renovation and repairs on Friday evening July 13th, 1888, and open on Monday August 13th, 1888.

M. W. MERRILL, Pres.

In the British Mission.

President John H. Kelson is released from presiding over the Newcastle Conference to return home.

It is anticipated that a company from Scandinavia will leave here on July 28th, and another from the British Mission on August 11th.—Millennial Star.

Attacked by an Eagle.

Mr. Samuel Davenport's two boys, aged 8 and 10 years, were attacked by an eagle on Thursday last, in the west part of town. The boys were playing in the field when the "king of birds" swooped down upon them and striking his talons into the hat of one of the boys, raised it from his head. The boys finally succeeded in driving the bird away.—Manti Sentinel.

Still Raiding.

At Richfield, Sevier County, on Tuesday night, deputy marshals made a raid for those accused of unlawful cohabitation, and arrested O. P. Borg and W. M. Peterson. Several other places were searched but the parties were not at home.

Niels Nielson, of Ephraim, Sanpete County, was arrested a few days ago for unlawful cohabitation, and placed under bonds to await the action of the grand jury.

Big Ones.

It will be remembered that the U. S. Fish Commissioner's car was wrecked on the C. P., near Mills City some days ago. It appears that the car had some monster turtles on board. The Winemucca Silver State says the men who were clearing away the wreck tied two ties to one of the monsters and it walked off with them without apparent difficulty. A man weighing over two hundred pounds got on the back of the turtle and it walked away with him. It wandered around in the sagebrush while the men were at work and returned to the car when called by a whistle.

Utah Pickles.

Tomorrow evening at half past eight, at the office of the Salt Lake and Fort Douglas Railway, a meeting will be held for the purpose of taking steps toward instituting an establishment for the manufacture of pickles. All who are interested in the subject have an invitation to be present. We favor the movement and every other having the increase of home industries in view. The vegetable materials for this product are raised in abundance and the vinegar produced by the Salt Lake Works is of a quality that is scarcely excelled anywhere. There is therefore nothing in the way of the establishment of a first-class pickle factory.

Read the Lesson.

Salt Lake has never before been so full of tramps as at the present time.

"How do you account for this fact?" was asked of a prominent Salt Laker. "I was unable to account for it," was the reply, "and so I asked an officer. His answer was that, having inquired of the scores who had come before him, they had in all cases either seen the advertising car, or else they had a chum, relative or acquaintance who had seen it, and so they came to Salt Lake. These are the kind of citizens it has brought us; the solid money men are laughing at our credulity and ignorance of business principles and stay at home."

The best way to advertise a city or territory is to do something at home worth noticing; to show that there is confidence in one's own schemes. If silver nuggets were lying around loose on the mountains it would scarcely be expected that an advertising delegation would be sent away asking people to come here and pick them up. There would be a scramble of local capitalists for the mineral. So with manufacturing and other paying schemes. Let us pick up our own gold and others will help us soon enough when they see that it really is gold.—Ogden Standard.

The Board of Equalization.

The Territorial Board of Equalization is still busy at its work of equalizing the assessment of property in the different counties of the Territory. That they are of the opinion that Utah County property is assessed at a lower figure, proportionately, than other counties, is apparent from the following extract from the Utah County court proceedings of Wednesday last, as appears in the Provo American:

"The probate judge presented a notice issued to the county court of Utah County from the Territorial board of equalization, citing them to appear by representative before the board July 28, then and there to resist the proposed increase of 25 per cent on real estate and 40 per cent on merchandise on the assessed value for 1888. The proposed increase of taxation was fully discussed by the members of the court, and the following named gentlemen were appointed a committee to appear before the Territorial board as representatives of the county:

Selectman Holdaway, County Attorney Thurman, A. O. Smoot, Jr., and W. H. Brown, who were instructed to obtain affidavits from business men and property holders of the county upon the matter."

From the Northwestern States.

Last evening Elder Morris E. Holmes, of Montpelier, Idaho, reached this city on his way home from the Northwestern States mission, where he has been engaged in preaching the Gospel. He left this city July 15, 1887, and was assigned to the Southern Illinois district, where he labored ten and a half months. He found the people there very hospitable. A few members were added to the Church, though there is not now much of a desire to investigate the doctrines of the Gospel. From Southern Illinois Elder Holmes was transferred to the Northern Indiana district, where he remained until his release to come home. The people there were generally kind to the Elders, but did not care to hear much about religion. Political excitement was running high, owing to the coming presidential campaign, and little else, except the desire to make money, seemed to be thought of or talked about by the people. Elder Holmes was released to return home owing to his being afflicted with rheumatism to the extent that he was unable to travel about his district. He deeply regretted the necessity for his return at the present time, as otherwise he was in excellent health, and was enjoying the spirit of his mission.

ELEVENTH ANNIVERSARY.

The Ladies' Meetings at Ogden Yesterday.

The organization of the Relief Society quarterly conferences in Weber Stake, by President Brigham Young, and his last speech to the Societies, upon that occasion, were yesterday commemorated by the Relief Societies and the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement associations of the Weber Stake. The meetings were held in the Tabernacle at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. The stand was covered with beautiful flowers, presenting a pleasant spectacle to those who participated in the feast at those meetings.

There were present on the stand, besides a goodly number of the officers of the Weber Stake, the following visiting brethren and sisters: Apostles F. D. Richards, and Heber J. Grant, Angus M. Cannon, S. W. Richards, Dr. Edward Isaacson, Presendia Kimball, Phoebe Beattie, Bathsheba Smith, Mary Ann Hyde, Elmina S. Taylor, Emeline B. Wells, Rachel Grant, Dr. Romania B. Pratt, Dr. E. S. Barney, Emily S. Richards, Sister Eardley, Maria W. Wilcox, Mary Ann Richards, Mary Freeze, Lydia Alder, Sisters Geo. Dunford and J. S. Tingey, Sarah Jane Cannon, of Salt Lake City, and Harriet Snow, Minnie Snow and Olivia Widerborg, of Box Elder.

The large tabernacle was crowded, it being difficult to seat the audience. An appreciation of the occasion was manifested by all, and when the morning session was called to order by President Jane S. Richards a quiet reign of silence followed. The object of the meeting and recalled the day when, eleven years ago, President Brigham Young occupied the stand for the last time in addressing the Relief Societies of Weber Stake.

President L. W. Shurtliff expressed his joy at mingling with the members of these societies which had accomplished so much since their organization, and encouraged the sisters in their well-appreciated labors.

Apostle F. D. Richards read a portion of the discourse delivered by President Young on the occasion which was now being commemorated.

Apostle Heber J. Grant addressed the vast congregation upon the principle of tithing. He spoke very forcibly and was listened to with the greatest attention.

Mrs. Presendia Kimball, Hon. D. H. Peery, and a number of ladies, followed with remarks upon the life of that great leader who piloted a persecuted people to a wilderness, which, through his wise counsels, the obedience of the people, and the rich blessings of God, has become an Eden, and a cheer to the Saints.

After this meeting a large number of the congregation repaired to the Third Ward meeting house. Here a pleasant surprise awaited them. The room was beautifully decorated with garlands made from evergreens and artificial roses. Above the stand was written in evergreens:

WEBER STAKE RELIEF SOCIETIES.
1888.

Highly elevated amid these inscriptions hung a large picture of President Young, and immediately below, the three portraits of the late Presidency of the Church.

In the south window, a scythe covered with evergreens and decorations, hung in open view. The decorations were the work of the Young Men's and Young Ladies' Associations of the Third Ward, who deserve great praise for the faithful labor and artistic taste displayed in the arrangement. The floor of the hall was covered with long smooth tables furnished by Counsellor Barnard White. These tables were spread with the choicest edibles and fruits brought by the societies of Ogden, a feast to which the officers and members of the societies throughout the county had been invited.

A time of the most excellent enjoyment was spent by one and all of the six or seven hundred who sat down to the loaded tables.

At 2 p. m. the afternoon meeting began. The Tabernacle was again well filled.

Among the many speakers who addressed the interested audience during the three hours' session was Dr. Edward Isaacson. He spoke clearly and earnestly upon the necessity of keeping the commandments of God, deploring the sad fact that among such a God-blessed people as the Saints, there were so many who failed to offer up their tithes and offerings, and attended their meetings, as had been indicated by the remarks of Apostle H. J. Grant.

Apostle F. D. Richards spoke of the good work the Relief Societies were doing. He regretted that the efforts of the brethren were not devoted as much as they should be to encouraging the sisters in their arduous labors. Blessings should be showered upon their heads. They not only partake with the brethren in every ordinance of the Gospel, but those who are companions to righteous men, who hold the priesthood, partake of that also, except the ordinations to the offices of the priesthood. The healing of the sick is not confined to the brethren alone, but to all who exercise faith. He also read a number of quotations from a sermon preached by Joseph Smith to the relief societies in Nauvoo, in April 1842.

He also spoke of the great help the sisters had been in the building of the Logan and Manti Temples, and gave some very encouraging statistics as to the actual amounts contributed by the Weber Stake Relief Societies. Over $1000 had been donated by them to the Deseret Hospital since its organization, and the Weber Stake stood second in their support of this admirable institution.

Mrs. Emeline B. Wells, Mary A. Freeze, Maria W. Wilcox, Romania B. Pratt, Bishop Edwin Stratford and others spoke in an encouraging strain to the sisters.

The meeting closed at 5 o'clock and the people departed feeling that they had enjoyed a feast that well paid them for their attendance. The visitors repaired to the ward meeting-house where they partook of lunch previous to departing for their homes. Mrs. Richards and her co-laborers deserve great credit for their diligent efforts, and for the well-matured arrangements which insured such a day of enjoyment to all who attended. All who contributed to make the occasion the success that it was, did so with such freedom as to make the whole proceedings unusually delightful. The day will long be remembered.—Ogden Standard.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, JULY 21, 1888.

A Student of Music.

Miss Daisy Woods, who has been studying music at the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, will reach her home in this city today. Professor Daniels of the Conservatory, under whom she has studied, and who visited this city some time since, spoke in the highest terms of the progress the young lady has made, and of her voice and dramatic ability. The many friends and relatives of the young lady here will be glad to welcome her back, and to witness an exhibition of her musical accomplishments.

New Pottery.

Bedson Eardley, Esq., is one of the pioneer earthenware manufacturers of Utah, and at one time Eardley Brothers' pottery was well known throughout the Territory. For a few years past the business has been stopped, but it has been recommenced by Mr. Eardley, his new pottery being situated at No. 412 south, First West Street, Seventh Ward. All those desiring earthenware will find the home made article first class, and Mr. Eardley is now prepared to fill all orders. Give him a trial, and sustain home industry.

Excursion to Europe and the East.

Messrs Spence and Rossiter are arranging for another excursion to leave this city about August 25th to Europe and the Eastern States. The fares will be about the same as they were on the May excursion. This will give parties an excellent opportunity to visit relatives and friends in the States at a reduced rate of fare. The tickets will be good to return any time within six months. For full particulars and rates apply or write to Spence and Rossiter, Box B., Salt Lake City, or to Messrs. Benton and Hedges, at the Union Ticket Office. These gentlemen have managed other excursions and have given unqualified satisfaction. The one they now propose will doubtless be as successful as its predecessors.

Accidents.

Charles Fauchet met with a painful accident this morning at N. Williams' sawmill, near the Provo River bridge. While occupied in shoveling sawdust from under the saw, the machinery, being in operation at the time, he got a little too close, and the saw caught his left thumb, almost severing it from the hand. He came to Dr. Simmons, who found it necessary to amputate the thumb at the first joint.

On Wednesday an accident occurred in mine No. 2 at Schofield to William Masters, a miner, while loading a car. Some earth fell on him, bruising his leg and back very badly.

On the following day another accident occurred at the same mine. Wm. Parmley, foreman of the mine, had one of his toes broken by one of the cars running over it. He was at the time helping one of the mine drivers when the accident occurred.—Provo Enquirer, July 20.

Mill Burned.

Night before last the Mills at West Jordan, in which Messrs. R. Morris Co. have been conducting the manufacture of woolen goods and flocks took fire and was consumed. The building was an L shaped structure, two stories high, the main portion being 80 and the minor part 70 feet long. About $5,000 worth of stock and materials were saved and the remainder, to the value of about $10,000, was destroyed, that being about the amount of loss to the firm. They had been negotiating to place the property under insurance, but the transaction, unfortunately for them, had not been consummated.

The building was almost entirely consumed. It is understood that the fire originated in the picking room, and probably was occasioned by the rapid revolutions of the machinery of that part of the establishment.

The firm who were conducting business in the building are by no means discouraged. They are arranging for the erection of a suitable structure and propose to go to work again at the earliest practicable date.

JOSEPH BARTON,

KAYSVILLE, July 20, 1888.

The Brown Case.

The application of Alex. Brown for discharge from custody was heard before Judge Zane today. Mr. Brown's term of thirty days' imprisonment for adultery expired yesterday. He had also been sentenced to pay the costs of the suit, amounting to $187.80. The law does not authorize the imposing of any fine, but Mr. Brown was held for the payment of the above sum. Subsequently he was released on depositing the amount in lieu of the imprisonment until the matter was determined. After hearing the case today, Judge Zane held that the court was authorized to impose the costs, though no fine could be entered, but that the marshal could not imprison a man for non-payment of the costs—these were to be collected by civil action.

Immediately upon this decision Assistant United States Attorney Clarke served an execution on the marshal covering the money deposited by Brown on condition of his release, so that when the latter applied for the return of his money, he was told that he could not get it for the reason given. He urged that the money was not his; it had been borrowed, and was only given as security pending the settlement of the dispute, and as the Marshal had no right to hold Mr. Brown, neither had he any right to keep the money given as security for his release. Mr. Clarke insisted that the execution should remain on the cash, and the matter will be brought before Judge Zane for adjudication.

Disastrous Fires in Sweden.

The telegraph has brought the intelligence that two beautiful cities, situated in the northern part of Sweden, Sundsvall and Umea, have been almost totally destroyed by fire on the same day.

Sundsvall was a very important place, with a population of more than 11,000. It was founded in 1624 by King Gustavus II, and has in the last century taken a leading part in the business transactions of Scandinavia.

The fire that has now laid the city in ashes commenced about noon June 23d. A hurricane raged at the time and made all efforts to extinguish the flames futile. The fire proceeded with terrible speed and seemed to "jump" long distances. About 5 o'clock p. m. three-fourths of the city was destroyed. The fire raged all night and in the morning of the next day almost the whole of the city was in ruins; 9,000 people were without a home, and the loss of property is estimated at 50 millions of "kronor."

Steps were instantly taken to relieve the sufferers. Assistance was received from Stockholm and other distant cities. The king went with a special train to the scene of the disaster, and he seemed very much moved when he came to the place and saw the fearful devastation. He did all he could to comfort and encourage the sufferers.

The fire broke out almost simultaneously in Umea. This place, consisted mostly of wooden houses, and about 8 o'clock in the evening the beautiful little place was no more. Three thousand persons were without homes and without anything to eat.

The two conflagrations are the largest that have ever occurred in Sweden. As soon as the intelligence reached other parts of the kingdom, deep sorrow seized all hearts and sympathy has been shown in various ways.

Deputies in Saupete.

FOUNTAIN GREEN, July 20, 1888.

Editor Deseret News:

Between nine and ten o'clock yesterday morning deputy Marshals, McLellan, Norrell and Bennett surrounded the dwelling house of Bishop Jorgason, of this place. James Jorgason, Jr., a young boy, had been watering his horses, and they haled him and wanted to know his name. He told them they would have to find that out. They said they had the authority to do so, and the boy wanted to see their papers. The boy had a revolver on him, and Deputy Norrell held a pistol to his face while McLellan disarmed him, and gave him a severe shaking, calling him foul names at the same time, and saying they would take him dead or alive. They wanted to put the boy in irons, but he told them he would go peacefully. They took him before U. S. Commissioner Jacob Johnson at Spring City. The complaint was that the boy had provided himself with firearms and obstructed the United States officers while on duty. He was held under $500 bonds to appear before the United States commissioner next Saturday, at 11 o'clock a. m. at Spring City. The officers failed to tell what and who they wanted. They never offered to search the house, hence there could be no obstruction. Probably they thought that young Jorgason had provided himself with firearms for their benefit. If this is the case they are mistaken. His avocation is herding stock, in the mountains, and he carries firearms for his own protection. He is a peaceable young man, and is well respected here. The officers treated him kindly enough after his arrest.

Respectfully,
A NEIGHBOR.

Weber County Notes.

Sickness prevails in Harrisville. All jubilees or celebrations will be stopped on this occasion.

Miss Burns, of Uintah, had a painful felon cut and lanced by Dr. Powers yesterday. She is now feeling comfortable.

Mr. J. Q. Adams, of Chicago, agent for the U. S. Literary and Scientific Association, is in the city. He is offering membership in the association, to the residents of Ogden.

A company of 75 soldiers in charge of First Lieutenant George Kinzie, of the 10th Infantry, arrived last evening from the Columbus barracks, Ohio. Twelve of them went to Salt Lake, the others to Santa Barbara, last night.

Thursday night some parties obtained entrance through the south window of the bar-room at the Ogden brewery and took an inventory of the
