SUDDEN DEATH OF ALFRED L. WATTS.

Found in Death's Embrace in Bed—Taken Off by Convulsions.

MR. KERR LAID TO REST.

The burial of Frank W. Jenne—Two Friends of Huntsville Pass Away—Howard Hall Injured.

Alfred Watts, the well-known Twentieth street blacksmith, was shocked yesterday morning on entering his bedroom on finding his wife lying dead in his bed, face upward, death being from convulsions from which he had suffered most of his life.

At 6 o'clock in the morning the young man's mother heard him close down the window and at 6 o'clock he was cold and dead. His parents were greatly shocked at his sudden taking away, as he was apparently in good health when he retired Saturday night.

The young man was born in Salt Lake City 22 years ago. He remains here, being shipped to Salt Lake City this morning by Larkin & Son, where services will be held Tuesday.

G. M. KERR LAID TO REST.

The last rites over the mortal remains of Depotmaster George M. Kerr were performed yesterday afternoon, when his body was laid to rest in the new lot in the family burial ground in the Ogden City cemetery.

During the morning his body lay in state and was viewed by a large number of friends and associates, and many expressions of deepest sorrow at his demise were uttered.

The funeral services over his remains were held at the Ogden tabernacle, commencing at 2 o'clock. Bishop E. T. Woolley of the Fourth ward officiating. The opening hymn was, "Oft when I have called to leave you." Prayer was pronounced by Elder Joseph Hall. The service was sung by Miss Wells, Bishop and choir. The first speaker was Hon. Joseph Stanford, who very fittingly eulogized the useful life of the deceased, and his kindly and noble character. A duet was beautifully sung by Mrs. Mary Farley and Orson Griffin. Bishop Woolley spoke of the excellent life of the deceased, of his good example in punctuality, and the doing of his duty.

BURIAL OF FRANK W. JENNE.

Frank W. Jenne, who died so suddenly Thursday morning, was laid to rest in the family burial plot at the home of his father on Second street. Bishop George Smuin presiding. Several of the best musical selections were rendered by a trio of young ladies. Bishop Hall and Elder Charles Wright were the speakers. Their words of eulogy

TOUCHING SCENE IN COURT.

In Wilcox Divorce Settlement—John Andrews Jailed on Serious Offense.

Special Correspondence.

Logan, Cache Co., July 9.—The trial of John Andrews, the young man who was arrested yesterday, charged with criminal assault upon the person of Alice Naylor Thursday night, has been set for Wednesday next. In the meantime young Andrews languishes in the county jail, not having been successful in raising the necessary bond.

The case of Wilcox vs. Wilcox, which has occupied the attention of the district court for several days, closed last night. The custody of the child being awarded to the mother temporarily, and providing for $6 per month to be paid to her for its care. During the afternoon session, Mr. Wilcox was allowed to make a brief statement to the court of the difficulty existing between himself and wife over the disposition of the children. He ardently took advantage of the occasion to make a plea for the retention of the little boy, and did it in such a masterly manner that he brought tears to the eyes of every person present. The sheriff bowed his head while he wiped away the briny tears, and the lawyers sought the windows and doors to inspect the landscape outside, occasionally drawing their coats over their faces, and the judge's face relaxed something of its accustomed sternness, and his voice trembled as he asked the defendant to take a seat. Altogether it was the most touching incident yet recorded in this court.

PEDAGOGUES ENTERTAINED.

The Brigham Young college faculty entertained the students of the Deseret Summer institute and a few friends last night. The exercises consisted of a short program in the auditorium and music, dancing and games on the lawn. The principal features of the program were: Music by the orchestra, recitation, Prof. A. N. Merrill; address of welcome, Mayor Robinson; piano solo, Miss Allen; reply to address of welcome, Prof. Hickman of B. Y. U.; recitation, President Christensen, Ricks academy, Rexburg, Ida.; solo, M. J. Ballard; song, Prof. Eastman; toast, "The Teacher," Prof. Horne of the L. D. S. U.

HOWARD HALL INJURED.

Howard Hall, while making a balloon ascension from Utah park about 8:30 Saturday evening received quite serious injuries, which included dislocation of an wrist and a bad shaking up. His balloon ran amuck, caught in the electric light wires and temporarily put a number of the lights out of business. Hall started to ascend about 7 o'clock, did not get the bag sufficiently inflated, and put off the ascent for an hour and a half. When the balloon was released and got up into the air the aeronaut began to perform on the trapeze. Almost immediately, however, the ponderous bag began to descend. The car struck electric light wires on the east side of Washington avenue and was thrown out from his position and fell heavily to the pavement. The balloon drifted across the street and became entangled in some live wires, causing a lively electrical display for a short time, when it broke loose and drifted about two blocks southwest, released and fell to the ground. His injuries will not prove fatal.

SUCCESS OF DRY FARMING.

In Tooele County Demonstrated—Excursion to State Arid Farm.

Grantsville, Tooele Co., July 9.—More than 250 persons, from various towns of Tooele county, had an opportunity yesterday of inspecting the work done on the Tooele county arid farm, conducted under the direction of the Utah Experiment station. Representative farmers, with their families came from every part of Tooele county, and went over the 100 plots into which the 40 acre farm is divided.

The wheat and oats are just beginning to ripen and give evidence of giving an extra large yield for dry farming. The sugar beets, corn, speltz, millet, velvet beans, Kaffir corn and dwarf Essex rape are all looking thrifty and vigorous and give every promise of a good crop. Especially promising was a plot of sand wheat which now stands about 18 inches high.

Before harvesting samples will be taken from each of the plots for exhibit at the state fair this fall.

Leon Inlay, the local foreman in charge, had constructed a bower 40 feet square and had on hand, also, a number of gallons of ice loaned for refreshments.

After lunch Prof. L. A. Merrill, agronomist of the Utah Agricultural Experiment station at Logan, explained the work of the farm, giving reasons for the success or failure of the various plots. The principles upon which successful dry farming is based were explained and the farmers encouraged to adopt these methods and utilize the waste deserts of Tooele county. Prof. Merrill also urged the importance of organizing local county farmers' institutes to promote better agricultural methods and practices.

Among the leading citizens present were County Commissioners Hyndale and Powell, Representative Spry, Bishop Wrathall, County Surveyor Stookey, Bishop Stookey, John Tate, R. D. Woolley, Arnot Hale, Mr. Droubay and others.

This is the first time anything of the kind has ever been held in this county, and its success will encourage similar excursions in future years. By seeing

PAROWAN.

Excursion to State Experiment Farm—The Fourth July Kept.

Special Correspondence.

Parowan, Iron Co., July 9.—The Fourth of July was fittingly celebrated at this place, the program consisted of sports from 9 o'clock until 11 a. m., when a rousing meeting was held. Julius Taylor, the youthful orator, delivering a masterly oration. Mette Durham sang the "Star Spangled Banner." Nellie Marden, as Utah, delivered an appropriate speech. James L. Adams, as Uncle Sam, made a deplorable speech. Dan B. Trantzer, Silver City, president—J. C. Braman, Robinson, president—David A. Dupes, Diamond president—John W. Green.

More interest was evinced in school affairs than in the non-partisan primary election, which was held at Parowan. Thompson than has been usual for several years in Eureka. It was agreed that two candidates should be chosen, the honor to go to the two receiving the highest number of votes on the first ballot, which resulted in the election of Mrs. George Adams and Thomas Adamson.

NEPHI.

SUCCESS OF DRY FARMING.

Demonstrated at Juab Experiment Farm—Dr. Widtsoe Talks to Farmers.

Nephi, Juab Co., July 9.—Yesterday was the most profitable day ever spent by the farmers of this county, says the Tribune correspondent. More than 30 persons gathered at the experiment farm just south of this place to hear Dr. John A. Widtsoe and Prof. William Jardine of the Agriculture college at Logan explain the results of the different experiments at the new farm.

This farm, with five others in different sections of the state, was located by the state about one year ago for the purpose of determining whether crops could be grown without irrigation on the tract of land known as the dry ridge, situated between this city and the town of Levan, about 12 miles south, embracing nearly a thousand acres of the most arid land in the state.

At 11:40 a. m. Dr. Widtsoe in an open carriage was driven by President Park over the entire farm, stopping to name the kind of grain on each plot, and to explain the depth and time of seeding and the various conditions under which the grains were planted and cultivated.

Dr. Widtsoe said that the officers of the experiment station should know that anything could be grown on this soil; that the farm, which covers a tract of 40 acres, and is subdivided into 100 different plots, represented so many question marks, and that this year's work has resulted in the answering by nature of at least 160 questions.

The doctor pointed with pride to the growing crops about the farm and said that while the experiment was yet in its tion, Jo Sherwood, Mollie Forgie, Marie Hutchins, Ella Juab, and Rose Jones held an informal meeting. Each was provided with a quilt, rawhide or similar implement. A scout reported that McKean was calling on Miss Pratt, the daughter of the San Pedro station agent. The party walked quietly through the darkness to the Pratt residence and found the object of their search sitting on the porch.

One of the attacking party called to him to come out as they wanted to speak to him. Mr. Kean replied that he was engaged. Thereupon the seven girls surrounded him, dragged him from his chair, threw him down on the porch and began to thrash him. Miss Pratt stood by, screaming at the top of her voice. Her mother, drawn by the sound, attempted to rescue the young man, but was unceremoniously pushed aside.

After the castigation and when the blood had been washed from the cuts in McKean's face, he, in company with Mr. Pratt, went to the house of the town marshal, but that functionary happened to be very busy in a remote part of the settlement. Application was then made to Justice of the Peace Kizer for warrants on the charge of assault, but the judge persuaded the complainants to think the matter over.

"We all had grievances against McKean," said one of the young women of the horsewhipping party today. "He had been scandalizing all of us and we decided to give him a lesson. Why, one young lady felt so bad over the way he talked about her that she moved away from town."

Mr. McKean left this morning, and his side of the story could not be secured.

Nephi, Juab Co., July 9.—Yesterday was the most profitable day ever spent by the farmers of this county, says the Tribune correspondent. More than 30 persons gathered at the experiment farm just south of this place to hear Dr. John A. Widtsoe and Prof. William Jardine of the Agriculture college at Logan explain the results of the different experiments at the new farm.

This farm, with five others in different sections of the state, was located by the state about one year ago for the purpose of determining whether crops could be grown without irrigation on the tract of land known as the dry ridge, situated between this city and the town of Levan, about 12 miles south, embracing nearly a thousand acres of the most arid land in the state.

The doctor pointed with pride to the growing crops about the farm and said that while the experiment was yet in its infancy and the management has labored under great disadvantages during the first year's work, the fact has been demonstrated that man can master nature, and that the thrifty crops can be grown on the most unpromising soil when a knowledge of the natural sciences is applied in farm practice.

In the course of his lecture, valuable hints were dropped on the formation and classification of soils with reference to their fertility, and the conditions of fertility and the circumstances that influence it, and methods by which the original soil fertility may be maintained. The constituents of plants, sources and action of the various elements of plant food, the selection of crops for this particular soil, the value of and the correct manner of summer fallowing, and the habits and growth of different farm crops were discussed at considerable length.

Dr. Widtsoe expressed himself at different times as highly elated with the result of the first year's work, and as especially pleased with the services of Stephen Rowell, the foreman at this place, one of the best in the state. He also complimented the citizens for the interest manifested in their agriculture, and the conditions of conveyance to the farm for all who desired to attend.

At the close of the day's work at 4 p. m. a vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Widtsoe and his assistants.

A rousing audience also greeted the speakers of the tabernacle during the evening, when the subject of arid farming was discussed.

PINTO.

FOURTH DULY CELEBRATED.

Industries Inactive and Times Dull—Crops Look Well.

Special Correspondence.

Pinto, Washington Co., July 4.—The slumber of the good people of our little village were disturbed about 5 a. m. by report of giant powder, and the Stars and Stripes were hoisted on the liberty pole by Capt. Joseph Platt. The string band was soon out on the street serenading the citizens; at 10 a. m. the citizens assembled at the meetinghouse, where a nice program was rendered. A children's party was given at 3 p. m., and the day closed with a ball for the older people.

Times are very dull here, and money hard to get. Work on the iron mines closed down early in the spring, and there have been no cattle sales this year, which causes a scarcity of money. The crops look well. Hay harvest has commenced, and the crop of alfalfa has been gathered in in good condition.

BOISE, IDAHO.

VICTIMS OF STRANGE POISON.

Four Dead and the Fifth May Recover—Case baffles Physicians.

Boise, Idaho, July 10.—Four victims are dead and a fifth is suffering acutely as the supposed result of eating food impregnated with poison, says a special dispatch to the Herald. The fatalities occurred at Larson's camp, near Resort, where Andrew Larson, L. C. Driggs and his son, Charles Driggs, Mr. Mason and Mr. Syper were at work on Larson's mine. Syper was taken ill about three weeks ago. He appeared to be suffering from a peculiar malady which has not been diagnosed. Medical aid was secured but the patient continued to grow worse and died in great agony.

COULD NOT BE SAVED.

Meanwhile Andrew Larson was stricken. His symptoms were similar to those of Syper. Everything possible was done to relieve him but without avail. His demise occurred on June 26.

While Andrew Larson was battling with death the mysterious ailment fastened upon the elder Driggs who was prostrated in precisely the same manner as Syper and Larson. He lingered for two days and followed his companions to the grave. During the period when L. C. Driggs lay on his death bed his son, Charles, betrayed symptoms of the fatal malady. Every available remedy was tested without success, and young Driggs expired within 48 hours of his father's demise.

THE LAST VICTIM.

When Mason was taken ill his friends were greatly alarmed, fearing he too would succumb to the mysterious visitation. He was taken to Hot Springs where he rallied and is now greatly improved though still suffering.

Dr. Blake, a physician who is interested in mining properties in the district, examined the food of which the victims had partaken and expressed the belief that it contained poison obtained from a South American plant. This poison, it is said, works slowly but is usually fatal. How it came to be in the food is a mystery which the friends of the deceased are now trying to fathom.

The stomach of the elder Driggs was removed and sent to Boise for chemical analysis, together with a quantity of the food which he had eaten. It was found that the necessary tests could not be made here. Neither can they be made in Moscow and it is now intended that a chemist in Portland or some other city shall make the analysis.

IONA, IDAHO.

HONORED THE FOURTH

And Will Celebrate Utah Pioneer Day—Crops Look Well.

Special Correspondence.

Iona, Bingham Co., July 5.—The Fourth was duly celebrated here, with the firing of salutes, a superb procession at 10 a. m., following by a patriotic program of speeches, songs and sentimental music from the camp school. Sports and amusements and the day wound up with a grand ball.
