EDITORIAL NOTES.

Eighteen hundred and ninety business failures occurred in the Canadian dominion last year, the liabilities amounting in the aggregate to $25,500,000.

During the past year the State debt of New York has been reduced $12,000,000. This is under a Democratic administration. The State still owes $11,000,000 with a good prospect of its entire liquidation.

Kangaroos and rabbits are ravaging the interior of the Australian colonies, and especially in Queensland are committing such depredations that the settlers are organizing for their destruction. As many as a thousand kangaroos have been killed in a single day. The skins make excellent leather.

California is jubilant over the splendid rainfall which has raised its crop prospects for '78 at least 50 per cent. Our small droppings though not of much apparent utility will prove beneficial in future. The wet has soaked down into the bosom of mother earth, and a deposit has been made in the moisture bank which will come down in season in the summer. "Every little helps."

The Evangelical Church in Prussia has a system by which matrimonial difficulties can be arbitrated by the local clergy with a view to prevent divorce. From a report of its workings in eight provinces, it appears that in 8,839 cases referred during last year 3,228 were settled satisfactorily without a rupture of domestic union, and the balance, 5,613 were failures. "Blessed are the peacemakers," even if they are not always successful in their labors of love.

Viscount Hinton, son of Earl Poulett, who married a ballet girl, is an actor and singer of limited ability. He is so reduced in circumstances and position that he is now singing comic songs, with his wife, under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Cosman, at a music hall where smoking and beer drinking are allowed. He recently acted as clown at the Surrey Theatre. Genteel occupation for one of the British aristocracy.

The sale of pews in Plymouth Church, by auction, which occurs annually, showed this year a considerable falling off in the figures. In 1875 the total realized was $70,319.50; in 1876, $63,880; in 1877, $36,929. The highest price for first choice was $505. Mr. Beecher voluntarily placed one-fourth of his salary at the disposal of the church. This was accepted, thus virtually reducing his pay for preaching from $20,000 to $15,000 per annum. During last year the cost for supplying his pulpit when absent was $925. To party at least this amount the preacher paid $425. It is supposed he will be able, with sundry other sources of income, to worry along with the balance.

Mr. Rosewater of the Omaha Bee, has again become the victim of a violent assault. The editor having published some accounts on the conduct of a big man named Nicholas, who had represented himself as an agent of the U. P. Company, the officials of which denied his authority, Nicholas thrashed him down, pounded him severely and threatened to kill him. In falling against a safe Mr. Rosewater received a severe gash over the eye. He had to be conveyed to his home in a carriage. That editor will have to be more cautious, or foul assaults will have to be more severely punished in Omaha, or the Bee proprietor will have to go around with a guard.

LATEST WAR NEWS.

THE announcement, as appears on our dispatches to-day, that Lord Beaconsfield makes demands to which Turkey cannot concede, that Porte will unfurl the flag of the Prophet and permit the British fleet to pass the Dardanelles, if it proves to be official will cause great excitement.

The unfurling of the sacred flag means the inauguration of a holy war, in which all Mohammedans will feel constrained from religious motives to take a part, in defence of their faith and the maintenance of the power of the Sultan, their representative. Millions in Asia would flock to this banner and support and defend it to the death.

The passage of the Dardanelles by the British fleet would be a violation of the treaty of Paris and would be the signal of war between England and Russia, in which other Powers would soon be compelled to take part. A British fleet in the Black Sea could commit great havoc on Russian ports, and troops could be landed which might turn the tide of war now threatening to overwhelm Adrianople and ultimately the Turkish capital.

The negotiations are to take place between Adrianople and Philippopolis which are about 100 miles apart. The latter place has been burned by Suleiman Pasha, and the desperate Turks seem determined that nothing shall fall into the hands of the invader that they can either defend or destroy. The war goes on.

THE LICENSE OF THE PRESS.

SENATOR Pierson's bill in relation to libel has passed the California Senate. Its object is to check the stream of personal abuse which flows from a certain portion of the press of that State and particularly of San Francisco. Measures of this kind are sadly needed in other portions of the Union besides the Golden State.

The license of the press in this country is a disgrace to the nation. Freedom of speech and of the press is one of the principles of American liberty dear to every progressive mind. There should be no fetters to bind the free expression of thought on any subject affecting the welfare of humanity. What may be spoken with propriety may, ordinarily, be printed with propriety. And nothing that one man could not and should not say to another ought to be put into type and published to the world.

There is a great deal of cowardice in that apparent courage with which some newspaper writers attack the private character of public officials. They stab with the keenest of weapons at unarmed and comparatively defenceless persons. Retaliation in the same degree is almost impossible. Any contest is entirely unequal. The newspaper assailant has all the advantages on his side. Even if the laws against libel are appealed to, the assailed victim has small chance of redress, because the average jurymen or judge is scared by the idea of interference with the freedom of the press.

The infamous attacks on private character indulged in by a great many newspaper scribes are actuated by no good motives. When public men are assailed it is generally pretended that the public welfare is the object in view. But this generally has no foundation in truth. The aim is to sell papers. The public appetite craves sensational food. That appetite has been created by these manufacturers of libel. Scandal is called "spice" and attacks on reputation "lively reading." And unprincipled journalists pander to this depraved public taste, which they have chiefly helped to arouse, for the patriotic and worthy purpose of making money. And the excuse offered for assailing public men and laying bare their private affairs to the gaze of the multitude cannot be alleged in the case of ladies and gentlemen who though well known are not in an official position. Yet there are papers which make a specialty of opening their domestic affairs and ventilating matters with which the public have nothing whatever to do, and when no actual materials are at hand, of inventing the most scandalous falsehoods, often too prurient for respectable persons to answer or notice in any way.

All this is entirely foreign to the idea contained in the constitutional provision for the freedom of the press. It is running to such lengths that unless it is stopped by legal methods, violence and bloodshed are likely to be the consequence. There is no proper redress in such cases. Resort to the law is so expensive and uncertain, that few persons have the means and the temerity to attempt a defence of reputation and the punishment of the slanderer in the courts, and if they succeed its vindicating character it is at the risk of the ruin of fortune. To reply in the public prints keeps up the controversy, makes the libel more wide-spread and accomplishes what the character assassin aims at—the selling of more papers.

The legislators of this country should take this matter in hand. Private character should be legally protected from the murderous assaults of literary bravos. Public acts of public men should be ventilated and discussed, and the official course of the servants of the people commented on and praised or condemned according to their actual doings. But false accusations wilfully fanned to injure should be made easily punishable by law, and the penalties should be heavy for those infamous assaults on private character which are foul stains on a great portion of the American press.

Mr. Pierson's bill, though not fully equal to present requirements, is a step in the right direction, and we hope to see an interest aroused on this matter in every State and Territory in the Union; for, a depraved and licentious press is one of the most powerful engines for general debauchment and final national destruction.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 18.—Voorhees, by request, introduced a bill for reviving and continuing the Court of Commissioners of Alabama claims and for the distribution of the unappropriated moneys of the Geneva award; referred to the committee on judiciary.

Conkling presented several petitions of citizens of Albany, N. Y., remonstrating against the passage of the Bland silver bill. Laid on the table, a bill having been reported to the Senate. In presenting the memorials, he said they were signed by men representing not only money and property but enterprise also, and they expressed the opinion that the passage of the bill would be prejudicial to the honor and credit of the government. He also presented a memorial of the Albany board of trade against the passage of that bill; laid on the table.

At the expiration of the morning hour the Senate resumed consideration of the unfinished business, being the resolution of Matthews declaring the right of government to pay interest and principal of bonds in silver.

EASTERN.

The Indian Ring Investigation.

NEW YORK, 18.—The Tribune's dispatch from the Washington correspondent describes the features of the recent investigation into the Indian bureau, of which ex-Commissioner Smith and chief clerk Galpin complain. It appears that the accused men were not allowed to know the charges brought against them, nor to be heard in their own defence, Galpin being forbidden, in fact, to enter the department. Yet the board of inquiry complained that it was not assisted in its investigation by these officials. The members of the board were prejudiced in advance, and the conclusions they came to, after secret inquiry, was published to the world without being accompanied by the defence of Galpin and Smith. A letter has been received from President Seelye showing the unfairness with which Galpin was treated.

Meeting of Italians.

BOSTON, 18.—The Italian residents of this city, in Faneuil Hall, last evening, testified their regret at the death of Victor Emanuel. The honorary vice-presidents included Gov. Rice, Mayor Pierce, Collector Simmons.

Fatal Accident.

CINCINNATI, 18.—A skiff containing a party of boys, was drawn over a dam in Symmes Creek, near Huntington, West Virginia, last evening, drowning Washington Russell, Spencer Mitchell, Walter Goodall and Jesse Ingham.

WESTERN.

The Threatened Hostilities Stopped.

SAN FRANCISCO, 18.—A Virginia City dispatch says: The threatened hostilities at the Alta and Justice mines were stopped by the Miners' Union, which visited both mines in a body, ordered the miners to quit work on disputed ground, and disarmed and removed the hired fighters.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Delay in Transmitting the Armistice Conditions.

LONDON, 18.—The blue book is published, giving the documents relating to English mediation. The documents show that the delay in transmitting the armistice conditions from St. Petersburg, arose from their being sent by messenger instead of by telegraph. Earl Derby, upon being informed of this, on the 11th inst., wrote to Lord Loftus, the British minister at St. Petersburg, that her Majesty's government thinks it is to be regretted that when Prince Gortschakoff informed you that instructions had been sent to the Russian commanders, that he did not explain the delay that would be caused by means of transmission. The closing dispatch of the blue book is from Minister Layard, dated Monday, announcing that a Russian parliamentaire had appeared at Sornasoudiar, announcing the suspension of hostilities in Bulgaria.

Suleiman Pasha at Philippopolis.

A Russian official dispatch, dated Kezanlik, 16th, says: A reconnoitering party of dragoons has brought information that Suleiman Pasha is at Philippopolis, and has given orders to burn every thing. Tatar Bazardjik and Philippopolis are reported burned. Intelligence from the Danube says the flow of ice continues and communication is most difficult.

Ministerial Crisis.

A special from Athens says there is a ministerial crisis there.

The Flag of the Prophet.

It is reported from Constantinople that should armistice negotiations fail, the Porte will unfurl the flag of the prophet or permit the English fleet to pass the Dardanelles.

Preparing to Evacuate.

A Vienna correspondent telegraphs that the Porte has abandoned the hope of Suleiman Pasha being able to reach Adrianople, and the Turks are preparing to evacuate.

Army and Navy Estimates.

The Post says it is able to state that the British army and navy estimates have been framed on a peace footing, and will be presented at the earliest possible moment.

The British Fleet.

A correspondent at Pera says it is understood that the British fleet is preparing to leave Vourla for Besika Bay.

Nicholas and the Peace Delegates.

The Grand Duke Nicholas telegraphed on Wednesday that he would meet the Turkish peace delegates between Adrianople and Philippopolis. The delegates would probably arrive at Tirnova, near Hermanli, last night, in which case the negotiations will begin to-day.

No News from Suleiman Pasha.

No news has been received from Suleiman Pasha. Harmanli, where the Russian troops are said to have arrived, is an important point on his line to Adrianople. If the Russians have gained that point before him, he not only has General Gourka's pursuing force to beat back but will be taken on the flank by the column from Eski Saghra, while the force at Harmanli stands directly in front. Suleiman's force includes a division from Bulgaria, garrisons of Sofia, and other towns, and Chakir Pasha's army from Kamarli. All, however, are weakened by the heavy retreat and encounters with their pursuers.

Stocks—Silver.

Silver 53¼d. per ounce.

Consols 96 5-16; bonds 4's 104¼; 67's 104½; ten-forties 106½; new 5's 105¼.

Bullion Withdrawn.

Bullion withdrawn from Bank of England on balance to-day is £200,000.

Bennett Buys a Steam Yacht.

The arctic steam yacht Pandora has been bought by James Gordon Bennett, and is to be used for another arctic expedition.

GERMANY.

Specie Increase.

BERLIN, 10.—The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows an increase in specie of 7,200,000 marks.

TURKEY.

Suleiman Pasha's Army.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 18.—The report that Suleiman Pasha had broken through the enemy's lines and arrived near Adrianople is premature. Nothing is known of the position of Suleiman's army.

Defense of Constantinople.

The cabinet council, to-day, deliberated upon the measures for the defense of Constantinople.

Escort for the Peace Delegates.

Two squadrons of Cossacks have arrived at Tirnova Semenil to escort the Turkish peace delegates to Kezanlik. The Turkish commandant at the former place believed that an attack was intended and blew up the railway bridge.

A DEACON'S NOTE.—As a good deacon of one of the city churches was circulating the contribution box yesterday, an old, faded piece of paper was laid in it by a prominent member of the congregation, at which the deacon started in astonishment. It proved to be the nearly outlawed note of the deacon for $30 and interest, which the holder, unable to collect, had turned into the treasury of the Lord.—Washington Post.

Correspondence.

Brigham City Factory—The Co-operative System—Employment for All.

BRIGHAM CITY,
January 10, 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

The work of rebuilding the woolen factory, that was demolished by the fire fiend, is prosecuted with energy and zeal. The bricks and other materials to complete the walls are on hand waiting the action of the masons, a force of whom will commence work as soon as it may be advisable on account of the weather. The whole amount of lumber required will also be on hand within a short time, and the directors are planning constantly to raise the cash to procure the machinery, which will require strenuous efforts. The wool required for a new start is growing on our sheep in great abundance.

Much has been said about the workings of the system of co-operation in Brigham City; perhaps in laudation the picture has sometimes been overdrawn. On the other hand the enemies of such a system may have been built up in their imagination through the misrepresentations of a few individuals, some of whom owe their property, comforts and actual existence alone to the co-operative institution. When ingratitude ceases to exist in any place, human nature will take a new departure and cease to be like itself. Not a few years have witnessed the eminent success and beneficial results arising from this system in our midst, the public improvements made, stand as living monuments to testify of it. Many families who have struggled for an existence in different places have found employment here to correspond with their capacity, whereby they have secured homes, comforts and partial independence. Employment has not been lacking for the emigrant; the same benefits have descended upon the lame and the aged, like the gentle dewdrops from heaven, who, when they cease to be dependent on others, become more or less useful in the general cause of society and a consistent equality prevails. The young people need not go abroad to work, they can stay at home and be under good moral influences, and have good opportunities for education, physical and mental culture, and a healthy tone prevails. It is a well-approved fact that abundance of labor can be created by manufacturing from the rude elements all articles, as far as possible, needed for consumption and use at home, and where there is plenty to do for all hands, prosperity is a natural consequence.

Nothing could be more absurd than to assert that there is individual speculation in the premises; our interests are so interwoven and blended together that when one suffers all suffer, and when one prospers all prosper. The chief leaders in the movement have shown a worthy example, by staking their means in such enterprise for the common benefit of all before requiring others to do so. While men in general have taken stock in the general institution to the extent of their ability, still they have not abandoned their farms, orchards and stock, etc., as some suppose; they live mainly by the proceeds thereof. There are cases, however, where men have rented their farms, because they could employ their time to far more advantage to themselves in some of the manufacturing departments. It is further exhibited in our work, that any improvement calculated to greatly benefit a community, but which could not be done for years, may be accomplished at once by a strong pull of such a combination of labor and capital.

Yours truly,
A. C.

Osman Pasha's Bravery.

London Telegraph's Correspondent at Plevna.

Osman Pasha's example had, doubtless, a great deal to do with the manner in which the fight was maintained. He was always with his men in the thickest of the danger when occasion needed; his tent was always in full view of the enemy, and very frequently under shell fire. When they had tobacco he smoked, and when they had not he refrained. His tent was almost as cheerless as their trenches—very little more comfort. I do not think he ever slept more than two or three hours at a time; they were sure he was up in the night as well as in the day, but they never knew when he might come among them.

Not a man ventured to flinch from his post except on those occasions when, under very heavy fire, officers threw themselves on the ground to avoid a passing storm of shot and shell, and then Osman Pasha beat them with his own hand in the presence of the troops. The aides-de-camp were nearly all killed or wounded; their work was extremely arduous and dangerous. During the fighting, which lasted from the 5th to the 15th of September, I saw five of Osman's staff killed or severely wounded, and I am only amazed that all were not equally unfortunate. The commandants of the tabias were, in fact, nearly all killed or wounded. Similarly with the pashas who commanded various points of the position. Hasan Pasha (now in Constantinople) was shot through the leg. Ahmed Pasha was killed; Hafver Pasha received a bullet in the arm, and Emin Pasha one in the head.

Osman seemed to bear a charmed life. Once or twice I was with him when a furious attempt was made by the Russians to destroy him, they having evidently had his tent pointed out by some Bulgarian spy; and I well recollect on one such occasion, when bouquets of six shells were thrown twice a minute at the little hill, now, with a smile, he took up a camp-stool on which he had been sitting, and saying, "Ma maison," with a view to indicate what he thought the enemy was aiming at, walked slowly to another little hill, some thirty yards away, and there, sitting down under a tree, watched the fall of the shells as they came in and burst.

Once or twice, too, when I had been in the outer works and came back, I learned that some stray shell had either fallen close to the Marshal and not burst, or had passed close by him and killed one of his horses, or some such incident as that. He was always being nearly killed. So many fortunate escapes led us to hope that he would yet get through unharmed, for we had seen him in all kinds of danger—now leading on the foremost in a charge or quietly superintending the fixing of the uprights for some new earth work, the while that the enemy's shell plunged and burst all around the little party that was helping the Marshal with his fortifications.

He was the mainspring of their defence, and whatever they had achieved had been owing to his splendid soldiership. A more gallant defence was never made; it was only by the most dogged resistance that the position was held against the masses of men whom the Russians and Roumanians hurled against it; and when all is known of those latter days of starvation and desperate fighting, a story will be told for which history produces no parallel.

Robert Pixton, Plaintiff, vs.
William Jennings, Alfred Best, Thos. Taylor, Henry Dinwoodey, Bernard Held, and Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution, Defendants.

The People of the United States to the Territory of Utah send greeting:

To William Jennings, Alfred Best, Thos. Taylor, Henry Dinwoodey, Bernard Held, and Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution, defendants:

YOU are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff, in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Utah, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise within forty days or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint.

The said action is brought to obtain a decree of this court to quiet plaintiff title to be the owner and entitled to the possession as against the defendants and all others, of that certain narrow strip of land, in Lot 7, Block 66, Plat "A" Salt Lake City Survey, situate in Salt Lake City and County, Utah Territory, and more particularly described in the complaint herewith. That the defendants be required to set forth the claim of defendants to said premises and be adjudged invalid, and that the plaintiff may have such other and further relief as by law and equity may be just when the facts are set forth to the Court.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Witness the Hon. MICHAEL SCHAEFFER, Judge, and the seal of the District Court of the Third Judicial District, in and for the Territory of Utah, this 4th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven.

IMPORTANT LETTER

From a Distinguished Physician.

NO single disease has entailed more suffering or more loathsomeness than the breaking up of the constitution, than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind, one or more and sometimes all yield to the destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks it up for the reception of other diseases. Ignored because but imperfectly understood by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is to the credit of Dr. Sanford that the treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent, reliable and honorable. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won my hearty approval. Its action is prompt, safe, and sure. It is a local remedy—it falls, because it strikes at the root of the disease, viz., the corrupted blood, while it heals the ulcers, it purifies the blood, thereby giving the most healthful tone to the mucous membranes. Its action is based on certain fixed rules, and unless the vital forces are too far exhausted, must, in the great majority of cases, effect a cure.

GEO. BEARD, M. D.,
HORNCASTLE BLOCK, 50. FRANKLIN ST., OPP. L. 1876.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

MAY safely claim to be one of the few popular remedies of the day which has received the approval of the medical profession, who, in private, not only freely recommend it but use it in their families in preference to any of the preparations usually prescribed by physicians.

"You are aware," said a distinguished city physician, "that my objections to the Medical Profession are such that I cannot publicly recommend or prescribe the Radical Cure; but since I received a sample bottle of it, and after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have frequently advised its use, and pronounce it above all the score no less than one hundred of my name for it."

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

GENTLEMEN.—We have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for the past year, and can say confidently that we never sold a medicine that gave such universal satisfaction. We have to be constantly receiving testimonials.

We are not in the habit of recommending patent medicines, but your preparation needs the words of praise it merits, and every afflicted should be convinced of its great merits and their suffering will be relieved. We have been in the drug business for the past twelve years constantly and have never handled a medicine that sold like the RADICAL CURE. If you are proper you can use this letter in any part of it that you wish.

Very truly, S. D. BALDWIN & CO.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

An Electro-Galvanic Battery combined with a highly medicated Strengthening Plaster, forming the best plaster for pains and aches in the World of Medicine.

ELECTRICITY

As a grand curative and restorative agent is not equalled by any element or medicine in the history of the world. It relieves the vital spark in the body, restoration by means of electricity is possible. It is the last resort of all physicians intelligence, and all who have used it, testify of its wonderful power. Ignored because but imperfectly understood by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is to the credit of Dr. Sanford that the treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent, reliable and honorable. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won my hearty approval. Its action is prompt, safe, and sure. BALSAM AND PINE.

The healing properties of our own fragrant balsam and pine are known the world over, and need no praise from us to require description. Their grateful, healing, and unfailing virtues in curing pulmonary complaints are known to thousands. When combined in accordance with late and important discoveries in pharmacy, their healing and strengthening properties are increased tenfold. In this respect our Plaster is the best in use without the aid of electricity.

TWO IN ONE.

These combined we have two grand medical agents in one, each of which performs its function and unitedly produce more cures than any liniment, lotion, wash, or plaster ever before compounded in the history of medicine. Try one.
