COMMENDABLE GENEROSITY

The Sunday's Fall of Gratitude is salt Lake humanitarians.

The new boys are grateful in the extreme for the valuable and generously made donations to them by the business men and private citizens of Salt Lake. For years past it has been the custom to give the boys a treat on Thanksgiving day. Colonel Lett, now deceased, and his sons, were in the general house, but for the last two years the old ones have been taken in hand and greatly cared for by others in a general movement in their behalf.

The News on Friday contained a program as arranged for the entertainment of the boys, including a talk at the restaurant given by Basie Brothers; a grand basket service from Mrs. Henningsen; the boys' dinner menu of the Lake Club; a drive around the city at the expense of the News; a talk to the Player by the children; and a grand supper at the hotel.

That night was one of absolute diversion and pleased the boys to perfection. But now comes the great unheralded feature of the program—A donation of $1,000.00 from Frank W. Walker, Mr. Walker and others who are preparing to give the paper versions of additional similar words, will add to them at 2 o'clock. This is giving from the different restaurants. The thought of this display of liberality almost make the boys cry out for affection, but they stand in the general estimation and feel the general emanation that they will subdue the price.

The evening meeting commenced at 7 o'clock p.m. and the speaker was addressed by President Smith with such enthusiasm that he supplemented the Father in many blessings and greatly ennobled the minds of the audience but on the other hand he did not let go of the offering from His people, and set it apart for His worship that His peace and Spirit might be and abide in it.

After appropriate singing, President Huntington spoke of the many evils existing in the world which were undermining the very foundations of civilization and which would bring about the fall of man.

He enumerated some of these vices, and closed his warning voice against it.
