LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THERMOMETER 92° in the shade at two o'clock to-day.

THEATRICAL.—Last night was the first of the reappearance of Mr. E. T. Stetson in the sensation play entitled "Neck and Neck," of which he has made a specialty. The piece has been played here several times before, but its performance last evening was, we think, superior to that on any former occasion, one very marked improvement being the absence of the revolting hanging scene. The characters sustained by Messrs Stetson, Graham, Thorne, Marden, Wilton and Harris were performed in very excellent style, especially that of "Curtis Pumpkin" alias "Cu' Punk" by Mr. Harris. This is the most successful role in which that gentleman has ever appeared, and his personation of the old Yankee would not be easy to excel.

Miss Jean Clara Walters as "Jennie," was a great success, and her performance received hearty and well merited applause. Mrs. Bowring as "Mrs Boliver" was more than usually solo. Miss DellieClawson played the part of "Carrie Freeland" and, considering her youthfulness, and the nature of the role she sustained, her performance was creditable, but, of course, lacked the conception and finish which would characterize the same personation by an older and thoroughly experienced actress. While on this subject we wish, in the spirit of kindness, to drop a hint to this young lady. She has many friends among the theatre-going public, and they are gratified to see her progress in the dramatic profession; but there is one thing, particularly, to which she should pay attention, and that is the pronunciation of the English language. In that she is defective, not more so probably than young ladies generally of her age; but this is no excuse. Miss Clawsons now beginning to personate roles generally assigned to the leading ladies in good stock companies, and to hear, occasionally, from her pronunciation which might be expected from the ignorant and uneducated is inappropriate, to say the least. On the stage one expects to hear the best language spoken by those who personate the characters of ladies and gentlemen, and anything short of that is inexcusable in professional actors. Their elocution should be faultless, and without it eminence cannot be hoped for. Miss Dellie has talent, and we expect to see her, at no distant day, the acknowledged leading lady of the Salt Lake stock company; and in view of this we kindly but earnestly advise her to pay more attention to the pronunciation of her native tongue.

GRAND SKATING TOURNAMENT. — We have received a complimentary to the First Grand Skating Tournament for a diamond eagle medal (22 diamonds), with diamond skate attached (valued at $250,000), and the championship of the Pacific coast, at Woodward's Gardens, San Francisco, Aug. 31.

THISTLES.—Thistles grow in Utah, and here is a way to get rid of them. Dr. Daniel Bunce, curator of the Geelong Botanical Gardens, state that an infallible way to destroy thistles was, just before the bud began to form, to cut the root through with a spade, about two inches below the surface of the soil. Cutting above the surface invariably resulted in the thistle springing up with a greater number of heads than before.

RETURNED.—Elder Benjamin R. Hulse, of Beaver, returned from a mission to the East yesterday. He left this city, May 2d, 1871. He baptized six persons, relations, by marriage, of Elder Albert Carrington, in Pennsylvania; in the State of New York he rebaptized a brother of Elder Wilford Woodruff, and in Virginia he baptized four persons. At Dayton, in the latter State, he was attacked by a mob, who coated him over with tar and dipped him in the muddy bed of a river from which the water had been turned off. Brother Hulse returns in excellent health.

HARRISBURG.—Brother E. K. Fuller, of Harrisburg, Washington Co., called yesterday. He says mining prospectors are very busy in that section, and some important and promising discoveries have been made.

He also informs us that there is a fine opening there for those who wish to pursue the farming and grape culture business, land and water being abundant.

KAYSVILLE, August 19th, 1872.

Editor Deseret News:

Dear Sir:—You will confer a favor upon me by giving publicity to the following refutation. I am informed that my name was signed to the petition petitioning Congress to continue a Territorial government for Utah. I here, upon my honor, do certify that I never saw the petition, neither gave sanction to have my name inserted. It has been done by mistake, or maliciously. My wife's name is attached also entirely without her knowledge. I believe the people of Utah are entitled to constitutional rights, in common with other American citizens, and will seek to defend them in these rights.

JAMES FORBES,
MARY FORBES.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Daniel Frazer, 19th Ward, late of Edinburgh, Scotland, would like to know the whereabouts of Mary Rymer, who left Cowper of Fife, Scotland, and went to England, from which latter country she emigrated to Utah about twenty years ago.

MAGNIFICENT VIEWS.—We have been shown, by Professor Jos. L. Barfoot, a fine collection of splendid photographic views of the magnificent scenery of the Yellowstone, taken under the auspices of Prof. Hayden's expedition. The pictures are artistic gems and give a vivid idea of the wonders of the Yellowstone country, including geysers in full play, springs, rivers, mountains and gorges, &c. The photographs have been forwarded to the Deseret Museum by the Smithsonian institution. They can be seen at the Museum.

PARIS, RICH Co., Aug. 21st.

The summit of the mountain, between here and Franklin, by way of the Indian trail, is eighty-four hundred feet above the sea level. On the top we found snow, and flowers in great variety of colors and beauty. At Relay Spring, west base of the mountains, we encountered a severe hail storm. We passed many abandoned snow-shoes, strewn along the perilous path which Brother Hansen, the mail carrier, traversed last winter, without food or fire for three days and two and a half nights. From the summit the north end of Salt Lake, and many Cache valley settlements can be plainly seen.

So far the crops in this valley are but little injured by frost. Grain is fast ripening, and there will be a very abundant harvest, which has just commenced. The missionaries are doing a good work; meetings are well attended; the health of the people never was better.

The altitude of Paris is fifty-eight hundred feet, eleven hundred feet higher than Logan.

There is a two year old buffalo bull at Ithaca, which may be purchased for the Salt Lake managerie. It was brought thither with a drove of Texas cattle. No monsters have been seen for months, and their existence is very problematical, in the minds of observing men. The weather is delightful, nights cool and flies chary.

FROM THE "JUNCTION." — The Ogden Junction, August 21st, has the following:

"H. W. Naisbitt, Esq., is about to establish a steam grist mill at Hooper. It has already arrived, and when set up, and in running order, will prove a great boon to the dwellers on the Lake shore.

"A little boy, five years of age, son of Hyrum Roylance, of North Ogden, died last Monday from the effects of a fall. The child, who was unwell, was placed by an older boy on the back of a calf, from which he was jerked to the ground, and the injuries resulting from concussion, coupled with his feeble condition, caused his death."

W. C. STAINES, Esq., emigration agent at New York, left that city last Friday, as we understood with W. J. Silver and Seymour B. Young, Esqrs., and arrived in this city last night, in good health and spirits, having safely endured the unprecedentedly hot weather on the Atlantic coast, of which many people were dying in New York and other cities, and many others were greatly apprehensive. About 1,000 emigrants from Europe this season had already arrived, most of them comitg to this city. Bro. Staines expects to return to New York again by September 8, in readiness to meet the company leaving Liverpool on the 4th.

"NON COMPOS MENTIS."—There is a rumor afloat among the friends of a certain prominent U. S. official that he has become subject to fits of temporary insanity, that he is, in fact, non compos mentis.

We have long been of the opinion that the gentleman referred to is either a very bad, or a partially crazy, man, and now that proof of his insanity is being furnished by his friends, we are "sorry, very sorry," for him.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE for September opens with a very interesting illustrated paper on "William Penn's Low Countries," then follow "Wanderings in Palestine," profusely illustrated, the "Great American Hotel," "A Summer Between Four Seas," meaning England, "Private Art Collections of Philadelphia," "Reform on Two Stools," referring to current politics, besides a fair instalment of fiction and much other interesting matter. Can be had at Dwyer's or Campbell and Patterson's.
