

TOURIST SERVICE IN THE TABERNACLE

Large Attendance of Visitors at
The Services Yesterday Afternoon.

J. P. GODDARD THE SPEAKER.

Enlighten Many Principles of Mormonism in Comprehensive Talk of Half an Hour.

The special service for tourists in the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon, which is granted by the First Presidency on the first Sunday in every month, was attended by fully 2,500 people, among them being a number of local people. The service was delayed for about fifteen minutes beyond 3 o'clock, the appointed time of starting, owing to the fact that only one door was opened for the entrance of the crowd.

The musical selections by Prof. McClellan, consisting of five numbers, were greatly enjoyed. They were the "Prelude and Siciliano from Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni; Schumann's "Träumerei"; "Pilgrims' Song" of Handel; "Nearer My God to Thee"; and Handel's "Largo."

The lights in front of the organ were turned on and the small ones, representing the stars around the tabernacle, were constantly flickering, attracting much attention before the music started.

The speaker was J. Percy Goddard, who gave a short but comprehensive address on the subject of Mormonism. Elder Goddard explained that the meeting was not a regular service, but one granted by the First Presidency of the Church on the first Sunday in every month, at which time the people meet in their wards for fast day services.

After some preliminary remarks Elder Goddard explained regarding the scriptures believed in by the Latter-day Saints, that they believe the Bible, King James translation, to be the word of God as far as it is translated correctly. It was explained also that the Latter-day Saints believe the Book of Mormon, the Doctrine and Covenants and the Pearl of Great Price to contain the word of God. The Latter-day Saints believe Joseph Smith to be a prophet of God, who ushered in a new dispensation. In other words God chose certain men to proclaim His word. God, through the people of his day, revealed the impending flood. Moses was chosen to lead Israel and to impart unto them the word of God. Another dispensation came in the days of the Messiah. Many of the people were then blinded. They said they had seen and the prophets and refused to believe in the word of God. The Latter-day Saints believe Joseph Smith to be a prophet sent of God, to introduce the truths of primitive Christianity at a time when the world was in darkness. Many of the churches acknowledge an apostasy since the time of Christ. They have been reformed since that time but they were not sent of God to restore that which was lost. They merely preached and taught that which was not the word of God. They led them to believe was right. As a result their teachings differ materially in many respects.

Elder Goddard then gave a brief sketch of the compilation and preservation of the plates of the Book of Mormon, as well as their translation and publication. He explained given by Joseph Smith, known as the Book of Mormon. "The book," said the speaker, "is well worth your perusal, whether you believe the account given as to its origin or not. It is peculiarly the book of American scripture." By the appearance of the Angel Moroni, who made known the Book of Mormon, was fulfilled, the Latter-day Saints believe, a passage of Scripture found in Revelation, 14th chapter and 6th verse. "And I saw another angel flying through the midst of heaven having the everlasting Gospel to preach to those that dwell on the earth," etc.

Elder Goddard then read a number of verses from the first section of the Doctrine and Covenants, and spoke for a few minutes on the judgments of the last days, which are near.

The second advent of the Savior to live 1,000 years on the earth with the Saints was also referred to, as well as the fact that God has always warned His children before great events. That is being done now by the Latter-day Saints and the Scripture found in Matthew, 24th chapter, is being fulfilled. "For it says, 'as it was in the days of Noah so shall it be in the days of the coming of the Son of Man.' etc. Other passages in the same chapter were read with quotations from other parts of the Bible, showing that Christ was to appear the second time with power.

The Latter-day Saints believe it is their mission to warn the world and prepare the way for that great event. In conclusion the speaker testified of the truth of Mormonism, and invited those present who desired to see a copy of the Book of Mormon, or receive any further information regarding the Mormon faith, to call at the Bureau of Information.

A BURGALAR IN TOWN
His name is "Bud" enough. He doesn't care for gold or silver but he will steal your health away. If he appears in your house, he is at once with the "Lard's" Household Hygiene. It may mean consumption if you don't. A cure for all ailments, colds, coughs, croup, whooping cough, etc. Sold by C. M. L. Drug Dept. 112 and 114 South Main Street, Salt Lake City.

Saltair Closes Tonight.
Continuous dancing. Superb Bathing. Special "Ship" Restaurant menu. Go out.

ANNUAL YELLOWSTONE EXCURSION.
September 16th.

Via Oregon Short Line. Round trip from Salt Lake for complete five-day tour of the Park, including rail and stage transportation and accommodations at the first class hotels in the Park. $45.00. See agents for further particulars. City Ticket Office, 201 Main Street.

LANE ARRESTED AGAIN.
This Time Within a Few Hours of His Release From County Jail.

Edward A. Lane after serving six months in the county jail, was released Saturday only to be re-arrested within a few hours after he had gained his liberty. Lane is charged this time with grand larceny. He is alleged to have picked the pocket of C. O. Sullivan of $50. When he discovered his loss he ran after Lane who managed to elude him for a time until caught by Patrolman K. M. Lyon while the latter was arresting one of Lane's pals.

"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. Has been used with success in our family for eight years."—Mrs. L. Whiteacre, Buffalo, N. Y.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.
Saltair Closes Tonight.
Continuous dancing. Superb Bathing. Special "Ship" Restaurant menu. Go out.

THROWN FROM WAGON.
Fireman Lloyd Victim of Accident Due To Lack of Warning Lights.

William Lloyd, a member of the fire department, had a narrow escape from serious and perhaps fatal injury last night by being hurled from a horse wagon when the latter collided with a pile of building rock.

The department was responding to a call sent in from 554 north Center street. While driving along Center toward Fourth North street, the horses and wagon plunged into the pile of rock standing in front of the residence of W. H. Bywater in north Center between Third and Fourth North streets. Owing to the darkness and the failure of proper warning lights being placed around the street construction the driver of the wagon was unable to see it until the horses had crashed into it and Lloyd was hurled from the wagon and almost under the wheels. His injuries consisted of a badly lacerated right arm and hand and several bruises about the body. The other men on the wagon were badly shaken up and the horses injured about the legs.

F. C. SCHRAMM, DRUGGIST.
Broke off the grip of your old cold, nasal catarrh, by using Elder's Cream Balm. Then will all the swelling and soreness be driven out of the inflamed membranes. The use of Elder's Balm will cause the discharge of offensive mucus as it is absorbed, and will be stopped when the tissues that produce it are removed. Cleanliness, comfort and renewed health by the use of Elder's Balm, sold by all Druggists for 50 cents, or by mail to Elder's Brothers, 55 Warren Street, New York.

WEATHER IN THE WEST.
National Bulletin Shows Conditions For Week Ending Aug. 30.

The national weekly weather bulletin for the week ending Aug. 30, gives the following conditions for the Pacific slope states:

Montana—Chenango. The temperature averaged nearly normal with cool weather Saturday. Some rain fell in the eastern portion of the first of the week, but over most of the state little or no rain occurred. Sunshine was abundant.

Idaho—Boise. The temperature was above normal, with a mean nearly 10 degrees below normal. Light frost occurred on the 25th. Temperatures rose to degrees above normal on the 26th. The southwestern portion was rainy. Right showers fell elsewhere. Light rain fell in the northwestern portion. Sunshine was abundant. Heavy precipitation was abundant. Heavy rain and moderate winds in the central and the north-central parts of the state, but there was a deficiency in the southeastern and extreme northwestern counties.

New Mexico—Santa Fe. Moderate to heavy showers continued in the northern and western portions, but little or no rain fell in the southern and eastern sections. Temperatures were generally above normal, with the range continuing to improve, especially in the northern counties.

Arizona—Phoenix. The early part of the week was cool, the latter part excessively warm and humid. The temperature averaged two degrees above normal. Light and scattered showers occurred on the 24th, 25th, 26th and 27th. Sunshine was above normal in the northern counties, but below in the southern counties throughout the state. Irrigation water is plentiful.

Nevada—Reno. The temperature was about normal on the 24th, but averaged five degrees above normal the remainder of the week. Scattered showers occurred the middle and last of the week. The water supply in streams is sufficient. The humidity was normal.

Washington—Seattle. Copious showers fell on the 24th and 25th in the western and northern portions, but were insufficient fully to break the drought. The week was cooler than normal, except the last two days, which were warm and clear.

Oregon—Portland. The temperature was nearly normal in all sections. The 24th was unusually cool, with frost in the eastern portion. The 25th was the warmest day in the western portion, with hot drying winds, and the 26th in the eastern portion. The week was punctuated without rain. The sunshine was normal.

California—San Francisco. The week was clear and warm, with less than the usual amount of fog on the coast. The temperature was normal along the northern coast and two degrees to five degrees above elsewhere. Sunshine was normal. Thunderstorms occurred in the southern Sierras at the close of the week. Abnormally warm weather was experienced in the southern portion of the state Sunday. The prevailing winds were from the northwest.

NEW OFFICERS COMING.
Adjutant and Mrs. J. Braun, who will succeed Capt. and Mrs. Carl A. Soderholm in charge of the local Salvation Army, are expected to arrive from Seattle either tonight or tomorrow to assume their new duties. Adjutant and Mrs. Braun are widely known throughout the northwest for their efficient work.

When You Quit Coffee and make POSTUM your morning cup, you will know how much the change is worth to you in health benefit.

Better digestion sound sleep stronger nerves and a clear brain soon follow.

"There's a Reason."
Postum Cereal Company, Limited, Battle Creek Mich.

OPENING SERVICE LARGELY ATTENDED

New Chapel of Twelfth-Thirteenth Ward Formally Opened.

ERECTED AT COST OF $50,000.

It is an Impressive Structure Designed To Accommodate Various Organizations.

The opening of new Twelfth-Thirteenth ward meetinghouse last night was attended by a large number of people from all parts of Ensign stake, and from other parts of the city. Long bers of the high council of the stake, in addition to the bishopric and prominent members of the ward.

The musical numbers were excellent and called forth a number of favorable comments on the choir. Among the selections was "Sweet Is Thy Peace," the music of which was composed by C. J. Thomas and is inspired by Bishop F. B. Platt. The solo part was sung by Miss Edith Grant.

PRIEST JOHN R. WINDER.
President John R. Winder was the first speaker, and in a few words he referred to the fact that he became a member of the Twelfth ward 17 years ago at which time he was made first counselor to Bishop Hardy. In those days they used to meet in the old rock building, which was then considered a very good structure, and enjoy themselves. Most of the old faces have gone. He felt thankful for the mercy of God by which he was able to meet with the people of the ward again in their new meetinghouse. "I hope you will all be impressed with the beauty of the place and attend your meetings. I have now living in the ward about 20 children and grandchildren, and I say to them and to all who are present, attend your meetings, sustain the authorities and help to advance the ward."

PRIEST JOHN F. SMITH.
After congratulating the people on the possession of such a fine edifice, President John F. Smith delivered a very impressive and instructive address in which he referred to the great mission of the Prophet Joseph Smith, and his teachings, and the necessity for everyone to refrain from stealing, bearing false witness, blasphemy and sins of all kinds. He also spoke of the disposition of many young people to make a bad name for themselves in the priesthood in the temple of God. The address was listened to with rapt attention by all present.

President R. W. Young of Ensign stake congratulated the people on what had been done in the erection of such a beautiful house, which contained all the class rooms, etc., needed by the ward. He felt that the bishopric and others who had charge of it had done well for the Relief society, a large assembly hall, and other accessories. The floor of the main hall is raised as it recedes from the stand, thus affording a good view of the stand from the rear seats. The room is lighted by seven clusters of tungsten lamps which depend from the ceiling, as well as 12 side lamps. The choir is located in a large alcove immediately back of the stand. The hall is entered by two doors leading from a large vestibule, and on either side are doors leading into open corridors extending to the rear of the building.

Those present on the stand last night included President Joseph F. Smith, President John R. Winder, Reed Smoot of the Council of Twelve, Seymour B. Young of the First Council of Seventy, Richard W. Young, president of Ensign stake, Joseph S. Wells and John M. Knight, his counselors, and members of the high council of the stake.

After a few words by Bishop Platt, inviting all the people to turn out Monday evening at 7:30, for an evening of enjoyment, and to send the children to the hall Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, as arrangements had been made for their entertainment, the services were brought to a close by the choir singing "The Millennium," also composed by Elder C. J. Thomas.

These windows and these displays tell the story of the interest of the Fall shopper.

She is looking. These displays are of deeper import than to be merely looked at—back of them were the activities of experienced buyers, primed with a desire to excel, augmented with fashion knowledge and dress knowledge.

Therefore the advanced showing becomes a welcomed trial.

When you inspect these handsome garments, it is with the full knowledge that they are authoritative in point of newest styles.

And here follow a few special features:

MAN TAILORED SUITS—Fine Broadcloth coat—45 inches long; new skirt; peau de cygne lining; all colors; black, navy, drake, smoke, brown, orchid and mode—a wonderful value, specially priced at $35.00.

HANDSOME TAILORED SUITS—Serge, cheviot, herringbone and broadcloth. Black, navy, brown, mode, artichoke and drake. Coat 42 inches long, semi-fitted, handsomely lined, new gored skirt with side plaits. Specially priced at $27.50.

For Impaired Nerve Force
Take Horsford's Acid Phosphate
It quiet and strengthens the nerves, relieves exhaustion, headache and impaired digestion.

Continuous Dancing at Saltair.
Today 3 to 11:30 p. m. Christensen's orchestra and Heide's Band. "Oh joy!"

LAUREL TUNES PIANOS.
1200 So. 2nd East. Ind. 231.
Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

Swimming at Saltair—Never better.

WASATCH FOREST IS IN GOOD CONDITION

Planting Inspector Returns With Report of Great Success in Nursery.

(Special to the "News.")
Ogden, Utah, Sept. 6.—James M. Petherick, planting inspector of forest service district No. 4, has returned to Ogden after an inspection trip of the Wasatch nursery. He reports that the results of broadcast sowing, direct sowing in spots, and field planting of different species, on the tracts best suited to each method, have been successful. This is only in part attributed to the frequent storms during this month. He also states that the nursery has never been in such excellent condition.

A conservative inventory of the stock on hand at this time shows that there are 2,182,000 1-year seedlings, 252,700 2-year seedlings and 291,352 transplants—a total of 2,435,052 plants. Of these,

102,200 will be ready for field planting the coming fall. Plans for the disposal of this stock have been drawn up.

A BURNED CHILD
Dreads the fire. The child is whole, some, but not the burn. That can be healed and instantly relieved by applying Elder's Snow Cream. It is prepared for accidents by keeping a bottle always in the house. Best for sprains, bruises, cuts, scalds, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and all aches and pains. Price 25c. Sold by C. M. L. Drug Dept. 112 and 114 South Main St., Salt Lake City.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

INTER-MOUNTAIN FOUR STATE FAIR.
Ogden, Sept. 6-11, 1909.
Excursions via Oregon Short Line September 10th to 11th inclusive. Round trip $1.10. Limit September 14th. City Ticket Office, 201 Main St.

Continuous Dancing at Saltair.
Today 3 to 11:30 p. m. Christensen's orchestra and Heide's Band. "Oh joy!"

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

Planting at Saltair—Water delightful.

THE MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY No. 184015

INCORPORATED IN NEWARK, N.J. Aug. 28, 1909.
NATIONAL STATE BANK
Pay to the ORDER OF Carolyn A. Higgins $2970.73
In full payment of No. 5,1598, Life of Corydon A. Higgins
Twenty-nine hundred and seventy and 73/100 DOLLARS
Richard J. Carey Auditor Samuel W. Seligman Treasurer

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 1, 1909.
George F. Eckstrom, General Agent
The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark, New Jersey.

Dear Sir—I very gratefully acknowledge the receipt of your company's check in settlement of the policy on my husband's life, taken out by him in the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company of Newark, New Jersey, some time early in July.

Stricken as I am with grief, and with little care or interest in passing events, I am nevertheless deeply sensible of your company's extreme promptness in my case. While I have been so prostrated as to be but partly conscious of my surroundings or occurrences, I have been informed that it has been but nine days since the papers and proofs were sent east, and the check was issued.

I am impelled to express my heartfelt appreciation of the good judgment shown by your representative, Mr. R. C. Brownlee, in the matter of inducing my husband to immediate action, and the courtesy subsequently extended him. It was my husband's fixed intention to take out the insurance later in the fall, but through the kindness and convincing insistence of Mr. Brownlee, who forecasted the disastrous results possible to occur in delaying so important a matter, happily he was induced to make application for the protection at once.

Truly the illustration of what may come of postponing the doing of needful things was never more striking than in this instance.

Out of my great sorrow and bereavement, I tender you my most earnest expression of genuine gratitude.

(Signed) CAROLYN A. HIGGINS

The foregoing expressions from the widow of the late Corydon W. Higgins, who recently died in Salt Lake, and a death in this city, sets forth in a beautiful, womanly way, sentiments of unquestioned truth, revealing a lofty nobility of character.

Indeed, as she is with a tremendous sorrow that has come into her young life, clinging with great tenderness and devotion to the memory of her husband and his gentleness and devotion, she has the courage to express her gratitude for the opportunity that has come to help her meet the trials of life—the aid that so frequently comes to the rescue of the widow and the orphan—the insurance aid.

The unusually quick death of Corydon Higgins, a well-known man in Salt Lake, and so universally admired and esteemed for his sterling qualities of manhood, furnishes more than an ordinary apt illustration of the uncertainties of life, and the unanswerable argument of throwing protection around the dear dependent ones.

Two days after the return of Mr. Higgins from his joyous wedding trip, the solicitor of the life insurance company mentioned sought him with a view of having him take out a reasonable amount of insurance. The subject was one that instantly appealed to Mr. Higgins as vitally necessary; one that he had given much thought, and one that he purposed putting in force very soon, but, just having returned from his wedding trip, and having expended considerable means in furnishing some apartments, with similar things in contemplation, he felt the necessity of putting it off until some time later in the year. Then it was, fortunately, that the experience and forceful arguments of the company's solicitor, after urging Mr. Higgins to realize the wisdom of timely action, convinced him of the force of the offer, saying "that there is no time like the present" and "to do it now"—and happily he did. It was but a little more than one month between the time insurance was requested, the policy delivered, and the bright young life was crushed out. The happening of the sad affair in our midst made it all the more noticeable and regrettable, but there are hundreds of similar cases occurring throughout the world every year, and however always attended with so helpful and so useful results.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Two days after the return of Mr. Higgins from his joyous wedding trip, the solicitor of the life insurance company mentioned sought him with a view of having him take out a reasonable amount of insurance. The subject was one that instantly appealed to Mr. Higgins as vitally necessary; one that he had given much thought, and one that he purposed putting in force very soon, but, just having returned from his wedding trip, and having expended considerable means in furnishing some apartments, with similar things in contemplation, he felt the necessity of putting it off until some time later in the year. Then it was, fortunately, that the experience and forceful arguments of the company's solicitor, after urging Mr. Higgins to realize the wisdom of timely action, convinced him of the force of the offer, saying "that there is no time like the present" and "to do it now"—and happily he did. It was but a little more than one month between the time insurance was requested, the policy delivered, and the bright young life was crushed out. The happening of the sad affair in our midst made it all the more noticeable and regrettable, but there are hundreds of similar cases occurring throughout the world every year, and however always attended with so helpful and so useful results.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.

Too frequently procrastination proves the veritable thief of time to those who lean on the bread-winner.