Home Made Brooms. - A couple of brooms made at the factory of ings. will be held on Sunday, Mr. H. P. Scoville, at Ogden, were November 14th, by the following left at this office this morning, havnamed members of the Quorum of ing been sent in care of a gentlethe Twelve Apostles, at the places man of this city. In an accompanying note, the proprietor of the factory says that he is laboring to make a neat and substantial broom, and that he hopes to be able to furnish the Utah market with an article which, for durability, will be superior to that which is imported. Judging by the specimens sent we have no doubt that he will succeed, for they are really a splendid broom, and fully equal if not superior to any imported broom in the market, and this branch of home manufacture may now certainly be numbered among those which the artisans of Utah have made a success.

Mr. Scoville says that he has considerable corn on hand, but has room for as much more, and he believes that he can manufacture all that Utah can furnish until another harvest. Parties having broom corn to sell had better apply take all their corn and area to brooms therefor.

He says that his factory building and machinery have cost three thousand dollars, and he now desires to secure the patronage of the Utah public, and we believe that, if his prices are reasonable, the excellence of his brooms will command and ensure him all the patronage that he can reasonably expect or desire.

The Missionaries to Australia .-The following is from the San Francisco Chronicle of Nov. 10th, the "Elder" answering the questions being I. Groo-

Still "they are going out to preach the gospei." The chief of them said to the Chronicle representative:
"Some of these boys were never out Some of these boys were never out of Utah before, never spoke in a meeting in their lives, but they are honest and they will soon learn to tell what they know." And that is indeed the key to the Mormen missionary life."

"Reporter—Is this ever-recurring trouble in Utah going to keep on forever, or is there going to be con-cessions between the Mormons and Gentiles that will contribute to permanent peace? "Elder-I see no end to it, but in
