

THE CONFERENCE. THE REGATTA AT GARFIELD. FOR THE STUDENTS.

Saturday, Sept. 1, 1888.

FRAGMENTS.

BURLINGS are getting their work in at O'Connell.

J. Brown was put in jail today, having been found on the streets drunk.

The Ninth District School opens Monday, Sept. 3, with Miss Edna Kimball as teacher.

VERNONA JARREAU comes to the Theatre next week in "Starlight." The dates are Sept. 7 and 8.

The Sixteenth Quorum of Seventies will meet in the First Ward meeting house on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A PARTY by the name of Johnson paid $1 into the city coffers today for leaving his team to feed on the burs that have not been removed from the streets.

There will be no Sunday school or meetings in the various wards of the Salt Lake Stake tomorrow, owing to the Stake Conference.

The Eleventh Quorum of Elders will hold their regular monthly meeting on Monday evening next, in the Twenty-first Ward meeting house.

REHEARSALS for "Mr. Sampson of Omaha" are steadily going on, and full preparations are being made for its presentation on September 12 and 13.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Deseret Hospital, hitherto held on the first Monday of each month, will hereafter be held on the first Tuesday, at 3 p. m. The next meeting occurs on Tuesday next.

P. D. SPRAGUE was before Justice Fyffe today for fast driving. He had been employed to take a young doctor to the bathing tank, and had to drive his horses at full gallop through the streets to get there in time. He was fined $5.

COALTER & SNEEGROVE, the enterprising music dealers, received today a lot of new music. Among the pieces are "Always Gallant," polka, "Summer by the Lakeside," schottische, and "Life's Story," a song more popularly known as "From the cradle to the grave."

The second trial of John L. Black, indicted for murder in killing his brother, Samuel J., May 24, commenced the district court of Storey County, yesterday, in Virginia City. The prisoner is defended by R. H. Lindsay, of Reno, who also acted as his counsel in the first trial—Reno (New) Gazette-Aug. 28.

WM. BRENNAN was arrested by the police last night for being drunk. He was only released on Thursday from the county jail, where he has served a term of 90 days for vagrancy. When brought before Justice Fyffe today he pleaded so hard to be given time to get out of this part of the country that the judge let him go. When last seen he had secured a railway ticket for the north.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, president of the Utah Pacific, will reach this city at 4 p. m. today, on the Utah Pacific. He is reported as having said while at Tacoma that the Utah Pacific would do no more railroad building for some time, but it is hoped that this is not the case as regards the extension of the Utah Pacific to Southern California. There is a vast country on the proposed route that needs opening up, and a railroad is the best means of accomplishing that desirable end.

Notice.

St. George Temple will open for ordination work on Tuesday, September 4th, 1888.

JOHN D. T. McALLISTER

Eighty-three.

By cable from Liverpool we learn that the company of Saints which left that port today, per S. S. Wyoming numbers 80 souls.

The Stake Academy.

The Salt Lake Stake Academy will begin its third academic year in the Social Hall on Monday, September 3d, at 9 a. m. Students who have applied for admission and others desiring to attend should be there promptly at the above mentioned time. As it is desirable that students should obtain their admission before the day of opening, they may do so by calling at the Social Hall on Friday between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., and on Saturday, from 12 m. to 2 p. m.

Organization.

Last evening an organization of the Bishopric of the Twentieth Ward was made by President Angus M. Cannon, Bishop W. E. Bassett having removed from the ward. Elder George Romney, formerly first counselor in the presiding quorum of the ward, was unanimously sustained as Bishop by Elder George F. Gibbs and Joseph F. Simmons as his counselors.

In the sixteenth ward, on Thursday evening, Elder William Langston was chosen as Counselor to Bishop Koster, to fill the vacancy that has existed in the Bishopric of that ward.

The Idaho Editors.

Through delays in the north the train bearing the Idaho Press Association party did not arrive in this city yesterday afternoon. They went directly to Garfield Beach to witness the regatta. The members of the party are Chas. M. Hays, Silver City Association, president; Col. J. M. Jones, Blackfoot News, with wife and child; R. H. Davis, Malad Enterprise; Mrs. W. G. Jones, with wife and child; Young, Bellevue Herald; C. W. Allen, Halley Times, and wife; A. J. Perce, Coaling Messenger, and wife; Thomas A. Smith, Nampa News, and wife; J. W. Palmer, Salmon City Recorder; D. Allen, Shoshone Journal.

On the train the following was adopted: "The members of the Idaho Press Association do hereby gratefully acknowledge our obligations to Mr. J. V. Barker of the Union Pacific for the excursion so generously extended to Garfield and return and we desire to express our thanks individually for the courteous attentions given us and those accompanying us." They will spend a few days in the city before returning.

To the Primary Associations. The Primary Fair will open about the 12th inst., in the building adjoining Elias Morris' place on Ninth Temple Street. All who have articles for exhibition will please deliver them not later than Monday, Sept. 10th, at the building where the fair will be held.

On Friday, Sept. 7, the officers of the Primary Associations in the Salt Lake Stake will meet at Mrs. E. C. Clawson's residence, No. 27 First East Street, at 3 p. m. A full attendance is requested.

On Saturday, Sept. 8, the conference of the Primary Associations will convene in the Assembly Hall. Meetings will be held at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Please note the dates—Officers' meeting, Friday, Sept. 7; delivery of articles for the fair, Monday, Sept. 10; conference, Saturday, Sept. 15.

ELLEN C. CLAWSON, President.

THE CONFERENCE.

Today's Meeting in the Stake Assembly Hall.

The Conference of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion convened, according to previous announcement in the Assembly Hall, this city, at 10 o'clock a. m., Saturday, Sept. 1. On the stand were President Angus M. Cannon and four High Councilors.

The Conference was called to order by President Angus M. Cannon. The choir and congregation then joined in singing the hymn: Now let us rejoice in the day of salvation.

Prayer was offered by Patriarch Draper. Singing: How firm a foundation, ye Saints of the Lord.

The roll was called showing the following in attendance: Four High Councilors, two patriarchs, four Presidents of Seventies and six home missionaries. All the Wards of the Stake were properly represented excepting the Eighteenth, Twelfth and Fifteenth city wards, and Sugar House, Mill Creek, Mountain Dell, Sandy and West Jordan of the county.

The 4th, 7th, 8th, 11th, 12th and 13th Quorums of Elders failed to respond to the roll call.

The Lesser Priesthood was not represented as fully as on other occasions.

Six young men were recommended to be ordained Elders by their respective Bishops, and after promising to honor this office and calling if ordained, their recommendations were endorsed by unanimous vote of the meeting.

ELDER JOSEPH HORNKE then addressed the Conference. He felt thankful for the opportunity of meeting the Saints, because he had had this privilege for a long time. He realized the importance of the work of the Saints. We need continual teaching, even if we have been connected with the Church for some time. We are like other people in former times. They needed Apostles and Prophets to continually talk to them. Our duties are not all peculiarly alike, but they are similar. We have duties to perform at home. These duties are not to be neglected. We live in the last dispensation. Hence we must be more diligent. We need to be a great people, and the work is continually increasing. I rejoice in witnessing this. We have many Elders abroad and we must have more. The speaker had been among the people for some fifty years and he had a son in many experiences. He wished Zion all happiness and testified that the Spirit of God was with the people.

The report of the First Quorum of Elders of Salt Lake City was then read.

ELDER E. W. DAVIS, the President of the Quorum, said: That he had spoken to such persons as did not attend the meetings, and tried to admonish them to do so. But he had not been successful in all instances. There was a spirit of pride in the people. Those that do not possess the Spirit of God cannot be saved. Joy in this work, nor can they do any good. He was afraid that those who did not attend the meetings were not attending to their duties. Little things often bring about great results. He illustrated by the history of Mordecai and Haman. We must not neglect our duties. We will have no desire to do the greater ones, and we will go to darkness.

ELDER EDWARD SNEEGROVE said that there was not a happier man on earth than a "Mormon" Elder who was in his line of duty. If I were to give a report of the High Priesthood of this Stake which numbers four or five hundred persons, I would say, that there is no man on earth who is better than he ought to be. But he thought they would compare favorably with any of the inhabitants of this Territory. Some do not attend their meetings, but he thought they were good men. There seems to be a feeling that it is not necessary to attend meetings. There is a light that enlightens every individual, even the light of Christ. We have received this light, and we are to keep it. We are to be obedient to God and receive baptism and the Holy Ghost. When we first received this Spirit, it was not difficult to attend meetings. For then we lived near God and rejoiced in his light. A man who is a truly good Saint will not seek the wealth of the world. He will remember that he did not come here for this purpose, but in order to lay up treasures in heaven. We have set out to obtain eternal life. If we obtain this we have the riches of eternity.

Superintendent of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association Joseph Felt, read the report of the Association. The speaker realized the importance of this work and would say that there was not enough interest shown in it. He would like to see all the men of the Stake enrolled in the Association. The speaker felt well and was able to stand to the end of the statistical and financial report of the Relief Society was then read.

MRS. M. ISABELLA HORNKE, the president of the Relief Society, said she was glad to represent the society. Although the report is not quite complete it seems to be very good. Some of the branches lay up cash. We are doing well. We are the sisters that what is what President Young counseled us to lay up. One thing must be corrected. People think that the sisters should come and sit up with and help everybody who is sick. But the Society was organized for the Relief of the poor. We have no friends or means whereby to help themselves. The Society are greatly blessed in their labors trying to do whatever they are called to do. We have a great work to do as mothers in Israel, and if we take the children while they are young, we can instill into their minds those principles that we wish them to live by.

The report of the First Ward of Salt Lake City was then read and accepted.

COUNSELOR JOSEPH BOOTH of the First Ward was happy to meet with the Saints in the Conference. The First Ward were not any better than the other wards, but they were as good as the others. We suffer as the rest of the Saints by a wave of disease seeking which rolls over us. We must win the victory. We must live nearer God, rather than to draw off in pleasure hunting. May God bless us with an outpouring of His Spirit.

ELDER J. M. JOHNSON said that he had had the privilege of translating the book of Doctrine and Covenants in the medical language, and from the knowledge he now had of that work, he could hear the testimony, for no human mind could, without the aid of the Spirit, comprehend a word of it. This did not refer to the way in which the testimony was given, but the substance thereof, and the sublime truths that shone on every page of the book. As people have many many privileges. This means great responsibility. The speaker referred to the brethren who were found individually willing to sacrifice their dear lives for their brethren, even those who were in the sacred waves of the river or themselves before the condemnation be, as compared to those, if we reject the great light we have. May God enable us to faithfully in serving him in holiness.

The choir sang: O my Father, thou that dwellest in the high and glorious place.

Elder Henry R. Wood pronounced the benediction.

The conference then adjourned till 2 o'clock p. m.

Sunday School Union.

The officers and teachers of the Sunday school of this Stake will meet in regular meeting on Monday evening, September 3, 1888, at half-past seven o'clock. The Sixteenth Ward Sunday School will furnish part of the exercises.

J. H. PARRY, Secretary.

THE REGATTA AT GARFIELD.

The Racing Witnessed by an Immense and Enthusiastic Host.

No fewer people and possibly even more assembled at Garfield yesterday to witness the regatta than were in attendance at Lake Park the day before, and apparently with less satisfaction, though, all things considered, their enthusiasm held out wonderfully well.

THE TRAIN ARRANGEMENTS seemed to be incomplete and as a result a great many expressed their disgust in terms more forcible than eloquent. The sweltering train load waited just one hour and five minutes after the time announced, before a start was made, and another dreary hour was occupied in making the run to Garfield. Additional delays occurred at Garfield before the racing commenced during which time the thousands who had arrived by train and the hundreds of others who had come by teams or other conveyance from Tooele County and the western part of Salt Lake County awaited with all the patience they could summon and from the best points of observation they could find—some of them not very comfortable—the promised sight.

The course marked out for the racing, unlike that of the day previous, lay due east and west, the eastern limit being opposite the eastern end of the pavilion. This seemed unfortunate for both carmen and spectators, all being required to face the sun a good part of the time. The other conditions were not as favorable for making quick time as at Lake Park. There was quite a stiff breeze blowing from the east and the ground swell was rather more noticeable than on the day previous.

THE DOUBLE SCULL RACE commenced at 5 o'clock with the same contestants as the day before. The Farraguts took the water first and seemed to lead all the way going out, but on the return were outstripped by the Delawares and Modocs, although they were not being so much outstripped. The O. Wash-ton, which was being sailed by a team of home boys and almost surpassed the latter. The O. Wash-ton, however, was being sailed by a team of home boys and almost surpassed the latter. The O. Wash-ton, however, was being sailed by a team of home boys and almost surpassed the latter.

The time was declared to be as follows: Delawares 11:31, Modocs 11:30, Farraguts 11:31, being 1:13, 1:32 and 1:21 respectively longer than the same competitors made the distance in Lake Park.

THE SINGLE SCULL RACE was entered only by Corbett of the Farraguts, Gastrik of the Modocs and the team of the Sylvas. The Delawares, making the excuse that the breaking of his footrest, the day previous prevented his rowing.

A good start was made, Corbett slightly leading, but at the turn they seemed to be almost even. On the home stretch, however, Corbett's superior skill was manifested by his leaving his competitor to do and pulling out a safe distance ahead, which he maintained without any apparent effort. It was a nip and tuck between Gastrik and Fleming, sometimes one reaching the goal the score stood Corbett 12:30, Farraguts 12:30 and Fleming 12:30, better than their Lake Park record which stood Corbett 12:32, Gastrik 12:34 and Fleming 12:36. A rather tedious delay intervened between this and the calling of the last race.

In the four-oared shells, but in the meantime the lake had become more smooth and had the current been in good condition they ought to have surpassed the previous day's record. A good start was made, the Farraguts taking the water first and keeping the lead until the Modocs made 40. The Sylvas were then out of their course on the outward pull, but otherwise they worked well and they and the Farraguts and Modocs seemed to make the turn simultaneously. The O. Wash-ton as usual were away in the rear and came at the end. On the return, however, the Modocs led out and kept ahead, making the run in 3:35, while the Farraguts and Sylvas, who were their close contestants in the home stretch, came in in 10:02 and 10:04 respectively. Much poorer time, but will be seen, than the day before, except in the case of the Farraguts, who were then outdistanced, and the score of the other two having been stood—Modocs 8:36, Sylvas 8:43.

Two of the timers of the day previous not being present, D. L. Davis and J. Obendorfer took their places, and Mr. Pike also lent a hand in the same line, and unusual care was taken to observe accuracy.

Comparatively few of the same spectators were present at Garfield yesterday that were present at Lake Park the day before, and it is not likely that either day will be attracted to Garfield again today to witness a continuation thereof.

Considering the number present at Garfield yesterday there was very little for the observers of the day before. The book-binder of this city had taken from his pockets in the dressing room while he was taking a bath, which was the only offense of that nature reported. A great many were present—not a few of whom were young fellows from country settlements who are not at all interested in the regatta, but who are attracted by the influence of liquor, and who are not at all interested in the regatta, but who are attracted by the influence of liquor, and who are not at all interested in the regatta, but who are attracted by the influence of liquor.

The immigrants arrived in this city at 1:30 this morning, in charge of Elder Levi Taylor, of West Jordan. They left Liverpool August 11th, and after a very rough passage of fourteen days reached the shores of America. There was no serious sickness in the company during the voyage. The delay on the ocean was caused by an accident that occurred 25 miles from Sandy Hook. A workman fell through the roof of the engine house on to one of the steam pipes of the engine. To save the man's life the machinery was stopped, and when it was started again the pipe gave way, which disabled the high pressure cylinder. The low pressure cylinder, which brought in the steam to the ship and a fearful time was experienced. Notwithstanding the fierceness of the storm the Saints showed the signs of fear. The journey after landing was without occurrences of special moment. The company received courteous treatment from the railway men throughout.

The Inquest. Last evening Coroner George J. Taylor held an inquest over the body of Wm. J. Dewey, whose death was recorded in yesterday's News. From the evidence adduced it appeared that when the team ran away the young man got down to the tongue of the wagon to recover one of the lines, which he had dropped. While in a stooping posture the horses turned on the graded road down toward the canal, and the unfortunate lad was thrown forward. The wagon was partially loaded with sand, and one of the wheels passed over his head, crushing it. Another wheel passed over his body. He expired in a few minutes. The accident occurred on Eighth South Street, about a quarter of a mile east of the Jordan bridge.

Healdsburg, Cal., Aug. 28.—Jack Aho, an Indian, killed his companion, who was on Sunday night, and was locked up in the Healdsburg jail, but was released, night by paying on the door. He was to have his preliminary examination today.

FOR THE STUDENTS.

The New Apparatus Received by the Stake Academy.

In the course of our rounds this morning we dropped into the newly fitted laboratory of the Salt Lake Stake Academy, and are glad we did so. Such a magnificent collection of apparatus and utensils for illustration in scientific classes, has never before been seen in this city. The cases are filled with a most extensive display of instruments and appliances applied at a cost of upwards of $600.

There is a microscope, a glance through which magnifies a human hair to the apparent size of a fence rail, and a siphon is a veritable monster. This instrument and a most valuable collection of mounted slides (the latter the property of Prof. Talmage) will be used extensively in the Natural History and Physiology classes. A complete set of instruments is provided for demonstrating the laws of mechanics, the simple and compound machines, all being shown. Balances and weights, levers and pulleys, wheels and wedges are stored away for use in the various courses of lectures. A magnificent air pump and tubes, lifting apparatus, receivers and vacuum bells, fountains and jets, force pumps, and various hydraulic appliances are all in perfect working order. The forces of heat and light receive proper attention through the aid of dry syringes, thermometers, blow pipes, gas bellows, lenses, and mirrors, in their various combinations.

But the most gorgeous appliance of all is the new electric machine, through the aid of which thunder and lightning can be made to order. It is an easy matter to throw sparks from four to eight inches. One feels that when standing near it while it is in operation. When skillfully manipulated in connection with Leyden batteries, gas tubes, discharging tables, spiral tubes, luminous sheets and powder cups, it makes a display of surpassing brilliancy. Batteries and coils, wires and bells and all connections are provided.

In the chemical department we noticed a full supply of materials, with boilers and reboilers, of every description. Boilers, retorts, tubes, evaporating dishes, gas lamps, distilling apparatus, and many other appliances, all in an imposing appearance to the whole.

In another part is the truly magnificent valuable cabinet of rocks and minerals, collected and owned by Professor Talmage. The rocks are covered with specimens of all descriptions, by far the majority being from Utah.

In the department of anatomy and physiology, there are specimens to illustrate the various processes in the arts and manufactures of the day—oil, resin, gums, drugs, wax and dye-stuffs in profusion.

The value of such aids in teaching and as incentives to study can scarcely be over-estimated. The mind is reached through the senses of the learner, and the most apt illustrations and proper demonstrations are used the deeper will be the impression made.

In the other departments of the institution extensive preparations have been made for the accommodation and pleasure of the students. From the applications already made for admission and the number of students, it is deeply appreciated by the people. The academic year will begin on Monday next at 9 a. m.

"Orders from his Superiors." On Wednesday, Phineas W. Cook, of Logan, was examined on the charge of unlawful cohabitation, before the commissioner. He pleaded not guilty.

Johanna C. Poulsen, the alleged plural wife, was placed upon the stand; she said she was married to Mr. Cook ten years ago in Salt Lake City. She is acquainted with defendant's first wife, she being married to him before their marriage; she had five children with defendant, three of whom were living; she was married to the second wife; she saw her about six weeks ago, at Garden City, when in company with her husband, they took dinner at her house; she also went to see the first wife who also lives at Garden City, and had a conversation with her; she said she was divided property, the first and second wife each getting one-third, he to support the children. She said she was not acquainted with the defendant. Taylor appeared for the defendant. The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.

The order of the commissioner was held for adultery, and Johanna C. Poulsen for fornication. Mr. Cook was bound over to the court of Sessions and the lady in $200. Mr. Taylor held that the commissioner had no right to elicit evidence from a person under oath, or to bind that person over on said evidence without previously instructing the jury on the matter, and he knowingly criminate herself. The commissioner, however, held it was many who attended in such cases, and that he was in a position to question the evidence, and that he was in a position to question the evidence.