Washington, D. C., Nov. 25 .- The treaty between the United States and Cuba, over the cession of the Isle of Pines, to the latter country, now pending before the senate committee on foreign relations, has a rocky road to travel before its ratification.

In reply to a resolution of the senate of Jan. 7, 1904, the entire correspondence had with citizens of the United States, and the war and state department, upon the question wheth-er the Isle of Pines was a part of the territory of the United States, was sent the foreign relations committee, d. Clarence R. Edwards, chief the bureau of insular affairs. The cor the bureau of insular affairs. The gar-respondence was voluminous including as it did memoranda made by the of-ficers in charge during American oc-cupancy of the island, cabinet officers, and others together with maps and detailed information regarding the is-itend. That correspondence with itsland. That correspondence with its attendant information, bearing directly upon the question as to the sovereignty of the island was never made public. but when it is made public it will un-questionably throw new light upon what promises to be a very delicate subject for the government to handle WAR DEPARTMENT BULLETIN

In 1902 the war department issued Isle of Pines bulletin of 40 with maps showing physical features inhabitants, resources and Industries which was distributed broadcast throughout the United States. As a result of the advertisement given the Isle of Pines, by the war department and the claim set up immediately at ter the close of the Spanish-America war by the then assistant secretary of war, George D. Meiklejohn, that th Isle of Pines was United States terri tory, large numbers of Americans pur chased lands thereon, laid out farms, erected fences, and put in crops. Towns were started and postoffices established ler the immediate direction of Ger bod, then military governor of Cubs e colony of Americans purchased 14,-acres which was divided into farms and on which are now located families from Ohio, Indiana, New York, Illinois and other states. The Isle of Pines company composed of New York, New Jarow, and Tenasasa Jersey and Tennessee people purchased 200,000 acres costing not less than $75,-000. The Iowa colony, comprising 40 families and about 150 people, pur-chased 20,000 acres which they are now farming. They laid out a town which they called New Columbia, and Gen. Wood established a postoffice at that place. Citizens of Tevas, Minnesota, Nebraska, and Kentucky are also there and vitally interested in having the isle of Pines declared by Congress United States territory. In addition to the pamphlet descriptive of the island and its physical conditions, which is described as having one of the most salu-brious climates of any of the islands in arribean sea, a large map was pro

A proposition was made to the Cuban government to give them so much money and the Isle of Pines. Cuba kicked on the proposition because by entertaining it it would be placed in the position of admitting that the Isle of Pines under the treaty of Paris beof Pines under the treaty of Paris be-ame United States territory just a came United States territory just as Porto Rico had done.
