FAST RACING SEEN AT BUENA VISTA

Favorites Do Not Take All But Place
And Show Horses Rewarded
Backers.

The race program at Buena Vista yesterday afternoon was a good one throughout and while form did not show up as well as heretofore, place and show wagers were rewarded in nearly every race. The day was ideal for racing and a good sized crowd was on hand to witness the sport.

There was some disappointment in at least three of the events when the favorites failed to win. Burning Bush caused grief to her backers in the third race by merely showing while Balerata was bucked by the winner and won handily, beaten only a quarter and keeping well to the front all the way.

There was a hot contest in the first race between Lady Adelaid, the favorite, and Mrs. McCallum, the runner-up.

Rose Dais, the favorite in the second race, was another disappointment as she could not stand the pace.

The third race was a dead heat between Wheeler Bill and La Chata, the former winning by a nose.

Agreement can be splendid race in the fourth event, when the horses had gotten them creasing up on the field until he crossed the finish line first. Jane Swift was the whole thing so far as first was concerned in the fifth race, but was beaten in the sixth race by Hart's Moshope. This horse was placed at 4 to 1 for places and finished close up to the winner with Palms third.

Four horses, Sixty Octator were the winners in the sixth race but No Quarter upset the talent by winning.

A feature of the incidents at the track yesterday was the thorough work performed by Detective Carey and his assistants in cleaning the place out of touts and "dips." Several undesirable were ejected from the track and were not allowed to enter the track again. One of them, said to go by the name of George Engle, who once owned a race horse, but who is charged with having been responsible for considerable loss about buying the grounds and made threats against the management. Detective Carey arrested the man from the grounds.

HARVARD'S COACH AND THREE LIKELY CANDIDATES FOR THE 1909 CRIMSON ELEVEN.

Three weeks' practise on Soldiers' Field, Cambridge, Mass., has been sufficient to give the Harvard coaches a very definite line on the material from which they will have to build their eleven for the Yale game Nov. 29. Looking at the Harvard eleven in practice shows the quality of the material to be far above the average. This is true of the whole squad, for there has been a great improvement in some of the veterans, while the new men are highly promising. Corbett, for instance, is a much better halfback than he was a year ago. He is faster, steadier, and a better punter and a more dependable man. Leslie, Withington, Galetti and F. Smith, who seem likely to be the other halfbacks, are all good players. F. Smith, a quarterback who promises to be the best man in that all-important position seen at Cambridge since the days of Charlie Daly and Carl Marshall, has been developed. He is a wonder for speed, a splendid manipulator of the forward pass, which is going to be used a lot by Harvard this year, and a keen player with the ball in his hands. The line, from end to end, is an excellent one, and there are a lot of good substitutes. Houston, at left end, takes the long forward pass in brilliant fashion, and Gil-

Browne, at the other end, is a better man than he ever was before. With McKay and Capt. Fish at tackle and with the two big ends, the two freshmen at guard, the center of the line well looked after. Harvard sent a powerful team in to defeat Bowdon by a substantial score, and the power was well applied. Certainly there is material at Cambridge for a team fully as good as the fine machine of 1908, and with the added confidence of victory, the Harvard eleven will be a force to be reckoned with.

The Yale eleven, however, is not quite so good. They never blustered enough to state that if I was allowed in the race with my big henk it would be a procession and not a race.

Withington, however, seems determined to stay and give them a good run for their money, but the A. A. A. crowd will have to fall in line with me or we will be some one going in the muck.

COLORED TEAM IS GOING TO COAST

The Occidental baseball team will leave Salt Lake this evening for Los Angeles where the colored boys will play independent baseball during the winter months, returning here next spring when the diamond bug begins to buzz again. Under the management of Frank Black and Lee Campbell, it is reported that the managers have arranged for many games on the coast.

The team will make the trip are Langford, catcher; Lee, first base; Robinson, shortstop; Hawkins, third base; Claude Burns, Lee Campbell and Middleton, outfielders.

GOV. HUGHES IS CAUSE OF RAID

In Gov. Hughes' anti-smokey track gambling crusade, which resulted recently in indictments against the Brooklyn Jockey club and the Coney Island Jockey club, resulted today in 12 arrests at the Jamaica track. The police went to the betting ring and gathered in a dozen men who were the bookmakers widely known.

DANNY WEBSTER BEATS ATTELL

New York, Oct. 12.—The 18-round fight between Monte Attell, champion bantam-weight, and Danny Webster here today went to the limit. The decision, which was given to Webster, was left to the morning newspapers of the city, went to Webster. No decision was permitted from the ring.

The two fighters, both men apparently were in good condition at the end of the tenth round. The Herald gave to Attell and The Examiner and Times gave it to Webster.

This opinion Webster, the champion bantam-weight of the world, and wins him the championship belt put up by Tom McLean.

Attell had difficulty in solving Webster's defense, but had the advantage in the beginning, cutting Webster's left ear early in the fight and reopening the wound after every round. In the ninth round Webster's face was a mass of blood.

Webster landed right and left swings to the chest and face, but Attell fought back, and both men were fighting strongly at the finish.

COLORED SPORTS SEE GREAT FIGHT

On Monday evening a crowd of colored sports were in a certain place of amusement and after a few rounds of table discussion agreed as to the relative abilities of Jack Johnson and Stanley Ketchel. Some held that Ketchel had the greater chance of victory, but too small, kid Bill, a well known little colored fighter from Denver, took the position that frequently a small man presented a greater hazard.

The debate was pretty warm and reached fever heat when Bell offered to wager $50 that he could knock out the Black Bull in five rounds. The bet was taken and the fight was on.

After half an hour of colored sports repaired to a quiet place and the two men started to fight. Big and strong as Hayden is, he could do nothing but stand and take the blows. In less than three rounds Bell had given Hayden a chance to do almost anything to get the game. It really a case of cold feet?

MINING EXPERT TWICE BURIED BY CAVE-INS

Rapid City, S. D., Oct. 13.—Forced to roll over and over for a distance of two miles with a leg and arm broken after he had been buried twice at the bottom of a shaft took the time digging himself out with his hands and proceeded a short distance when he was buried again. This time his right arm was broken. He dug himself out with his left hand and gained the shaft collar.

He then rolled over and over until he reached the shaft of Robert Bailey, a mine. There he dug out the fingers of his left hand which was worn to the bone and amputation was required.

It does seem rather strange why the Miners Miners called off the football game scheduled to be played here against Madison's men on Saturday. It is claimed that the miners' demands were made all sorts of demands as to rules, etc., and that the locals were willing to do almost anything to get the game.

Mr. Howard, the manager of the mine, said that he had given Hayden a chance to do almost anything to get the game. It really a case of cold feet?

The increasing interest in touring and good roads were throughout the country has been clearly demonstrated during the American Automobile association by the numerous inquiries which have been made from newly organized clubs in the West. Applications for membership in the A. A. A. for the month of October have been received and before the annual meeting of the A. A. A. next month the membership of affiliated clubs will be individually announced.

One of the latest of the short and hotters is Billy Parks, the Keweenaw fighter, who has faced Ketchel and Johnson. His local representative, asking him to place a bet on the chances of his sometime opponent. In his letter to Parks he writes: "I am sure you will be interested to know that Ketchel will outlast the champion."

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—With the fight for the heavy-weight championship of the world and a few more rounds of the principals have begun to taper down in their work. While the betting continues at odds of 10 to 1 in favor of the champion, consideration is given to the possibility of a draw.
