WORE GOLD SLIPPERS.

The first appearance of Lady Ross, formerly Miss Ellison of New York, created a sensation, for she had been so little seen. Her jewels and gown attracted no small attention. She is small, rather dainty in appearance, and her bright coloring was shown to great advantage by her dress.

But her shoes were the loveliest part of her costume, and every one looked at them. They were of the finest white kid, seen with gold thread, and cut away in delicate flower patterns to allow the flashing of opals for which stone Lady Ross is famous. The stones were encircled with gold designs on the shoes, which were unique.

with trimmings of Valenciennes lace, and a veil of tulle caught with lilies of the valley.
